Seaway Called Urgent Necessity By Chevrier

KINGSTON (CP)—Canada would still be waiting for the United States Congress to make up its mind, with the outcome as doubtful as ever, if this country had not already prepared to build the St. Lawrence seaway, Transport Minister Chevrier said Monday night.

He noted that the U.S. Senate recently approved a measure for the U.S. to build two canals in the international rapids section of the joint project.

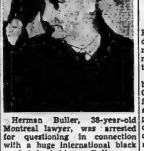
"The information we have is that the House of Representatives may follow the same course . . . The progress of the Canadian plan seems to be bringing a change of heart in Congress."

In a speech prepared for delivery at Queen's University as the final lecture in a series on the seaway, Mr. Chevrier also noted that the U.S. federal power commission has approved a licence for the New York power authority to develop the U.S. share of the St. Lawrence power. The project must be undertaken before the seaway can be started.

SHIPPERS WOULD SAVE

Mr. Chevrier said the most recent estimate of cost for the entire scheme is about $900,000,000 two-thirds of it for power development to be shared equally by the Ontario hydro commission and the New York power authority. All-Canadian navigation facilities from Montreal to Lake Erie would cost some $300,000,000.

The amount would be self-liquidating through sale of electricity and shipping tolls. Shippers would save about $30,000,000 a year after paying tolls.



"With its wide significance in both these fields (water transportation and low-cost hydro power) the St. Lawrence seaway and power project is the greatest vehicle of resource development presently before us.

"Its completion is a matter of urgent necessity if Canada is to realize the full promise of the future. We in the government believe not merely that it can pay its own way, but that the benefits to this country will far outweigh its original cost."

ARRESTED

Herman Buller, 38-year-old Montreal lawyer, was arrested for questioning in connection with a huge international black market in babies. Buller was arrested as he prepared to fly overseas from Montreal's Dorval airport with his wife and her parents. He was charged with falsifying entries in a birth certificate and of giving advice in connection with an indictable offence. He was released on $3,000 bail and is scheduled to appear for preliminary hearing February 19. Police said the ring sold babies to couples in all parts of the United States. (CP Photo).

FOILS RACKET

George Hill, Montreal's senior crown prosecutor, collaborated with Ernest A. Miller, assistant district attorney of New York, to break what they describe as an international black market in baby adoptions. Police said Montreal babies were sold to couples in all parts of the United States. Mr. Hill said that the investigation of the racket has been hampered by the lack of legislation dealing with the buying and selling of babies. (CP Photo).

Senate Speaker Favors More Pay For Senators

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator Wilbart Robertson, Senate speaker, Monday night said there are sound reasons for paying Senators more money—not less—than members of the Commons.

The question of equal pay for both houses was raised during the CBC network program "Press Conference" on which Senator Robertson answered the questions of a panel of parliamentary correspondents. Blair Fraser, Ottawa editor of Maclean's magazine, was chairman.

The question of Parliament's recent approval of a pay raise to $10,000 from $6,000 was raised, and whether the Senate should receive equal pay with the Commons.

Senator Robertson said it is unfair to make comparisons between the two houses but, if the question of parliamentary pay is considered on a "piece-work" basis, Senators should be paid more than members of the Commons.

One reason was that Senators generally have more legislative, business and professional experience which enables them to appraise legislation in one-third to one-quarter the time taken in the Commons. Parliament could cut its sitting time to one day a week and save the taxpayer $500,000 annually if the Commons worked as efficiently as the Senate.

Another, reason for higher pay for Senators was that Senators attend more regularly. The Senate keeps records of attendance but for "some strange reason the Commons doesn't." The Senate's attendance was about 80per cent of its membership.

Grow More Tobacco

CHATHAM (CP) — The Ontario Burley Tobacco Marketing Association Monday decided to plant 4,830 acres of burley tobacco this year, compared with 1,933 last year.

The association estimated the 1954 market at 6,000,000 pounds, of which 1,000,000 pounds would be exported. J. F. Thomas of Amherstburg, chairman, said the domestic market has expanded this year because abnormally-high inventories of burley tobacco have levelled off.

Attending the meeting were growers, buyers and president and vice-presidents of three tobacco companies.

What's news at Inco*?

This mine is air-conditioned

To provide fresh, clean air and good working conditions for the miners, Inco engineers devised an unusual air conditioning system for the "Caving" project of the Creighton mine. They drove a special ventilating shaft from down in the mine up to the surface. At the top of this shaft is a 20-ton fan standing 42 feet high.

This fan sucks out the stale dust-laden air and causes clean, fresh air to flow down into the mine at the rate of 100,000 cubic feet per minute.

The fan's twelve nickel bearing stainless steel blades can be adjusted in pitch to increase the flow of air as the mining operation is expanded in the future.

"The Romance of Nickel", a 72-page book, fully illustrated, will be sent free on request to anyone interested.

HOW THEY WILL LINE UP

THE REDS—

THE WHITES—

Jackie Forbes; Lloyd Rosbot; Jeff Kaltfeisch; Whitey Farrant; Hank Goldup; Butch Keeling; Roy Conacher; Billy Taylor; Red Heron; Johnny Conick; Doug Smylie; Jack Stafford; Henry Palmer; Karl Chalmondey; Alex. Levinsky; Doug Orr and Lloyd Green.

NEED THIS ONE!

Backs to the wall, their playoff hopes a thin, silvery gleam, the Memos take the ice tonight against their archrivals from Kingston in a battle that they must win or pass into puck-chasing oblivion. Playing the best hockey of their seasonal career, the side has won three of its last four starts, all in convincing manner. They have four games to go including tonight's tilt and they must win them all to stick their toe in the playoff doorway. It is going to be tough but the mathematical chance is there.

Tonight's fray should be the game of the season. The Kingston Goodyears, smarting under the 3-1 lambasting at the hands of the Oshawa Truckmen, won't be any pushovers. They, too, realize the Memos can squeeze in the back door and are ready to do it at either Orillia's or Kingston's expense.

If you believe in such a thing as the law of averages, the Memos should take this game tonight. Kingston has a wide margin in schedule victories over our side and if the "law" adjusts itself the Doran crew should rack up their fourth win in five starts.

The brand of Senior "B" hockey played in this group is by far the best seen in many a moon. And right now, with the playoffs just around the corner, so to speak, all hive agnades are leading everything into their efforts. The Petes and Oshawa are battling valiantly for the top perch, and your guess is as good as ours as to which will come out on top. Orillia and Kingston are ensconsed in the third slot and casting worried eyes at the dungeon-dwellers from the banks of the Motra.

The Pontiacs suffered a severe loss Saturday night when their starry goalie, Bob Shropshire, suffered a torn knee ligament. We do not know the extent of the injury, but if the goalie is out for the season, it will seriously hamper the Pontiacs' chances for the charmed circle. (All right, all right, so we did stick our neck out.)

If Shropshire is seriously hurt, the Pontiacs can claim a replacements, for the OHA book of words, says it is permissible to replace a goalie providing his injuries cause his retirement for the season.

And the Orillians have two games with the top-flight Oshawans and one with the Petes, not counting a couple with our side. The Memos go to Orillia on Saturday and trek to Oshawa the following Tuesday. The coming Saturday they play hosts to the Pontiacs and that winds up the seasonal ball of yarn.

Right now, tonight in fact, the Memos could do with a little box-office support. They haven't been blessed with sell-out crowds during the season, but now, fighting desperately to pull a playoff berth out of the group fire, some solid citizen support would do a world of good. They have been getting more than their share of the jeers, so let's try a few cheers for a change.

We could not contact "Red" Doran today, but it is extremely doubtful if the playing coach dons the skates for tonight's affair. We had a glimpse at his left leg over the week-end and how that guy ever got around on the blades is a mystery. It is colored a delicate shade of ebony in parts, and the water-logged knee would be a source of pride to a young elephant.

Apart from that, "Red" has the team fighting mad and if is humanly possible they will hand the Goodies from Rodden-is another setback this evening. So how about getting it there and "rootin' 'em home."

Now Boast Ten-Point Margin Over 2nd-Place Maple Leafs; Rangers Trail Bruins by Five

MONTREAL (CP)—Terry Sawchuk of Detroit Red Wings is putting a hefty squeeze on Harry Lumley of Toronto Maple Leafs in the race for the Vezina trophy, emblematic of goal-tending supremacy in the National Hockey League.

Until Tuesday night, Sawchuk was tied with Lumley with a 1.73 average after trailing the burly Toronto goalie in a close chase since mid-November. Each played 36 games; each let by 63 goals.

But with Detroit's 3-2 win over Chicago Black Hawks Tuesday night, Sawchuk fell to an average of 1.75—giving the drop to his Maple Leaf adversary.

The goalie struggle was only one feature of the NHL figures released by the league today.

Others showed that Gordie Howe, Detroit's favorite scoring son, has again been up to the tricks that have made him the league's top point-getter. During the week he copped five goals and one assist for 6 points. His latest six points were scored in three games, best showing of the week.

BETTER THAN RICHARD

This was better than his nearest rival, Maurice Richard of Montreal Canadiens, who failed to get a goal but provided two assists for a total tally of 54 points.

Canadiens themselves dropped from second to third place in team standings.

Toronto slipped ahead of the Habs, gathering four of eight possible points during the week. They won one win, two ties and one loss. This gave the Leafs 64 points, one more than the Montrealers who had two ties, one loss and no wins. Toronto has also played a game less than Canadiens.

Detroit's two wins were enough to give Red Wings 74 points, a good margin for their long-stand-ing league leadership.

Boston Bruins made the best showing of the week, winning three games of four and losing one. Taking six of eight possible points, they made the going tougher for New York Rangers for the last playoff spot.

CHIHAWKS WIN ONE

Boston now has 55 points compared to 50 for New York. Chicago Black Hawks are last with 26 points, winning one of four during the week.

An individual scoring, Richard still is top goal-getter with 32 goals and 22 assists. Howe has 32 goals and 38 assists.

Ken Mosdell of Montreal with one goal this week became one of the five players to score 20 goals this season.

During the next week, Detroit plays four games, including two games in Montreal Thursday and Saturday. Then the teams meet in Detroit Monday.

Boston and New York each have three games, two of them a Boston-at-New York meeting.

CALLED TO RANGERS

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Rangers have called up two players from the Saskatoon Quakers, their farm in the Western Hockey League, Lindsay revealed the baseline for such transactions.

The two, both of whom have had brief tryouts with the Rangers previously, are Aggie Kukulowicz, a five-year-old centre standing 6-1 and weighing 175 pounds, and Vic Howe 5-foot-eight right wing, six feet and weighing 180. Vic is the younger brother of Detroit's Gord Howe.

Big Battle For Playoffs

CINCINNATI (AP) — The big battle for ninth place—the last playoff berth—resumes tonight in the International Hockey league.

Fort Wayne, Ind., and Troy, O., have lockered each day for the last four in taking the spot. The Indiana Comets are in the position now because they thrinked Johnstown, Pa., 3-0 Monday night to beat by one point.

On the Indiana ice last week Fort Wayne beat the Ohioans 5-3. They do not meet again until the last day of February, but the standing could change again tonight as Fort Wayne plays host to Grand Rapids, Mich., and Troy goes to Johnstown.

The top six teams of the nine-club league compete in mid-March in the championship playoffs.

Thirty-Two Rinks Left in Running In Ont. Bonspiel

TORONTO (CP)—The field is the hunt for the premier trophy of the Ontario Bonspiel was reduced by three-quarters in the first day of competition Monday.

Of the surviving rinks 18 are from Toronto, representing five local clubs. The 14 visiting rinks still eligible for the Royal York come from 10 clubs.

Five of the Toronto rinks who advanced through the first two rounds Monday were from the Royal Canadian Club. Four each came from Granites and High Park, three from Toronto and two from Civil Service.

Deloitte, Haggart and Brampton each had two rinks move into the third round and Brockville, Brantford, Newmarket, London, Peterborough, Chicago, Hamilton and Chatham each had one entry in the primary event.

Gerry Geddes of High Park, last year's winner of the Royal York, is still in contention but he needed a comeback to defeat J. E. Crawford of Windsman 13-12.

Sid Smith of Galt, runner-up last year and also the winner of the Grand Aggregate a year ago, was defeated in the second round by Dr. M. G. McCarney of Peterborough 15-8.

THREE DRAWS TODAY

Six trophies, besides the Royal York, will be decided before the week-long bonspiel ends.

Today's action will be comprised of only three draws because of the banquet and entertainment planned for the evening. The third round of primary events and the second round of the second event will be completed, bringing each of the trophies down to 16 rinks.

These 32 rinks will compose the Grand Aggregate Playdown.

Of the 124 games played during the first day of the bonspiel, nine were won by rink skips. Three extra ends were necessary in the premier event and six in the second event. Twenty-nine games, including eight of the extra-end games, were decided by one shot and 11 others were won by two shots.

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The playoff berths in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series have been decided.

With Niagara Falls' 5-1 loss to Hamilton Tigers in Hamilton last night the Cataracts dropped from the running for one of the six positions that would have enabled them to take part in the league playoffs.

The Cataracts, who have been idle since their game last night season. Chatham Maroons, in sixth place, have 41 points. Even if the Cataracts won all of their remaining games it would give them only 40 points.

The teams assured of post-season play are Owen Sound Mercurys, Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen, Hamilton Tigers, Bulldogs, Stratford Indians and Chatham.

But Niagara Falls can still rhuse a shuffle in the positions of the top six teams. And the way this year's playoffs will be run positional standings can make a big difference.

A new playoff schedule this season gives the team that finishes first its choice to meet any of the five other teams in the playoffs. The second-highest team will then have its choice to meet any one of the remaining teams and the third-highest will get the remaining team.

The fight for first place is definitely between Owen Sound and Kitchener with the Mercurys hold-ing a one-point edge and two games in hand over the Dutchmen.

Hamilton, Windsor and Stratford each have a chance to finish third.

Hamilton increased its third-place lead over the idle Bulldogs to three points with a victory over Niagara Falls Monday night.

In North Bay the league-leading Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Greyhounds of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A southern group defeated North Bay Trap-pers 5-2.

The victory increased Sault's first-place margin to six points over Sudbury Wolves.

Chatham is at Windsor, Stratford at Niagara Falls and Kitchener at Owen Sound in the OHA tonight. Intersquads play the Lions at Kings in Pembroke in the only NOHA meeting.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

History repeated itself as Murr Patrick, general manager of Lester's two-big sons, recently took over as coach of the New York Rangers. He thus became a rival of his brother lynn, former playing star of Rangers, nów coach of Boston Bruins.

History enters into this brother-rivalry because it happened before. Lester Patrick, the colorful White Eagle, was coach of New York Rangers almost from the beginning of that colorful club's career. For one or two seasons, Frank Patrick, brother of Lester, was coach of Boston Bruins, later of Montreal Maroons, so these two brothers were rivals, too.

The Patrick family has written indelible chapters into the saga of hockey in Canada, at home and abroad. Lester Patrick engineered one of the most daring promotions in the entire history of sports when, exactly 30 years ago, his brother Lynn, had started brilliantly in eastern hockey, they invaded the west coast, set up a series of artificial ice-rinks in Pacific coaster, Victoria and New Westminster, acquired the cast for playing talent, and formed the Pacific Coast League.

This became the first international body in professional hockey, lasting before eastern United States cities became part and parcel of the National League. As far back as 1916, ten years before a United States city entered the National League, Portland, Oregon, had a team in the Patricks' West Coast organization, followed in the next season by Seattle.

Not only did the Patricks conduct the league, with Frank as President, but both played regularly in the bitterly-fought games that made the hockey of that era. So dangerous to eastern hockey did the Patricks become—they appropriated Toronto's Stanley Cup champions of 1914 intact and took them to the west—that the eastern moguls declared war. But the Patricks won the skirmish, and for a time, believe it or not their Pacific Coast League had drafting rights from the east.

When their western league petered out, the Patricks cold out their stars to the east, and Lester became manager of Rangers, a position he held until 1946, a 30-year span.

Meantime, his two sons, Lynn and Murr, had starred for Rangers. Lynn later became coach for a time, then moved to Boston to take over there, with signal success. Now brother Murr comes east from the Pacific Coast Tacoma team, following a familiar Patrick trail, so the Patrick rivalry blazes once again.

Ada Mackenzie, 'Won't Quit' Her Beloved Golf Tourneying

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Ada Mackenzie announced her retirement from competitive golf in 1948. But the 61-year-old links star just won't quit.

Just to prove that she wasn't through Ada won the Ontario ladies' title in 1952, exactly 31 years after she hit the jackpot with victory in the inaugural tournament's open tournament. In those 61 years she won the open five times, the Canadian close five times and the Ontario open nine times.

Last year she captained a Canadian team on a tour of Britain. And she's got her clubs polished up for 1954.

"I'm like an old racehorse when the season rolls around," she said in an interview. "I'm just itching to get in the race."

TROPHIES GALORE

Ada has been digging divots in golf courses of the world for almost 50 years. The trophy room in her home in suburban Richmond Hill is studded with silverplate—she's never bothered to count the number.

She's laying plans already for the Canadian ladies in Durham, Eng., next Aug. 9-14.

"I haven't yet decided if I'll play. But after that, when they asked me to captain the team to Britain last year, I felt that I should at least make an appearance at the open this year."

Miss Mackenzie, whose memory for personal golf statistics is modestly lax, believes the first trophy she won was at Toronto Mississauga while in her teens.

WON OPEN IN 1919

The official golf records show that she won the Canadian women's open in 1919, 1925, 1926, 1933 and 1935, and Ontario titles in 1924 and 1954.

She won Canadian close championship in 1926, 1927, 1929, 1931, and 1935 but lost in the 1922, 1923 and 1930 finals.

But Ada said her biggest thrill came last year when she defeated Jeanne Bisgood, the British champion 3 and 2 in the second round of the British Open at Porthcawl, Wales. Ada was eliminated in the third round and the title was eventually won by Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ont.

Miss Mackenzie's lowest score of her career was a 73 shot during a friendly game at the Toronto Ladies Golf and Tennis Club in 1948. Her lowest competitive score was a 73 at the Royal Ottawa in 1936.

WON'T WEAR GREEN

Like many golfers, Ada has her superstitions and favorite courses.

"It's silly I know, but I won't wear green while I'm playing."

Her favorite course is at Newcastle, County Down, Northern Ireland.

Miss Mackenzie, whose golfing days began when discreet young ladies trudged over the fairways in grass-encrusted tweeds and bowler flowered hats, says golf is easier now "but not as interesting."

"In the days of the wooden shaft there used to be one club for almost every shot. Now you have a different club for each shot."

Mention Marlene Stewart and Ada is ecstatic. She scoffs at anyone who criticizes the girl's short stride.

PLAYING UNDER STRAIN

"It's nothing but a case of nerves. She's under terrific strain. Everybody expected phenomenal things of her when she won the British Open and it is telling on her. But she has to go through that alone."

Ada predicted great things for 18-year-old Sue Milligan of Jasper, Alta.

"She's a beautiful golfer but unfortunately she hasn't had much tournament experience yet."

Ada refers to the golfing novice is to learn the principles of the game first.

"But the important thing is to take a bunch of balls out on the fairway and practice your shots. Become fascinated by what you can do."

"It's made all the difference in the world to my outlook on life. It's paid off 100 per cent in friends I've made through the game."

Patterson Not Impressive In Durelle Victory

By MURRAY MOSS

BROOKLYN (AP) — Undefeated Floyd Patterson has 19 straight victories and is the hard-punching light heavyweight contender of the world, but he did a job on Yolande D'Amato is in no hurry to push his pugilistic prodigy.

"Not Floyd Master for him," said d'Amato after the 19-year-old Olympic champion pounded out a unanimous eight-round decision over Canada's durable Yvon Durelle at Ebbets Field Monday night.

It was a clear-cut win for the Brooklyn Negro, but he was far from impressive and as wild as a southpaw pitcher on an off-day as he downed the Bay St. Anne, N.B., fighter.

"He'll fight someone at the packing house," Master, he said d'Amato, "but it won't be Joey Maxim or any top-ranking light heavyweight. I'm not going to beat Maxim, who would be fight? Maxim? Eight heavyweight champion Archie Moore. Let's not kid anyone. Floyd has a lot to learn."

Patterson, who weighed 167½, to Durelle's 174½, was hurt as often as he connected and twice fell to the canvas after scoring at the air. Rusty after a two-month layoff, he staggered the former Canadian light heavyweight champion several times, but couldn't drop him.

New Zealand Runner Threatens 4-Minute Mile

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP) — The emergence of a slender New Zealand education student in the forefront of the track picture has raised hopes that the long-time way assault on the four-minute mile at Vancouver next summer.

Murray Halberg, a five-foot-ten, 137-pound youngster whose previous exploits were unknown outside New Zealand, attracted world-wide attention Saturday when he covered the mile Saturday in four minutes, seconds, just three seconds off Gunder Haegg's world record.

The 20-year-old New Zealand cross-country champion disclaims any immediate intention of trying to crack the four-minute barrier. But his performance on the unofficial mile track in a 400-yard grass track marked him as a worthy opponent for the world's top milers, two of whom are possible starters in the British Empire Games at Vancouver.

WOULD MEET LANDY

Halberg is a virtual certainty to represent New Zealand at the games, where he will probably face Australia's great John Landy who has been clocked in 4:02.

Present indications are that Landy will participate in the games during a North American tour in which he will also test the top United States milers.

And B. E. Games promoters still retain the hope that Britain's Gordon Pirie will reconsider his decision to pass up the Vancouver meet in favor of a European campaign.

Pirie, who is at his best at longer distances but holds a decision over Wes Santee, the top American miler, has announced he plans to concentrate on his training for the European events later in August, in which he will match strides with Emil Zatopek, the great Czech distance runner.

Santee Sets New Mile Mark

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Wes Santee of Kansas came for a 4:04.9 mile here Monday night—the fastest ever indoors.

The best previous indoor time was a 4:06.3 by Gil Dodds, former Worcester, Mass., pro, at Madison Square Garden in 1948.

Dodds ran his record mile on an 11-lap banked board track. Santee ran on the eight-lap Michigan State College gridiron. A feature of a triangular meet between Kansas, Illinois and Michigan State, Santee was assisted by Mel Purcell, Jim Wadsworth and Bob Richards.

Point Anne Bows to Wellington 7-6 In Trent Valley League Thriller

By GARRY ALEXANDER

The Wellington "Iron Dukes" outscored the Point Anne Cementmen 4-3 in the final period to carry hosts a hard earned 7-6 victory in a fast, thrilling game played in Memorial Arena last night.

Brian Bulmore raced in on Don Bates with the seconds ticking away in the third period, deked him out of position and slid the puck into the empty net with 34 seconds left to play to climax a terrific uphill battle by the "Dukes".

Action was never slack in this game with plenty of scoring plays, fine goaltending, hard bodychecking and penalties. Point Anne opened the scoring in the first period at the six minute mark with Jacklin driving it past Letman but Wellington tied it on a goal by Hatfield at 10.44.

Bradshaw shot the Pointers out front again and then with the visitors in a man short at 19.23 Timmy Williams finished off a power play to put his team two ahead.

Letman put on a great display of goaltending in the middle stanza to hold the Anderson-Williams crew off the score sheet while Brian Mulvihill banged in a pair to tie it all up at 3-3. His first goal came at 10.45 and the other at 18.03 with the Ox Pointers two men short. Five penalties were handed out this period with Point Anne getting all of them.

WIDE OPEN HOCKEY

The third period had everything including two unconfirmed penalties. John Green drew the first when he argued about a two-minute sentence to teammate Gilmour. Garrison said some unkind words to referee Max Carson later in the period and he also drew ten minutes.

Point Anne went ahead on a goal by Williams at 3.23 only to have Doug Bone notch two quick ones, the second coming after carrying the puck the length of the ice with a couple of fakes that left Letman he let go a hard drive from close in.

Pat Gilmour raced back at the eight minute mark, waltzed in all alone on Letman only to have the netminder make a terrific save.

It was Gilmour again at 11.14 and this time he made no mistake after taking passes from Williams and "Gerry Geyer to make it 5-3. Wellington took the lead again eight minutes later with Mulvihill scoring his third of the night from Scott.

The Point Anne fans rose to their feet with a roar at 18.26 when once more Gilmour beat Letman on a three-way pass play with Williams and Mulholland. It looked like another overtime game until Mulvihill swept in on Bates to score the winner.

Mulvihill was the top point getter of the night with four goals and one assist while Bone had two goals, Hatfield scored once and set up another and Scott assisted on two for the victory.

Williams had two goals and as many assists in a losing cause with Gilmour claiming two goals and one helper.

Letman was outstanding tending twins for the "Dukes" and Bates also turned in a good game. Referee Johnny Agnew and Max Carson sent 14 men to the penalty box in all with Point-Anne getting eight of the sentences.

The teams:

Wellington—Letman, Hurst, York, Scott, Bryant, Garrison, Mulvihill, Graham, Hatfield, Caverly, Pettigrall, Bone, Green, Parks.

Snyder Denies Connection With National League

HAMILTON (CP)—Bob Snyder, former coach of the Calgary Stampeders, denied Monday that he was associated with the National Football League or any club in that league.

Snyder, reported several weeks ago as being a propaganda agent for the NFL to persuade U.S. players from coming to Canada, was chief witness for Stan Heath in his Ontario Supreme Court lawsuit against coach Carl Voyles and the Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four Football Union.

Heath, one of numerous quarterbacks employed by the Tiger-Cats last season, is suing to recover his $9,500 salary and $250 general damages. The case will continue today.

Snyder also testified that he had informer Voyles of the Tiger-Cats by telephone that Heath had a sore throwing arm before the transaction had been completed between the Calgary and Hamilton clubs regarding the purchase of the Ti-gers-Cats. Snyder said that Voyles had inquired about the injury and Snyder assured the Hamilton coach that it wasn't serious.

But last fall, when the Tiger-Cats released Heath it was understood that he was dropped owing to his inability to throw forward passes. The Hamilton club maintained at the time that they didn't realize Heath had an ailing arm when they bought him from Calgary.

Shortly after this meeting, Russia barred an early conclusion of an Austrian treaty by demanding continued military occupation of that country until a pesce pact is signed with Germany. This is unacceptable to the West, but hope is still held that some formula can be reached, a cessation of aid to the Communists in Indo-China. (Central Press Canadian.)

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON

A heavy crop of slam bonuses are reaped by lucky players who do not know where to stop. So, they keep going to the end of the line and wind up in a tough contract that partner makes.

Theres was the rubber deal shown here:

	NORTH
	♠K 4 3
	♣K Q 9 5 3
WEST		EAST
♠G 5		♠J 7
♥K Q J 5 4		♥9 8 3
♦K 9 5 4		♦10 9 7 6
♣7		♣10 9 8 4 2
	SOUTH
	♠A 10 8 6 2
	♣A J

The bidding used by the players is shown here:

Pass	1 H	Dbl	Pass
2 S	Pass	Dbl	Pass
3 S	Pass	4 NT	Pass
5 ♣	Pass	7 S	All Pass

Both the west kids were correct. He had enough control for both his bids, even though he would not have made three diamonds. With two same length suits, first bid the higher rank.

The final double by north was for takeout. The jump by south promised five tricks in a hand that should help make game with what north promised. With it the is admittedly biddable.

The second double by north was for penalty. It is for penalty instead of takeout because partner has already bid something. It tells partner the three diamond bid can be defeated.

But south refused to settle for a defeat of opponents. It was his opinion that the opponent lose would not be as much as a game is worth. He announced a bid he could make merely by bidding more.

In answer to four no-trump, five hearts is signal for showing one ace and one king. North should have been satisfied with small slam. But he leaped into grand slam on sheer nerve.

The opening lead from west was heart king. When dummy hand went down the declarer in south saw that his path was not easy. He had to be in a lucky mood to make it. See if you could do it.

Sport in Brief

He announced this Monday, seven months after he and the Detroit Tigers agreed he was through after 15½ baseball seasons and 200 American League victories. He lost 147 games.

Then, Hal said: "This is the end. I'm through as a pitcher. I'm convinced I haven't got it any more."

Monday, his tune was different: "I know the Indians have one of the best pitching staffs in the major with fellows like Bob Feller, Mike Garcia and Bob Lemon, but I hope to make the grade myself also as a starting pitcher, but if not, not a reliever."

An old pal is giving the often temperamental southpaw a new chance. He is general manager Hank Greenberg of the Indians, who was clouting home runs as a first baseman Tiger teammate of Newhouser's much of their playing years.

TORONTO (CP)—Conn Smythe pulled a switch Monday and defended his refereeing in the National Hockey League—even when Toronto Maple Leafs are playing.

Smyth, managing - director of the replaced Leafs, saw Leafs battle New York Rangers to a 3-3 tie Sunday night. The Rangers scored two goals while the Leafs were two men short.

Ordinarily, Smythe would have been boiling. However, he said here Monday that he was happy "no fault with the officiating".

Smythe also said he was happy with the Leaf team.

Dufferin Track

Kelley Chief, owned and handled by Fred Robson of Burgessville, Ont., was second, followed by L. Harner of Bloomsburg, Pa., and guided by Bud Gilmour, defeated class CC pace, the secondary feature. Each won a heat and finished second in the other.

"I'm pleased with the team in general. They have the fight but not enough finesse. The finesse would make less penalties. But they're some team—a colorful one. The fans men' are still the best but we have some good young guys."

Professor's Whole Life Changed By TV Program

By BOB THOMAS

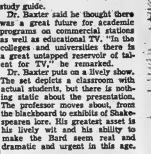
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Until a few months ago, Dr. Frank C. Baxter led a quiet academic life at the University of Southern California. Then he started giving Shakespeare lectures on TV.

Egad and zounds! The professor's whole life changed.

As many as 400,000 viewers were estimated to be watching the Saturday morning program. The show's rating passed that of Edward Murrow and even approached "I Love Lucy." Baxter was hailed in New York as the saviour the Sylvanis Award as the best local educational TV program. He appeared on Jack Benny and was written up in magazines.

Last week he won two emmys in the TV academy awards and stole the show. He received fan mail from actors like Richard Aherne, who wrote: "The show was beautifully staged and delivered with an ease and charm which must make any actor green with envy."

Baxter received other praise from his botcher, a taxicab driver, an elevator man and people who see him on the street. A retired admiral sent him a painting of naval flags that spelled out "Operation Well Performed."



The big Baxter only man doesn't seem to complain about his new life. As his wife commented over the dinner table: "It doesn't befall many men of your vintage to be accorded so much attention."

STARTING SECOND COURSE

The professor is beginning his second Shakespeare course over the local CBS outlet, KNXT. The first series drew 332 students who took the course for credit toward a degree by paying $12 and taking a final examination. There were also 886 others who paid $5 to listen to the course with a special study guide.

Dr. Baxter said he thought there was a great future for academic programs on commercial stations as well as educational TV. "In the colleges and universities there is a great untapped reservoir of talent for TV," he remarked.

Dr. Baxter puts on a lively show. The set depicts a classroom with actual students, but there is nothing static about the presentation. The professor moves about, from the blackboard to exhibits of Shakespeare's lore. His greatest asset is his lively wit and his ability to make the Bard seem real and dramatic and urgent in this age.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY, FEB. 17, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Auspicious rays for the most part but there are some doubtful periods in the day, so be careful. Intuition should be keen; couple it with your usual sharp business sense. Don't overdo.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Innately you are industrious, clever and have a genuine know-how for solving problems and doing work at which others have to study harder. Today is opportune for you.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Don't just go after big, showy gains. A small-profit policy is often steadier, more gainful in the end. And staying with tasks gives them a chance to develop. Consistant effort urged.

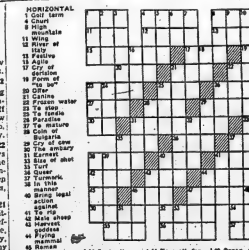
June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — You have many talents. Do not waste any of them. Today especially invites a big showing of your intuitiveness, patience, skill for manual labor, also for selling good products.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — In any undertaking or course of action the best method is usually the simplest. Find the right avenue at which to achieve. Rushing without thought won't pay.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo) — Day is tricky yet offers fine prospects for all of you with a good sense of values and you who won't fret or waste time or unessentials. Good rays on the whole.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Volume of returns (whatever your occupation or usual duties) depends on how much effort you put forth. Don't be content with mediocrity.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Matters concerning regular business or domestic relations which may have been off course should right themselves now with your understanding help. This can be a pleasant, gainful day.



November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Good service pays well and it will be very welcome now. Whatever your special interests, proper attention given them now should solidify holdings, open new success avenues.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — It should be a profitable day for steady, intelligent effort, for hard work patiently done, for study and research. Flighty, restless action will hinder any schedule, no matter how good.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — This promises to be a bright day but the gods won't lay treasures in your lap. You'll have to plan and carry on consistently and cheerfully but you will profit.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Particular tendencies and benefits for you as for Aquarius today. Without straining health you may be able to get a great deal done—in new matters as well as those that are familiar.

YOU, BORN TODAY have a promising outlook this year but it will be necessary to curb extravagance, going into needless debt; also to control restlessness. It is a good year for study, improving talents and overall ability; for investing wisely, saving for the future. You have good business acumen, are a sensible judge of people and propositions. Don't be flattered, led wrongly by unscrupulous associates. Be most careful in your

DOCTOR DIES

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Dr. George Harrison Seaman, 49, a general practitioner at nearby Lobo village, died Saturday. He was born in Listowel and was graduated from University of Western Ontario Medical school in 1927. He two daughters.

SCELBA GREETS ST. LAURENT

Prime Minister St. Laurent is greeted by Italy's new premier, Mario Scelba, as the Canadian prime minister arrived by plane in Rome. The world-touring Mr. St. Laurent, who planned to spend three days in Italy, next will visit India. (CP Photo from AP).

Marius Barbeau, 71, Officially Retired, Still Working at Museum

OTTAWA (CP)—Marius Barbeau, 71, officially is retired, but he's still working in his office at the National Museum.

Dr. Barbeau was "pensioned off" in 1946 after more than 40 years of collecting Canadian folk songs and folklore, and writing dozens of books and hundreds of booklets.

"My life is here," he said as he waved his hand at his compact office. He is working on three new books—"Haida Carvers," "Pantomuel in Canada" and "Calendar of Indian Captivities"—and has plans for many more.

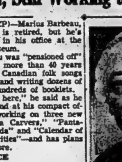
HONORARY OFFICE

His office is on the third floor of the National Museum, nestled on a block of trees and trees in the heart of the capital. One wall is covered with filing cabinets bulging with manuscripts, finished works and background material.

The room is filled with hardwood statues and figurines; miniature totem poles and Indian rugs.

A native of Ste. Marie de Beauce, Que., he graduated "in Laval University, where," he said in a slow, Louis St. Laurent way, "two years ahead of him." Mr. Barbeau was called to the bar, but dropped law when he was awarded a Rhodes scholarship and went to England to study at Oxford where he picked ethnology "because it was a new thing." Anthropology is another of his specialties.

SINGLE MINDED



Dr. Barbeau joined the museum in 1911. Travelling by train, canoe and on foot, he collected hundreds of old E x i l i n o, Indian, French - Canadian and English-Canadian folk songs.

The museum now has a collection of 185 Eskimo folk songs, more than 600 in Indian, close to 7,000 in French-Canadian and some 1,500 old English songs. Many of them are still on the old tube-like records that came off Dr. Barbeau's Edison recorder. He tells of one man, Francois St. Laurent of Gaspe, who sang 316 songs for him from memory.

The dean of authorities on Canadian folklore is finished gathering songs and legends at first hand. Now he is putting them down on paper.

Despite his retirement, Dr. Barbeau's old office is still his. He is there every day from 9 a.m. until he is ready to leave.

He has never taken a vacation. "My vocation is my vacation," he says.

FOLKLORIST — Marius Barbeau, 71-year-old ethnologist, folklorist and author, was pensioned off in 1946 but still works in his office in the National Museum in Ottawa. He has spent more than 40 years collecting Canadian folk songs and folklore and writing hundreds of booklets and dozens of books. He now is working on three new books. (CP Photo).

The fruit of the papaw tree in Asia is picked, cooked and eaten by natives before it is ripe.

POLICEMAN IS NOW WIRED FOR SOUND

A radio-equipped cop is worn by Sergeant Albert Wilson of the Atlantic City police, making him a reasonable likeness of a space patrolman of comic books. The antenna sticking up from the cap brings in the signals. The receiver itself, comfortably contained in the cap, is only a little larger than a cigarette lighter—two inches square and one inch thick. There are no earphones; the speaker being just over the right ear, where it can be clearly heard by the wearer. The city fathers of Atlantic City plan to wire the police cap radio standard equipment for all foot officers. (International Press Canadian).

ATOMIC PROJECT — This is the heart of Canada's atomic project at Chalk River, Ont. The big building in the left foreground holds the NRX nuclear reactor. Before the reactor broke down 15 months ago it produced radioactive substances used in medicine and industry and enabled Canadian scientists to carry on atomic research. The reactor has been rebuilt and soon will be in operation again. (CP Photo).

Secrecy-Shrouded A-Plant Bustling With Activity As Rebuilt Reactor Will Start

Canada's hopes of probing deeper deeply into the secrets of the atom lie in the experimental reactors of atomic piles at the big government nuclear project.

By JOHN R. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHALK RIVER, Ont. (CP)—The secrecy-shrouded atomic energy plant here is bustling with activity and scientists are tense with excitement.

A major event in the short history of the project is due to take place soon—resumption of the powerful NRX nuclear reactor which broke down Dec. 12, 1952. The rebuilt reactor will be a more powerful and better research tool, and scientists are awaiting the day when they can make new stabs at the secrets of the atom.

Even after the reactor is back in operation there will be only a slight easing of excitement at the project operated by Atomic Energy of Canada, Limited, a crown company. The men probing the secrets of atomic power will be looking forward to the start of still another atomic pile on the 10,000-acre reservation devoted to Canada's nuclear research.

NRU REACTOR

The pile is the new NRU reactor, being built at a cost of more than $30,000,000 a short distance from the NRX pile building. Scheduled to go into operation in 1953, it has been designed to make tests applicable to power reactors, one of Canada's immediate goals in the atomic energy field.

When the two reactors are working, Canada's atomic research facilities will be among the best in the western world. They will enable the project to step up processing and marketing of the by-products of atomic energy piles.

These by-products include radioactive substances used in industry and medicine such as the cobalt 60 isotope, the energy source for the cobalt bomb. The bomb is the therapy unit developed by Canada to fight cancer.

The 1,500 workers who man the project live in the tree-lined village of Deep River, seven miles up the Ottawa from here, at Pembroke and other nearby communities. Chalk River itself is 125 miles up-river from Ottawa city.

All project workers and officials, including William J. Bennett, president, must wear identifying badges to enter the plant. Visitors can get in only after clearance by the RCMP.

TOURS PROJECT

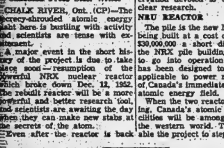
Security on construction of the NRU reactor and on the re-design work on NRX was tight from the time the project started during a tour of the project.

Bennett disclosed for the first time that the NRU pile will be a heavy-water moderated reactor. Its heavy water is produced at a Trail, B.C., smelter.

The first day was said that the NRX reactor has been modified considerably on the basis of information gained during the five years it operated before the breakdown.

"During the weaknesses in the design became evident, and a great deal of new information on nuclear processes was gained," said J. L. Gray, vice-president of administration and operations. "Certain re-design work will result in a more powerful reactor with certain improvements in operation and research facilities."

Most of the changes which have been made to the NRX pile are secret. However, officials said they include modifications in the type of shielding used to prevent radiation escaping from the reactor and in equipment necessary for control and operation of the pile.



NEW TECHNIQUE

The use of heavy water to cool the NRU reactor and prevent it generating too much heat and melting is a departure for Canada. This technique is being used to make NRU more powerful and more efficient than NRX and to cut down the loss of neutrons, the atomic bullets released by the splitting of uranium atoms when the pile is operating.

When ordinary water is used for cooling as in NRX, it absorbs many neutrons. Heavy water will cut down the absorption rate because its atoms are closer to the size of a neutron.

The cost of heavy water to cool the NRU pile will be expensive. A report made to the United States government by four firms interested in harnessing the atom for industrial power estimates the cost at $83 a pound. Officially the price is secret.

The NRX pile and the earlier "zeep" experimental reactor at Chalk River—which cost 15 and 10 tons of heavy water respectively. On the basis of $83 a pound the value of the heavy water in the two reactors is about $4,000,000. It is used in these piles as a control rather than for cooling. No estimate is available of the amount of heavy water to be used in the NRU reactor.

NUCLEAR REACTOR

Morison, chief of administrative services, discuss a diagram of the atomic energy pile. Behind them is a big nuclear reactor which has produced radioactive substances for industry and medicine and has enabled scientists to probe the secrets of the atom. (CP Photo).

Rawdon

Mount Pleasant-Rawdon W. M. S. Holds Interesting Meeting

RAWDON — Mount Pleasant-Rawdon Women's Missionary Society convened in the Church for the home of Mrs. Will Potts with 15 members and seven visitors in attendance.

Mrs. Carleton Potts played soft music and Mrs. F. Jaffs read a poem on "Faith". All sang "My Faith Looks Up to Thee". The Bible lesson was found in Hebrews 11th chapter.

Special prayer was offered for the Missionary, Miss Gwen Gardner, B.A., B.Paed., who is home on furlough from the girls High School at Indore, Ballari, India. This mission school celebrated its 75th anniversary last March. Miss Gardner was commissioned in 1914 and served in Central India. Her home is in Toronto.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen gave her report. The treasurer reported ten fees paid and over $6 for January.

MEMBERS OBLIGATION.

Mrs. Will Potts explained the obligations of membership in Community Friendship where a genuine kindly interest is needed.

Mrs. Roy Thrasher read a letter re supply work and a subscription was taken for Miss Lafayette for Korea. Quilt blocks and patches are needed for hospital quilts.

A letter re Belleville presbyterial, which convene in March at Napanee, was read, also a letter of thanks for cards sent.

The new allocation of $300 was accepted.

Mrs. R. R. Bonsteel expressed thanks for crib quilt.

The prize winners read a letter which she had received from Miss Henrietta Leslie, Lethbridge, Alberta. She is the missionary at large in the Peace River District and has served there five years.

MANNING.

Manning is a new village 400 miles northwest of Edmonton, on the McKenzie highway. It is 36 miles from the nearest station, and has two stores and post office three times a week and can get a CPA plane from Peace River.

The Battle River hospital, built in 1927 by the local W.M.S. Mrs. Leslie's home. Plans are underway now for the municipality to assume responsibility and build a large hospital.

Miss Campbell looks after church services and Sunday School on Sunday, also a church service at Dunadeen, which is 22 miles away. It is hoped to build a church at Deadwood in 1954. Miss Campbell also gives religious education in the schools twice each weekly. Just recently they had a sewer cold spell when it was 55 degrees below zero.

Mrs. Eric Summers presided over the program which was well arranged.

The worship and responses as found in the January Missionary Monthly based on the theme "The Church of the Open Book" was read together with accompanying hymns and Bible verses.

Stewardship is three dimensional because it involves God, one's self and others. Every auxiliary through every member could be a spiritual power house if they chose to make it so.

The citizenship secretary read a letter protesting liquor advertising in national magazines. The ladies voted that a letter of protest be forwarded.

Mrs. Mac Sharp and Mrs. Burton Sharpe sang "Listen to the Voice of Jesus."

Mrs. Kenneth Weaver outlined the rapid expansion of the Protestants in the Philippines, where such a great missionary tradition. The mission in the Bilasas is just five years old but is a pioneer venture and has helped to win for their young republic "The Only Christian Country in the Orient."

Dr. Fred C. Twibach, entered the interior of the island of New Guinea in 1949 and thousands of people at that time were wanted to learn to read. At the end of one week 26 people had read their first book, and 16,000 people clamored outside for word of Christ and the Christian way of life.

NEW FRONTIERS.

Today 4,000,000 Protestant Christians, who live in the great chain of islands in the south seas, are building new frontiers. Fifty per cent of the people are under 25 years of age and three-fifths of the population of the world still cannot read or write.

The Bible remains the world's all-time best seller. It has been translated in whole or in part into a total of 1,050 languages. The message of the Bible remains the same but the words often have to be altered in order to speak the desired message.

Three fees were paid and one new member joined the group.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was smoking to himself comfortable Saturday afternoon, and he said, The best leg the pipe is probably getting worse, Allen, but I suppose it's too cold out there for you to climb up the ladder to the roof and fix it now. ain't pretty cold, that's a fact, pop said, and ma said, My, how time flies. It seems like only yesterday when it was too warm for you to climb up and fix it under the leaking bath tub, she said.

It hardly seems possible, pop said, I remember one Saturday when you actually did practically what you had mined to get it done, but you discovered that the ladder wasn't quite safe, so you spent that Saturday afternoon mending the ladder.

That's rite, and I made a good job of it that ladder is just like new, pop said, and ma said, Oh I don't want to sound too optimistic, but surely there's bound to be a time when the leader and the ladder will both be in a favorable position, like the rain on an autoday map. Still, when that day comes you'll surely have something else planned, or else you'll be just too adorably comfortable to move, so move, so well just be patient and wait till the leak is so bad we'll have to pay a king's ransom to a tin smith, or a roof docter, whichever happens to be closest, pipesmoke, she said.

Not at all, I'll fix the thing rite away, I wish you had mentioned it before, pop said.

And he got out the ladder and the tin, Waterfix, and fixed the leak in the drain pipe.

Taking him about 10 minutes.

NATO Praised By Farquharson At Canadian Club

TORONTO (CP) — NATO has provided the collective security sought by all peace-loving nations since the early days of the old League of Nations, A. Chester R. A. Farquharson, director of NATO's information division, said today.

"It is the cheapest and most effective insurance policy yet devised against war," the Canadian newspaper man said in an address prepared for delivery to the Canadian Club.

NATO's military build-up in five years had been striking and without precedent in time of peace. Its forces were three times as effective and three times as strong as those available to Gen. Eisenhower when he was supreme Allied commander in Europe, seven new airfields had been increased to 125.

Mr. Farquharson, former managing editor of the Toronto Globe heard as an expert witness in espionage trials, said NATO's greatest contribution to the unique collective security organization.

COMPROMISE OFTEN

"I have often heard Canada reserve its position, which is a policy way of not agreeing, but on any point that mattered Canada, like all other countries, has either withdrawn the reservation or there has been general agreement on a modified formula," he said.

Canada because of its "unique" relationships with NATO's big three — the United States, the United Kingdom and France—was recognized by the other countries as a leader of the middle power.

"I have talked to cabinet ministers and government officials and newspaper men in every NATO country except Portugal, and including Iceland, and I can assure you that Canada is news in a unique way.

"This position . . . carries with it responsibilities which I do not think have been recognized to their full extent by newspaper men or politicians, or by Canadians generally.

"I am involved in international affairs and, whether we like it or not, we shall be increasingly involved and the leadership which we have always hesitated to accept is being thrust upon us."

Mr. Farquharson said there is living well in Canada in the newspapers of the world. And there was little world news with a Canadian accent in the press of Canada.

"I hope that we will send our own correspondents instead of relying to such a great extent on the services of other nations," he said.

"We must face the economic cost of Canadians reporting for Canadians what is happening abroad."

He also urged making it easier for the press abroad to know about Canada.

South Korea Hints It Will Detain Indian Troops

SEOUL (AP) — South Korea warned today that additional Indian troops "will not leave here" until this republic is assured of future safety for 16 Korean war prisoners now en route to India.

The Koreans did not spell out the implied threat to use force if they consider it necessary.

The decision was announced in a letter to Lt.-Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission.

The letter, signed by Lt.-Gen. Won Yong Duk, was made public by South Korea's office of public information.

About 3,000 Indian troops which guarded unrepatriated war prisoners have left Korea, and about 3,000 remain in Korea.

The 76 Korean prisoners had failed to be sent to neutral countries rather than to North or South Korea. The Indian command ordered them sent to India until arrangements are made for them to live elsewhere.

South Korea has demanded assurances that removal of the prisoners was "voluntary and destinations freely selected by them."

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)— For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoidal conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing!

All this, without the use of surgery, injections or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—a discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne has won wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only a few cents including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be promptly refunded.

15 Injured as Two CPR Trains Collide Near St. Clet, Que.

Trains En Route From Toronto to Montreal

TORONTO (CP)—At least 15 persons were injured, four seriously, when two crack CPR trains en route from Toronto to Montreal collided early today at St. Clet, Que., the CPR here said.

One unconfirmed report said 29 were hurt.

Two men trapped in one damaged car were freed by workmen using acetylene torches, CPR reported.

All the injured were put aboard a relief train to be taken to hospital in Montreal, it added.

Four of the injured suffered serious hurts, the CPR reported. All were passengers in the first section of pool train No. 34, which left Toronto at 11:30 p. m. last night.

Most of the other injured suffered only cuts and bruises, the railway said. Most were aboard the second section of the same train, which ran into the rear of the first section at St. Clet.

Report from Montreal said No. 34's first section was stopped at St. Clet by a flag for a freight train to clear on to a siding when the second section hit.

An auxiliary train carrying four doctors and two nurses reached the wreck scene at about 10 a.m. —3½ hours after the collision—the CPR said.

Another relief train was dispatched from Smiths Falls, Ont., to Clet in a small settlement about 25 miles west of Montreal.

Telegraph and telephone communications with the wreck scene were disrupted by the emergency calls. Newspaper men were unable to get information quickly.

The CPR said the police and first baggage car of the second section of No. 34 were derailed in the smash, but did not overturn. It said the train crews were not hurt.

Conductor W. J. Morris of Toronto and Fireman Ernest Lee were in charge of the first section. The second engineer was C. Wright, also Smiths Falls.

Crew of the second section was Conductor W. Flagg and engineer E. McReynolds, both of Smiths Falls, the CPR said.

No. 34's first section, hit from behind, comprised five express cars, a baggage car, a mail car and sleepers. The colliding second section comprised a baggage car, one baggage car and six sleepers and coaches.

HORSE TRAINER DIES

TORONTO (CP)—Horse trainer James Robinson, 39, well-known horse trainer and rider, died here Monday night after a brief illness. Mr. Robinson had been employed at Kim Clifford's Thistledown stables here after coming to Toronto from Guelph six years ago. He is survived by his mother Maud Chappell, a daughter Shirley Ann, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Avid Robinson of Guelph, survive.

Legislature Will Consider New Telephone Act

TORONTO (CP) — The motion proposing the address in reply to the speech from the throne, calling for a new date for the session, has cleared the decks for action in the Ontario legislature.

The house today will discuss a bill that would revise the Telephone Act, which has remained untouched since 1918.

Under the bill an Ontario telephone authority to regulate and advise approximately 100 independent telephone companies operating in the province, would be set up.

H. A. Rogers, executive secretary of the Canadian Independent Telephone Association, is expected to head the three-man semi-judicial body.

In moving the address in reply to the speech from the throne, Arthur Lolley (PC—Niagara Falls) Tuesday urged "new action and a new deal" in provincial, municipal and federal taxation. He said enormous duplication exists in the municipal and provincial governments.

"Then . . . out of every Canadian tax dollar, more than 78 cents goes to Ottawa and the provinces and the municipalities have to struggle along on less than 22 cents. It just does not add up, . . ."

Mr. Lolley, looking over a number of subjects he has on the 4,400-word address, warned that the danger of a power vacuum in the provinces is not over.

He suggested careful consideration be given the subject of rent control "including provision for local tribunals which will be in a position to see that even-handed justice applies to landlord and tenant alike."

Mr. Lolley urged a general upward revision in salary schedules for the Ontario Provincial Police. He suggested the attorney-general give some thought to revision of the highway traffic act's good points.

He also suggested that the various level of governments "go easy" in the matter of land purchase for various projects.

W. D. Nelson (PC—Algoma River) in seconding Mr. Lolley's motion, suggested a study of salary schedules in government service. He said he believed the salaries of senior executives are often out of line in many instances with their responsibilities. . . ."

Mr. Nocon also suggested that the 75-mile highway from Sheadawan to Aldoka in northwestern Ontario should be extended in the near future to Fort Severn. He also urged construction of another thermal-electric stake at Rainy river to eliminate the present traffic congestion during the summer season.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) — Synopsis: The disturbance which brought the heavy rain and snow to Southern Ontario Tuesday is moving eastward toward the Atlantic. Early this morning skies in Southern Ontario began to clear from the northwest leaving only the extreme northeastern regions still getting snow. In contrast to Monday's poor weather, pleasant mild weather is expected this morning and all regions both today and Thursday with Thursday's temperatures being a little higher.

ST. LAURENT READY TO START ASIAN TALKS

Arrives in Pakistan On Round-World Tour

KARACHI (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent arrived in Pakistan today and said he brought Canada's assurances of "our desire to cooperate with the great people of Pakistan in the fight for our common cause."

The prime minister, now on a globe-girdling tour of numerous world capitals, was greeted at the airport by Pakistan's Prime Minister Mohammed Ali.

Reporters asked the visiting prime minister if his talks here would concern "the Russian threat or anything else." He replied: "We shall discuss matters of mutual friends in Canada and in Pakistan and their problems."

Mr. St. Laurent and Canada, he added, will "co-operate in the common cause of peace as previous to all."

While in Karachi, he said, he will learn a little more about the people of Pakistan and let them learn from him a little more about Canadians.

Governor-General Ghulam Mohammed's daughter, Begum Hussein Malik, was also present to receive the guest at the airport.

Others were the Canadian high commissioner, Escott Kirkwood, Pakistan's Foreign Minister Zafrullah, high commissioners for the Commonwealth countries, Rear-Admiral Mohammad Siddique Khan, navy commander-in-chief of Pakistan naval forces, Air Vice-Marshal A. M. Dannie, commander-in-chief of the Royal Pakistan Air Force, Maj.-Gen. Mohammed Musa Khan, area commander for Karachi, and other local officials.

TAKES SALUTE

The Canadian leader mounted a dais in the saluting base while an honor guard of Pakistan navy personnel marched past.

Then Mr. St. Laurent drove in six different cars to the Governor-General's house, where they had a meeting at state guests.

The Pakistan Prime Minister's wife, Begum Liaquat Ali Khan, and daughter, Mrs. Hugh O'Donell of Quebec, Tomorrow Mrs. O'Donell will be guest at the luncheon exclusively for women at which the Begum will be hostess.

Ottawa sources said before the trip that great importance would be attached to the prime minister's talks with Asiatic leaders during the tour.

Queen Mother Accepts Eisenhower's Invitation to Visit U.S. in November

LONDON (AP) — Queen Mother Elizabeth has accepted President Eisenhower's invitation to visit the United States for 10 days in November, it was officially announced tonight. She will stay at the White House from Nov. 4 to 14.

The announcement from Clarence House, the Queen Mother's London residence, said:

"Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother has accepted an invitation from President Eisenhower to pay a brief visit to the United States in the autumn and to stay at the White House from the 4th to the 14th November.

"In New York Her Majesty will attend the special convocation celebrating the bicentenary of Columbia University, which was founded under the charter of King George II in 1754.

"Her Majesty will also formally accept the King George VI memorial scholarship raised by the English Speaking Union for scholarships for British students at American universities.

She is expected to spend 10 days in the United States.

Plans for her full schedule have not been completed yet.

No definite date has been fixed for the Queen Mother's departure from the Canadian capital, a press correspondent reported she will leave Ottawa on Nov. 4 or 5 at latest.

The Queen Mother is not expected to be accompanied by any other member of the royal family.

The correspondent said it is "quite possible" she will cross the Atlantic by plane.

The invitation was made in today's announcement of any possibility of the Queen Mother making a visit.

However, a palace spokesman said the possibility cannot be excluded.

There was as yet no indication that the Queen Mother will go to Canada as well, but that does not necessarily mean she will not decide to go."

At Ottawa, the Prime Minister's office said it has not heard of any plan for the Queen Mother to come to Canada before or after her U. S. visit.

Communications Fouled By Gale in Kingston, Cornwall

TORONTO (CP) — The flood threat decreased in many southern Ontario centres today, a continuing thaw helping to clear ice-jammed rivers by easing the ice into the lakes. But eastern Ontario was pelted by a heavy, snowstorm which tied traffic and communications in such centres as Kingston and Cornwall.

Flood conditions were still reported serious at Churchville and Meadowvale, 12 miles west of Toronto, where some 35 families have been evacuated. The angry Credit river threatened to rise another six inches. This could cause further destruction to the churchville where 30-foot ice cakes battered buildings yesterday.

At Hutionville, five miles up the Credit from Meadowvale, anxious watch was kept on a weakening dam which could split columns of water on both sides and cause casualties.

The weather cleared in western and central Ontario following yesterday's rain, sleet and snow which caused concern over flooding in Canada and in Pakistan and their problems."

Mr. St. Laurent and Canada, he added, will "co-operate in the common cause of peace as previous to all."

While in Karachi, he said, he will learn a little more about the people of Pakistan and let them learn from him a little more about Canadians.

Promise Publicity Blackout For Victims in Baby Racket

MONTREAL (CP)—Police have offered to protect the identity of persons volunteering information about a multi-million dollar adoption racket in an effort to get publicity-shy victims of the ring to help them.

Authorities last night clamped a rigid blackout on information about results of questions as they announced they are going out stymied—they've found no interlock connected even in a minor way with the international ring.

They said many of those brought in for questioning are only "minor cogs" in the baby black market and the promise of "immunity from prosecution" was designed before them to induce them to tell what they know.

But they added: "This doesn't mean that all will be granted immunity from prosecution."

DOUBLECROSS RELATED

Announcement of the proposed roundup, coming on a few hours after detectives bared a story of underworld doublecrosses in which a 12-day ransom plot was finally settled from one rival group to another.

They said the illegitimate child was born at the Laval street hideaway of a 19-year-old girl who was born questioned by police concerning the baby's operations.

The woman had asked a friend to take the child to another address, but the friend decided to sell the child independently and reported the proceeds.

To cover her tracks she pretended the baby had been kidnapped by a rival gang, but police later found the child in charge of a nurse in a Montreal hospital who had been placed. The nurse was not connected with the ring, they said.

RUMOR DOCTORS INVOLVED

Police last night refused to comment on reports that an adoption racket will be launched Friday morning by Crown Att. Gen. Gerard Lussier, prosecutor, will apply to the courts for permission to start an investigating commission to New York.

Police say they have evidence that New York couples paid from $3,000 to $10,000 for the children and that the mothers believed them may be able to throw light on operations of the baby syndicate, said to be shipping 1,000 babies across the border during the last 10 years.

Queen Presents Colors to Cadets At Sussex' RMC

CANBERRA (CP)—Queen Elizabeth stood under a steady rain for 15 minutes without a parasol in a colorful ceremony of presenting new colors to the corps of cadets at Australian Royal Military College.

The Queen, in delivering her speech, declined a red carpeted stool that was placed in the centre of the parade ground to use the microphone. Instead, she stood on the spot of the Duke of Edinburgh.

After the ceremony the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh inspected a guard of 80 Canadian bombers and transports of the Royal Australian Air Force.

Many Australians noticed that the Queen wore a diamond spray brooch presented to her by Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies Tuesday and already a part of Australian people.

She and the duke are scheduled to leave Canberra by plane Thursday morning for Sydney. There the royal couple will board the liner Gothic and sail for Tasmania.

A PRECEDENT

In a broadcast to the Australian people last night, the Queen said: "Tonight, the Queen said: "Tonight, the Queen said: "Tonight

Sales and Ad Club Members View Two Films

Members of the Sales and Ad Club witnessed two films at the monthly meeting held last night in the Bridge Club. Guest speaker was Harold Morgan, president of Truck and Farm Supply. Mr. Meyers showed the movie, "Man With a Thousand Hands," the story of the Hillmat-Kemeno hydro electric project. This film was reviewed in an earlier edition this week when it was shown at a service club.

The second picture was a sales training film.

It is rare when a person watching a movie recognizes someone in the film. However, this occurred during the showing of "Man With a Thousand Hands." Ken Finder, one of the club's newer members recognized a Mrs. Abramson of Noranda in a scene flashed on the screen. Mr. Finder had become acquainted with Mrs. Abramson when he operated a business in Noranda a few years ago.

Mr. Meyers was thanked by the club president, Fred Maund.

BELLEVILLE MINISTER TO ADDRESS MEETING

The Rev. Wilbert Greenwood, district superintendent of the Methodist Conference of Canada will be one of the guest speakers at the 1954 Eastern Canada Divisional Sunday School convention of the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada when it convenes in London, Ontario on March 2.

Mr. Greenwood lives at 135 Albert Street.

Slushy and Snow Slippery Roads Cause of Crashes

Slushy and snow slippery streets and highways resulted in a long series of traffic accidents since Tuesday morning when the area was blanketed with several inches of snow.

A fourth transport driven by Alfred Joat of Toronto slithered into the ditch near the end of the four-lane highway east of the city. Damage to the transport amounted to about $300.

Tuesday afternoon a car driven by Lee Thompson, Harold, and an auto wrecker truck driven by Bert Woodbeck, Stirling, were in collision on No. 14 highway south of Stirling. On No. 2 highway west of the city near Thomas cabins a car driven by J. Morrison, Front street, slid into the ditch resulting in $500 damage.

Monday night a car left the same story with at least half a dozen motor mishaps reported. A car driven by John Bedard, R.R. 5, bumped into a parked auto on Station street, causing $300 damage to his own vehicle and $80 to the parked car. Two passengers suffered minor injuries.

At Bridge and MacDonald cars driven by Patricia Kenney, Octavia street, and William Sopha, Trenchik street, collided, damage to both vehicles amounted to about $300.

Other accident reports resulted in damage of less than $100.

Partridge Spends Couple of Days In Museum

Abbey Dawn Museum, five miles east of Kingston, was broken into last weekend but the only thing the bird seems to have exploded through a pane of glass in one of the showcases and left the caged stuffed insect left, but the feathered breakerinto left the calling cards liberally scattered about, so, it must have been inside two or three days before it found the broken window and got out again. There was nothing in the museum of value to man or beast, as everything had been removed for the winter. "Obviously, crashing through the glass didn't hurt the Ruffed Grouse any, and only two feathers were found. It left plenty to clean up, though, for the floor looks like the place had been a hen coop. But, by the opening date, May 24, it will be even finer and more interesting than ever, promises Mr. Robb, in a note to the Ontario Intelligencer.

Council Cancels Dance Hall Licence For Zigman Club

TRENTON (Special) — Council cancelled the Bridge Club's dance hall licence last night after hearing complaints from a delegation of three male residents from the Benllock Street neighborhood.

Spokesman Sam Potts said that the property owners in close proximity of the club felt that their property had depreciated in value since the dances started. He revealed that residents could never get parking space on dance nights. The other morning he said certain residents were awakened by fighting outside their homes. They resident objected to having their property littered with whisky and beer bottles" he pointed out. "I am sure none of you would like to see your wonderful city subjected to the language and carrying on of the drunken revelers that leave the hall." Mr. Potts remarked. One of the late night calls he told council he caught three youths from the dance hall trying to break into his car. Other residents reported that he could never hear the fights in his TV for the noise coming from the dance hall.

WARNED BY COUNCIL.

The proprietor Jack Zigman was granted permission to increase the capacity of the hall from the earlier this year. At the time council warned him that they would have to revoke his permit if the dances were not properly disciplined.

Mayor Ross Burtt took a firm stand in agreeing with the complainants. He reported that a petition had been signed by a number of the dancers inside the hall recently. "Somebody took it away from him and got it to Mr. Zigman," the mayor revealed. According to Mayor Burtt, Zigman gave the gun back to the dancers and got his petition.

Subsequent police investigation disclosed that the revolver-toting dancer had a starter's pistol gun.

Councillor Smithrim noted he was familiar with the revolver incident and that the chap had already been dealt with in police court. "I frankly think the licence should be cancelled," he asserted.

Councillor James MacDonald observed that he considered the club a personal private club of Jack Zigman's. "I think we have got to deal with it the same as a private business," he said.

Councillors N. J. McNair and Reg. Armstrong favored the cancellation.

Mayor Burtt pointed out that the dancing interrupted the rest of working men in the locality.

Council's final decision was to revoke the licence immediately and to return Mr. Zigman five dollars of the $50 fee for the dance hall permit.

TWO APPLICATIONS

Clerk-treasurer O. W. Larry read two applications for the job of town assessor.

An expenditure of $700 for free trimming was sanctioned.

Council moved to pay ex-assessor Charles Rogerson $11 extra for covering three months of January and February. Mr. Rogerson, dismissed recently, was given a month's notice effective February 1. Councillor McNair felt that Mr. Rogerson could claim for salary to the end of March inasmuch as "the extra days' notice was concerned.

Solicitor John F. Sprague, B.A. of Belleville, was employed to defend Trenton at the Court of Revision appeal against assessment by Geral Smith of Napanee.

E. A. Eaton's application for dog catcher was accepted. He will be paid $125 a month and the usual fees will also belong to him.

Card Pictures Victoria Park In Its Heyday

They may not have had television, radio, rakish mile-beating automobiles four or five decades ago, but folks in this city and district did not lack for entertainment.

A postcard link with the past came to light the other day. It was forwarded to this newspaper by Gordon Barclay, 231 Dundas Street East.

The card is in a fine state of preservation. There is no date affixed, but old timers in the city estimate it originated a short time after the turn of the century.

The picture was taken apparently while a yacht race was being held off the park. In the foreground are white-winged craft are seen heeling over to a spanking breeze with many more in the course. A handsome schooner rigged yacht with bare spars lies at anchor on the left of the park.

A large crowd of people line the eastern shore, the ladies wearing large hats and ankle-length dresses. A number of small boats adorn the water.

What appears to be a well-appointed club house also occupies a place in the grounds of the background.

The card is a colorful reminder of the days when yachting and boating, moonlight excursions on steamers, and other nautical entertainment, provided a large part of the city's recreation.

Asks Congress To Allow Sharing Facts About Atom

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower asked the United States Congress today for authority to share limited information on the field of atomic weapons with friendly powers.

In a special message, the President also asked for the right to share peacetime atomic power production information with American allies and to give American private industry a greater share in the development of nuclear power.

Eisenhower said these steps would "mean the effect of "strengthening the defence and the economy of the United States and of the free world."

The President said the onward rush of atomic developments has outmoded the 1946 Atomic Energy Act which mistakenly assumed that the U. S. could maintain a monopoly in atomic energy for an appreciable time.

Counterbalancing the loss of monopoly, he said, is the development of a wide variety of atomic weapons which have "achieved conventional status" in the armed forces.

May Never Seek To Make Public Gouzenko Report

WASHINGTON (CP)—Chairman William E. Jenner (Rep. Ind.) of the senate internal security sub-committee said today he does not know if he ever will seek Canadian permission to make public testimony from Igor Gouzenko.

Jenner and Senator Pat McCarran (Dem. Nev.) went to Montreal and secretly questioned Gouzenko Jan. 4 under an arrangement, reluctantly accepted by the sub-committee, that there be no government a veto over publication of any of his testimony.

Last week The Canadian Press reported that Canada was willing that Gouzenko's testimony be made public if the sub-committee so requested. It added only that 33 words be omitted, saying these involved names of persons against whom no charges could be proved.

Jenner confirmed today that he has not asked permission to make the testimony public, adding that he doesn't know if he ever will. He gave no reason.

Traffic Committee Urges Council to Spend $40,000 For Front St. Parking Lot

A recommendation for the city to purchase the old Foley Foundry building and lot on Front street, the property to be used as off street parking, will be presented to city council at the next regular meeting.

The recommendation will be from the Traffic and Licensing committee calling for the purchase of the Foley property at a cost of $40,000.

The matter was broached at Monday evening's council meeting by Alderman Robt. Temple, chairman of the traffic committee, who said that an option for the purchase of the Foley property had been secured at the above figure. The option would expire March 31st.

Plans would be to raze the old foundry building, level off the lot and pave it and install parking meters. It was estimated that from 100 to 125 cars could be parked on the lot.

Just how such a lot would relieve the parking problem in the city was illustrated by Mr. Temple by noting that street parking on both sides of Front street from Dundas to the Upper Bridge now accommodates only 164 cars. He noted that the Foley lot had a 90 foot frontage on Front street, the lot fanning out to a greater width at the river and contained about 30,000 square feet.

The traffic committee has put a lot of time on this and I think it has a good chance of getting approval of council," Mr. Temple stated later. We estimate that the total cost, including purchase of the land would be less than $60,000."

Prices have already been asked for parking meters allowing parking time up to five hours. These would be used to for cost of revenue.

Cost of the parking lot would be debentured and it is felt the lot would eventually pay for itself.

Winter Wonderland Gets Real Gooey So Tin Pan Alley Earns a 'Phooey'

Winter Wonderland, Phooey!

The Tin Pan Alley Mozart who wrote that lyric probably got his inspiration from newspaper pictures of rural scenes with icebesmeared trees bowing over a rippling brook ribboning a snow-blanketed woodlands.

Strangely enough the creek in some cases is not frozen over.

If Old Man Winter is trying to paint a "wonderland" after the style of the smog painter, he has his brushes mixed, his palette watery and is using a slush base on a dirty brown canvas.

What is "wonderlandish" about sludging to ankle-deep in nice gooey, anaemic slush?

What is so beautiful about trudging home, head bowed before a driving rain, and you're caught with your umbrella down?

What is so poetically divine about hail pelting your face while tramping the main boulevards for the family groceries, and you take home a sleet-slugged soggy mass in which all is soaked but the eggs, and pork and beans?

And isn't it just ducky when you finally get an intersection green light, and heeding one eye on car drivers, you plunge into a large camouflaged slush puddle that gurgles over the tops of your galoshes?

Then with the gooey mess spurting between your toes, you peruse momentarily while a dimwitted car driver presents you with a beautiful shower of the mossy mud, that envelops you from head to waterlogged toe. He hasn't the decency to hand you a towel.

You finally reach "dry land" in the middle of the road, to be before completing the "digging out" of large portions of icy goo from your eyes, you plunge nearly knee-deep into the young river that is carrying its cargo of dirty snow curb-level along the edge of the pavement.

Winter Wonderland, Phooey!

It seems all the bosses go to Florida at this time of the year . . . well nearly all.

provements and absorbed in the general rate. This had increased the tax rate by approximately one mill.

He said the action of the public utilities in withdrawing from the courts their dispute over assessments was appreciated, and more outstanding taxes would be paid this city.

He believed a satisfactory adjustment had been arrived at with respect to the question of garbage collection from industrial plants, and offered his personal thanks to those who had assisted in the arrangements.

"I do feel grateful to the aldermen who have assisted in reducing the original estimates presented by various departments making possible our 1954 mill rate."

In closing Mayor Bolt asked for the wholehearted support and co-operation during the year so that all departments could be administered in the most economical way.

"In doing so," he said, "we may possibly show an encouraging surplus for the year's operation."

SCHOOL COSTS

Public school will cost the city taxpayers a total of $332,384.56 this year, according to the budget. Separate school costs will cost supporters $39,508.84, and the high school board will cost city taxpayers $159,508.80. Debenture costs for the public schools and high school area are included in the above figures.

The city's share of local improvements will cost $41,438.39, while the property owners' share for the same purpose will cost $73,201.90.

Although hospital costs for this year are up .2 mills, the 2.7 mill rate to raise $52,561, Mr. Counsel Bryman said nothing is being levied for a deficit as increased hospital revenues are expected.

Welfare will cost the city $32,-035, the general rate of .37 mills will raise $692,062.

APPROVED ESTIMATES

Approved estimates for the various city departments included: Executive and Finance, $62,000; Board of Works, $223,800; Fire Department, $145,000; Police Department, $103,342; Board of Health, $27,655; Child Welfare, $21,360; Industrial, Tourist and Publicity, $5,900; Parks Board, $18,704; Recreation Commission, $18,975; Housing and Planning, $7,439; Property, Printing and Stationery, $20,900; Library Board, $18,695; Traffic and Lighting, $38,450; Administration of Justice, $17,000, and grants $13,800. Included in the last item is an amount of $3,000 for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, a grant not paid last year.

Also included in the budget is an amount of $2,500 as a special account for the police department, to be paid if required.

According to the chairman of finance the city debenture debt as of December 31, 1953, totalled $2,843,720 for all purposes.

Contemplated debenture issues for 1954, approved by the Ontario Municipal Board, total $3,906,676.16, while an additional $430,000 in debentures is waiting for approval by the board. These debentures include $215,000 for the new Sir Winston Churchill school, and a similar amount for two storm sewers in the Parkwood Heights area.

ASKS INVESTIGATION

TORONTO (CP)—Alderman Jesse Robertson Monday asked the city's buildings, assessment and health departments to investigate living conditions in a Sherbourne street house in downtown Toronto. He said the 20-room house, in which at least 67 persons were living, had only two toilets and no bathrooms. Six families lived in the cellar which had only two ordinary windows.

THE ARTISTIC TEMPERAMENT

Henri Masson, a painter who lives in Ottawa, has been resurrected, the old chestnut about 'art' not being understood by everybody, Mr. Masson, who considers himself "a neat-modernist impressionist," has taken exception to the quality of work of 30 Canadian artists who, on commission of the House of Seagram, painted typical scenes in 23 of Canada's cities from coast to coast. These paintings, for which the artists received approximately $1,500 each, are currently on a 90,000 mile world tour as friendly ambassadors of Canadian painting.

Among his indictments of the paintings Mr. Masson includes the harsh "artistic" terms of "calendar art"; "dirt," and "farce." The whole project he labelled "a major publicity stunt." Of the 23 artists the Montreal exhibitor threw at, Jackson, Jacques de Tonnancour of Montreal and Goodridge Roberts of Digby N.S., from his general criticism.

Mr. Masson, whose "near-modernist, impressionist" painting features the lavish use of bright yellows and violent reds, and figures that are not particularly well drawn, cannot be accused of being "commercial." It is true that he has sold some of his work but one fails to recall much of Mr. Masson's work receiving wide public acclaim or recognition, and certainly there is little of it that has been commissioned by anyone, let alone the House of Seagram, at $1,000 per picture.

However, Mr. Masson does enjoy a modest reputation in Canada's second rank of painters. As a director of the Banff School of Fine Arts, and a practising painter, he is in a favorable position to comment on art in general and Canadian art in particular. And it is most enjoyable to read his comments, too, especially as they are so free-wheeling and all-inclusive.

However, he is treading on a shaky critical platform when he says that the art cannot be good because it is "commercial." If, because a painter receives $1,000 for a painting, the painting is therefore bad, it becomes obvious, using that standard of art appreciation, that a $500 painting is only half as bad and that a really good painting is probably worth 10 cents. No one has yet successfully convinced an artist, and we presume Mr. Masson as well, that the better his work, the less he should receive for it.

It is of course, apparent, that a picture is good or bad according to the talent of the artist. Whether he receives $1,000 or $10,000 for the picture does not change the "artistic" value of the work. The artistic value of a finished painting, barring accident or injury, never changes. It may come to be appreciated more fully, but the intrinsic worth of art lies in the genius incorporated in its expression and not in the money spent in its ownership. Very often, however, the artist who paints purely for art's sake is borne out in later years when some oil millionaire or business tycoon spends a fortune on a painting to ornament his living room. In the course of time such fortunes have a way of losing some idea of its worth, but there have been fortunes spent for inferior work, too. It is never wise, even for artists, to criticize art because it is "commercial." As we have tried to point out, the oils of painting and the waters of commerce do not mix, even in art criticism, to give a true picture of the value of any art.

A DREARY CONCLUSION

The Letter-Review of Fort Erie reaches a dreary conclusion.

"Full employment," it declares, "inevitably generates strong political pressure for increased benefits in the units security for the aged, the ill and the infirm ceases to have any relation to reality."

It makes out quite a case for this contention, too. When everybody is working, it says, conditions are favorable to a steady upward trend in wages and, consequently, prices, while social insurance payments remain fixed.

That is just what has happened in Canada during the past few years. Inflation has robbed older people of their savings and their pensions. True, they still have their dollars but those dollars have been halved in value.

But if this result is truly inevitable, we have a sorry state of affairs. We already have been faced with the depressing theory that we have to choose between peace and depression on the one hand and war and prosperity on the other. Now the Letter-Review wants to add a second set of horns to the dilemma, with unemployment and justice for the aged on the one horn and inflation and full employment and social insecurity for the helpless on the other.

If it were true it would be a grievous fault in our economy and grievously indeed would we eventually answer for it.

With medical association claims that cigarets are a factor in the development of cancer producing a decline in tobacco sales and tax revenues from tobacco sales, will the Department of National Health and Welfare be called upon to find new sources of tax money for the Department of National Revenue?

A FATHER

A father's job is not to run
The boss fast as can his son
Or join his team, thinking that
He likes to take a turn at bat.
He may be still a boy at heart
But he's too old to play the part.

Of boys I'd say that every lad
Has many pals, but just one dad.
And growing up, 'tis he succeeds
Who's a father that he needs.

A father, when his feet have strayed,
That he can turn to unafraid.

The boy has shums with whom to play,
But needs a dad from day to day
Who sees his dirty face and hands
And will the reason understands;
Who finds no surprise in hurt,
and exclaims: "What, go now?
Why, you've just begunning."

"Here come the Jones - - - let's turn out the lights - - - maybe they'll think we went to bed."

Mere Male At a Party

(Gail Reporter).

When the suggestion is made that it would be nice to attend a party a hard-working man has the right to demand one condition. He wants to get up at the usual early hour.

He must do more than that. He must get up quite promptly. He must protest that he cannot go out and stay up until all hours and then get up to his work.

He must insist that it would not be well for him to attempt to go to the office next morning except from the indigestion of the night before. He must remind that his performance there is highly important to the general well-being of the family.

He must make it clear, he has his own health to consider. Do not the doctors say that a man who is overtired is highly likely to pick up any germs going around? And may remark that it is all very well for members of the family who are in bed in the morning to stay up until long after midnight. But that is different from having to get up at the early hour of dawn.

He questions whether it is worth while going out to these evening parties. They are noisy and nobody can hear what anybody else says, and consequently, the guests don't enjoy themselves very much. And they are tempted to eat indigestible food every hour for the next day.

So he wants it to be fully understood he is going as a personal favor and that it's the condition under which he does not respect this will be the last time.

Thus threatened, they keep their mind on the time and, at a reasonable hour suggest that they go. At this he feigns surprise and hurt, and exclaims: "What, go now? Why you've just begunning."

The Road to Wealth

("Industry", published by Ontario Manufacturers' Association)

Apart from its aesthetic quality, a tree, standing as it grew, has no great value for man. It is absorbed in the falling, trimming, transport, manufacture and distribution that it undergoes. The same thing applies to ores in the ground, power resources in the waterways and the earth itself before it is plowed, sown and cultivated. In fact, to everything which we call raw materials.

When this is understood, it becomes clear how much of the wealth of Canada is due to her citizens when raw materials are exported in their natural state. We are, as the old phrase has it, in the position of the foolish man who "lived on his capital."

What is the answer to it all? One solution is to use our raw materials ourselves and offer the finished articles for sale instead. Admittedly, in order to maintain the standard of living which we have built up, it is essential to develop our export trade. But that any reason why we should forever export and import the same goods, surrendering all the high wealth which is added by manufacture.

To get the maximum wealth from our natural resources, we should manufacture them into finished articles. That is a fact. Of course, as in most other things, there is another side to the question of investment. In the first place, it is not possible to keep all the fruits of their resources and refuse to part with any of them to anybody. In the second place it would not be desirable. There are reasons why we must sell and should buy things in a raw and or semi-finished state.

Let us look briefly at some of the reasons. There must be some of flow of raw materials between nations or many articles could never be made. Aluminum is a good example. In the manufacture of this, two raw materials are essential, electric power in great quantities and bauxite ore. Some of the countries which have bauxite in the ground have no hydro-electric power potential, it is clear that the ore must be brought to the power if anything is to be made. That is why Canada, which produces no bauxite of its own, still has an enormous aluminum industry.

Canada's wood pulp industry will not permit nations to hoard their natural resources and refuse to part with them in any but a fully-manufactured form. All countries are interdependent to some extent and find gain for themselves in making some sacrifices to others.

Another matter to be reckoned with is that the Canadian population is not big enough to process all its natural resources. And yet, for the sake of our living standard we must sell abroad. With the present time, a portion of our export trade is vital to the well-being of the whole nation. That is one reason for attracting more settlers and immigrants. We are losing so much national wealth through the inadequacy of our population.

A gain, many countries want our raw materials so badly that they impose heavy tariffs on finished goods. In this a larger population would help Canada to buy more. In this way, home market would shake the need for export less acute.

Our aim should be to manufacture all we can and sell the finished product. We should encourage the development of the world resources of these materials. Every country should consider that its own peoples, it is they who add the value and they who receive the

Aurora No Mystery

(Owen Sound Sun-Times)

The appearance of the aurora borealis may be a little dismaying for some of us because this phenomenon is so closely associated with cold. We think of it when we were snug indoors, or perhaps we stay indoors and don't watch it at all.

However, the National Geographic Society says that this sky spectacle is no longer the puzzle it used to be. Its appearance is now believed to be the battles or manoeuvres of spirits or gods, which were supposed to be at war with things.

In fact these streamers of light are caused by gigantic currents of electrified particles spouting forth from the sun's surface at speeds of 1,000 miles an hour and a hundred miles of miles like streams from a hose.

An observer high above the earth's surface that the aurora is a luminous cloud near the North Pole behind which are ten thousands of miles long and perhaps 200 miles high. The various colors are given off by atmospheric gases, oxygen for the red and yellow, nitrogen for the blue and violet and their shades. Green predominates in the visible auroras.

There are southern lights, too, the aurora australis. However, this is little studied because its areas where it is visible. The most frequent displays occur on a line running from Labrador across Canada in the Hudson Bay area and up to Point Barrow, Alaska, then through Siberia.

Residents of Florida, Texas and other southern states seldom if ever see the northern lights. They have the temperature of a very mild winter weather, and probably do not mind. But the northern lights at the same time are a wonder not to be soon to be forgotten and provide one of nature's weirdest sights.

'New' Words Really Old

(Saturday Night).

A few years ago it was noted that typists were no longer using "the quick brown fox jumped over the lazy dog" to test their machines, but had turned to "a quick movement of the enemy would jeopardize six gunboats." We thought we had found a sign of the times, that along comes Mr. Bernard Octavius Lester of advertising and public relations for Underwood Limited, to tell us that "when the Underwood Company sent me to New York, by way of Cuba, on a scholarship, I found the competing typists were familiar with the sixgunboats' sentence and this was back in 1907."

Obviously, the perceptive typist got into the stream of Twentieth Century literature very early, and we were prepared to halt them as in point the use of "zinc" as a verb a bit in the London Times that increased our respect even more for the typists' literacy. Then we learned that "zinc" is not a verb, comparatively speaking. We learned, at all, but was coined by a Dr. Lindsay some time before 1,000, A.D., and based on that date by Dr. Geo Vocux, who was the first secretary of the Anglo-Oriental Smoke Abatement Society. Dr. Vocux was a pioneer in weather. When Dr. Norbert used "Cybernetics" a while ago as the name of his book in the scientific control of machines, he was merely applying the Greek word kybernetes to the jargon of science. But Andrew Ampere used it in 1834 to mean the art of Cybernetique as "the science of government," getting back to the Greek word for steersman. It is interesting that, two years after Ampere's new invention, the word should be used again to describe the friendly relations between the members of human assemblies. We are, of course, a century closer to 1984.

Steam-Puff Days Desired

(St. Louis Globe-Democrat).

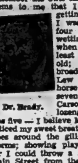
A strictly tentative scoolate is in order around the headquarters of New York Central and Baltimore & Ohio Railroads by junk dealers and engineers, scared little by signs of steam whistles. Preliminarily, it is only a step in the direction—back.

Not that anyone blindly thinks of the opposed gratuitized version of the steam whistle which, the roads say, the engineers prefer. They are going to hold out for a herk first. Certainly the Diesel horns that are coming in something that sounds like a church whizzing by. Anything is better, however, than the contemporary Diesel horns that are hopelessly emulate a larvngitic cow past milking time.

The trend is the important thing. The announcements are said that the new chimes would be steam whistles. Which means engines will have steam again.

Steam, in case you are a youngster, is the stuff that used to make steam whistles blow in a distant town on the night and lull you to sleep. It is also the stuff that, when blown from the cylinders by powerful engineers, scared little boys off the right of way when the whistle was not blowing. It is the stuff that made engines pull and put romance and adventure into railroading.

That same puff, too, gave you a thrill when you were big enough to get out of the way in time. Those confined Diesels can suck up on you.



We endorse, therefore, anything that smacks of a return to the steam-puff days. If the newfangled Diesel steam whistle does it well and good. On second thought, why not bring them back with a steam engine under them.

CHANGING WAYS OF HEALTH AND DISEASE

How far back can one actually remember his own childhood. It seems to me that I remember getting lost when I was three or four years old; wetting the bed when I was at least six years old; running headlong into Lew Cleveland's store when I was seven; taking Dr. Lennox's wrong lozenges when I was five — I believe Mrs. Lennox noticed my sweet breath and white lines around the gills so I had worse chewing playmates; how far I could throw a stone down Main Street from the corner of Chapel Street and quite unintentionally swinging too far to the left so the stone went through Mr. McKechnie's grocery store window.

Dr. Brady.

I feel pretty sure I actually remember some of these things, but maybe I remember only hearing my parents or others tell about them. There is a certain period of childhood so fabulous that by the time you qualify for social security and discover there is no security you can't believe your own recollection.

Frankly I don't know whether I remember the first time I saw a succumbing to diphtheria or whether I just heard about it. But I remember clearly a winter day in the 'era of Canadaigua Ale' and Flanagan's Oysters when I watched the intrepid Dr. McCleland come forth from a house down the street where there was a case of diphtheria — a dreadful thing, for antitoxin had not yet been introduced in Canadaigua. For a long time Dr. McClellan stood in the middle of the street flapping his arms and shaking out his coat before he got into his cutter and drove away.

The cause of diphtheria, bacillus diphtheriae, was discovered by Klebs in 1883 and Loffler in 1884. It is called the Klebs-Loffler bacillus. Diphtheria antitoxin was discovered by Emil von Behring about 1895.

The public dreaded diphtheria then as many of you ignoramuses dread leprosy now. The difference is that there is no excuse for your ignorance but in the nineteenth century people were ignorant because the doctors themselves knew no better.

Two recent queries about the croup have become rare. I have a distinct and enduring impression that children get a better break in the way of nutrition, open air play, light clothing and exposure to sunshine today than they did in the days before pasteurized milk and the universal use of antitoxin. There is a certain period of childhood so fabulous that by the time you qualify for social security and discover there is no security you can't believe your own recollection.

Frankly I don't know whether I remember the first time I saw a succumbing to diphtheria or whether I just heard about it. But I remember clearly a winter day in the 'era of Canadaigua Ale' and Flanagan's Oysters when I

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ONENESS WITH ALL

Whenever I take up a book that I have heretofore read and studied, I feel a oneness with it. The thoughts of the author become as known to me personally, immediately become alive and I feel as though I had had arrived for a talk.

I look out from my 28th floor office in the big city and watch the streams of people on the streets below. I can not see the movement of taxicabs and private cars—a stream of people. I feel that though I were a part of that stream, for I am a human being and this is my city. There is a oneness to the thought and to the cluttered buildings that spread like a blanket before my eyes.

I can read and write, my library, where I read and write, lend and meet one another. They are a family. I love them. Every time I look out upon them I feel less lonely. Some are friends, but is the same when I feed my squirrels and birds. They seem to know that I love them, and so they become less fearful each day. They are the children of nature and all are my friends.

If we felt a oneness toward all of mankind we would hesitate not to put an end to all war. People hate and want what they have "jumped the track" in their own mind. They are afraid of them and the multitude that hopes only for happiness and a chance to live their own life rather than to kill off their fellow man, no matter who that fellow man may be.

I do not feel a stranger in a strange land—only a visitor. Other people are too much like myself. There is a oneness to all creation, the same is true in the oceans, to the heavens inhabited with its billions of stars. I like the way a true gardener personalizes his plants and flowers. We are all an activity of weekday life.

Then came supper and the evening Sunday, when I go early to bed.

Compare this with the present-day Sunday. Maybe it is because I am an oldster, but I like the old better.

THE PASSING OF SUNDAY

Since I have been writing during the past two days on the passing of the old days afforded pleasure for myself and my family to watch the old days afforded pleasure for myself and my family to watch the old days afforded pleasure for myself and my family to finish this series by comparing the present-day Sunday with the Sunday of fifty years ago.

In order to understand the old-time Sunday, one must remember that almost everybody in the city had come from the farms within the past 25 years. Most of the farms Sunday was a quiet day of rest. Because of the absence of telistic movements had emphasized Sunday observance. Everyone was busy with the chores, even as they were incorrectly called—kept all businesses from operating on Sunday in practically every community all activity ceased. Even the churches were very quiet, and even if one did not attend church, one enjoyed a period of rest as he sat on the porch in summer or in the sitting room in winter. Streets were crowded (although scarcely more than they are right now), and everyone either walked to church or drove or went in the streetcar. There was a leisurely air about Sunday, and then naps in the afternoon or visiting with relatives or friends or sitting about chatting with the family in a way that one ally was not possible in the activity of weekday life.

Then came supper and the evening Sunday, when I go early to bed.

Compare this with the present-day Sunday. Maybe it is because I am an oldster, but I like the old better.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Glasgows in quick reading are now being conducted in most Canadian universities, colleges, and business schools. Its purpose is to speed up reading; you can more than double the speed with which you can now read and digest a page of a book, a letter or a document of any kind.

Part of the training consists of a physical exercise by which you learn to run your eyes down over the page from side to side as you follow the lines of print. You widen, in other words, your focus. You look at the middle of the page, and both eyes, your left and right, are full width of the page. At least so they say.

There are normally amongst us slow readers and fast readers. Most of us dawdle as we read, following in the prose, enjoying the mere feel of the words as they scatter our eyes and create the images in our minds and the ideas in our brains. Others amongst us are skimmers, who skip and slither across the page, content to get the general drift of what is written. We're the ones who, when we've finished five pages of what looks like thick stuff, say how to take it in faster.

Compensation Question Not Settled

After discussing the matter at two separate council meetings, city council is still undecided on whether compensation for city employees is to be carried by a private insurance firm or through the Ontario Compensation Board.

Two weeks ago council heard a local insurance representative quote rates for compensation insurance by a private firm and also for the compensation board. He pointed out that while the rate of the private firm was slightly higher, that of the compensation board was but a provisional rate and the city could possibly be called upon to pay an additional premium.

At Monday's meeting Alderman Countryman brought in a recommendation to take out compensation insurance with the A. E. Wilson Company at total premium for one year of $4,545.91. This was about $600 more than the premium quoted by the compensation board.

In view of the board figure being a provisional rate it was recommended the insurance be taken out with the private firm for this year with the matter to be watched closely to see what it would have cost the city had the insurance been with the compensation board.

"Why don't we accept the lowest rate now?" asked Alderman Duffy.

"Because we have been told that if we accept the compensation board we must remain with them," replied Alderman Countryman.

Mayor Both said he had discussed the matter with compensation board officials and pointed out that it was not until council had discussed rates that the A. E. Wilson Company had lowered its premiums.

To a question from Alderman Hyde whether city employees would be protected if the matter was laid over, Mayor Both said the city had been assured it was covered. The contract with the insurance company had not been cancelled.

There was some discussion on the question of whether or not the city would be bound to remain with the compensation board if their offer was accepted. Alderman Temple said such a situation "seemed ridiculous".

With the assurance that the city was covered, council voted to lay over the matter of which form of insurance to accept, for two weeks to allow the city solicitor to determine whether the city would have to remain with the compensation board if this type insurance was decided on.

An inquiry from Jamieson Bone regarding zoning regulations for new construction on Front Street was referred to the planning and public works committee.

Kiwanians Given Club Reports At Luncheon

Reports of instructors of the homemaking and hobbycraft clubs held in the Kiwanis centre were given at the meeting of the club on Tuesday.

Mrs. Gertrude Cross and Mrs. Dorothy Argue, instructors in sewing presented brief reports on the progress of their group. Miss Fowler, leathercraft instructor said there was great interest and good attendance at leathercraft classes.

Mrs. Helena Duffy spoke on work done by her group with underprivileged children and welfare. She said her group had begun in a small way several years ago assisting a few of the needy members in attendance at hobby classes. Later the group requested names of needy families known to the Red Cross. Subsequently they were able to expand their welfare services.

A review of the work done by the newly organized Women's Amalgamated Welfare Association was presented by Mrs. Ann Finkle. Mrs. Finkle also described circumstances, which brought about the organization of the association. She reported that there are about 90 families in need of assistance this year, which cannot as yet be helped by the municipal Welfare Department.

Tuesday's meeting was under the direction of Bev Quinney. The expression of appreciation to the instructors was extended by Milt Davidson.

Members of Farm Forums Enjoy Toronto Trip

On arriving at the Co-Op Insurance Association they were divided into groups, each with a representative from the office to explain the workings of the office—underwriting, filing claims, services, etc. The C.I.A. sponsored a dinner with Mr. Andrew Hood, C.I.A., with Ruth Mackenzie, National Farm Forum; Mr. Cliff Wallis, Ontario Farm Forum and Mr. George Carlisle, Hastings Co., Fed. of Agriculture, giving brief reports. Miss Stella Haskey of the advertising department of C.I.A., was chair lady.

After lunch they visited 409 Huron Street and were greeted by Mr. Cliff Wallis and shown through offices of Ontario Farm Forum, National Farm Forum, Fed. of Agr., whole milk producers, cream producers, Co-Op printing, etc.

At the United Co-Operatives of Ontario they were greeted by Mr. Leonard Harmer—and Miss Brackleband and were shown through the different branches of U.C.O. including rural co-opers and Ontario Medical Federation.

A dinner was served at the "Crown and Country" sponsored by U.C.O., O.F.A., and C.I.A. with their representatives present.

The members of the tour relaxed for an hour in the music room of the New Westminster Hotel with brief reports from Mr. C. Belyea and R. Hergott of O.F.A. Mr. G. McLeod of U.C.O., Miss Reid, Dept. of rural co-operation and Mr. Bernard Hollinger of Hastings County Farm Forum.

They also attended the Ice Follies in Maple Leaf Gardens in the evening and all reported a day well spent.

Unemployment on Increase But Big Dispute Still On Over Recession in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Chamber of Commerce, voicing a cheerful outlook for the American economy today said "it is difficult to see any reason why this country should ever again experience an old-fashioned depression."

But CIO president Walter Reuther called it "dangerous and unrealistic" to think that "spring and the robins will bring prosperity."

Reuther obviously referred in a statement for the congressional economic committee to recent predictions by Republican administration spokesmen that the U.S. economy, which they contend is adjusting after the Korean war, will start turning upward about spring.

The chamber said in its statement for the committee that so far the "inventory readjustment" bound to follow the end of fighting in Korea" has been "surprisingly easy."

Discussing unemployment, the chamber said the census bureau reported that U.S. unemployment in January totalled 2.8 per cent of the civilian labor force — "in no sense an alarming amount."

NEW FIGURES

However, the commerce department announced Tuesday night after the chamber statement had been prepared—that a new method of collecting statistics indicates that the number of unemployed early last month was 3,987,000 — about 728,000 more than reported previously. The figures cut to 4.9 per cent of the civilian labor force.

Reuther said there may be differences of opinion on the seriousness of the unemployment situation. "The problem is real. It is here now, and it is inexcusable in a country like ours. . . ."

The CIO president, who also heads the CIO's United Auto Workers union, said signs of an economic pick-up have not been seen yet in the automobile industry.

The chamber said a number of "powerful stimulants to demand" already are at hand, including bank deposit insurance, unemployment compensation and amortized mortgages. Such Eisenhower proposals as broadened social security coverage and tax reforms, it added, "are clearly called for at this time."

Senator Paul Douglas (Dem., Ill.) said meanwhile that the new government unemployment statistics support his contention that the U.S. already is in a recession.

Present Era Golden Age Of Queens

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP)—Never underestimate the importance of a teen-ager.

This is the period which has been defined as "the age when daughter knows best," when parents are mere old fogies, and when the world is a big, beautiful show window of lipstick, bebop records, shirts, skirts and dance dresses.

The present era also might be known as the golden age of teens, who, with their younger sisters and brothers, now constitute one of the most important consumer groups. Since big business discovered the staggering total of school children's spending, these junior tycoons have been the object of advertising campaigns, special departments in stores, vast publishing ventures and concentrated merchandising plans designed to extract the pennies from their piggy banks.

School children in the United States are spending about $70,000,000 a week, estimates Lester Rand, president of the Youth Research Institute. The agency specializes in surveying tastes, opinions and resources of young people.

CHOOSE FOOD, CLOTHES

These figures represent only the money spent by the youngsters themselves, and do not include expenditures for clothing and food, usually purchased by the parents. But any parent knows that the young fry of the family also exercise a strong voice in the selection of these basic items. Few mothers would dare pick out a new dress for a teen-age daughter without taking the young lady along.

My own teen-age daughter is, I think, typical of her age group. Thanks to baby-sitting jobs and paid household chores around her own home, she is seldom without folding money.

She collects blouses and skirts like another generation used to collect seashells and butterflies. Her record collection overflows into every room of the house. She also collects miniature animals (porcelain, wood or stuffed) and college pennants. Most of this impedimenta she buys with her own money. And her total expenditures for a year probably would surprise even her long-suffering parents.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

ARE THESE TWO REALLY SUITED TO EACH OTHER?

"Recently my girl and I broke our engagement. We began a clerical and young man's letter. "We had been quarreling for a while and the last few days began to see him frequently and now tells me she is his girl's girl."

Then comes the crux of the problem:

"I am still very much in love with her and I do not know what to do. I have told her I love her, but I believe she is afraid of me, because, during our arguments, I am afraid I told her a few lies and so she does not trust me. I am inclined to say and very upset. "How can I make her realize that I still love her and want her for my wife?"

Well, what I would advise this young man to do depends entirely on whether or not he is quite certain he and this girl would be happy together as man and wife.

The fact that they have quarreled so much, and have had so many arguments, would make me read a little closer on this point. People who really love each other, and who, therefore, put the other person's happiness and welfare above their own, who are congenial and companionate, and who would be happy together in marriage, do not as a rule, spend so much time as he and this girl appear to have spent in battling one another. If there are so many things on which these two differ, I would be inclined to believe they would be far better off apart.

On the other hand, if this chap feels that it might be possible for the two of them to adjust their differences so they would not be constantly getting on each other's nerves; if he thinks that, with both of them putting affection first and commonsense second in their relationship they could learn to make necessary compromises where they disagreed, then it might be worth his while to make the try.

But before even making a try, he should give the matter careful and earnest consideration to the question of whether or not he and this girl are really suited to each other and not let his emotions rid him. For suppose they did succeed in patching up the break and getting together again right now. Unless both of them are willing to make an honest effort to ferret out and fully understand the basic reasons why they disagree so often; unless they were clear-eyed enough to recognize what each must do to overcome them, and really wanted with all their hearts to do it, it would be only a matter of time before they would be breaking again. And so it would go.

Does this young man believe he is ready, able and willing to put through such a project? Does he believe his girl would be?

If he can answer Yes to both of these questions, then he might write her a letter suggesting that they get together for a soul-searching session of this kind. He might make honest confession in the letter that, because he did lie to her, he realizes he has forfeited her, confidence and that he must win it back, adding that he earnestly desires a chance to do so.

It would be wise, I think to say that if she already is quite sure she wants the break between them to be permanent, he will not make any scene about it or keep after her. But let him also say that he does feel, since they parted so unhappily, that they may both regret it later on if they do not let it make the attempt to come to a friendly hought out understanding between them one way or the other.

Above all, this boy should not permit himself to be over-emotional either in letter or in a personal discussion with the girl if

'Julia Works Wonders...'

By Mary Moore

On Friday February 5th, I answered a letter from "Starved" who was asking how potatoes could be cooked to prevent darkening.

At that time I searched all available data on potato varieties and cooking methods relevant to potatoes grown in "Starved's" area. Since then more information has reached me and it is encouraging.

Before going any further I would be glad if "Starved" would mail or express to me (I will pay the cost) forty-medium-sized uniform potatoes grown in his area and give me the name of the variety. I will do four simple tests with them, and report my findings later.

Potatoes which darken on cooking may be treated this way to lessen or eliminate darkening or discoloration:

To each pound of peeled potatoes to be cooked add 1 1-2 cups boiling hot tap water. (Note: if very heavy aluminum ware is used this amount of water may be reduced to 1-4 cup). Bring to boil covered. After boiling exactly 10 minutes add 1 and 1 teaspoon cream of tartar and finish cooking until tender.

Note: If potatoes are to be mashed 1-4 teaspoon cream of tartar (to each 1 pound of peeled potatoes) may be added after they are tender and when they are thoroughly drained. Then add the salt and pepper and butter and milk and start the mashing potatoes. This is not additional cream of tartar. It is in place of adding it at the 15-minute mark.

Note: Those who are most interested in this subject of preventing potato darkening should keep an eye on this space, for I will report my conclusions after the tests on this other "Starved" sends me potatoes grown in his area.

QUESTION:

(Second instalment of D.B.'s letter.)

...while I am writing would you also tell me how long quart jars of tomatoes should be processed in the oven when canning? I know how long pint jars of tomatoes take . . . would you also tell the best way to wash white clothes and blouses to keep them white. Should they be washed with detergents or pure soap flakes. . . we have a daughter and son too, like you and enjoy your remarks about them as they seem so like our two. . . I think those Hermits the recipe for which you had in your column one day. They are my husband's favorite cookie and I put them in his lunch box.—D.B.

ANSWER:

Beauty

By HELEN JAMESON

DRAMATIZE YOUR PERSONALITY

We may criticize girls for playacting, especially playing up to the boys, but the fact remains that nearly all attractive, fascinating women dramatize a bit now and then. They make every possible effort to be charming and that's to their credit. To turn on the charm at the right moment requires intelligence as well as good manners and sensibility.

Once upon a time men favored the simple maiden who would never be caught dead bobbing with a lipstick, who lived up to all the corny book platitudes, who was just her own sweet little self. Well that girl wouldn't stand a chance today!

Every girl who would be popular should be an individualist, try to be a little different from the run-of-the-mill lassies. She should endeavor to be colorful, animated, wholly alive. She will make a definite place for herself in the social circle.

There are various ways of dramatizing one's personality. Some women do it by furnishing their homes in an attractive manner, building for themselves a flattering, scenic background. They cultivate the qualities of the gracious hostess. Others go after realistic info soft cushions, relax, look at the lovely lady, and decide that she knows how to make life pleasant for herself and others.

Smart clothes of attractive line and color contribute an element of the pictorial and in that way are a dramatic force. Blessed with good taste and a flair for wearing chic clothes, a woman can follow the mode yet stand apart from the crowd. She must know her type, the build she has, the color scheme that will bring out her complexion. No woman can be a lady of fashion unless she practices self-analysis.

Make-up plays a part. Some women look young and pretty with almost no make-up while the dashing ones can get away with cosmetic "paint" that appears frightening. One must know her own type, silk with a reversible side of gray chiffon weight flannel. The print is used in a bow-necked overblouse, of the flannel in the slim skirt.

No more tousled locks or untidy hair-dos if one wants to wear the new little hats destined for Spring, for they all reveal a maximum of hair. Tortoise-shell comb clip straw is used for a tiny pill-box tilted well forward to reveal the hair in back. A large bow in deep pink velvet adds width to each side. One is also joined by a band across the crown.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECHNAM

A QUESTION OF GOOD TASTE

Dear Mrs. Beechnam:

Please tell me which is correct: (1) for my nieces and nephews to call me "Aunt Ethel" as their mother (my sister) has told them to do, or (2) to leave the "Aunt" off to call me "Ethel," which is what I prefer and which is what my other nieces and nephews do? — E.M.

In my judgment your sister has the right and dignified point of view . . . that her children should call you "Aunt Ethel" not by your first name only. Actually, of course, you have the right to choose how you wish to be addressed. But I do think it's unfortunate that you choose the undignified form-of-address as far as a child is concerned. However, no matter how you prefer to be addressed by your other nieces and nephews, the decision of this sister about how her children should address you must be abided by. Obviously she is a wise mother, and one who knows that if someone heard her child address you as "Ethel," that someone would undoubtedly conclude that the child's use of this lack of respect is a fault of his own, not the result of your unwise taste in asking after by not to use the title "Aunt" before your name.

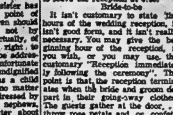
A RECEPTION AFTER THE WEDDING TRIP

Dear Mrs. Beechnam:

My daughter is to be married soon in the city where she is employed, there being hundred and fifty miles from our home. There is to be a reception there after the wedding. The bride and bridegroom are planning to come to our city about two weeks after the wedding, and some of our relatives and friends have suggested that we have a reception for them here at home. But I have heard that it isn't proper for the family to give a shower for a member of the bridal party. Please advise us. — Mother

It would be a perfect plan . . . entirely proper, and quite customary, . . for you and your husband to give a come-and-drop reception in honor the bride and bridegroom, so that your relatives and friends will have the delightful opportunity to greet the bride and meet the bridegroom. This is a very charming occasion . . . you may call it a "reception" or "tea," or simply "a party" . . . but it should not be a shower, or called a shower.

Your daughter, the bride, would wear her wedding dress, whether formal or informal, but of course she would not wear a bridal veil nor should she carry a bouquet. It would be possible for the groom's mother to attend the gathering, you should invite her to receive with you and your daughter.



HOURS FOR WEDDING RECEPTION

Dear Mrs. Beechnam:

My mother and I are wondering if it is the correct plan to set a time limit to my wedding reception! That is, would it be correct to include on the invitations "Reception following the ceremony, from 4:30-6:30"? We would like to leave the reception at 6:30. — Bride-to-be

It isn't customary to state the hours of the wedding reception, it isn't good form, and it isn't really necessary. You may give the beginning hour of the reception, if you wish, or you may use the customary "Reception immediately following the ceremony". The point is that the reception terminates when the bride and groom depart in their going-away clothes. The guests gather at the door, . . . throw rose petals . . . and confetti at the newlyweds, . . . and then the guests thank the bride's parents, and the rest of the wedding, add say good-by.

Scientists Have Put Mishap To Good Use In Their Search

Finding a suitable metal for construction may help solve the problem of producing electric power from atomic energy. This story, second of a series on Canada's nuclear project, tells how scientists have put a mishap to good use in their search.

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHALK RIVER, Ont. (CP)—The deadly, radioactive heart of what once was known as the world's best atomic energy reactor is being entombed, bit by bit, for atomic power research.

Pieces of the six-ton aluminum tank called the calandria are being hacked out by scientists for close examination at this atomic energy project on the banks of the Ottawa river, 125 miles northwest of the capital.

The calandria, which held the energy-producing insides of the NRX nuclear reactor, was removed early last summer, six months after the atomic pile was damaged by a leak Dec. 12, 1952. Probably the biggest radioactive object ever handled by man, it was buried in a secluded disposal area surrounded by a fence.

IMPORTANT EXAMINATION

Scientists want to know what the flying atomic particles in the reactor did to the calandria's metal during the five years the pile operated before the breakdown. That is important in any research bearing on power from atomic energy, because one problem in this field is to find suitable metals for construction.

A new eight-by-10-foot aluminum calandria has been installed with other secret equipment in the NRX reactor now being rebuilt. The starting date of the pile is not far off, and will depend mostly on time required for testing.

Dr. W. B. Lewis, vice-president in charge of research and development for Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., the crown company which operates the Chalk River project, told this reporter during a tour of the plant that calandria's grave is not permanent.

"The calandria will be a valuable object of research for some time," he said.

STUDY METAL SAMPLES

During the burial one end of the can-shaped calandria was left accessible for scientific studies. Scientists now have started to chip samples of aluminum and stainless steel from the tank for study.

Dr. Lewis said scientists want to learn everything possible about the metals in the calandria. Their experiments uncover many changes during the five years before the accident.

Burial of the calandria and its lead shield was only one of the problems that confronted scientists when NRX broke down. Even now, more than a year later, minor pockets of unseen radioactivity in the NRX building pose an unwelcome though not dangerous health hazard for Chalk River workers.

The ticklish task of decontamination started immediately after atomic particles, including cell-destroying gamma rays, escaped from the damaged pile. The job now is nearly complete but officials say it has been impossible to clear all radioactive pockets.

Project engineers and scientists could go to no one for help because there had never been a similar breakdown of a high-power reactor in the United States or the United Kingdom, Canada's partners in atomic energy research.

PROTECTIVE MEASURES

Protective clothing and gas masks were designed. Men working in contaminated areas were watched closely to prevent them being overcome by radioactivity. Some workers could remain only a few minutes in a radiation field; others only a few seconds. Nobody was harmed by over-exposure.

Remote control dismantling equipment was built for use in high radioactivity areas. Engineers fictioned out of range of dangerous radiation operated the equipment by looking into specially-designed optical devices.

After the breakdown about 1,000,000 gallons of cooling water was kept running through the reactor to prevent the possibility of a uranium fire inside the pile. The water poured into the basement and later was pumped to a large burial pit.

Hot water and detergent removed radioactive minerals from smooth surfaces. Floors, walls and other rough surfaces were sand-blasted or chipped. Where this didn't work, the surface was treated with paint or covered with a layer of lead.

PROTECTIVE CLOTHING — Plastic suits and respirators are used to protect workers at Canada's Chalk River, Ont., atomic plant from deadly radioactivity. Here are two workers wearing the protective clothing after the big reactor sprang a leak 18 months ago. They had to dismantle the reactor and decontaminate the building of radioactive particles. Autopsy Ordered As Woman Dies After Party

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) An autopsy ordered by crown attorney Ian Munro on Mrs. Sanra Vinda, who died suddenly at Jamestown on Sunday, was completed on Monday.

No details were announced but Mr. Munro said a statement would be made later today.

Mrs. Vinda, 24-year-old mother of two children, died three hours after attending a christening party for a neighbor's baby.

Police said it was thought at first that she died from an overdose of sleeping tablets. She started vomiting half an hour after taking the tablets.

The body was sent here from Jamestown.

Sought in Murder Of British Women, Man Found Shot

COLOGNE, Germany (Reuters) German police here Tuesday found the body of a man believed to be wanted by London police for questioning in connection with the death of two women in a home for the aged last week.

The police said the man, a British citizen, had shot himself through the head.

Police would not release the man's name, but said he was about 45 and that his description answered that of a man sought by Scotland Yard in the murder of two women in an old folks home at Ealing, a London suburb, last Thursday.

One of the women was Mrs. Isobel Chesney, 43, estranged wife of former navy officer Ronald Chesney, 45. The first killer strangled the chic matron in her sheer nightgown, then placed her in a bathtub full of water.

Then, surprised by the dead woman's 73-year-old mother, Mary Mennies — who called herself "Lady Menzies" — he wielded on her, battered her head in and strangled her.

The man's body was found in a forest on the Autobrix of Cologne. A pistol was found in one hand.

New Purge Sweeps 7 Top Leaders Into Disgrace

BERLIN (AP)—East Germany's Communist rulers announced Tuesday that a new purge has swept seven top leaders into disgrace. The action, second in eight months, indicates a crisis in the opposition among the membership of Red rule.

The ousters were announced in a communique issued by the Communist-controlled "free" German trade unions." It said the seven were dismissed for permitting "agent activity" against Communism, and disclosed that two already have fled to the west.

The first purge of the organization's leadership occurred immediately after the June 17 workers' revolt in East Germany.

Tuesday's statement did not mention that uprising, but in the general accusation of "agent activity" made it clear there has been baffling opposition to Red rule, dissatisfaction with working conditions and, in some cases, outright political opposition.

Bringing Up Baby

An enterprising mother we've heard of tried this simple trick to get baby used to spoon feeding. She placed a bit of food on the spoon and turned it upside down before putting it in baby's mouth. Since the food touched the tongue instead of the roof of the mouth, baby soon learned to swallow without difficulty.

Spoon feeding is often made simpler if you start baby off on solid foods with tastes and texture designed just to please his tender tongue. Like Gerber's Cereals. Little beginners will go for their smooth-cooked goodness, in real bland flavors. Important, too—Gerber's Cereals are enriched with vitamins and minerals so essential to growing tots. For taste variety, rotate all five: Mixed, Rice, Barley, Oatmeal and Wheat Cereals.

P.S. Gerber's Cereals are easy to digest, too—all are precooked and ready-to-serve. Just add milk or formula.

Reflected glory. A mirror hung behind baby's dresser table works wonders in cutting down the wiggles. Baby will glory in studying his reflection and yours, probably kick up for less fuss during diapering.

Time — at first sip. Baby's first food after milk may well be orange juice! And you can almost always love Gerber's Strained Orange Juice from the first sip on. Made from tree-ripened oranges, it has the take natural color, the mild natural flavor that appeals to babies. Carefully pasteurized for baby's protection and uniformly high in the Vitamin C so necessary to all infants.

Those chilly days may indicate that overalls are the best all-around costume even for a small baby. You can make perfectly cute ones for a boy or girl or buy just at striped mattress ticking.

Little Benny's Note Book

I saw pop getting off the bus and I started to walk home with him for company, and pop said, Now everything, Benny? Have you done your good deed for the day yet?

You sir, I helped Sid Hunt wash his dog Teddy, I said, and pop said, That was nice, Teddy's not a big dog, but it was a fair size good deed, yes, and I feel a little down-hearted. I haven't done my good deed, I said, and Ed didn't have the cash about it, but here's my chance coming now, he said.

Meaning Mr. Bodkins, being one of the nasty pop goes bowling with, and they stopped to shake hands with each other.

Mr. Bodkins being a lousy narrow man with a suspicious expression, and pop said, By the way, August, I want to pay you that dollar you loaned me.

Dollar? Mr. Bodkins said, and pop said, Why yes, it keeps slipping my mind. Don't you remember; it was some time ago, when I lost a dollar to Ed Scupper on a little bet, and I only had a 20 dollar bill, and Mr. Bodkins didn't have the change, he said.

Oh, yes, I think I do, it must of been quite a while back, yes, thanks, Mr. Bodkins said.

And he stuck the doller in his pants pocket looking surprized and glad, saying, Yes, well, I'd like you to buy one of these cigars.

Oh, thanks, fine pop said, and we kept on going, and I said, G, pop, if I ever lent anybody a doller I bet I'd remember it.

So would Mr. Bodkins, because he's the stingiest man in our crowd, pop said. That cigar was the only thing I ever saw him give anybody with pleasure, so called on.

All's rite with the world, I've done my good deed for the day, is what I say, I said.

And he lafted as if he felt much better, which he probably did.

Irresponsible Labor Leaders Blamed For Unemployment

OTTAWA (CP)—A Quebec Liberal Tuesday blamed irresponsible labor leaders for much of the present unemployment.

If union leaders were more sensible, said Jean Francois Pouliot, Temiscouata, there would be fewer unemployed.

"Quits often the union leaders are most undemocratic," he added.

"They do not consult the members of their unions about the course to be followed. They impose their own views upon the men and the men have to suffer because of the decisions made by a small number of men who receive large salaries and who try to exploit human credulity to its limit."

Mr. Pouliot spoke during the second day of a Commons debate on unemployment that was started by two motions of want of confidence in the government. A Progressive Conservative motion called for a parliamentary committee to study the unemployment problem and recommend methods to meet it. A CCF motion called for direct government action.

Latest unemployment figures showed 324,000 persons looking for jobs through the National Employment Service at Jan. 21. The bureau of statistics estimated the number of jobless at 280,000 Jan. 23.

NORANDA STRIKE

Mr. Pouliot, noted for his outspoken comments and sharp wit, said the strike of miners at Noranda, Que., is due to labor leaders who "had to show their usefulness to the men."

"The only thing they have done is to cause them trouble and make them suffer for many months."

The company had been willing to give the men pay increases but the union had insisted on a check-off of union dues. That was why a strike which started last August and depleted miners' savings of the last several years.

The workers had been paid a "pittance" from union funds, he said. He hoped they would not have to pay it back.

TERMED "ANTI-LABOR"

Ross Thatcher (CCF — Moose Jaw-Lake Centre) criticized what he described as "the antilabor-ing" of Mr. Pouliot's speech.

Mr. Thatcher, a Saskatchewan hardware dealer, said one of the major causes of unemployment is the government's "short-sighted and oppressive taxation policies."

William Hale (PC — Lanark) urged government help for two hard-pressed industries, the dairy and textile industries. One of every six Canadians depended on the dairy industry for its livelihood and the textile industry was responsible for about 100,000 jobs in Canada.

He said the government should provide a fair floor price for cheese to support that key sector of the dairy industry. The decline of farm incomes was a major factor in industrial unemployment because farmers were unable to maintain purchases of manufactured goods. had one reading in council.

There was marked unemployment in the textile industry with no hope for the future. Manufacturers were being forced to compete with textiles from other countries with lower-paid workers.

"Canadian consumers have a right to get savings from fair competition, but they would not accept those small savings if they knew it meant a fellow Canadian lost his job."

Wallace Nesbitt (PC — Oxford) said the farm implement, textile and shipping industries are hit hardest by current unemployment.

The main cause of unemployment could be found in international economic problems, and the only way to deal with these problems was to have a parliamentary committee make "a complete study of the situation as soon as possible. Then the government would have some basis for action.

Civil Defence Workers Fight London Flood

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Civil defence workers helped remove more than a dozen families from their homes on flood-threatened Proudfoot street Tuesday night as the rain-swollen Thames river tried to burst its banks.

A crew of more than 100 volunteers and city workers filled sandbags along the dike protecting the low-lying section on the bank of the Thames' south branch.

Searchlights lit the scene as workers raced to keep ahead of the rising river but some water seeped through the dike's foundation. More than a dozen city trucks were called into service to help move the families and some of their prized possessions from the area.

Earlier, 48 persons, 29 of them children, were rescued from flooded homes in other sections of the city by firemen.

City officials crafted Fanshawe dam, three miles northeast of the city, serving west London from flooding. The area was inundated in 1937 when the north branch of the Thames poured over a breakwater.

DAM CLOSED

The dam, officially opened last year, was gradually closed as the water rose to keep the crest below flood level in the city.

URGE HEAT BY-LAW

STRATFORD (CP) — Board of health has recommended that city council pass a heat by-law to force landlords to provide reasonable heat for their tenants. Mayor Lawrence Fetch suggested a heat clause could be inserted in a rental control by-law which has already been drafted.

Again Enjoying U.S. Bootlegger Good Times

By HAL BOYLE

He's getting to be a big operator just as he was in prohibition days. He is able to put up $25,000 to $50,000 for a still that will turn out 1,000 gallons of alcohol a day.

He has new lists of suckers eager to buy his cases of "smuggled" Scotch or Canadian whisky at private prices. He is again using counterfeit labels and tax stamps on a big scale.

The liquor industry says moonshining is being sold in parking lots, candy stores, gas stations, cigar stores, and by telephone. It says the bootleggers have henchmen working in hotels, apartment houses, factory buildings and industrial plants all over the United States.

The post-war rise of the bootlegger has the regular liquor industry more than annoyed. Ralph Heymsfeld, 42, president of Schenley's and a spokesman for the industry, feels the government isn't doing enough to wipe out bootlegging.

"No one can say for sure how much illegal whisky is being sold," he said. "But I say you can go anywhere in New York—or any other major city—and buy bootleg whisky within 10 minutes. Anybody who wants it can get it."

ENFORCEMENT FUNDS LOW

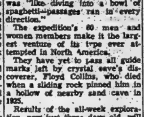
Heymsfeld said the distilled spirits industry paid $1,940,550,650 in federal and state taxes in 1953 — roughly $13.25 a gallon, but that the government spent less than $5 million — 10 cents per gallon of legal liquor — were lowered, thus permitting it to be sold more cheaply. But he doesn't believe there is much prospect of getting the taxes lowered.

"The only way left to meet the moonshine menace is by stricter enforcement," he said. "We are considering setting up a number of pilot operations in which, in cooperation with government officials, the liquor industry can protect itself against bootleggers, just as banks hire Pinkerton guards to protect themselves."

REFUSED TRANSFUSION

HAMILTON (CP)—Hospital officials said Monday night the condition of a woman who refused a blood transfusion for an operation because of religious beliefs is in good condition. Doctors at the hospital declined to operate on the woman, a member of the Jehovah Witnesses, without the safeguards of blood plasma. Nature of her illness has not been disclosed.

Cave-Explorers Push Deep Beneath Hills of Kentucky



CRYSTAL CAVE, Ky. (AP)—Unknown canyons deep beneath the rolling hills of southern Kentucky have been reached by a tired band of cave explorers.

Great underground rooms, decorated with spider-like stone formations, were found by three male members of the National Speleological (cave study) Society expedition.

After three hours of tortuous crawling and climbing Tuesday, they broke into "the beyond"—the explorers' term for the dark world of rough virgin passages 300 feet below the cave landscape of Mammoth Cave national park area.

The zig-zagging passages opened into larger cave rooms where the strangely contorted stone projections called helictites, rarest of all cave formations, dangled from the ceilings.

The explorers—John Lehrberger of Louville, Ky., Russell H. Curtice of Tenafly, N.J., and Albert C. Mueller of Scotch Plains, N.J.,— retained to their words bounce back from cave walls that never before had echoed the voices of man.

But the expedition's advance camp three miles inside the cave, Phil Harshaw, Louisville Courier-Journal reporter with the expedition, said the three explorers pushed beyond "Sagarin's waterfall."

Striking out from the falls, discovered in 1949, said Lehrberger, was "like diving into a bowl of spaghetti—passages ran in every direction."

They have yet to lace all guide marks left by crystal seve's discoverer, Floyd Collins, who died when a sliding rock pinned him in a hollow of nearby sand cave in 1925.

Results of the all-week exploration, now just three days old, will be assembled in mass and scientific information on what is to be found in the cave.

Free Mailing Privileges Cost $68,000 Yearly

OTTAWA (CP)—An Ontario senator Tuesday night disputed that free mailing privileges for parliamentarians cost $68,000 yearly and not the million mentioned by some newspapers in criticizing franking privileges.

However, Senator Joseph Bernadette's suggestion during a Senate debate of plans to increase postal rates was criticized by a fellow-Liberal, Senator W. D. Euler, who described the $68,000 figure as calculating the cost as "tremendously exaggerated."

Debate on the government's plan for an increase of one cent on first-class postage was adjourned before a suggestion by Senator J. J. Kinley (L—Nova Scotia) that a parliamentary committee investigate the "abuses" in the use of the mails by government departments.

Senator Kinley said he does not suggest abolishing the frank. But he feels it was being used by some persons who had no right to do so and it was being used for purposes for which it was not intended. Total cost of the frank was estimated by postal authorities at $4,300,000 yearly.

Senator Bradette said newspapers sometimes are not fair when it comes to articles on parliamentary affairs. Some had attacked the parliamentarians use of the frank with estimates ranging up to $4,000,000 as the cost for free mailing by members of Parliament.

Based on an estimate that each commoner and senator sends 30 letters a day free, six days a week, the total cost during the 26-week session was $49,808 for commoners and $19,000 for senators, a total of about $68,000.

He recalled that Senator W. Rupert Davies (L—Ontario) last week described the second-class mailing rates for newspapers as a subsidy for the newspaper subscriber and not the newspaper.

He said he has no quarrel with that description but the newspapers should try to realize what the situation really is and not try to insinuate that the frank is costing millions.

When the newspapers carried articles concerning Parliament many seemed able to be "very biased" although many also were "favorable."

Senator Euler said Senator Bradette's estimate of 30 letters sent free a day was unjustified and would likely bring more of the kind of criticism given to the passage of parliamentary pay raises.

D.S. Patterson Road Engineer Is Suspended

TORONTO (CP)—Highways Minister Doucett said Tuesday that D. S. Patterson, divisional engineer of the Ontario highways department at Huntsville, has been suspended pending a full investigation of the trans-Canada highway contract.

In a statement read to the legislature Mr. Doucett said:

"I wish to make it clear that we are not pre-judging this case. But the circumstances indicate that, in the interests of the department of highways, this suspension should take place."

It was learned that an investigation by the department has uncovered irregularities in the books of the Huntsville division involving hundreds of dollars.

Five highways department employees are under suspension and have been charged with irregularities in the Dent William division of the department. Premier Frost has appointed a private auditing firm to make a full investigation in that division.

DIES AT HOCKEY GAME

In addition to departmental highway patrolman has been suspended following disclosure of alleged theft of department materials at Rockland, near Ottawa. Provincial police have sent an investigator to Rockland.

Mercurys Whip Dutchies 8-2 To Extend Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Six points in their six remaining games will give the second place Mercurys another Ontario Hockey Association Senior title.

Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen, who are in second place in the league standings and who have been sharing first place en and of with the Mercurys all year, are the only ones who can possibly catch Owen Sound for the OHA championship. And now, even the Dutchmen appear to be falling behind.

Owen Sound has a three-point lead over the Dutchmen and also has two games in hand. Kitchener have only four games remaining. The line-up between the two teams is the fact Owen Sound won the league championship last season. But the Dutchmen, who finished third last year, went on to win the Allan Cup, symbol of Canada's senior hockey championship.

The Dutchmen, who have a hard time beating Owen Sound any time were helpless Tuesday night when they dressed only 11 players in Owen Sound. The Mercurys ran away with an 8-2 victory.

In Niagara Falls, the last place Cataracts were defeated by Stratford Indians 5-3 and in Windsor the Bulldogs dropped Chatham Maroons 8-2.

At Owen Sound, five Kitchener players who commute from Toronto were stranded by the storm and couldn't make the game.

Herb Carnegie and Roy Laeble scored two each for the Mercs with Bill McComb, Buck Forslund, John Shedden and Bill Hagen scoring the others. Bob Schnurr and Don Bauer tallied for Kitchener.

Windsor pulled to within one point of the third-place Hamilton Tigers by defeating Chatham.

Wally Kullman, with two goals and two assists, all in the first period, led the Bulldogs. Lyle Wiseman, Frank Baldgate, Bob Hayes and Clarence Jaster were the other Windsor scorers. Paul Oliver and Bill Lee counted for the sixth-place Maroons.

Stratford moved into Niagara Falls gave the Indians their eighth victory in nine games. Steve Dejordy was the only two-goal man in the game. Other marksmen for Stratford were Mickey Ross, Ron Ingram and George Aitken. Ron Castelane and Sandy Air counted for Niagara Falls.

Hamilton is at Chatham tonight.

Half-Frozen Toronto Couple Wins Figure-Skating Title for Canada

[illegible] skating bet [illegible]

Frances Dafoe and Norris Bowden, 24 and 27 respectively, thrilled a small crowd at Oslo's unroofed Jordal Rink with an impressive number of jumps and lifts, climaxed by Bowden tossing his partner up to a sitting position on his right shoulder, then letting her slide headlong down to land on the ice in a mad spin.

The Toronto pair were far in front of the field with 13.014 points. The Swiss team of Michael and Sylvia Grandjean was second with 10.843, followed by Austria's Kurt Oppelt and Sissy Schwartz with 10.486. American duos took fourth and fifth spots.

After their victory the Toronto skaters both commented on the cold. Miss Dafoe said her hands were "frozen stiff" and Bowden said "it was colder than we are used to during competitions."

VARIED PERFORMANCE

Their performance, ranging from dancing to serious classical included some new manoeuvres as well, set off by Miss Dafoe's bright green costume.

After the event, the Canadian winners were presented with a blue and silver brooch on a large silk sash, also in blue and silver, to represent the colors of Oslo's coat-of-arms.

The 114-pound, brown-haired Miss Dafoe, daughter of a Toronto physician, teamed up with Bowden, bespectacled coummerce graduate of the University of Toronto, for the fifth season. Last year they were second in the world championships at Davos, Switzerland. Last year they were second in the American championships. They were fifth in the 1952 Oslo Olympics. Both are members of the Toronto Skating Club.

The Bowden-Dafoe combination was Canada's only pairs entry. In singles' competition Charles Snelling of Toronto took seventh place followed by fellow Torontonians Peter Dalsfield, eighth, and Douglas Court, 10th.

RELIEF PROMISED

For Arthritic and Rheumatic Pain

New relief without pills by greaseless, odourless, stainless cream.

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—Discovery of an entirely new method of relieving pain has been announced here. Science has now developed a cream that acts in a new way to bring relief from arthritic, rheumatic and muscular aches and pains. Sold under the brand name "InfraRUB", this new odourless and greaseless cream relieves these pains without the need of pills and other internal medicines.

InfraRUB does not merely set up a surface irritation but penetrates deep down into sore muscles and joints. This permits fresh oxygen-rich blood to flow freely through afflicted areas and actually helps drive away the pain-causing congestion and pressure.

Another feature of InfraRUB that appeals to many people is its ease of application. No long and painful rubbing is necessary, as InfraRUB penetrates in a few seconds and vanishes with a moment's light massage. Therefore it leaves no oily film or pungent objectionable odour on the skin. You are able to go right on clothing in complete safety immediately after application.

Writing medical reports on the success of this new help for patients suffering from rheumatic and arthritic pains and general muscular aches and pains have been prepared, based on hundreds of cases in British and French hospitals. InfraRUB users claim almost immediate relief from rheumatic and arthritic pains, sore muscles and joints.

Now for the first time, InfraRUB can be obtained without a prescription from your local drug store for only $1.39. InfraRUB is guaranteed to give hours and hours of soothing relief from arthritic, rheumatic and muscular aches and pains or your money will be refunded in full.

"FOOD THOUGHT"

When Michael J. Redden stains out on the ice to stiff-stick in the National Hockey League's Old Timers' hockey game in Toronto next Friday, it will be more than a reunion for the tall, grey-thatched arbiter of the professional ice game. It will mark the 2614th game—count 'em, 2614—which the Redden mind, wistful and muscle has governed.

Don Bilgard has established an enviable record as an official in hockey annals of Canada. He was one of the most outrageously loud, hard-working arbiters in the business, one who had the respect and esteem of players, coaches, executive and officials of the National Hockey League and the amateur loops, too, before he joined the pro ranks. — ■

Mike rolled nine. The bigger and louder they were, the better Mike liked it. He handled them nobody's baby but he still maintained. The writer once asked an orderly dove quietly if Mike was a referee who they wanted to give Michael to as a present of dead mind. It was after caster on the cynical.

"MIKE" REDDEN

For instance, there was the case in Montreal one hectic evening when the celestial Canadiens were playing the mighty Maroons. A spectator threw a fist in Mike's direction. It landed. So did that of Mike a second later. Just how, what to hear that the opposition was a severe prosecutor of Montreal?

The young cop later when five burly detectives greeted him in a downtown hotel and quietly, but in a dignified manner, escorted him to the hoosegow.

He acted as a referee in the National Hockey League for 15 years, officiated at 2127 games. His first assignment as a referee took place at Sault Ste. Marie, where he refereed a senior OHA game in 1924. A year later new blue referee's togs in the NHL when he officiated at a game in Montreal, between the Ottawa Senators and the Montreal Canadiens. Mike rolled that clause. He had no sentiment for Ottawa.

His worst cue to set a mark for officiating. The late Frank Calder, whim National Hockey League president, had four large pictures in his office which he said were the "greatest referees of all time." They were: Lou Marsh, Mickey Ion, Cooper Smeaton and you guessed it, Mike Redden.

Nor was Michael's sports activities confined to hockey. He was a football coach of marked ability. He claims 21 titles ranging from the Grey Cup down. His first gridiron love was the Parkdale Canoe (TNT) team, which he undertook in two years under the Redden guidance. He coached the Hamilton Tigers from 1927 to 1930, winning the Grey Cup in the middle years. During those seasons the Tigers were defeated but once.

Like his equally-famous whistle-tooting partner, Lou Marsh, Michael was, and is, an erudite sports writer. He was assistant sports editor of the former Toronto Globe under the late Fred Wilson, and later occupied the sports editorial chair for a period of eight years.

For the past ten years he has been sports editor of the Kingston Whig Standard. He is well known in this city. He coached the Redmen Hockey Club here during the early years of the Senior OHA conflict.

Mr. Redden has consented to act as referee for the National Hockey League Old Timers' game here Friday night, and is elected by another influence in an illustrious career to have the honor to officiate with the sophisticated assemblage. He will be among the men he ruled with an "iron hand" in the N.H.L. years ago, and who haven't forgotten their respect and regard for an official looked for his fairness, fearlessness and knowledge of the game.

CROSSED 'EM UP!

Art Casterton and Johnny Carr-Harris were in a huddle outside the Kingston Goodyears' dressing room last night before the roof, walls and their hopes crashed all over them.

They were making signs with their fingers like a schoolchild counting. Asked howcome the mystery business, both smacked wide smiles and chorused: "Figuring on the semi-finals playoffs. We may as well settle it now."

Two hours later they were still figuring, and getting nowhere. They couldn't Einstein how those upstarts from the banks of the Moira could head their championship mischief "a 10-3 drubbing, and make 'em like it. They dismissed the radio impresario's offer of towels.

They had no alibi. "They brought their full force of shock troops, defensive bulwarks and Ken Johnson, 19 of 'em, in an effort to clinch that playoff spot. They could have brought a field regiment, or a regiment of anti-tank guns and it is doubtful if they could have halted the fiery flying Memos. (We wanted, for weight for pix change, Miss, m'lad.)

It couldn't have happened to nicer fellows. Mr. Redden has adjectived our side no end, all season, wondering why they were still in the league or words to that effect. Last night was the proof. They have handed the sen-ohs their only lesson in the treble act of puck-dunking and can thank Morse Johnson for the score not mounting to higher figures.

The game marked the fourth win in five starts in the Memos standing drive for that playoff spot. The Dorcy crew has scored 36 goals as against 16 in their last five times out. They have home-and-home games with Orillia and one game with Oshawa at Bowmanville left. And if they maintain their present high-geared form, both the Goodies and Pontiac will have to play better hockey than recently to avoid oblivion.

Keep Playoffs Chances Alive With Clean-Cut Victory In Wide-Open Senior 'B' Game

By George H. Carver
(Sports Editor).

The Belleville Memos swept aside the last Kingston threat to their eleventh-hour drive for a playoff berth here last night, nearly destroying the Goodyears by a decisive 10-3 score in a thrilling Senior "B" battle.

Playing the inspired hockey that has scored four victories in their last five starts, the Memos had little difficulty in notching their second straight win. They flung home five, as against two in the first period, outscored the Goodyears 3-1 in the second heat and romped home the only two markers of the third session.

The victory enabled the Belleville team to creep two points closer to the Goodyears and Orillia Pontiacs. They are five in arrears of the stalemated third-placers, and must win their remaining three games in order to grab the playoff spot. The Orillia - Oshawa game, scheduled for Bowmanville last night, was postponed due to bus trouble on the part of the Pontiacs.

SASCLAY GOOD

Spurred by goalie Don Barclay, the Memos rose to hockey heights in an all-out display, maintaining a terrific speed throughout the entire sixty minutes. There was little to choose from in the Memos' attack, with Davey Jones, ex-junior, who scored two goals and helped in another, came up with his best game of the season.

The high-scoring Duncan twins with wingman Doug Dey turned in a fine game, the former collaborating a goal and three assists; brother Erwin, one and one, and Dey an assist. Both of the Memos' goals went to Keith Macdonald, Ted Semark, Jabbed Wade, Peter Jones, Doug Bastedo and Ted Dodge.

Ken Parris scored twice for the Goodyears with Nick Nicholson getting the other. The Goodyears hit the post four times when in close on the Memos' goal.

It was fast, exciting hockey throughout with both teams travelling at top speed, but there was little to choose from the outcome after the first period. Referees Jim Crombie and Larry Heffering had a busy time, issuing nine minors, five to the Goodyears. A slight rhubarb started with seconds to go in the third when Doug Dey charged a Goodyear player, but cooler heads intervened and no damage was done.

It looked like a typical Kingston-Belleville battle in the offing in the first five minutes as the teams unleashed a high rate of speed, but the opening whistle. Both Johnson and Barclay kicked them out from close in before Kenny Parris, during Wade's penalty, raced in on Barclay, licked him soundly and opened the scoring.

Wade drew a charging penalty and the Memos' goalie threw back plenty of Kingston rubber. After eight minutes Davey Jones surged in behind the Goodyears' goal, passed out neatly to MacDonald, who beat Johnson for the equalizer.

WENT ALL OUT

The Memos threw everything they had in an all-out offensive, with the Duncan twins relaying from the doorstep and Johnson bedeviling Erwin when he was in on top of him alone. Jud Semark put the Memos one up on a long driver from near the blueline, but Parris got that one back ten seconds later from a goal-mouth scramble.

Olinski got the gate and Lindsay drew a costly sentence four minutes later. With a man advantage the Memos scored twice in 18 seconds, with Jake Wade hitting the twine on a neat passing play with Duke Doran and Ken Goyer, and Peter Jones scoring from Ted DeGray's pass.

Wade drew an interference penalty but the Memos' stubborn defence held out the Goodyears' desperation drives. He had hardly returned when Ted DeGray broke along the right boards into the clear, drove a low, hard shot that eluded Johnson for the Memos' fifth goal of the period.

Fley surged up and down the ice in the second period, the fast tempo was maintained, Keith MacDonald drew a charging penalty but Davey Jones broke into the clear with Goyer's pass and raced in on Johnson to score the prettiest goal of the night. Catlin, Parris and Nicholson drove a shot at Barclay but the youngster kicked them out.

Gabby White broke into the open, rushed in alone and his shot clanged off the post. Sloppy defensive work on the part of the Goodyears' rearguard enabled Davey Jones to pick up a loose puck and fire it home from six feet out for the Memos' 8th tally. Nicholson scored from a scramble at 18.26 for the Goodyears' final goal.

The third period was a repetition of the first two heats with the teams going all-out. The Memos again had the territorial edge and at one time forced the Goodyears to the puck to relieve the pressure. Both defenses were stubborn and no scoring occurred until the final two minutes of the game.

The Dunean twins took over with Ed scoring unassisted at 18.41 and Dorcy connecting at 19.38 when the Memos were cluttered around the Goodyears' net. Ed Dunce and Duke Doran drew assists. Doug Dey went to the penalty with seconds to go.

The teams:

Kingston—Goal, Johnson; defence, Watts, Londry, Nicholson, Goodfellow, Dilnott; forwards, Myke, Parris, Gerow, Catlin, Murray, MacCrowe, White, Jim McKeown, Tinkess.

Belleville — Goal, Barclay; defence, Wade, Goyer, Bastedo, Semark; forwards, F. Jones, D. Jones, MacDonald, Dey, Duncan, Ed. Duncan, DeGray, D. Doran.

Out. Sports Writers, 'Casters' Dinner Is Bonanza for Crippled Children

By Jack Sullivan
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Three years ago, Ontario sports reporters hit on the idea of a $10-a-plate dinner to help promote the sale of Easter seals. Before the pin jelled, the ante was raised to $2 a plate with the double-barrelled purpose of helping the Ontario Society for Crippled Children and publicizing the seals campaign.

It was a bonanza and today, on the eve of the third annual dinner, it is estimated the society will receive nearly $75,000 from the feasts.

The dinners, staged by the Ontario Sports Writers and Sportscasters Association, now is an annual gathering for hand-picked world-known athletes and a must for Ontario sportsmen.

The whole affair is underwritten by "angels" who pick up the travelling and appearance-fee tabs for some of the sports greats, the food and other expenses connected with the dinner.

A SELL-OUT

Tickets for Thursday night's dinner went on sale a couple of months ago and a sell-out was assured many days.

It has been the same story since the inaugural dinner in 1952 when a gathering of 443 paid $10,700. In 1953, upped to $12,700 from a 600 guest list and this year more than 800 persons will pay a total of about $20,000. Proceeds of the 1953 dinner were matched by an anonymous Toronto benefactor.

The association, only one of its kind in Canada, organized during a rock pile at Preston river in northern Ontario in 1949 after a week-end of fishing and golfing by a few sports writers and sportscasters.

This year, Tommy Burns, Canadian-born world heavyweight boxing champion, will be introduced with hockey Earl Sande, immortalized by the late Damon Runyon with the line: "Never a handy guy like Sande, bootling them babies home."

Other greats include baseball's Tris Speaker and Lefty Gomez, hockey's Cyclone Taylor, Eddie Shore and the 1932-33 Canadian Press all-star National Hockey League team, Detroit Lions' Leon Hart of the National Football League and Herman Hickman, former football coach, cycling's Torchy Peden, one of the greatest Canada has produced, and many others.

Remember When

By The Canadian Press

Jack Britton, then 37 years old with a record of 19 years in the ring, defended his world welterweight title with a creditable draw against 19-year-old Dave Shade at hockey's Cyclone Taylor, Detroit New York, 24 years ago tonight. A few months later Britton lost the title on a decision to Mickey Walker.

National Hockey League Old Timers Retain Skill, Speed of Former Days

National Hockey League stars of the not-so-long-ago will twinkle in all their rejuvenated glory in Memorial Arena Friday night when famous names of the ice-lanes of former days will re-live and replay the game that brought many wealth and accord.

The Rotary-Kinsmen service clubs are bringing these well-known old-timers, and a lot of them are not so old, here to give many hockey fans of this district the opportunity to once again see their former favorites in action.

Younger fans, too, will have the chance to see faces and names that wrote Stanley Cup and National Hockey League history in those glittering days that much names as Conacher, Primeau, Jackson, Ace Bailey, Eddie Shore, Cy Wentworth, Billy Taylor were house hold words in hockey circles.

THE SEMI-FAMOUROONS

Montreal's once-famous mighty Maroons will be represented in the "Big Train", Lionel Conacher, M.P., leading them. Lionel, big worth, and "Ole Poison" himself Nels Stewart, who held the goal scoring championship of the NHL until quite recently when Maurice "Rocket" Richard took it away. Then too there is Lorne Duguid who divided his NHL time between the Maroons and the Boston Bruins.

Goalkeepers of other years who could "shin-out" with the best of their day will be seen in the persons of Jakey Forbes and diminutive Roy Worters both of whom were the colorful star-spotted uniforms of the New York Americans when "Red" Dutton was in his heyday.

The once-famous "Kraut Line" of the Boston Bruins which included Milt Schmidt who is still playing with the Beantowners, Dumart, and Bobby Bauer, and who were shipped intact to Boston from Kitchener, Ont., team will be represented in Bauer.

Then there is "Buick" Eveling of the Chicago Black Hawks, Jimmy Fowler, Windy O'Neill and others of the Leafs, Lloyd Cross, Jibby Bentley, Gus Mortson, Harold Goldup, Doug Smylie, Peewee Summerhill and many others of the gallant old brigade. 'that wrote blazing pages in the history book of the National Hockey League.

STILL RETAIN WIZARDRY

But don't get the idea the game is merely a parade of a bevy of brokendown old crocks who can barely hobble without the air of a hockey stick. The speed and ice wizardry of these gladiators of the former arenas will not only surprise but thrill the fans present.

They have played to capacity arenas in the five other games they have played with this star setup and from each centre came glowing reports of the sportsmanship displayed and trick that were part and parcel of their early ability.

Referee Bill Chadwick, famous official whistle with other former referees will be his aces and only Marshall J. Rodden, of Kingston, who can still skate, argue and fight, if needed, in the contest of which Mr. Rodden will be the referee-in-chief and work beside the lanky sinner who attempts to "pull the wool" over the Roddenian optics.

The proceeds of the game go to the community work of the Rotary and Kinsmen Clubs. Hockey fans should not pass up this opportunity to see the famous stars whose great contribution to the sport years ago helped make hockey Canada's outstanding winter pastime.

Teeps Nip Hawks To Widen Lead; Marlboros Lose

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Biz was the magic number in Ontario's junior hockey action yesterday. Biz stands for played and, six goals divided the winning goals from the losers in each game.

Barrie Flyers, in sixth place in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, were defeated 9-3 in Barrie by Troi-Rivieres Reds of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association Junior league in an interlocking game.

St. Catharines TeePees increased their first place lead in the OHA to eight points by trouncing the Black Hawks 8-2 in Galt while the second-place Toronto Marlboros were walloped 8-3 by the third-place Toronto St. Michael's College Majors in Toronto. Galt's loss was the sixth in a row.

Gillies Matsuo scored three goals to lead Troi-Rivieres against the Flyers. He also had two other assists. Jean Cossette and Harvey Lalonde counted two each with Gilles Lambert and Guy Gendron notching singles. Tommy Wilson, Danny Pollinari and Cleland Mortson were the Barrie snipers.

GIVES HAT TRICK

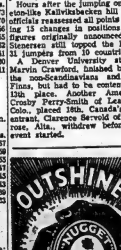
Netminder Gerry McNamara again shone for St. Michael's to help the Collegians to their third victory in their five meetings with Marlboros.

Centre Jack Caffery, with three goals and two assists was the sparkplug for St. Michael's. Dick Duff added two goals while Jim Knox, Noel Price, Lee Duff, Ken Gribbons and Ken Linseman recorded one each. Gil Smith, Jack Shonda and Wally Maxwell counted for Marlboros. One victory pulled St. Michael's to within four points of the second-place Marlboros.



Kitchener Greenshirts are at Joniere for an interlocking game with the Marquis tonight. Other games are Galt vs. St. Michael's playing the Cubs in Hamilton and Trois-Rivieres at Guelph.

Norwegian Takes Ski Jump Title

Hours after the jumping on skiston-like Kallvikbacken hill ended officials reassessed all points counting 15 of the 17 judges scores from figures originally announced, but Stenersen still topped them at 31 jumpers from 10 countries.

Dr. Denver University student Mervin Wentworth finished best of the non-Scandinavians and non-Finns, but had to be content with 11th place. Another American, Crosby Perry-Smith of Leadville, Colo., placed 16th. Canada's only entrant, Clarence Bevold of Camrose, Alta., withdrew before the event started.

With The Minors

By GARRY ALEXANDER

The Raciann and pat wee leagues completed their schedules at the arena on Saturday morning with the biggest upsetting coming with, the Red Wings 3-2 victory over the second place Rangers in the most exciting battle the Bruins put up to gain a 3-3 tie with the Maple Leafs in the Bantam league.

Jim Sheridan scored all three of the Wings goals and everyone of them unassisted too, says the score sheet.

The goal that Ralph Boomhower scored to open the Leaf-Bruin game was the first the Bruins were able to score against the Leafs this season and it looked like it might be the last for a while with the league leaders out front 2-1 in the third period. Hill and Thornton clicked to tie it up with the score just about indicating the play. The Leafs had shutout the Bruins 7 and 5 in their other two meetings.

Bernard Boulter, playing steady if not terrific hockey all year but overlooked because of the great play by his two line mates, Brennan and MacDonald, came into his own in that game, scoring all three of his team goals. He ended up the season with eight goals and nine assists and best of all no penalties. This could put him in line for the sportsmanship trophy but then there's Gerry Rowbotham, with 18 points and also a clean sheet in the penalty box.

Out Stirling way in the Juvenile "C" playoffs, the Campbellford team dropped the first game 11-6 decision to the home town boys before a filled arena on Saturday night. The second game in the two game goals-in-total series will be played Thursday night if ice is available.

Four playoff games and three all-star practices are on the agenda this week. Wednesday evening at six p.m. the "youngest of the young" the squirt league in the first game of a two game, goals-to-count series for the city championship. There are only two teams, the Black Hawks and the Maple Leafs in this division but they take their hockey just as seriously as their older brothers so it might be fun to drop around and watch.

At 8.35 the midget all-stars will take over the ice for a workout to be followed by the juvenile all-stars at 8.30 for another 60 minutes.

On Saturday morning the fight for the city's two title belts will be under way bright and early (7.00 a.m. to be exact) with the first place Black Hawks and the fourth place Maple Leafs tangling in the opener. Rangers and Bruins take over at 7.40 while the Canadians and the Red Wings battle at 8.30. All games are the first two game goals-to-count series and we understand that should any of these series be tied at the end of the two games there will be an overtime period, rather than another game.

The bantam all-stars will hold their first workout starting at 2.00 a.m. and running through until eleven.

In three cases out of four, the team with the leading scorer finished in second place and fourth team ended up second. In the juvenile "C" section Gerry Goyer, Bill Vesterfelt and Cam McKenna ended up 1-2-3 and they all play for the Junior Bruins. The Stars topped their division by five points.

Earle MacDonald and John Brennan were high scorers in the bantam league with the third man on their line, Bernard Boulter coming in fourth and they too finished in first place, four points ahead of their nearest rivals.

The peewee scoring championship was won by Gerald Pihler from the Maple Leafs. Hawke Brown that league by five points.

The one exception to the rule was in the midget group with Roy Croft taking that scoring title and his team ending in second place, one point back of the league leaders.

BREAKS WORLD MARK

MELBOURNE (AP)—Herb McKenley of Jamaica, running into a strong wind, broke an 18-year-old professional world record Tuesday night when he ran a quarter-mile in 47.3 seconds. The previous record was established in 1874 by Tom Malone of Ireland.

McKenley, who holds the world amateur record at 46 seconds, took the lead a furlong from the finish and won easing up.

Those 'Patrick Bhoys' Clash In Biggest Game of the Year'

By AL COLLETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

After five weeks of coaching the Rangers, Murray (Muzz) Patrick is convinced that the National Hockey League is a lot tougher and faster than when he was a good Ranger defenceman a dozen or so years ago.

There is much more forechecking and it has become more of an art than when he was playing with the great Patrick teams of 1926-27-31, Muzz says.

"Players today can pass and receive and stickhandle as well as anybody ever could — but they never get a chance for fancy passwork with the close checking. The old teams wouldn't have been able to do it with someone banging on their necks all the time either."

Because of the closeness of the play and the larger squads, the lines spend less time on the ice. "But it all adds up to a faster, more interesting game—as far as I am concerned—and a tougher one," Patrick concludes.

IMPORTANT GAME

The big guy isn't underrating the situation a bit as the Rangers face brother Lynn's Boston Bruins in a game Muzz says is "the biggest of the year."

It could be the turning point in New York's hopes of reaching the playoffs. They've never been since 1950.

Some New Year's the Rangers have won 11 of 19 games with two ties, better than par for the course. The Bruins are still fifth, listed five points behind the fourth - place Bruins.

For this one, the Rangers are not standing pat. They have called up two 19-year-old junior league rookies from their Saskatoon farm, Vic Stasiuk and Andy Kuhnhackl, who will play on a line with their former chum, Doug Bentley.

Meanwhile, Camille Henry and Aldo Guidolin have been benched to make room for the rookies.

HAD GOOD WEEK-END

The Bruins have suddenly come to life with weekend victories and seven points out of a possible 10 in their last five games.

To make things tougher, the Bruins traded penalty-killer Jerry Toppazzini to Chicago Tuesday for Gus Bodnar, a player Patrick says is "real smart."

'Sour Grapes' Bob Snyder Charges Canadian Gridders Use Benzedrine

HAMILTON (CP)—Bob Snyder, trigger-man in the so-called football war between Canada and the United States, answered his critics this way:

American college players are "damn fools" to play U.S. Canada for money alone; the Canadian game is fine for the Americans past their peak or those who want to make football a stepping stone for a business career in Canada.

Such was the comment Tuesday from Snyder, who returned to Canada for the first time since being accused of inciting discontent between the National Football League and the Canadian clubs.

Snyder, first a coach of Calgary Stampeders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union last season, said in an interview that it is "common knowledge" players in Canadian football use benzedrine tablets to give them a "lift" during tough schedules.

He admitted being hired by NFL commissioner Bert Bell. But it wasn't for any spread propaganda. He was to tell U.S. college players "the truth" about football conditions in Canada.

"I told them it was okay for a guy in his last legs," Snyder said. "I told them the Canadian league was capitalizing on big names, and secondly, guys that didn't have the ability to play in the NFL. The Canadian league had good opportunities for some 'at not for college players by themselves in. Who would hear about them in the U.S.? They don't even run the scores of Canadian leagues in the U.S."

SAYS VOYLES UNJUST

Snyder charged that Carl Voyles, coach of Grey Cup champion Hamilton Tiger-Cats, had unjustly maligned him on a couple of occasions.

Snydar said he saw "some of my players talking shop" during a Calgary-Saskatchewan Roughrider game last year. He said one player later admitted taking "benzys"—benzedrine tablets.

"The next thing I know Voyles is telling everybody that I said that all Canadian players take dope."

Voyles said:

"Snyder's comments are not worth commenting on. He has said that before and it was proven to be a lot of bunk.

"Maybe he NFL's propaganda. That's okay. But he's only helping Canadian football with all this publicity."

NOT ON LAST LEGS

"It's all nonsense. This business of players taking benzedrine is nuts. Snyder may have a point on the fact that we get some Americans players who are past their peak. But that doesn't mean they're on their last legs. What about boys like Buddy Tinsley and Dick Huffman of Winnipeg, Tex Coulter of Montreal? They could still make an NFL club."

Ken Montgomery, president of Edmonton Eskimos of the WIFU said Snyder's case is one of "sour grapes."

He was fired by Calgary because he "proved himself the worst coach in the eight major Canadian football teams last season," Montgomery added.

Snyder was here to testify at a court hearing in which quarterback Stan Heath, who once played for Stampeders, was suing the Tiger-Cat football club for $10,000 in back pay because they cut him from the team last season. The case was settled out of court.

British Hockey To Use Red Line

LONDON (CP)—The British Ice Hockey Association has reintroduced the red line to English hockey.

The association, which dropped the red line in the 1931-32 season to encourage "stick-handling and "pretty" hockey in general, decided to bring it back on the advice of rink management in the three team English National Hockey League. Management also suggested that body-checking be permitted only behind the defending blue line—and not behind the red line as in Canada and elsewhere.

Coaches contended that they expect play to speed up as a result of the change.

All But Four British Athletes To Attend Games

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—All but four of 37 athletes tentatively considered to represent England in track and field events at the British Empire Games in Vancouver will go if they get the nod, a survey shows.

One possible performer gave a definite refusal and three were uncertain because of "family reasons." The 33 who are willing and able to go if chosen include such standouts as Roger Bannister, Chris Chataway and marathoner Jim Peters.

The four who gave negative or uncertain answers were not named but presumably the one refusal came from Gordon (Puff Puff) Pirie, who has said he will pass up the Empire Games in favor of the European championships at Bern, Switzerland, late in August. The Empire Games are July 30 to Aug. 7.

STRONG TEAM

The advance word on plans for the summer games was given by L. E. Trudeau, honorary team manager of the Amateur Athletic Association. His announcement was based on results of a questionnaire sent to a "probable list" of 37 athletes.

Although noting that final selections will not be made until June 21, two days after England's AAA championships, Trudeau said:

"I feel sure that this will be by far the strongest team ever to represent England at the Empire Games, and I anticipate outstanding high performances."

The probables listed by Trudeau, apart from Bannister, Chataway and Peters, are John Savidge (shot put), Mark Pharoah (discus), Geoffrey Dyson (pole vault), P. G. Fryer (400 yards), E. D. Wilmshurst (hop, step and jump), D. R. Cox (high jump) M. J. Denley (javelin), B. S. Newton (1,500 yards), Brian Hewson (European 200 metres champion) and J. A. Webster (fifth in the 1952 Olympic 800 metres).

KREFELD, Germany (CP) — Toronto Lyndhurst's made it nine victories in a row Tuesday night with a 10-0 win over Krefeld before 7,000 fans.

Lyndhurst's, Canada's entry in the world hockey championships starting in Stockholm Feb. 26, have lost only one game since beginning their European exhibition tour two weeks ago. The loss was the first game in Paris against a team of Canadians from the English leagues.

In the third period, Heinz Wacker, a member of the German team, unintentionally gave the Canadians a bonus goal by kicking the puck past goalie Krefeld goalie. Lyndhurst centre Bob Kennedy and right-winger Vic Stasiuk and John Scott each scored once in the finish.

The Lyndhursts move on to Cologne to seek their fourth win in Germany Thursday.

Minor Leagues Will Discuss Hockey Future

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — The American Hockey League Tuesday called for a meeting of the three minor professional hockey circuits to work toward uniform agreements.

The AHL board of governors, meeting here at the 1254 Calder Cup playoff schedule, voted to invite the Quebec League and the Western Hockey League to a joint session in Montreal early in June.

At the same time the board fixed Tuesday, March 23, two days after the end of the regular season, for the beginning of the playoffs.

John B. Sollenberger, Hershey club and AHL president, said the main purpose of the meeting would be to bring about "an exchange of ideas." He indicated the meeting would consider the entire picture of the future of minor league hockey.

An AHL spokesman said the meeting would take up such problems as the transfer of players, let who died in 1886, was a mathwaivers and try for "mutual agreement on hockey rules and regulations."

The AHL decided to repeat the same three-series playoff system used last year with the regular season victor playing the third place team and the second place club opposing the fourth place team. The preliminary series will be best of five games and the final series between the two winners will be a best of seven set.

There is something about a squeeze that gets you. A skillful player knows what it is. That is why he prepares the stage for the squeeze to operate the way he plans it.

A squeeze is possible only when an opponent is trying to guard at least two suits. The idea of the squeezer is to force opponent to unguard one of the suits that is blocking success.

South was declarer at a grand slam contract of seven spades. The opening lead from west was the king of hearts. This was taken by the ace in dummy and trump king was crashed next.

Now a trump to south ace took a trick. Declarer got a count when he was lucky enough to find opponent spades split for the drop.

A small heart was ruffed with the last dummy trump. The king and ace of clubs were cashed in that order. On the lead of dummy club queen south shuffled a small heart and kept the ten.

A small diamond then was ruffed by south who then drew two more trump rounds. On these last two trump tricks, dummy cast a club and a small diamond. This left three cards in each hand.

South still had a trump, heart ten, a small diamond. Dummy was there with his three best diamonds. West clung to the heart queen and the diamond king and queen. Right here south led his last trump.

West was in the bottle neck and had to let go something in fixing. If he gave up heart queen, south heart ten and dummy diamond ace would take the last two tricks. No doubt about it.

As an alternative, should west give up one or his two diamonds. If he does, dummy takes the last two tricks with diamonds ace and jack.

In a hand that seems eventless a squeeze can be relentless.

BRUINS-HAWKS TRADE

Bodnar, 30, will report to the Bruins in New York tonight. He will be used at right wing and as a penalty killer.

Toppazzini, 25, was brought up from Hershey in November after Real Chevrelle suffered a severe leg fracture in a game at Toronto.

He has been a penalty-killer with the Bruins but in the past has played both forward and defence.

Good Eating!
NEARLY EVERYONE LIKES A GOOD STEAK OR A GOOD PORTION OF FRIED CHICKEN
STEAK
To do it justice, a steak should be about one-inch thick of the best quality (Red Brand) beef and hung from 3 to 4 weeks prior to cutting. Then cooked to taste.
FRIED CHICKEN
Should be Grade "A" well cooked in a good dressing, and a substantial enough portion so that you can really enjoy it.

AT THE CAPITOL — Burt Lancaster and Robert Walker, as foster brothers, vie for the affections of Joanne Dru in "Vengeance Valley", M-G-M's Technicolor Cinemascope drama of the early West. Also prominent in the picture, showing Thursday at the Capitol Theatre, are Sally Forrest, John Ireland and Ray Collins. On the same program and having its first Belleville showing is "The Diamond Queen" in thrilling color starring Fernando Lamas, Arlene Dahl and Gilbert Roland. Both hits are movies as they should be seen on our new giant curved screen.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Lex (Tarzan) Barker is turning in his loincloth for boots and saddle.

The handsome actor will no longer be flexing his muscles in the jungle. From now on, his colleague will be "Read 'em off at the crossroads," instead of "Me Tarzan, you Jane."

"That's the kind of picture I want to do," he remarked. "I like working outdoors. Besides, I think a big part may lead to big door pictures."

Barker was the 10th of the Tarzans. The actor explained the reason for the split:

"I figured at this point in my career I ought to be able to enjoy a little more profit from doing the pictures. Mr. (producer Sol) Lesser didn't see it that way.

GRATEFUL TO PRODUCER

"But I am grateful to him for exposing me to the public—and I do mean exposing. I readily admit that the series was a great thing for me. Traveling to Europe and Mexico made me realize how tremendously popular Tarzan is."

So much so that the foreigners passed up his bride, a girl named Lana Turner, in order to get his autograph. That was partly due to her now brunette hair shade, which makes her look unlike the Lana film audiences know.

AT THE BELLE

Clark Gable, Ava Gardner and Grace Kelly are the Romantic Trio in "Mogambo"

"Mogambo", new M-G-M. offering starring Clark Gable, Ava Gardner and Grace Kelly, continuing at the Belle Theatre, has everything the moviegoer could wish for in the way of romance, thrill-packed adventure and wonderous backgrounds of the fauna and flora of Africa, filmed in Technicolor.

Gable is a white hunter, Ava Gardner, as the show girl who knows her way around, form an electric romantic combination, and are ably abetted in the performances of Grace Kelly, as Linda, the young wife whose marriage seems threatened by the African interlude, and by the British actor, Donald Sinden, playing the Anthropologist in search of his study of animals that he is unaware of the emotional turmoil going on behind his back.

The atmosphere of Africa in sound and color as well as in the thrilling shots of animal life have been brilliantly captured by director John Ford, who recently chalked up his fourth Academy Award, for his direction of "The Quiet Man", and who might well garner yet another award for "Mogambo" — it means "It's the Greatest"!

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY, FEB. 18, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Stars indicate ample compensation for well-executed efforts now. There may be a cancellation of obligation or claim on you, perhaps even a concession to your requests. But tact!

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Your rays are somewhat favorable to financial and business matters. Entry into an agreement may have excellent returns but here, as everywhere, good sense brings the satisfying dividends.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — You may have others' ideas to contend with now but this should not lessen your ability to bring about good results if you remain calm and handle problems in the order of their importance.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Friendly relations for you and your well-constructed schedule. Remember, God helps those who help themselves. Apply every honest means and experience to attain goals sought.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Your planetary chart puts you on the preferred list of those who should gain by wisely-managed efforts. Both private and general business interests can move forward if you are astute.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—You are now sitting in a favorable seat to launch ideas, endeavors. However, don't neglect to look sharply around as you progress, in order to avoid errors.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Remember that caution does not mean fear or distrust of possible success. You may need to cope with conditions and opportunities.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—You must exercise caution in handling merchandise and foods; also in dealing with associates if you would profit this day. Don't push beyond reason. Avoid useless reiteration.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—The stars favor the personal touch and extra effort now. It could be a tricky day for financial matters. Move intelligently but without fear.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Same admonitions as for Sagittarius now. However, in your chart personal affairs play a slightly more important part. Be alert and listen to good advice.

January 22 to February 19 (Aquarius)—Both employer and employee should profit by this generally benefic day. Advantages are there for you to uncover. Delve and prove definite.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—A day for reflection; buy wisely and give thoughtfully. Reasonable economy will carry us over occasional breaches of the budgetary system. Use your wits.

YOU BORN TODAY are scientifically minded, determined, persistent. You have an affectionate nature, are fond of children and family ties. Do not permit love of pleasure to hinder the great progress that can be yours; You must be constant in effort, curb any unhealthy restlessness, and don't be satisfied with mediocre achievement when you can reach the top of the success ladder. Do not be overcautious or too hesitant in grasp new opportunities. Show initiative and stick-to-itiveness! Birthdate: Niccolo Paganini, famed Ital. violinist. Famed Stock Exch. of Glas.

Civil Servants Start 40-Hour Week April

OTTAWA (CP)—Mail handlers and carriers, customs and immigration officers and operational staffs of other government departments in 120 communities will start a five-day, 40-hour week April 1. At present they work 44 hours.

The list of communities was announced Tuesday in the Commons by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

He said the change is being made in communities where the 40-hour week is the prevailing practice in local employment. However, operating staffs of all departments will be granted the short week wherever it is in effect for civil employees.

Clerical employees were granted the 40-hour week in certain communities last fall.

Mr. Abbott said, however, that the 40-hour week can not be put into effect for clerical employees in hospitals and other health stations, fire protection services, penitentiaries, and weather reporting services, farms, fish hatcheries, national parks and historic sites, lighthouses and heating staffs.

The list of communities in Ontario includes:

Barrie; Belleville; Bowmanville; Brantford; Brockville; Chatham; Cobourg; Collingwood; Cornwall; Deseronto.

SMALLER UNITS

TORQUAY, England (CP)—This seaside resort's 26-man municipal council was reduced to 12 last year for reasons of economy. Now the municipal council has decided to reduce it to a sextet for the sea-front pavilion and a trio for the Repertory theatre.

DEATH FOR 'HOOLIGAN'

VIENNA (AP) — Communist Poland has sentenced an armed 25-year-old "rowdy" to death and jailed three others for long terms in the regime's campaign to stamp out "hooliganism." Polish newspapers have been complaining for weeks that young "gangsters" have been causing terror on the streets of Warsaw and other cities and an apparent expression of their discontent with Communist law and order.

Produce Antidote For Nerve-Gas In Big Quantities

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—The life-saving antidote for frightening nerve-gas war now can be made artificially, and there is already enough to treat 400,000,000 persons, it was disclosed today.

The drug is atropine, until now obtained only from plants grown mostly in countries controlled by Russia.

The synthetic drug, made with chemicals from petroleum, frees the United States from dependence upon foreign supplies.

Nerve gas blocks or paralyses nerves, and causing death unless quickly counteracted. Atropine is the best known antidote, for it neutralizes the paralyzing chemical in nerve gas.

DOSE IS SMALL

A life-saving dose is only 1-130th of a grain of atropine sulphate. The drug can be stockpiled, in ampules ready for injection, in strategic locations for military of civilian use.

Atropine is obtained naturally from atropa belladonna and datura stramonium. The biggest producers of these plants are Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Bulgaria, Rumania and Yugoslavia, with some now beginning to be grown in Australia.

"There is evidence that large quantities of natural atropine have been disappearing behind the iron curtain," said Dr. Theodore Gutsell, president of Winthrop-Stearns.

About 2,000 pounds of atropine are used annually in the U. S., mostly as an anti-spasmodic to relax muscles in treating gastro-intestinal disorders, and for eye drops in eye examinations.

Detective Resigns

Ritchie escaped after giving a statement to Detroit police about persons involved in the 1948 shooting of Walter Reuther, UAW and CIO president. He was being held in a Detroit hotel by Wayne Gilsman, a detective, and Patrolman William Hopkins.

A police trial board found both guilty and Gilsman quit in disgust. He said he was forced to suffer the role of "scapegoat". The board penalized the men a 30-day suspension without pay.

Countess Plans 'Rough Living' In Canada

LONDON (CP) — Viscountess Allenby of Megiddo and Felixstowe is planning eight weeks of "rough living" in Canada and the United States, starting late in May.

The viscountess wants to visit three Canadian and three U.S. youth camps to absorb up-to-date North American ideas for a similar camp here.

As vice-president of the 3,000-strong Kent St. John Ambulance Association Cadets, Lady Allenby heads a committee planning the first post-war youth camp for Kent. She will "live in" with campers in Ontario, Quebec and camps in the Adirondacks, finding out their personal contact just what makes North American camps so popular.

"I think Canadian and American camps are about the best in the world," she told The Canadian Press. "And I want our Kent youngsters to have the best."

Lady Allenby has not yet chosen the camps she will visit. She wants to meet North American youngsters around the ages of her own cadets, the 15- to 17-years.

She said she would prefer camps for children whose parents are in the same working-class and middle income groups as her own cadets.

Provincial Tax Cut is Promised In B.C. House

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Taxation was a topic Tuesday in three provincial legislatures but "help" in one did members hear mention of tax cuts.

The throne speech at the opening of the British Columbia legislature forecast reduction of the 11%-per-cent amusement tax. Budget in Canada, exemption of children's clothes, boots and shoes from the three-per-cent sales tax, abolition of the 10-per-cent tax on liquor by the glass and "substantial" reductions in automobile and truck licence fees.

Members talked taxes in the Ontario and Quebec legislatures.

Trade Minister Paul Beaulieu denied opposition charges that Quebec is Canada's most heavily taxed province. He said per capita taxation in Quebec is $53.2, compared with $58.86 in Ontario.

Mr. Beaulieu said Quebec budgets compare with those of Ontario. Canada's most industrialized and most highly developed province. Quebec was steadily forging ahead and was about to step into the lead.

AID UNIVERSITIES

Premier Duplessis announced his government will make grants to Quebec's universities that will make up for loss of federal aid to education. Federal aid to universities, given by all provinces except Quebec, was cut off in October on the grounds it encroached on provincial rights.

In the Saskatchewan legislature, opposition leader Asmundur Loptson said there seems to be truth in reports the CCF and Social Credit joined forces to re-elect the CCF government in the 1944 provincial election by splitting the anti-socialist vote. Premier Douglas in an interview denied the statements.

The Manitoba house debated second reading of a bill which would permit manufacture of oleomargarine with 6.5 per cent of coloring instead of the present 1.5-per-cent limit.

DIES AFTER ACCIDENT

HAMILTON (CP)—William Bourdon, 57, died Tuesday night of injuries suffered four hours earlier when a locomotive struck him at the Steel Company of Canada. Plant officials said Bourdon, working at an open-hearth furnace, was pinned between a crane and furnace.

Six Red Leaders Found Guilty In Michigan

DETROIT (AP)—A federal jury Tuesday night found 10 Michigan communist leaders guilty of Smith act violations after 28 hours of deliberation in the longest trial in the history of prosecution and defence evidence.

The defendants are Gerald Wellman, Nat Ganley, Mrs. Helen A. Winter Thomas Dennis, Saul Wellman, Allan, and Philip Schatz face maximum prison sentences of five years.

Judge Frank A. Picard set Friday as the date for their sentencing.

The Michigan party leaders join 25 other American Communists convicted in previous Smith act trials in New York, Seattle, Pittsburgh, and Honolulu.

Only two American Communists, indicted under the Smith act, have been acquitted—both by judicial direction.

The Michigan Communists, specifically were found guilty with violating two sections of the Smith act by conspiring to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the United States government.

Veteran Liberal Says Bennett Was to Blame

OTTAWA (CP)—A veteran Liberal said Tuesday that the last prime minister R. B. Bennett "created unemployment" in 1929 and earn the more that helped put the Conservative party in power in 1930.

Before Mr. Bennett became prime minister in 1930, Mr. Pou Bot said, "he himself created unemployment as minister of fin ance."

"He and his chief organizer in 1929. . . each subscribed $350,0 to the elections funds and they invested that money in brokers of fices.

"The chief organizer was Ma Gen. A. D. McRae, of Vancouv later appointed to the Senate. T Conservative government was d feated in 1930 and Mr. Benn went to his island (I wonder wha he was made a viscount.)

Mr. Pouliot said:

"The leader of the Conservative party . . . used to say: 'Unemployment are bad; we have unemployment, but I will cure that.'

"Every time he spoke of unemployment and said that conditions were bad in his opinion, the stocks were getting lower and lower and he was making more money because he was speculating on the fall in price.

"Finally, when he had realized his investment, he succeeded. He used that money to win the election. Afterwards he had to face an amount which was as much as the unemployment. Unemployment was not then like to cure it. It was worse than ever."

BIG FOUR ARRANGING PARLEY ON KOREA

Molotov Rejects Austria's Plan For Independence

Two Separate Proposals Made by Figl of Austria

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

BERLIN (AP)—Austria offered today to extend the occupation rights of the Big Four powers to June 30, 1955, if they grant her independence at once—but Russia refused.

In a last-minute attempt to gain independence for his little nation, Austrian Foreign Minister Leopold Figl made two separate proposals. Each time Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov said no.

The first would have extended the time for occupation troops to withdraw to mid-1955.

The second would have given chiefs of the British, American, French and Soviet diplomatic missions in Vienna control functions for an indefinite period after the independence treaty was signed and military evacuation was carried out.

What Molotov has demanded is indefinite occupation of Austria by troops of the Big Four until German unification is accomplished. And there is no sign that Communist lies ahead in the foreseeable future.

Highways Issue Key Subject In House Debate

TORONTO (CP)—This is leaders' day in the Ontario legislature.

Farquhar Oliver, Liberal opposition leader will launch debate on the reply to the speech from the throne. Premier Frost then will speak.

The house Wednesday gave second reading, approval in principle to a bill for revising the telephone act. Thus it cleared the way for general debate on the throne speech.

Highways Minister Doucett announced that reports of irregularities in the Hamilton road construction contracts are under investigation in the Huntsville division.

But the session was one of comparative tranquility as both sides of the house praised the bill overhauling a telephone act unchanged since 1918.

The bill would improve the service, provided 16,000 subscribers by about 500 independent telephone companies in the province by setting up an Ontario telephone authority.

AMALGAMATE INDEPENDENTS

Hon. G. H. Challies, minister without portfolio and vice-chairman of the Ontario hydro commission, announced that H. A. Rogers, executive secretary of the Canadian Independent Telephone Association, would head the semi-judicial body whose main job will be to amalgamate many of the independents.

The authority would also set up regulations, supervise alterations and construction of new plants and carry out other duties leading up to an eventual continuous telephone service to rural areas.

C. E. Jones (PC—Lambton East) saw a "great future" for the authority and John Root (PC—Wellington North) looked for benefits for residents of the smaller communities.

W. J. Grummett, CCF house leader, warned the proposed continuous service would mean a limitation of independent companies which could be overcome by amalgamation.

Atomic Weapons Being Delivered To British Forces

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain announced today that atomic weapons are being delivered to the armed forces—whose strength this year will total 1,000 men.

The government defence report said a streamlined program for 1954-55 will "concentrate on strengthening the RAF" because of the need to build up strategic bomber force and because of the importance of guided missiles as air defence."

The total defence budget for the year will be £1,639,50,000 ($4,592,600,000). This compares with £1,-600,760,000 ($4,482,128,000) for 1953-54.

The present active strength of the services is 872,000—845,000 men will be cut by a little more than 11,000 men in the new year, the annual defence statement said.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) — Synopsis: A large high-pressure area moving eastward over the province tonight gives skies to all of southern Ontario and Georgian Bay. Present indications are that the current mild spell will last at least another two days. Today will be another pleasant sunny day, but by Friday strong southerly winds from the Gulf of Mexico will bring moist air with considerable cloudiness in most areas. Some showers are expected in southwestern Ontario Friday evening.

UNEMPLOYMENT DEBATE IN HOUSE BRINGS NO ACTION

Two Motions of Want Of Confidence Left

OTTAWA (CP) — A three-day Commons debate on unemployment has been adjourned with no decision taken on opposition demands for action to meet the situation.

Adjournment of the debate Wednesday left hanging two motions of want of confidence in the government.

A Progressive Conservative motion asks that the unemployment situation be referred to a committee "to study and recommend" counter measures. A CCF motion calls for direct government action.

Today the Commons will consider government legislation, dealing with a measure to increase the salaries of 21 cabinet ministers by $15,000, from $10,000 and boost the prime minister's salary to $25,000 from $15,000.

Opposition Leader Drew said in Wednesday's debate that the government is refusing to face the facts of unemployment. The PC view was an attempt to "take off the heat."

Mr. Diefenbaker took the attitude that unemployment was inimaginary and the problem of industry a passing inconvenience.

John Dickey, parliamentary assistant for defence production, said if unemployment is as serious as the opposition claims, a committee study would be useless. If, as the Liberals believed, there were nearly 300,000 jobless, a committee study or "extreme remedies" were not justified.

UNEMPLOYMENT STATISTICS

The National Employment Service reported 524,000 persons looking for work on Jan. 25, up 190,000 more than at last Dec. 10 and 160,-000 more than a year ago. The bureau of statistics estimated 280,-000 jobless at Jan. 23, 90,000 more than at last Dec. 12 and 60,000 more than a year ago.

Mr. Drew said the 524,000 figure omits many unemployed workers who have not registered at with NES.

Mr. Dickey said exaggeration of the problem could undermine public confidence and contribute materially to a worsening of the situation.

The government already had taken steps to combat unemployment. Parliament has passed a bill to protect the textile industry against imports and has also proposed housing legislation before the house would stimulate employment.

The government's public works program was being increased and unemployment insurance benefits would be improved, the government felt there was need.

Northern N.Y. State Isolated By Heavy Storm

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Mohawk river roared above normal flood levels today, while in Northern New York state scores of communities were virtually isolated under more than two feet of snow.

State officials kept vigil along a 100-mile stretch of the Mohawk river, clogged by ice jams.

A big problem, also hit Ontario and Quebec, pelted a record rainfall on western New York Wednesday and sheltered the rest of the state with rain and soggy snow. The snow piled up 22 to 26 inches over a wide area from the St. Lawrence valley to Lake Champlain.

Rain and melted snow caused the Mohawk to back up from Schenectady to Utica, flood its usual banks, water lapped over lock walls, indicating a rise of as much as six feet.

TEST PLANE DAMAGED

At the Albany airport Wednesday night, five men escaped uninjured when a General Electric "flying laboratory" test plane skidded off a slushy runway on landing and became impaled on a wire fence.

A section of the plane came to rest astride a highway at the south end of the airport, blocking traffic for a time.

Meanwhile, the state public works department said the flooding Mohawk threatens canal structures but poses no immediate danger to private property.

Explorer Glad to See Sun Again After Three Days Spent in Cave

outside world looked good today to Marguerite M. Klein, a school teacher-explorer who found Crystal Cave's rugged depths too much for her strength.

She admitted she was "glad to be out" when fellow explorers in an extensive scientific expedition brought her to the surface early today night.

Samuel Aston Loyd, 30, an engineer from Waynesboro, Va., who helped lead the 27-year-old Chevy Chase, Md., woman out of the cave, said:

"We used a rope around her to safely her across Bottomless Pit. She had to stop frequently for breathing."

Bottomless Pit is a 100-foot drop inside a "crawlway." The trail narrows down to about six inches around its rim.

The crawlway is an untidy obstacle course of narrow, zig-zag passages, boulders and pits, some jagged.

It was after her descent through the crawlway two days ago that Miss Klein, who suffers with asthma, had an attack which was complicated by vertigo, a dizziness brought on by excessive fatigue, a nearly correct estimate would be a matter of time, she said.

The unions are seeking concessions on such matters as holiday bonuses, vacation pay and overtime pay. At the time the demands were made seven weeks ago railway spokesmen said the cost could run possibly $60,000,000 a year.

Mr. Hall said it is apparent the transport board is "not appreciative of the restraint and moderation of the union's demands."

"This attitude," he said, "encourages those who hold that unions should demand the ultimate as a basis for consequent collective bargaining."

FORT CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—Canadian Army officials say an atomic cannon has been tested under arctic conditions "for some time."

The army announced in a statement Wednesday that a 280-millimetre atomic cannon, the only one reported to be in Canada, had fired conventional type shells, including at least one 600-pounder, near this military base. Fort Churchill is near the Hudson Bay port of Churchill.

Although tests have not involved firing of atomic warheads, the danger and costs, it is known that shells of the conventional type have been fired and from data gathered, the actual range of an atomic shell is known, army spokesman, who declined use of his name, said the only difference between an atomic and conventional shell would be the size of the explosion.

Another army official, who also could not be named, expressed an opinion that the United States military have a similar cannon in Alaska, testing it under "damp cold" conditions, while Churchill is known to have "dry cold."

RESULTS SECRET

Results of the tests were not divulged. However it is known the tests would involve how lubricants behave and powder charges work in arctic temperatures. U.S. authorities are conducting the tests.

In recent years, the base here, has been used by U.S. and Canadian military men for testing military equipment types of clothing and foods.

The attaches and advisers also saw a tractor train and a demonstration of vehicles. The group was given a demonstration of igloo building by Fort Churchill instructors.

They will tour military and industrial centres in western Canada, before returning to Ottawa Feb. 27.

Vietminh Commandos Kill Twenty in Market Place

By LARRY ALLEN

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—Vietminh commando troops, disguised as peasants, have entered the Communist-held city of Haiphong and killed nearly 2,000 Viet Namese in the past month, forcing thousands to seek hiding places in the adjoining ricefields.

SEE REIGN OF TERROR

The commandos attacked between 9 a. m. and noon Feb. 8. Five hundred persons are reported missing and many of them are feared to be dead. But spot investigators said today there was no way of telling how many of the missing will eventually return to the village of Thao Thong. This village lies 10 miles southeast of Haiphong, which in turn is 55 miles southeast of Hanoi.

The rest of the population has returned and the village is now under the control of French and mobile units and Viet Namese soldiers. It has been proclaimed a by Catholic militiamen in company strength, pendragon in his more.

The Vietminh, occupying the village for two days, burned one-fifth of the village's 1,000 thatched homes, wrecked Catholic churches and schools and smashed the interior of the village church, including all religious statues.

Unionist Criticizes Board's Reference to Rail Labor Costs

OTTAWA (CP)—Frank H. Hall, chairman of the negotiating committee for 150,000 workers engaged in a contract dispute with the railways, said today the board of transport commissioners appears to be trying to "interfere unwarrantably" in the dispute.

The Montreal labor leader in a statement here criticized the board's reference to rail labor costs in a decision Monday in which that body turned down a railway application for higher freight rates.

The board suggested management and labor take a "realistic" view of the wage decline in railway—traffic. It attributed this partly to "high labor costs" and based on higher operating costs, and it said labor costs "could be the largest single factor in these.

"I consider the board's statement as being of questionable value and taste," Mr. Hall said. "Considering the fact that the railway benefits' dispute is presently under con ideration by a conciliation board headed by Mr. Justice S. L. Kellock, of the Supreme Court of Canada.

NOT THEIR FUNCTION

"This appears to be an attempt to interfere unwarranted by with the conciliation board. It is not the function of the board of transport commissioners to pass on the merits of union claims.

"The railway operating unions are not asking a wage increase. The alleged wage rises were fringe - benefits—$60,000,000 attributed to railway spokesmen—is a gross exaggeration, and has been nearly correct" estimate would be a matter of time, he said.

"The board is apparently the transport board is "not appreciative of the restraint and moderation of the union's demands."

"This attitude," he said, "encourages those who hold that unions should demand the ultimate as a basis for consequent collective bargaining."

Queen Gets Rest On Short Voyage To Tasmania

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh left today aboard the royal yacht Gothic for Hobart, capital of Australia's island state of Tasmania. They are due to arrive there Saturday.

Thousands of Australians packed the shore to cheer the royal couple on their way as the Gothic steamed into the harbor escorted by hundreds of small craft.

The short voyage will be the Queen's first opportunity to relax since she arrived in Australia. The last 16 days, with only two days' rest, have been filled to the brim with official engagements.

Today, after flying here from Canberra, she drove straight from the airport to a gathering of 40,000 persons. Then her car was slowly driven through their ranks and she hurried off to review a parade at Salmoral naval depot.

Tonight, at the Government House, the Queens attended a huge garden party there attended by 3,000 guests.

CANADA SLASHES PRICE OF WHEAT 7 CTS. A BUSHEL

Biggest Reduction In Post-War Years

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has slashed the price of wheat by seven cents a bushel. It is one of the biggest reductions in post-war years.

The new price, roughly $1.79 a bushel for No. 1 northern at the Lakehead, is the lowest of the current crop year which opened last August at about $2.01.

Ostensibly the price drop is to equalize eastern seaboard prices with prices prevailing in West Coast. But experts here also say the move is designed to attract more European customers.

Notwithstanding surface optimism about Canada's grain-selling future, there are deep misgivings in the capital about marketing prospects. The problem is centred in continental Europe.

Some importing countries which became members of the new International Wheat Agreement last August have made no purchases of wheat. They have called for a price ceiling of $2.05 (U.S. funds) a bushel, importing countries a floor price of $1.50 and other features.

Exports to the United Kingdom, which is not a pact member, have been good, officials say. They say the first six months of the current crop year there have been sales under the pact to Austria, Denmark, Egypt, Greece, Italy, Japan, India, Mexico and parts of the Middle East.

Immediately many of these countries have a feeling prices will drop still further and are holding off buying. Another current drop announced by the Canadian Wheat Board in Winnipeg Tuesday, also be followed by others.

In all, Canada's sales under the pact during the first six months of the current crop year totalled about 30,000,000 bushels, about one-third of sales in the first half of the previous crop year. The reporting quota this year is 161,-200,000 bushels.

In the face of lagging overseas markets, Canada has had to face competition from the United States. U.S. which like Canada has huge wheat surpluses, has been forced decide to reduce the Lakehead price, than the U.S. boosted its support price.

This is in line with U.S. policy to keep its farm products competitive at the same price as Canada, but without upsetting the domestic market. Canada provides no subsidy to exporters or producers.

The two countries are fighting sharply for overseas markets, but officials here say Canadian and U.S. officials are in constant consultation about prices. They realize that a price war involving might crack prices generally in North America.

Thus, every time the Canadian Wheat Board cuts prices, it means a reduction to the farmers. Under the old 1946-50 Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement, farmers got more money than they are getting now. Prices were as much as $2 a bushel. Today they are getting $1.79.

Canada's West Coast prices are being maintained at $1.86, most of which goes to the railways, from the Lakehead and not from the western seaboard.

Expected to Hold Conference In Geneva in April

Agreement Is Announced By Dulles in Closing Speech

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

BERLIN (AP)—State Secretary John Foster Dulles, in a closing speech to the Berlin conference said tonight the Big Four has reached an agreement for a Korean political conference and, if Communist China wants it, a Pacific conference on Indo-China.

Earlier British sources had reported today the Big Four plan to hold a Korean peace parley in Geneva April 10. Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov is consulting with the Red Chinese regime at Peiping on the details of its participation, they added.

There were few developments from the foreign ministers' conference which began eight days ago and its close.

Earlier American authorities said the Big Four had approached agreement on the Geneva parley, ending the Berlin meeting's concentration on the Korean problem. Molotov had made no purchases of Dulles' plan for a Korean peace conference, but he did not oppose it.

Tonight's meeting would be the one major dividend from the Berlin conference, the Geneva session.

The proposed Geneva conference would embrace about 20 countries—16, including the U. S., British and France, which fought on the United Nations side in Korea—South Korea, Russia, Red China and North Korea.

Today's "last" day of the Berlin talks, Dulles and foreign ministers Eden, Bidault and Molotov held their sixth restricted session on sponsoring the new conference. They met for two hours and 15 minutes, then broke up to reassemble later in a bigger regular meeting of the Big Four. It was believed they would almost certainly resolve the dispute over Chinese participation by making clear that it would not mean recognition.

PEACE AGREEMENT

It was also considered probable that the four would issue a formal agreeing disarmament efforts in line with a resolution adopted by the United Nations, which called on all countries to work for arms cutbacks.

Even the great problem of German unification was without any block and as the conference drew once treaty seemed to be in the making. Russia's Foreign Minister was willing to change radically his insistence on keeping Soviet troops in Germany.

Against the background of failure to reach any problems, Dulles declared the Western powers will "continue to maintain" just the first frontier of their freedom, and any attack against the city will be met with force as if it were Paris, United States, Britain and France.

Molotov said the Soviet Union, in Berlin, Dulles said the West will persevere in its efforts to unify Germany.

On each side of the grim line dividing Berlin, Germans appeared to express their resentment in demonstrations highly favorable to deadlock barring reunification.

Survivors Tell How Train Hit In Blinding Storm

MONTREAL (CP)—Weary survivors of a two-train collision at St. Lazare, Que., were resting and said of how two Toronto men spent six hours pinned behind a steel beam while doctors fed them intravenously to keep them alive.

One man was killed and 37 injured when the second section of a Canadian Pacific Railway train from Toronto to Montreal plowed into the first section at the busy farming community 35 miles west of here during a blinding snow storm early Wednesday. Two of the injured were still in hospital today but none was in critical condition.

The victim, W. B. Casselman of Toronto, was believed to have died instantly when a steel beam sliced through a washroom at the rear of a sleeper in the first section. Charles Martin and M. A. Dean, who were in the washroom when the room-smoker with Casselman and were pinned behind the beam. Dean for some four more hours while rescue teams labored frantically to chisel them out. Doctors, fearing they might succumb from shock if they tried to cut it, gave them intravenous injections.

Dean had both legs broken in the crash and suffered head injuries. Martin had head injuries and the hospital officials said their condition was "satisfactory" early today.

TAKEN BY SURPRISE

Some of the passengers were thrown from the coaches for 10 hours but, with the temperature hovering around the freezing mark, no cases of exposure were reported. Snow fell continually throughout the night, drifts against the sides of the wrecked cars and blowing through broken windows.

The snow also delayed rescue workers heading to the scene. The district was unreachable by car and all help had to be sent on foot or by train.

The crash took all the passengers by surprise as they prepared for their scheduled arrival in Montreal. Dean said the first jar motion of the train had stopped at St. Clet to wave a flagman there to pull over on a siding. Then the second section rammed into the rear.

"I thought a bomb had hit us," he said. "I was thrown from my sleeper in a day coach located about third mid-way through the first car.

"People were thrown all over the place and I found myself just lying there stunned for a few minutes," he said. "I could hear the girls screaming when the glass from the windows started to fly through the air."

Waxwork Churchill and His Cabinet Smashed by Hammer-Wielding Man

LONDON (AP)—The wax figures of Prime Minister Churchill and two members of his cabinet were smashed to smithereens as a man with a hammer at the famed Mme. Tussaud's museum today.

While a party of school girls looked on in horror, museum attendants grappled with the attacker and pinned him down until police arrived to arrest him.

The man was not immediately identified.

"He was our first visitor of the day," a museum official said. "He went straight up to our cabinet group, took the hammer out of his bag and started smashing, smashing and set about our models.

"First of all he went for Sir Winston Churchill and smashed that model completely. Then he went for Sir Dwight Maxwell Fyfe and smashed that. Next he pushed Mr. Peter Thorneycroft over and that smashed, too.

"He was just setting about Lord Woolton when attendants interfered."

Motive for the smash-up was not apparent, but the swiftly executed attack obviously was premeditated.

Reginald Eddy, an official of the museum, estimated the damage at £1,000 and said it would take two months to replace the models.

"It's a horrible sight to see a waxwork smashed," he said. "The figures are made from hundreds of pieces and the eyes roll out. Really horrific."

Woman Dies Of Asphyxiation In Trailer Fire

Trapped by flames in her cabin-trailer home at Madoc while attempting to light a fire in a wood stove early Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Marjorie Elizabeth Saulay, 26, died of asphyxiation before firemen could bring her out of the flaming trailer.

According to Cpl. Jack Hatch, of the Madoc detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police, Mrs. Saulay was attempting to light a wood stove located near the door of the trailer. She was apparently using coal oil on the flames, when the fire got out of control, and spread across the door, cutting off her exit.

The fire was spotted by Ralph Franklin, of Madoc, who turned in the alarm. Firemen applied artificial respiration when her body was brought from the trailer. However, the woman was later pronounced dead by Coroner Dr. R. S. Beatty.

Cpl. Hatch reported the volunteer fire brigade from Madoc fire under control shortly after arriving on the scene. The interior of the trailer home was gutted.

The woman's husband, Raymond Joseph Saulay, was away working in the mill at Hilton, Ont., when the fire broke out. Hilton is a few miles south of Campbellford.

Cpl. Hatch said there would be no inquest.

School Board Will Establish Advisory Agricultural Body

Members of the Bay of Quinte District, High School Area Board at their regular monthly meeting voted down a recommendation to increase membership of the advisory vocational committee from eight to twelve members.

Instead it was decided to set up an advisory agricultural committee to act in an advisory capacity only. Brooks Allen will head the committee, members for which will be chosen from various organizations within the townships comprising the high school area.

Although the new Quinte Secondary School on College street is still in initial stages of construction and is not expected to be opened before next year, two requests for affiliation of cadet corps were received by the board.

One of the requests was from the 9th Anti-Tank Regiment with Major E. S. Fraser, R.C.A., and Lieut. Vaughan acting as a delegation from the regiment. The other request was for affiliation with the air cadets. No action was taken on either request, two regular officers formed to bring in a recommendation.

The resignation of Miss Gayle Berrien, English teacher at the collegiate, was accepted. Miss Berrien will go to the Kitchener-Waterloo collegiate.

A special committee was set up to look into the matter of secretarial help for the board office, the collegiate office and in the principal's office at the new high school.

The advisability of purchasing a piano for the collegiate music room will be considered. Approval was given to a site and accommodation committee recommendation to install a Baldwin inter-communication system in the new school. Purchase of goggles for use in the collegiate machine shop was approved.

Hiring of a new teacher to work half time as a motor mechanics instructor and the balance of the year as a drafting and welding instructor was approved. A donation of $25 was voted to the Belleville and District Film Council.

The question of rental to the board will attend the Urban and Rural School of Trustees Association convention to be held at Bigwin Inn.

Convict Wins Grand Prize At Hobby Show

TORONTO (CP)—Howard Urquhart, 26, of Toronto, now serving 27 years in Kingston penitentiary, has won the grand prize in the woodworking contest at the International Hobby and Homecraft Show.

Urquhart made two tables and a cedar chest in his Kingston cell. He gave one of the entries, an inlaid table, to Norman Berins, his lawyer.

The prisoner was sentenced to 18 years for manslaughter in 1946 after the death of Meyer Tobias, a Toronto merchant. The sentence was raised to 30 years on appeal and Urquhart received an additional seven years later for escaping from Kingston with Austin Craft, who was hanged for shooting John D. Kennedy, a penitentiary guard.

Councillor Smithrim Critical Of Boy Scout Advertising

TRENTON (Special)—Councillor Robert Smithrim is critical of Boy Scout advertising under the sponsorship of the John Labatt beer company. He went on record to say that the Scouts did wrong to let their name appear in the same advertisement in a local newspaper. He favored helping the Scouts but objected to their association with the brewing interests.

The local Boy Scout organization asked council for financial assistance for scouting activities.

Mr. Smithrim added another personal opinion. He said he would like to see the Boy Scouts working harder and earning their own money. "I don't like the ideals of the Scouts is self reliance and preparedness. I don't think the training is too much is good training. I would prefer to see them out working."

In concluding his remarks the chairman of Public Works observed: "They don't even collect waste paper anymore."

Chief Constable F. J. Taylor submitted a report on the town hall building and made five recommendations. He suggested a new floor be installed in the Sergeant of Detectives' office; a new paint job for the interior of the police station; consideration be given finishing the police station in plywood at the rate of one room a year; conversion of the coal furnace to oil heating would eliminate the soot in the market square locale; a new floor and paint job for the court room. Councillor Smithrim and his committee will investigate the report and bring back recommendations to council.

Storm Moves East Leaving Floods And Huge Drifts

TORONTO (CP) — Sections of Ontario still are coping with floods and snowdrifts although the storm that caused the troubles has moved eastward through Montreal and on to the Atlantic provinces.

The west left 16 inches of snow at Cornwall and more than 15 inches at Montreal.

The Cornwall snowfall brought nearly all normal activities to a halt, stalled traffic, forced school closings and depleted industrial staffs. About 150 vehicles, including cars, trucks and buses, were stranded at Farrar's Point, 17 miles west of Cornwall on Highway 2.

Traffic in Montreal was snarled by the snow, which blocked country roads and some highways and disrupted bus and airline schedules. Banks of snow pushed up by snowplows towered over the heads of pedestrians and the tops of cars.

RAIL TRAGEDY

In the blinding snowstorm, a collision of two passenger trains 35 miles west of Montreal killed W. B. Casselman of Toronto and injured 18 other passengers, most of them from Toronto and Montreal.

The storm figured in other deaths Wednesday. Harry C. Ware, 64, of Ottawa, collapsed and died while shovelling snow, while 70-year-old Wilfrid Aylmer, Que., Lawrence M. O'Malley, 62, was stricken as he tried to free his car from a drift. John J. Carmody, 76, died after shovelling snow from his front walk at Uxbridge. Traffic accidents on icy roads killed Cpl. Harry Gilchrist of the Ontario Provincial Police near St. Thomas and Frances Auld, 20, of Ottawa.

The snowstorm tended to overshadow the flood difficulties, which eased in most areas as rivers ebbed back to their normal levels.

Pockets of 200 families evacuated from their homes at Churchville, 20 miles northwest of Toronto, still were unable to return, although the Credit river was receding. Loons cleaned up after the Thames river flooded some low-lying sections. The Thames, the Ausable and the Grand river and many smaller streams still run high in places but generally the flood danger appeared virtually over.

Prime Minister Meets Leaders Of Pakistan

By WILLIAM STEWART

KARACHI (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent embarked today on a round of engagements as part of his visit to Pakistan, where he arrived Wednesday on his round-the-world goodwill tour.

It was the start of the Far East portion of the Canadian leader's trip, and he spent the day in conversations with leaders of the young Moslem dominion. He planned to place wreaths this afternoon on the graves of Mohammed Ali Jinnah, a leader in the formation of the state, and Liaquat Ali Khan, its first prime minister.

The prime minister reached this capital of the seven-year-old independent Asian state Wednesday.

Refugees Clash With West German Police at Munich

Club-swinging policemen broke up a crowd of about 400 persons who milled about the headquarters of the American joint distribution committee which provides relief for Jews.

A similar demonstration was broken up by police Wednesday night.

The refugees, mostly Jews from nearby Camp Foehrenwald, demand that they either be allowed to emigrate to the United States or be given homes in West Germany.

Divorcee Finds Refusing 'Raise' Is Poor Business

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—A divorcee who turned down a pay boost, because she thought that was the way to make sure her alimony payments continue, lost both under a decision Wednesday in the Oregon Supreme Court.

In a 1950 divorce Clyde Lawrence agreed to pay his ex-wife $150 a month for five years, provided she didn't remarry or get a job paying $240 a month or more.

Right after the divorce she got a job paying $240. Less than a year later her employer offered her a 10-per-cent pay boost. She turned it down.

Lawrence then sued to get out of alimony payments. He lost in circuit court, but won on appeal. Chief Justice Earl C. Latourette said that when Mrs. Lawrence was offered the pay raise, she had earned it whether she took it or not.

Most Workers Like Their Rut, Avoid Promotion

BOSTON (AP)—A Boston business executive says the majority of workers are "good natured slobs" who want to be left alone in routine jobs.

William H. Eastman, personnel director of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co., said Wednesday that "thousands resist promotions because they don't want to be lifted out of a rut."

He spoke at an "industrial opportunity" conference.

Some Fishing !

MOUNTAIN HOME, Ark. (AP) — Lake Norfolk has been at a low level and Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Besird took advantage of the opportunity to search along the shore.

They found: ten rods and reels, 30 minnow buckets, 11 anchors, more than a bushel basket of artificial baits, about 125 pounds of sinkers, pocket knives, pipes—and, oh, yes, a wallet containing $700.

A SIGNIFICANT STUDY

Unesco has just published a graphic 103-page book by a French journalist, M. Jacques Kayswer. Entitled "One Week's News" it gives the result of an analysis of news published during a one-week period, from March 5 to March 11, 1951, in 17 newspapers, in as many different countries. The newspapers studied were large-circulation morning newspapers, the New York Daily News, for instance, being selected to represent the United States and the London Daily Express to represent Great Britain. This method of choosing one newspaper as representative of the press of an entire nation is, obviously, a limiting factor on the value of the work of analysis undertaken. But if we keep in mind the existence of this limiting factor the study will be of considerable value.

What did M. Kayswer find? There were sharp variations among the papers regarding the amount of space given to different categories of news. Foreign news reports, for instance, varied from two to 30 per cent of the total. Domestic news coverage took from four to 55 per cent of the space.

Perhaps the most surprising thing is the failure of almost half the papers to give top priority to any one of three main news stories on March 7-8. These stories were the assassination of Premier Ali Razmara of Iran, featured by seven papers, a proposal that the Trieste problem be included in the discussions on a peace treaty for Austria, featured in two papers, and a statement by General Douglas MacArthur, U.N. commander in Korea, on the military situation there. General MacArthur's statement failed to get the "number one" spot in any of the seventeen papers. Only one paper published his declaration in full. Twelve others quoted it, but their stories, according to M. Kayswer, varied so widely that "it is hardly possible to say in what order the General really made his remarks."

M. Kayswer appears to have touched on a vital point. The order in which remarks are made, as well as the text of the remarks, is oftimes important. All too frequently varying impressions are given by reports of the same speech. The charge that a speaker has been misquoted is commonplace — and only infrequently is it justified. But many a speaker has a complaint against the press not adequately quoted. Perhaps some people do not think that this is important.-- But there are others who do. That the latter group will be found to contain a very high proportion of newspaper readers is a fact which all are interested in the dissemination of accurate information should find encouraging.

WHEN THE VIKINGS CAME

History is being re-written again. This may be a somewhat annoying procedure for those of us who hold certificates from the Ontario Department of Education to testify that we know all about history—but it does no harm to the truth which, unlike the text-book versions of events, does not change.

This time a joint committee of Norwegian and Belgian history teachers has set up a series of recommendations for the authors and publishers of school books, in connection with the presentation of historical events affecting the two countries. Primarily they are anxious that future students receive a more truthful picture of the days of the Vikings. Hundreds of history books, writes Marcel Vanhamme in "Unesco Features," have dwelt upon the terror stricken Christian Europe by the "bloodthirsty Norsemen," wearing their strange winged helmets and pursuing their booty with a single-minded cruelty and ferocity. Against this, the committees are often quoted by citing the petition: "From the fury of the Norsemen, deliver us, good Lord."

But this story of terror is only half true. These wild sea-rovers came from countries with a civilisation of their own. An important exhibition in Brussels of Norway's finest examples of ancient, mediaeval and popular art has given travellers and children a practical lesson correcting the false impressions they have gained from the over-colored accounts in some books. The Norsemen, after all, were merely children of their age.

Still, old impressions die hard. The mind accepts the new versions but the heart rebels. Nor are all the old impressions gained from history books. There is, for instance, the picture of the Vikings we shall carry with us to our dying day sprung not from any dull history text-book but from a boys' magazine.

"We are the Vikings, we
We come with axe and sword,
We come to plunder, we come to burn.
Follow the eagles, follow the ravens . . ."

Bloodthirsty? Yes, but they had no slave labor camps, dropped no atom bombs.

CIVIC CADILLACS

Clothes make the man is an old saw. Now we have the belief that cars make the mayor.

At least a Toronto alderman is disturbed because the chief magistrate of the city has to make do with a Buick while Ottawa's Lottie Whitton and Hamilton's Lloyd Jackson both sport Cadillacs.

Maybe we should have a ukase which would decide for us what level the mayor of any given city should hold in this new automotive hierarchy. Otherwise the prospect of living up with the Joneses in other towns may add to the burdens of the taxpayers. (London Free Press.)

By GREGORY CLARE

The minute we see the word culture, most of us duck. Our eyes recoil from it as from a snake. We don't mind words like agriculture, science, mechanics or horticulture, even if we don't know what they mean. Animal culture is okay. But plain culture makes many of us gag. One of my more vulgar friends says the word in two ways brings to his mind "something nawsty and sticky in a test tube."

Apparently what we need is a word to be adjoined to culture, as in agriculture. If there were such a word as humanculture or mindculture or heartculture, it might not be so bad. The Germans can join up words like coupling up box cars: why can't we? Most people who use the word culture apply it to themselves as a rule, which may account for its unpopularity. The sort of people who most commonly uses the word cultured is generally, in my opinion of the uncouth majority of us, a little daffy, and at least part way into a test tube.

But culture is a good, plain word, easily worn in spite of its present partisans. If we just look it up in the dictionary, Here it is: The first definition is "the action or practise of cultivating the soil." That means plain plow-ing. The second meaning is "the raising of plants or animals with a view to their improvement." Ah! See it coming? The third meaning is "the product or growth resulting from such cultivation."

Not until we reach the fourth definition do we begin to sense the fighting word. Here it starts: "development or improvement by education or training." Fifth meaning: enlightenment or refinement resulting from such development."

Well, then, heck, we are all cultured at that rate! We all started, as infants, eating Shredded Wheat porridge with our fingers, dribbling it all over ourselves. That is a consequence of education and training, we became both enlightened and refined now it is only on the rarest occasions we spill anything on our shirts.

What the partisans of culture mean, I suppose, is that they never drink anything on their ties. But between you and me, I have considered that the modern proponents of culture are those with most spots on their vests.

Bull Behaves In China Shop

(Edmonton Journal).

It is always sad to see a familiar proverb suddenly deflated — although, of course, it is not its fault. Such a tragedy happened the other day at Alsey in West Germany.

For centuries the phrase "like a bull in a china shop" has described the utmost in ruin and confusion. At Alsey, it suddenly seems to like it there. A bull broke on his way to the packing plant and dived into a china shop. Instead of the expected crash, however, Ferdinand just looked around. The drivers recaptured him and led him away before a single dish was broken.

Evidently bulls are more docile, or china is more durable, than they were in the days when the proverb was coined.

Perhaps the phrase should be changed to "like a bulldozer in a china shop."

Letters to The Editor

Building Regulations Come in For Criticism

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer,

We do not seem to be sufficiently informed as to the business transacted on our behalf by the city fathers. If they will bear with me I am aware, of their intention to quit snow plowing of sidewalks. Quitting this job is a step in a retrograde step and I am glad they changed their minds.

Regarding "City Lots for Sale" the custom appears to be to give the purchaser a few years in which building is "half finished", but it takes weeks more after that to actually get possession of the land. This is quite ridiculous for reasons which I have given to the City Engineer in detail and in writing. My reason for writing you is because they apparently are not going to change, as I have had no reply to my letter.

I have also written the City Engineer regarding their Building By-Law No. 1953-35. Stating that all buildings on Front Street must be two floors or 20 feet in high, from ground, level to the eaves. This also seems ridiculous as explained to the writer by the City Engineer. And the roof must be of fireproof material. What! What might they be, and where can you show me one? However, we have no voice in the matter.

To continue rent control and take the property owners still further of money in order to keep his rents down is just as ridiculous as their deed control "building over the control". In other words, the landlord can't raise his rents and can't spend his tax money in order to make sure that he doesn't earn any net money. Surely there is some way of earning twice what they formerly earned and the cost of living and market was free, like all other commodities. In several cities it has been found that a free market has lowered the high rents and decreased the cost of living. In Belleville we know of one landlord who increased his rents 15 per cent and had no trouble whatever and that he had to lower them again. In Rochester, N.Y. where rent controls available if, and only if, rent control was dropped. They dropped it about six months ago, as in old Chatham, so did London, and there have been no particular complaints. There is lots of money available for rental units if this thing is stopped. Otherwise it goes on the market and no more rental units will ever be built.

Now let us get on with the proposed parking space, which is urgently required. Let us try and get on with the matter of planning as advocated by W. A. Watson and editorially endorsed in your issue of February 1st. Alderman Keegan shows a lot of common sense and good judgment in this regard, but seem to be in the minority. The lack of public park space is deplorable and the city and the public generally should do something about this and provide 50 or 100 acres somewhere nearby.

Finally, as a city employee taking active part in politics I am horrified by the lack of interest, especially if he is on the Tory side.

Protests Dumping Of Garbage in River

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer,

I am tired of getting the front out of the city told me about hearing and reading so much about Belleville being a "live" town. If they took him around the whole city we plan to come here and start a business.

We began our tour at Bridge Street West, from my place of business. The condition on the east bank of the river astonished him. "That is a disgraceful condition," he remarked. He mentioned by now they were time he had read about the Moira River and he considered it a shame for the Front Street merchants to use the river as a dumping ground for their refuse when they have year-round garbage collections.

He noticed that merchants were doing a great deal of advertising to encourage people to do their shopping here in the city. He found himself unable to get a room and remained overnight in Colborne and overheard many people say they go to Belleville to do their shopping because the city has a better variety of goods to offer. The Front Street merchants are all striving for business especially when the city can ill afford it at the present time with so many people unemployed.

Surely, oil cans, papers, garbage boxes and tires in the river, is a definite blot on the fair city's attire. I would invite any citizen to see for himself and judge. Our Front Street merchants are not building up the goodwill of the citizens. In the coming spring the merchants are working hard to get the trade at the present time and they will not be going to help conditions or prevent serious financial losses such as we have experienced in the past.

Regarding the pollution of the Moira River, in the summer months for those who enjoy swimming. We are very fortunate to have the Moira River flowing today. We didn't have years ago as the health authorities was under-staffed at that time.

Taking my friend to the council chamber, I asked for the guest to spend $1,500 for spraying to keep down mosquitos, which I am sure, would be a waster of. The conditions I have mentioned will not add the water as they only act as nests for the insects. I do hope the merchants and citizens will take steps as it is very important, not only to the health of the city but the beauty of our city and the health of the entire community.

George De Vuyst.

Farmers Build Barns of Straw

(Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph)

We have heard of many novel ideas in connection with farming, doubtedly top prize in this department is due to the farmers of Saskatchewan who are building up buildings with baled straw and hay. At present, this method of construction has been restricted to barns, but it is expected that in the near future material will soon be used in erecting houses.

It is not quite as simple as it sounds, of course. The outside must be coated with cement, tests are being conducted to see what is the best way to apply cement to the weather. But reports are most encouraging with a cattle shed having been completed and in use during the winter months. The roof is suspended by cables from steel centre pillars. Ranchers say the buildings are warm, one of the best advantages of the new idea, so long as there is no "big, bad wolf," to huff and puff and puff, and blow the house in. It is hoped that the Saskatchewan farmers have a bit more success than the first of those three little pigs. The experiments have found, like the pig, that the straw houses are completed quickly. It remains to be seen how durable the homes will be.

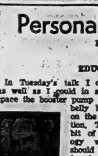
The idea of building with straw is suggested by the use of the straw bales in stacking. The reason for the bales is seven more important. Picture a bowling prairie blizzard, with the snow piled deep between the house and the barn. There is no need to plough one's way through the snow to feed the bovines, for all the cattle will need to do is to start eating into the walls! How easy life in winter-time on the bowling prairies! The straw barn, to the cattle, will be as appetizing as the gingerbread house of Hansel and Gretel.

Berlin Parley Food Problem

(New York Times)

C. L. Sulzberger of this newspaper has sent distressing news of the culinary situation in Berlin. In Berlin, as the visiting diplomats report, a dish of oysters is served in oysters on sauerkraut; ii may include grapefruit with shrimps: it may include cheese in tapioca and onions; it may include onion cake as a sweet dessert.

French bon vivants with whom Mr. Sulzberger conversed do not appear to have expressed much approval. They are not, of course, entirely novel. On the west coast of Mexico a refreshing concoction reports that shrimps are served with pineapple, and in Germany, we have always been told, they eat Sauerkraut, occasionally appears on the same table with pastries even in our own beloved, food-loving country. But the Berlin diners are not pleased. They do not feel that these combinations bring the two nations closer together. They simply like their food and they don't like the thought of twisting it.



Perhaps nobody ever will be able to explain why different nations approve of different sorts of food. To mention some kinds of food that are eaten in some parts of the world would be distasteful to those accustomed only to the kinds of food that are eaten here, but we could not describe what an Eskimo eats; or what the Pole Indians used to eat; or the subsistence the peasants the people of Ethiopia. We need not even go to foreign lands to find peoples, but they don't or didn't eat what we think is nice and they eat things we don't think are nice. To be sure, we do eat oysters, but that is another story. No doubt if the world is ever united in the culinary sense it will be on some kind of stew. Even the French make stews and a French stew with a French wine is a delicious combination. The German stews aren't so bad, either.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

EDUCATED BELLOWS (3)

In Tuesday's talk I described as well as I could in a limited space the bonfire pump effect of belly breathing on the circulation. This is a bit of physiology we should be of interest to any one with heart trouble and/or high blood pressure.

Dr. Brady.

I was the term believe because that's what N. Webster says belly means derived from the Anglo-Saxon belg or belg bag or bellows and I'm afraid to come right out and say educated belly, lest--well, I'm afraid some prudes may delete the word and substitute abdomen or tummy. I hope most of you readers are intelligent enough to understand that belly means the front and side walls of the great body cavity (abdomen), and that there is no other word in the English language that is synonymous with belly.

Regular belly breathing exercise, as described in Little Lesson XI, and not as you may think you know how, Mr. or Mrs. Know-It-All Wiseacre, may not do as much good as I imply it should do, but anyway it can do no harm.

Even though you have a fair knowledge of physiology it takes several weeks or maybe months of daily practice to educate, or I should say re-educate your breathing muscle (diaphragm), the deficiency of which has been impaired by long disuse. We Yankee Wiseacres have tried to improve the natural way to breathe--with our fallacious "proper posture, pigeon chest, you know, the tin soldier posture" affected at West Point, in army training camps, by drill teams at the firemen's convention.

There are a few persons about breathing becomes evident when the examining physician asks him or her to take a deep breath. Physical education in Yankeeland is made believe.

Besides improving the circulation, especially in cases of heart trouble and high blood pressure, belly breathing exercise serves as a natural massage of the liver and bile apparatus and benefits abdominal constipation and indigestion or inactivity of these organs.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ON THINKING

In my newspaper recently I discovered a column by Cleveland Orator Hubbard, the Mayor of Deadborn, Michigan. He ordered his city employees to spend a day a daily 30-minute "think period" upon entering their duties for the day. He asked them to shut themselves in their offices, answer no telephone calls, and think. He remarked that "they may have time of a lifetime."

I am of the opinion that Mayor Hubbard has a good idea. Based on my making that suggestion. A goodly number of our troubles and mistakes come about because we fail to think. And consider the many opportunities that others have grasped by thinking, while we only stood and watched them triumphantly have them delivered to us.

We are reminded of what Emerson said: "In every work of genius we recognize our own rejected thoughts: they come back to us with a certain alienated majesty." This quotation is taken from Emerson's "Self-Reliance," one of the most inspiring essays ever written. It stimulates to the very marrow of one's bones.

Many of the great art creations of the world is Rodin's "The Thinker." In heroic bronze is very silence challenges thought. In my reading it is almost habitual for me to pause, close my book, something striking or beautiful, and to set me to thinking. I think that is the significance of what I have read. If I have not, I usually create thought it isn't worth reading. All reading should enlarge the area in the field of one's thoughts.

After thoughts are rarely as valuable as the before thoughts in human action. How often we come across a great thought and say to ourselves, "I must think on that." Or, I wish I had thought of that myself." Or, I better for ourselves that to set aside a portion of each day--just to sit and think, especially a creative work that thinking constructive.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

WRONG SLANT ON LIFE

A certain friend of mine has carried his head on one side all his life, giving the impression that he was suffering from a curvature of the spine. Just recently he had an X-ray examination which revealed that he has a most unusual curvature which is not in the superpower of his eyes, and that all these years he has carried his head on one side not because there was anything the matter with his neck but because he could only focus his eyes on an object when his head was in this distorted position.

Throughout the whole of his life he has been under the impression that he was being twisted as regards posture, and all this because of a condition that neither nor any physician for a moment suspected.

Psychologists are constantly telling us that many a twisted person has suffered from a twisted childhood cause. Men often manifest criminal propensities as a result of which they are criminals at heart, but because their lives have been given some peculiar twist in formative years and their lives forthwith were enlisted on one side and the wrong side. They began to get a wrong slant on life. Like this friend of mine, they viewed life from a distorted posture. And all this came not because their hearts were bad but because there was something the matter with their eyes or with souls and they could not see anything straight, save in unnatural, twisted, crooked postures.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

IS THIS GIRL AS CHILDISH AS SHE SOUNDS?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have fallen very much in love with a married man in our town who has told me he will take the same way about me. He has even told me that he would get a divorce and marry me, but that would take some time.

Right now, he has asked me to have an affair with him, and I don't know whether to do this or not. He says if I don't it will be the end of our romance. I am very unhappy and would like your advice. This man is 33 and I am 18.

Elsie

Dear Elsie:

Are you really serious in saying that you are undecided about whether or not to save an affair with that unfaithful husband? And are you really so ignorant of life, even at 18, that you believe that he who says your romance will be at an end if you don't have an affair with him, is really in love with you and wants to marry you? If you're really as childish as all this, then your parents ought not to allow you out of the house alone, and if you're not that childish, then you must know very well the sort of answer you should give this man.

If you want me to put it in words for you, then send him about his business and having nothing to do with him. He is not in love with you, does not intend to marry you and means you no good.

STOP MOONING AND GET BUSY

Dear Miss Fairfax:

There is a boy I met and went out with not too long ago whom I like very much.

He broke a date with me, giving as an excuse that he had to go out with his parents. He said he would call me when he got back, but he didn't, and I found out later he went to a party. We have seen him since, but he didn't ask me and seemed to be avoiding me.

I'd like to talk to him again and find out why he hasn't called. I've tried to forget him by going out with other boys, but he's all I think about any more.

Do you think there is any chance of us getting back together? If so, How? If there isn't what should I do? — J.C.

Dear J.C.:

You don't tell me how old you are, but my impulse on reading your letter is to say "Be your age" anyhow!

Surely you must know that if a boy acts as you say this boy has acted, he's not very interested in you, and to try and chase him would be the worst possible thing you could do. And to make an opportunity to see him just to ask him why he failed to telephone you would certainly come under the head of "chasing."

Whether or not this boy ever asks you for another date would depend, I would say, on how attractive you seem to be to other boys. Men are like that! So you will make the biggest kind of mistake if you don't keep going out with just as many boys as you can and have all the good times that come along. It's the girl who is popular with everybody, and who always seems to be having fun, who has the best chance of "winning back" a boy or, if not that, of finding some other boy she likes just as well.

Morale-Boosters Born-Not Made

By Mary Moore

Mary J. is my friend and she is a natural born morale-booster. You tell me I give you a lift. I in turn tell you she gives me a lift.

So I tootled out to her charming home on the heights yesterday (after inviting myself to dinner) and settled down to acquiesce to this treatment.

Of course Mary J. isn't aware of the exhilarating effect she has on me, but just naturally bubbles over with new home-decorating ideas, brand new recipes, homely philosophy that seems original when it comes from Mary's smiling lips.

Wonderful thing too — her husband appreciates her.

The meal she gave us was simple, but served in such style (and taste that I have to relay it to you, it would make an ideal Lenten meal. While I am a couple of weeks early speaking about Lent this is a meal that eaters will relish, budget-balancers will cherish and smart cooks can produce without one doubt.

MARY J.'S DINNER

Tuna Casserole
Potato Cakes
Fresh Frozen Peas
Small Hot Rolls
Mary J.'s Salad Special
Aunt Dorothy's Watermelon Pickle
Cocoanut Cream Pie Coffee

TUNA CASSEROLE

This will serve four or five generously, and may be stretched for six by adding a few more potato chips.

One 7½ oz. canned tuna fish or 1 1-2-lb. can tuna and 1 1-2 lb. can flaked tuna (or use the equivalent in salmon or cooked chicken or turkey) 1 cup medium white sauce, 1 can undiluted cream of mushroom soup, generous shake MSG (Accent), potato chips for topping. The medium white sauce is made as you know by melting 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, stirring in 2 tablespoons flour until blended then stirring in 1 cup milk until thick, and adding a little salt and pepper. Put the ingredients in a buttered casserole in alternate layers finishing with generous layer of potato chips. Bake at 375 degrees F. for, until bubbling all over and golden.

HUNGARIAN POTATO CAKES

These amounts will serve six, but if you want to cut this in half please everything but the egg to half, and use the whole egg. To two cups beaten until thick add 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, shake of MSG (Accent), 1 very finely chopped small green onion or 2 tablespoon chopped parsley, 2 cups well-packed raw potatoes shredded on medium grater. Heat shortening in large frying pan—to about 1-8-inch depth. When it is hot drop mixture from tablespoon in rounds, then flatten them a little with back of pancake turner. Fry until golden and turn over and brown other side. They take long enough to brown to cook the raw potatoes to a pleasing waxiness which is the charm of this particular potato cake.

NOTE: Discard any liquid left in bowl when potato mix is spooned out.

MARY J.'S SALAD SPECIAL

Her husband says everything but the sink goes in this, but it is far from a catch-all. I quote Mary: "A few washed and dried raisins—that white kind, a few whole pecans if you have them. A large celery stalk chopped small, 1 medium orange chopped, 1 small wedge cabbage (let your conscience be your guide—depending on the size of your family—for the cabbage in your "stretcher"), 1 green onion chopped, 2 slices of Spanish onion separated out into rings, 2 or 3 broken up lettuce leaves to give the whole business crispness. Slosh some French Dressing around in it." Crazy-shmazing but delicious.

COCOANUT CREAM PIE FILLING

Into top of double boiler put 2 cups milk, 1 cup or less moist shredded cocoanut, 1-3 to 1-2 cup sugar, shake of salt. Heat. Stir together 3 tablespoons cornstarch and 2 tablespoons flour. Steal a cup of the hot milk from boiler to stir into these to make a paste, then when milk is hot stir this into it until thick. Cover, (Mary says then go and vacuum the rugs for the divorce is coming to her dinner!) After about 15 minutes pour this over 3 well-beaten egg yolks, return to double boiler to cook 1 minute. Pour into ready-made pie shell.

Note: If you are going to make meringue use two yolks for filling and the whites with some sugar for the meringue. Mary stole cream from the top of the milk bottle, whipped it, and decorated the pie with that just before serving. UHM!

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. BEECHMAN

HOSTESS SHOULD NOT BE SERVED FIRST AT TABLE

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

Please settle an argument we are having. "A" says she is correct, when giving a dinner party, formal or semi-formal or informal, for the hostess to be served first. "B" says that the hostess should never be served first; that the woman guest of honor, to the right of the host should be served first. Who "wins" in this argument?—Hostess

"B" wins! The hostess should never be served first . . . unless she is alone with her husband and children. The woman guest of honor, the woman seated at the right of the host, should be served first.

GUEST PROCEDURE

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

My husband and I are going to spend a long week end with friends of ours who are most conservative, have a beautiful home in the country, where they spend their week ends, and live quite "elegantly." We have visited them three or four times before, and know that they are apt to plan what their guests are to do practically every minute. Now an aunt of mine, a wonderful woman who is now an invalid, has come to live with a housekeeper in her former home a few miles from where we are to visit. My husband and I want very much to go to see her while we are on this visit. Would it be permissible for us to plan to do this? — Frances T.

You must not plan to do this without first consulting with your hostess. It will be entirely proper for you to explain the circumstances to your hostess, and make arrangements to go whenever it will be convenient to her and her schedule. She will probably make arrangements about having you driven to your aunt's . . . if she doesn't suggest this, you'll have to find out about ordering a taxi or taking a bus or train. Best to find out first about the possible ways to get there, and then explain to the hostess first, in case her car is not available.

CONCERNING WRITING "PERSONAL" ON ENVELOPES

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

Last evening at the dinner table we were having a discussion as to whether or no matter what you are . . . and it's rude to give any possible impression that you assume the letter might be opened by anyone in the family except the one to whom you have addressed it letter. (And certainly if anyone in the family has the dishonest habit of opening letters not addressed to them, they won't be deterred by that "Personal.")

GRIEVING COUPLE SUICIDE

VINITA, Okla. (AP)—A middle-aged farm couple, who had brooded deeply since the highway-accident deaths of their only son and daughter-in-law eight months ago, took their own lives Tuesday after burning all their property. John McCord, 54, and his wife, 52, left suicide notes indicating that grief for their children prompted their action. Each was shot in the head, and a pistol lay between them.

AN EYE FOR ROMANCE

While the color, shape and size of the eyes may contribute to their loveliness, attractiveness and charm are more often determined by what goes on within these pools of mystery. They can be melting and appealing. They can be bespeak love more eloquently than words. They can be cold as steel, furtive or calculating. An observing individual can read them like a book.

There used to be an old song about the little girl who couldn't make her eyes behave. She probably didn't want to. Because, flirtatious, come-hither glances can cause a terrific flutter in the man market.

The eyes are delicate little instruments and should not be abused. One shouldn't read on trains when the motion jiggles the print. To sew in a dim light is to cause eye strain. One shouldn't read when the sun is shining on the book. Nor should one smoke along glaring highways without protecting the eyes with dark glasses. And let us remind you, dark glasses should be fitted carefully by an optician, not just selected casually.

As the eyes have washing and rinsing systems of their own they need no special attention other than bathing twice a day with warm water, then with cold. That rule goes for orbs that are normal, in a healthy condition. If the lids are inflamed and the eyes smart, do not resort to home treatment. Consult a specialist and without delay. Consult him too, if some foreign substance gets in the eye, causing pain and discomfort.

Eye make-up used to be the last thing a woman thought of in the new scheme of faces it put about ranks first. Today's woman keeps her eyebrows well groomed and does not hesitate to darken them with mascara or crayon. If she makes an error in color it makes all the difference in the world when they are darkened slightly. Heavy eye eyelids is a common practice when one does the chic formal and fares forth for a gay social evening. A new blue-green shadow is most effective, glamorizing the blonde, the brownette and the redhead with equal success.

Hydro Worker Returns to Work, Pays Union Dues

TORONTO (CP) — Ernest E. Stewart, 43, of Niagara Falls, Ont., who was released from service with the Ontario hydro commission three weeks ago because he refused to pay $1.50 monthly dues to the Hydro Employees' Association, has agreed to pay the dues and will return to work today.

Mr. Stewart notified hydro officials that he wanted to go back to work. He went to the Niagara regional office, returned his unsigned pension and insurance cheques and signed the association's deduction card authorizing monthly deductions from his pay.

A. S. Roberson, Ontario Hydro's Niagara regional manager, said that by this action Mr. Stewart now has been reinstated in his job in the electrical maintenance department.

CHURCHES BOOST RELIEF

NEW YORK (AP)—More than 28,000,000 pounds of food, bedding, clothing and medicine—valued at $9,629,818—were shipped abroad in 1953 by Church World Service, it was announced Tuesday. This is twice as much as was ever shipped in any previous year by the interdenominational relief agency.

$8,000 Interest On Trust Fund In Dispute

TORONTO (CP) — Chief Justice J. C. McRuer Wednesday reserved judgment on whether Lt.-Col. E. D. M. Leslie should receive $8,000 interest on a trust fund from the time his aunt died until he changed his name at her request.

Lt.-Col. Leslie, son of Gen. Andrew McNaughton, changed his surname last April 27 and, as a result, qualified to inherit the income from a $250,000 trust fund set up by his aunt, Mrs. Anne Gertrude St. John Leslie of Kingston, who died May 18, 1952.

Also at issue is whether Lt.-Col. Leslie is to receive a limousine valued at $2,500.

In addition to making provision for the Leslie fund, Mrs. Leslie provided for $46,000 cash legacies which have already been paid. The Kingston General Hospital and the Hotel Dieu Hospital of Kingston are to get $10,000 each but this has not yet been paid.

The main residual beneficiaries Sykes and Mrs. Christina McNaughton McDougall, both of Rockcliffe Park, Ottawa; and Capt. Leslie Addington of Colne, Wiltshire, England, and Capt. G. L. Cooper of Sudbury, Suffolk, England.

CHANGE NAME

It was set out in Mrs. Leslie's will that the young colonel had to change his name to Leslie within a year of her death in order to benefit. The change was made about 11 months after her death.

Gordon Henderson of Ottawa, counsel for the residual beneficiaries, contended that the interest for that period should go to his clients.

W. G. C. Howland and M. G. Hickey of Kingston, counsel for the two hospitals, argued that the hospitals should get this money. Affidavits before the court said there will not be enough money from the estate to pay the hospitals in full.

The argument of counsel for both the residual beneficiaries and the hospitals is that Col. Leslie was not entitled to any money until he met the condition of the will.

Meat and Bacon Off Ration List On July 1st

LONDON (Reuters) — Within four months Britons will be able to tear up the ration books which have ruled their lives for 14 years.

Meat and bacon, the last two foods to be de-rationed, may be sold freely in July, Dr. Charles Hill, Parliamentary secretary to the government's ministry of food, told the House of Commons.

"This will be the final step in the dismantling of the wartime rationing system," he said amidst cheers from Conservative members.

Coal now remains the only rationed commodity under a system which dates back to two weeks after war began Sept. 3, 1939.

PIG-FOOD FACTORY

RAINHAM, Eng. (CP) — Roger Wanstall, farmer of this Kent district, bought a 15-ton steamroller to cook pig food. It pressure-cooks 1,000 gallons of swill a day in tanks joined by pipes to the steamroller's boiler.

Demands Made For Salary Hike For Mr. Oliver

TORONTO (CP)—Demands for salary increase for the leader of the opposition and an increase in office staff were made in the legislature Wednesday.

Albert Wren (Lib.-Lab.—Kenora) said the salary and status of the opposition leader should be in proportion to that of the opposition leader in Ottawa.

Farquhar Oliver, Liberal opposition leader, is granted an allowance of $5,000 a year, plus a tax-free expense allowance of $2,000 in addition to the sessional indemnity of $2,000.

The argument arose when Provincial Secretary Welsh answered remarks made in a free-time radio address over a CBC provincial network Monday night by Mr. Wren, who claimed the opposition offices were understaffed and the leader underpaid.

Mr. Welsh said the government allows two office assistants and two secretaries for the opposition office, as well as a full-time secretary for the two members and a part-time secretary for the Communist Labor-Progressive representative.

In comparison, he said, the 86 members of the government party is granted 65 secretaries.

NEED RESEARCH

Mr. Wren termed the comparison "quite ridiculous."

"The government benches have an unlimited staff and money," he said. "It is the duty of the opposition to examine the activities of various government departments. This is impossible with the limited staff. Government members, with their multitudinous staff, does not have to do the research work."

Premier Frost said the salary and expenses paid the opposition leader were agreed on by a select committee and accepted by the house.

"However, I am perfectly prepared to appoint a select committee to deal with the problem if my friend, the leader of the opposition, so wishes."

NEW YORK (AP) — A cheque for $96,400,033.33 to finance a five-mile bridge across the Straits of Mackinac was delivered yesterday to the state of Michigan Mackinac bridge authority.

The cheque represented funds from sale of revenue bonds issued to finance the ambitious project to link Michigan's two peninsulas which form the northern boundaries of Lake Michigan. It is scheduled for completion Nov. 1, 1957, and will replace the present ferry service.

In a letter, Governor Mennen Williams congratulated the authority on the successful financing venture. He said:

"This is another milestone in the long and sometimes weary road of giving the people of Michigan a connection between their two great peninsulas, and giving the United States and Canada a transcontinental highway between the industrial east and the Pacific northwest."

The bridge will be 26,444 feet long, including approaches, and will have a roadway 46 feet wide. Its central span of 3,800 feet will rank second only to San Francisco's Golden Gate bridge with a span of 4,200.

The cores of the span will have a minimum clearance of 148 feet, enough to allow passage of the largest Great Lakes vessels.

HELD IN SHOOTING

NEWMARKET (CP) — Mrs. Marion Chapman, 18, of nearby Queensville, was admitted to hospital Wednesday with a bullet lodged in her right breast. Police said they are holding her husband, Bruce Chapman, to whom she was married last fall, in Newmarket jail for questioning. The girl came to Canada from Germany about a year ago. Her condition was described as fair.

H. and S. Assoc. 'Valentine Tea' Great Success

DESERONTO — The Home and School Association's "Valentine Tea" held at the home of Mrs. H. Bender, was a highly successful event.

Mrs. Charles Gray and Mrs. E. E. Maybee had charge of the home cooking table which was decorated with hearts and red streamers. The table was laden with a variety of cakes, pies, tarts, cookies and bread.

Mrs. C. M. Loffman invited the guests into the tea room.

The rooms were beautifully decorated for the occasion with traditional hearts, cupids, lacy valentines and flowering plants.

Pouring tea during the afternoon were Mrs. Ross Sexsmith and Mrs. H. E. Jackson, both past presidents of the Home and School.

The tea room assistants were Mrs. L. Gardanier, Mrs. G. Stuart, Mrs. P. Thielman, Mrs. G. Richwood, Mrs. J. Graham and Mrs. G. Fox. Replenishing the trays were Mrs. M. Ryan, Mrs. Earl Keech and Mrs. Joe Leafe. In charge of the tea were Mrs. H. Topping, Mrs. G. Soal and Mrs. W. Marsele.

Mrs. Dan Dawson was treasurer for the afternoon.

The proceeds of this tea will aid the Home and School Association in its efforts to secure playground equipment. The patronage of so many, despite the inclement weather, was greatly appreciated.

Miss Marlorie David of the public school staff spent the week-end at her home in Winchester.

Country's Net National Income At New High

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians earned more and spent more last year than at any time in history.

The country's net national income rose to a new high of $18,135,000,000 in 1953, the bureau of statistics estimated.

Spending for consumer goods and services jumped to a record $15,055,000,000, a $700,000,000 gain from $14,354,000,000 in 1952.

In 1953 the gross national product—sum total of all goods and services produced—increased to a peak of $24,342,00,000 from $23,110,000,000 in 1952.

Member Subpoenaed

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. S. F. Lesvioc, Progressive Conservative member of the legislature for Waterloo North, has been subpoenaed to appear as a witness in a civil action at Osgoode Hall this week. As a member of the legislature, he also required to be on hand for the session at Queen's Park.

He remarked on his predicament Tuesday after he and other members saw a private screening of the prison film "Riot in Cell Block 11" arranged for them by chairman W. J. Stewart of the legislature's select committee on reform institutions. As he emerged from the screening room, he quipped: "It's just possible I might be behind bars myself before the week is out."

Fellow members assured him his first duty is to obey the summons of the lieutenant-governor to attend the legislature session.

Urges Canadians Divert Trade To Great Britain

TORONTO (CP) — The dollar-sterling trade council plans to ask Canadians to divert some of their purchases from the United States to the United Kingdom to enable Britain to buy more in Canada.

Warned S. Duncan of Toronto, council chairman, announced the plan today in an address prepared for delivery to the Canadian Association of British Manufacturers and Agencies.

If, he said, such a policy would result in disturbing Canada's relationships with her greatest and most influential customer, the United States, he would be the first to oppose it.

Even, however, if the council's suggestion were carried out, Canada would still be buying $500,000,000 more of goods from the United States than the United States buys here; and he believed the plan would similarly work out to the advantage of all.

The suggestion, he said, did not envisage that British imports should replace Canadian production.

Canada, Mr. Duncan said, is selling to Britain $214,000,000 worth of goods more than Britain is selling here, and Britain is obliged to find that money elsewhere to pay for her Canadian orders.

CANADIAN DEFICIT

On the other hand, Canada last year bought from the United States $3,229,000,000 worth of goods more than seven times that she bought from Britain, and ran a deficit with the United States of $768,000,000.

"If we did no more than increase our imports from the United Kingdom by between seven and eight per cent of our imports from the United States, we would more than wipe out Britain's trade deficit with us, thereby ensuring not only a continuity of our exports to her on the present basis, but setting a pattern whereby these would be gradually increased."

Mr. Duncan said it was up to Canadians as individuals to correct the Canadian pattern of trade.

Vietminh Troops Moving Back To Escape French

By LARRY ALLEN

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—Rebel Vietminh troops surrounding France's northwest Indo-China fortress of Dien Bien Phu moved still farther back today to escape battle-seeking French forces.

Gen. Henri Navarre's troops pushed three to five miles north and west of the heavily fortified plain without making contact with any units of the Communist-led rebels.

Cogny, French commander in north Indo-China, for several days has been sending out 4,000 to 5,000 troops daily in an attempt to draw major units of the estimated 36,000 Vietminh soldiers into battle. The rebels have been entrenched around Dien Bien Phu for three months, but have never attacked.

AIRMEN HARASS FOE

French airmen strafed and bombed the Vietminh positions around the plain for the 62nd straight day. French army sources said the mounting air attacks make it increasingly unlikely that the Vietminh will try a full-fledged assault on Dien Bien Phu.

The French reported rebel troops were scattered and dozens of supply dumps destroyed.

In Saigon, meanwhile, commissioner-general Maurice Dejean denied "emphatically and categorically" that the French had approached Chinese Communist or Vietminh representatives with a view toward peace negotiations.

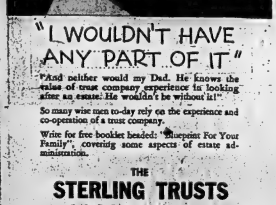
Fluoridation Helps Children In Brantford



BRANTFORD (CP)—The Brantford fluoride committee said Wednesday night that 20.47 per cent of Brantford children now have perfect teeth, compared with 8.18 per cent before fluoridation of the water supply started in June, 1945.

The committee report said greater benefit was among five-year-olds who have shown a 60-per-cent improvement since 1945.

Dr. W. L. Hutton, medical officer of health, said: "The present bizarre fluoride controversy which started in the United States and spread to Canada would be utterly unwarranted if the argument were confined to the facts of fluoridation as they are presently known."

Canada Seen on Threshold Of New Era in Atomic Energy Research at Chalk River

SEES RED BUILD-UP IN NORTH KOREA

By JOHN E. REID
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHALK RIVER, Ont. (CP) — Canada is on the threshold of a new era in atomic energy research.

Scientists at the Chalk River atomic energy plant Wednesday began using a new and more powerful tool to probe the secrets of the atom—the reactivated NRX nuclear reactor.

The rebuilt reactor, damaged by a leak Dec. 12, 1952, went back into operation with increased power and improved techniques for conducting atomic energy research.

However, reconstruction of the reactor is only part of Canada's increasing efforts to harness the atom for peaceful purposes. Another atomic reactor, known as NRU, is under construction a short distance away from the NRX building, and scientists are studying the design of still another reactor to produce power for industrial use.

NRU, which will cost more than $20,000,000, is expected to be in operation in 1955. It has been designed to enable a variety of tests, many of which will apply to power reactors, one of Canada's immediate goals in atomic research.

JOINT STUDY CONDUCTED

Study of power reactors is being conducted jointly by Atomic Energy of Canada and the Ontario Hydro commission. Their studies will cost about $200,000 and provision has been made to conduct them for two years if necessary.

The restarting of NRX puts Canada back in the business of producing the by-products of atomic energy piles. The most important of these are isotopes now widely used in industry and medicine.

The breakdown of NRX 14 months ago stopped a considerable amount of atomic research at the Chalk River plant, operated by Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., a crown company. It also ended the production of isotopes and Canada was forced to import them from the United States.

The restoration of the damaged reactor marks a history-making scientific and engineering accomplishment. For the first time, so far as is known, a nuclear reactor of high power has been taken apart after five years of operation and restored as an even more powerful atomic furnace.

He warned the United Nations that a "shooting war" might again break out in Korea unless the Reds stop building their air strength in violation of the armistice. (Central Press Canadian.)

Witness Says Ritchie Was Not 'Very Reliable'

WINDSOR (CP)—A private investigator for the United Automobile Workers' union said in court Wednesday he was sent on a wild goose chase by Donald Ritchie and that Ritchie "wasn't very reliable."

Sam Henderson was the fourth witness in the extradition hearing of Ritchie, charged by Michigan authorities with the attempted murder of Walter Reuther, UAW-CIO president, in 1948.

Charged with Ritchie are four men he implicated in the crime, Clarence Jacobs of Windsor, Carl Renda and Dan Keenan of Detroit and Pete Lombardo. It was the second day of the hearing which is expected to last about five days.

Henderson was on the stand most of the day. Under cross examination he said his faith in Ritchie as a witness was shaken after Ritchie sent him on a wild goose chase last December.

Late in the afternoon, Ralph Winstead, special investigator for the union working over Henderson on the shooting, told a story similar to that of Henderson.

Henderson described how he first met Ritchie and set up the interview in a Detroit hotel where Ritchie gave his controversial statement to Canadian authorities. Whether the statement is admissable evidence in the hearing now is being argued.

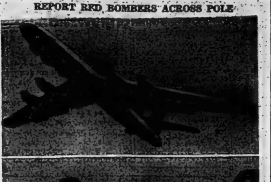
An extradition hearing for Jacobs, set to begin Wednesday, was postponed to Friday. Another postponement is expected if the Ritchie hearing is not complete.

Mooseonee Trapper Given One Year

COCHRANE (CP) — Emilien Sachney, Mooseonee trapper, was convicted Wednesday night of seducing his 15-year-old stepdaughter and was sentenced to one year in prison.

The girl testified last week that she went on a trapline trip last winter with Sachney, her brother and her stepbrother. She said she shared a blanket with Sachney, became pregnant and gave birth to a child which died last November.

Two other trappers were brought here from Mooseonee as crown witnesses but had little evidence to offer.



Magistrate M. Leger said in passing sentence that there was no evidence the offence was committed over a long period but he felt it should be dealt with severely.

Medical examination during the last week resulted in Sachney's wife, son, stepson and two stepdaughters being admitted to Moose Factory Hospital as tubercular, officials said.

WIDE RANGE

The iguana, a tropical lizard, has been found as far north as British Columbia.

REPORT RED BOMBERS ACROSS POLE

These photos are reportedly the first to reach the Western world showing Russia's new turbo-prop heavy bombers. At top, is the Ilyushin-38, a four-engined plane said to have a speed of 600 miles an hour, a range of 3,000 miles, and is the air-engine Tupolev-200, which resembles the American B-36. A U.S. aeronautical magazine, which produced the photos, said the pictures had come from secret areas behind the Iron Curtain and declared that more than 400 of the two models are based in northern Russia across the polar ice cap from the North American continent. Roosevelt Alimony Hearing Ends With Hot Summations

By GRAHAM BERRY

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A judge will announce within a few days how much temporary support James Roosevelt, who claims he's worse than broke, will pay his estranged wife, Romelle, who demands $1,500 a month.

A four-day hearing on the matter wound up Wednesday with her lawyers accusing the eldest son of the late president Franklin D. Roosevelt of "making false statements for the purpose of concealing his assets."

Roosevelt's lawyer said Mrs. Roosevelt will have to get along with $250-to-$400 dresses instead of $300 ones.

Judge Kurtz Kaufman took under submission the support demands and the amount to be allowed Mrs. Roosevelt for court costs and legal fees.

The support order will be effective pending trial of their separate-maintenance suits. In here, Mrs. Roosevelt, 38, accuses her 46-year-old husband of adultery, naming three co-respondents. She also filed letters signed by him stating he admitted infidelities with nine other women.

DENIES CHARGES

Roosevelt, who has denied the charges, already is paying his wife, who has custody of their three small children, $1,073 a month.

Judge Kaufman said his decision will be based on Roosevelt's ability to pay as shown by his income and disbursements for the last five or six years.

The insurance executive's financial records, introduced in court, show gross annual income ranging from $50,000 to $51,000 over the last few years and yearly disbursements varying from $40,000 to $79,000.

ANCIENT MYSTERY

SOOKE, B.C. (CP) — Skeleton of an Indian belle was unearthed near here. Her head had evidently been bound in fancy, judging by the shape of the skull. Beside the bones was found a harpoon, made of bone.

Miners Vote To Accept Small Hike in Wages

TIMMINS (CP) — Preston East Dome gold miners, on strike since July 13 for higher wages, voted Wednesday night to return to work with increases ranging from seven to 19 cents an hour.

All but one mine in the area—Broulan Reef—have come to terms with the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL).

Broulan Reef, although officially on strike, reopened shortly after the strike was called and now has two shifts in operation.

The Preston East Dome agreement will run for two years.

The union said demands for the dues checkoff had been withdrawn during negotiations in the interests of a higher increase at other mines in the community, where most companies had offers of five cents accepted by the workers.

British Firm To Build Plant In Kingston

TORONTO (CP) — Vicom and Company, Ltd., British firm specializing in radio, radar and electrical equipment for aircraft, will establish a plant in Kingston through a subsidiary, Vicom and Company (Canada) Ltd.

This was announced Wednesday by Hon. W. K. Warrender, Ontario minister of planning and development.

The firm has leased a 10-acre site and four buildings providing 12,000 square feet at the Norman Rogers airport where it is planned to establish a workshop to make sub-assemblies of electronic equipment for other Canadian manufacturers. A group of 20 technicians will be sent out from Britain.

Future plans include an overhaul installation base for marine radar and direction finding equipment on lake vessels; manufacture and servicing of two-way communication equipment for vehicles; and a motor overhaul base.

Eric Lane-Burslem, managing director of the parent firm, will be president of the Canadian company, and John McKay of Wilsonpeg, who has been in Britain for three years, will be general manager.

Makes Forced Landing

SMITHS FALLS (CP)—A Piper Cub aircraft, sky-skipped, made a forced landing near here Wednesday when it ran into icing conditions.

The pilot, Harry Oakman of Peterborough, was en route to the Canadian Pacific Railway train wreck at St. Clet, Que., 35 miles west of Montreal. A photographer, he was on assignment to take photographs of the wreck for a Toronto newspaper.

Govt. May Permit Veterans to Build On City Lots

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is planning legislation which would permit veterans to build on city lots and, still qualify for a measure of assistance under the Veterans' Land Act.

The new plan would benefit veterans who want to build their own homes and are prepared to put their own time and labor into construction. On a rough estimate, a veteran would be able to build a $10,000 home for about $8,000 or less.

Officials of the veterans affairs department are drafting the new scheme but it may be a month, at least before it is ready for presentation to Parliament. There are still kinks to be ironed out.

To qualify now for aid under VLA, a veteran has to build on two- or three-acre lots outside the city. This is designed to promote rural development but veterans say it is now difficult to find suitable small holdings within a reasonable distance of regular employment.

Since the Second World War, the government has spent nearly $100,000,000 in direct grants to enable some 60,000 veterans to settle on farms, small holdings outside cities or to take up commercial fishing. Maximum grants under VLA are $2,320 and loans are repayable at 3½ per cent over a maximum period of 20 years.

REVOLVING LOAN

Under the new scheme being drafted, veterans won't be able to obtain grants to build on city lots but low interest rate on amounts borrowed.

However, a revolving fund may be set up under VLA which would make loans available when house construction had started as the veteran could pay the sub-contractor or supplier of material.

In 1948, VLA introduced its "build your own home" program for veterans. More than 4,000 houses have been built on small holdings under this scheme. One such project is just outside Ottawa, where veterans with annual incomes in the neighborhood of $3,000 have put up their own homes at a cost of some $7,000 each. These homes now are worth $12,000 to $15,000.

Basically, this plan involves construction courses given during the winter, close supervision of construction by VLA authorities, the veteran's participation in the work and free legal advice. The big snag is the actual loan. $2,000 of a home—is made by the veterans assisting in actual construction.

Veterans officials are working along the general lines suggested last November by the Canadian Legion in a submission to the cabinet.

EDMONTON (CP) — The woman prowler who entered Mrs. Thomas Morako's home in the middle of the night rushed out side and disappeared when the owner awakened.

It was a pair of women's shoes which the intruder had removed on the back porch before entering.

"I would say that this applies to provincial legislators as well as those in the federal field."

INCREASE COSTS

He said that if the government abolished free mailing privileges for its departments and put them on "postage budgets," it would cost them "enormously." The cut would result from less material being printed and mailed to senators, commoners and others.

He urged that second-class mail rates, by increased to pay for that part of post office operations. The portfolios at various times Wednesday said there isn't such a thing as efficient government administration—federally or provincially.

Senator Thomas Crerar, former agriculture minister, writes minister and immigration minister, said in the Senate he gives that opinion of government efficiency based for his years of experience.

Senator Crerar, a Liberal, spoke during debate on a government bill to increase first-class postage rates one cent, an ounce. The bill was given approval in principle and referred to a Senate committee for further study.

He recalled that Senators Joseph Bradette (L—Ontario) and Thomas Reid (L—British Columbia) paid tribute to post office efficiency earlier in the debate.

"I submit that there is not a single member in Parliament who knows whether the post office is efficient or not. The mere fact that you are treated with courtesy when you go to collect your mail, the mere fact that the postman leaves your letters at your door in your mail box is no evidence of efficiency, not the slightest.

"I would offer the opinion after somewhat of the experience and in my declining years that there is no efficiency anywhere in government administration.

"I would say that this applies

No Efficiency In Government Administration

—Crerar

OTTAWA (CP)—A former cabinet minister who held several portfolios at various times Wednesday said there isn't such a thing as efficient government administration—federally or provincially.

Senator Thomas Crerar, former agriculture minister, writes minister and immigration minister, said in the Senate he gives that opinion of government efficiency based for his years of experience.

Senator Crerar, a Liberal, spoke during debate on a government bill to increase first-class postage rates one cent, an ounce. The bill was given approval in principle and referred to a Senate committee for further study.

He urged that second-class mail rates, by increased to pay for that part of post office operations. The portfolios at various times Wednesday said there isn't such a thing as efficient government administration—federally or provincially.

Senator Walter Hayden (L—Ontario) said the best reason for higher postage rates is that the post office department must pay its own way. The increases would allow it to balance its books by meeting the higher costs of paper boosts and establishing the five-day week.

"It was "too late" to become chary about the five-day week. It was in effect in so many industries that the government was only following a pattern.

Senator Hayden said he does not think governments or their departments, are inefficient. Some inefficiency was bound to be found because they were "human agencies."

REJECT RENT CONTROL

HAMILTON" (CP) — This city will have no rent controls after Ontario controls end March 1. City council decided, Wednesday night not to take over the controls. Mayor Lloyd Jackson, who cast a deciding vote in favor of decontrol, said rent control administration would cost the city $30,000 a year.

Britain Launches Liner to Serve Canadian Trade

GLASGOW (CP) — Britain's newest ocean liner, the 22,000-ton Saxonia, was launched at a Clydebank shipyard Wednesday by Lady Churchill.

The 20-knot, 1,600-passenger liner is the first of three sister ships designed to sail nearly 1,000 miles up the St. Lawrence river to Montreal. The Cunard Steamship Company will spend £15,000,000 for the ships, the last of which is due to enter service within two years.

The new liners are expected to help carry the flow of British emigrants to Canada and return with Canadian visitors to Britain. The Saxonia's decorations include a huge map of Canada with the names of hundreds of towns so the settlers can identify their new homes.

Norman Robertson, Canada's high commissioner in Britain, and Canadian immigration officials were among those attending the launching ceremony.

Co-op Leader Says Maritimes On Verge of Depression

AMHERST, N.S. (CP) — Msgr. M. M. Coady, one of the leaders in the co-operative movement, says that the Maritimes is in the midst of a recession which amounts almost to a depression.

Speaking to the annual convention of the United Maritime Fishermen, the former director of St. Francis Xavier University's extension department said:

"All the rest of Canada is experiencing the greatest boom in its history. . . but our present recession in the Maritime provinces . . . is embarrassing and saddening."

The solution to the problem, he said, is in indirect action—those financial and industrial changes which don't necessarily give quick results but pay off great dividends in the long run.

There were three main problems: Provision of cheap power, improved transportation and education and organization of the people, Msgr. Coady added:

"The fact is that we have not cheap power and as a consequence we have not progress. There is an intimate connection between them, as everybody knows.

EDUCATION NEEDED

Transportation also had to be improved and changes were already taking place. Msgr. Coady mentioned trucking specifically as providing quick transportation of fish to markets in central Canada and the United States.

Education and organization also was necessary although thousands of people don't approve it because "in some way or another it is a blow at their pride."

"They don't understand that in the last analysis the solution of their problems, and of the world for that matter, is the improvement of the quality of human beings. Temper their mettle and we have the tools fit for the job of social reconstruction."

But some people still preferred to trust in "horse sense," Msgr. Coady said.

"I am afraid we shall have to admit that in the long history of our own Maritimes we have contributed a sizable quota to this great army of miserable human beings."

One-Way Traffic On Yonge Street Is Proposed

TORONTO (CP)—One-way traffic on Yonge street, south in the morning and north at night, was proposed Tuesday as a means of easing rush-hour troubles.

Alderman William Allen introduced a motion in metropolitan council to apply the restrictions to the city's main thoroughfare after the subway starts operation March 30.

Mayor Allan Lamport indicated he will support the idea but he thought it should have been dealt with by city council first.

BRAINTREE, England (CP)—About 200 boys of this Essex town have entered a county agricultural school, established to offset the large number of landworkers moving to the town.

Now Possible To Own Car In Soviet Union

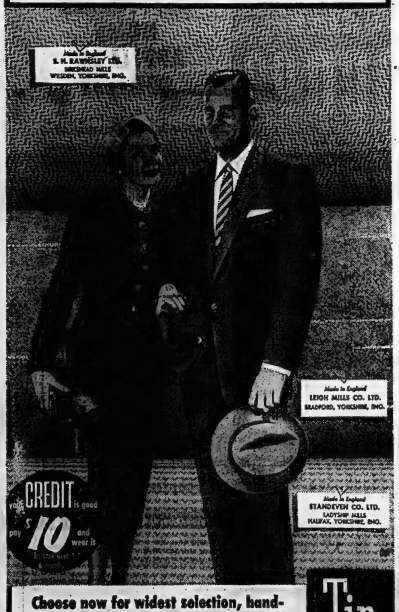
MOSCOW (AP)—Most suites in the Soviet Union still are state-owned and operated, but it's possible for a man to own his own car.

But if he's in a position to own a car, he has to wait six months or more to get one. Then he can't get licence plates until he manages to scrape together the materials to build a garage or, even more difficult, rent one. And he can't get the lumber to build a garage without official government permission.

If he somehow comes through all this, he has to pass a course in auto repairs and be able to discuss the working of an engine to get a driver's licence.

Some Soviet drivers actually make it. At last they're able to throw the family in the back seat and take a spin around the Kremlin. But if he runs out of gas, or his car breaks down, he'll find only second grade fuels available to him as a private motorist and servicing of the lowest order.

The government lately has been made aware of this state of affairs. The satirical weekly Krokodil (crocodile) says garages are being monopolized by cars belonging to government offices.



"It is nearly impossible," the paper goes on, "to convince officials in district executive committees that an automobile no longer is a luxury in the Soviet Union."

To Tour Canada

GLASGOW (CP)—Glasgow Rangers of the Scottish soccer league will tour Canada in May and June this year after all, a club spokesman said Wednesday.

He said the decision was confirmed at a board meeting Tuesday night, reversing one to postpone a Canadian tour until next year because of the possibility that one or two players might have to stay in Scotland to train with the national team.

'Restlessness' Subject of Talk At St. Paul's

By MRS. PERCY MACMULLEN

Dr. A. J. Wilson, Toronto, editor of the United Church Observer, preached the sermon on Sunday at St. Paul's United Church, Stirling.

Dr. Wilson said that the "Observer" now has a circulation of 140,000 and a readership of 420,000.

Dr. Wilson chose as his theme, "The Restlessness of the Present Age."

He felt that people living today are markedly restless and that the main problem is "whether civilization will climb to the smooth hills of peace or descend to depths of entrenched evil. Civilization is running a high temperature and the world is in a sick condition," he said.

SHORTAGE OF SILENCE

The restlessness of the present age means that meditative men are in the minority and that there is a critical shortage of silence.

He said baby sitting was a new and fearsome profession providing teenagers with an escape from the discipline of their home life.

Frustration is another of today's evils, he said. "The escalator philosophy of evolution has now given place to the philosophy of revolution. The golden days of the past have been shattered by two World Wars, which have brought death, disease and disaster to people everywhere."

EXALT EVIL

Dr. Wilson commented on the "what's the use attitude?" of many persons today. So many people live for their own pleasures and care very little about the less fortunate folks. Today's world has suffered from authors and playwrights whose stock in trade has been the exaltation of every kind of evil. They picture wickedness as reality and young people have had their evil-minded stuff set before them in films, television and read trashy books.

SYMPTOMS

The alarming incidence of stomach ulcers, alcoholism and the use of sleeping pills was cited as symptoms of the restlessness of modern man. The popular preacher of today is neither a prophet nor a crusader but a personal counsellor, he said.

The speaker noted the evidence in Canada of a growing disregard for the moral law and a trend to sidestep the issue of sin. The world today can be saved by personal witness to the teaching of Christ, he said, in challenging his hearers to make their daily lives a testament to Christ.

Dr. Wilson was introduced by Rev. A. E. Baker, pastor of the church, and was thanked by George Carlisle, clerk of the session.

EXPECTED

He suggested Wednesday night a Big Four agreement on the strength and armament of all police in Germany and the creation of all-German committees to promote relations between the East and West governments in economics, culture, science and sports.

Dulles termed these a "rather feeble fabrication" for the West's plan of unifying Germany through free elections, but agreed with Eden and Bidault to discuss the proposals today.

The Soviet plan seemed assured of a favorable impact on German opinion in both East and West. Molotov got it in ahead of the Allies' own "little solution." They were ready to suggest instructing the four high commissioners to confer on easing traffic and police restrictions between the Soviet and Western zones, but had not got around to presenting it formally.

Teamsters' Union Rejects Proposal Of 'No Raiding'

By NORMAN WALKER

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The AFL Teamsters Union today drafted a rejection of a proposed AFL-CIO "no raiding" agreement, a move expected to kill off any early prospects for a labor merger.

The "no raiding" pact is regarded as a necessary first step toward a merger of the AFL and the CIO that would put nearly 15,000,000 members in a single organization. However, the Teamsters' executive board will veto the plan.

Dave Beck, Teamsters' president, is openly ambitious to swell his union's membership, already 1,300,000. Beck also is known to believe that separate alliances between individual unions are more likely to solve union rivalries.

The expected teamsters' turndown of the AFL-CIO agreement against raiding, or the practice of one union copping members of another union, probably will defeat current moves for labor peace and efforts for an AFL-CIO merger.

President George Meany said here at the AFL executive council meeting last week that 40 of his group's 110 unions are agreeable to signing the pact. However, Teamsters' union sources said several big AFL unions, other than the Teamsters, oppose the plan.

CIO WILLING

Walter Reuther, CIO president, has said that virtually all CIO unions, except a few, with less than two per cent of CIO's membership, are willing to go along with the "no raiding" plan.

Beck is reported ready to contend that (1) other unions have more than 30,000 members belonging in the Teamsters' jurisdiction, (2) the AFL-CIO plan can't work, and (3) it is illegal under the United States Taft-Hartley Act.

The plan would require that the disputes over the right of unions to organize particular groups of workers should be decided by a neutral, but Beck is reported convinced the unions would not accept such decisions.

Drew Describes Liberal's Charge As 'Gross, Untrue'

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Drew has described as "gross, untrue and malicious" a charge by a Quebec Liberal that the late Conservative prime minister R. B. Bennett "created unemployment" in 1929 to make money on the stock market.

He demanded Wednesday in the Commons that Jean Francois Pouliot, Temiscouata, seek the approval of members to strike the reference from Hansard, official parliamentary record.

He said the statement is "the most shameless, unjustified and improper statement that has been made in the House since Confederation."

Mr. Pouliot interrupted Mr. Drew several times and in heated exchanges attempted "to defend my position." He was ruled out of order.

At one point the fiery Quebec member shouted "Sit down" when the opposition leader tried to resume his speech.

Mr. Pouliot said Tuesday night that before Mr. Bennett became prime minister in 1930 "he himself created unemployment and for a good reason."

He said that Mr. Bennett and his chief organizer, Maj.-Gen. A. D. McRae of Vancouver, each subscribed $350,000 in 1929 to the Conservative party election funds and invested the money, "speculating on the fall in price" on the stock exchanges.

Mr. Pouliot said that each time Mr. Bennett made a speech about unemployment, stocks fell in value and he made money. He said Mr. Bennett finally doubled his investment and used the money to win the election in 1930.

Hints on Farm Tractor Care

GUELPH — Do you feel that your tractor is letting you down and not giving you the proper service which you expect from it? If so, it may be that the various parts of the engine are not receiving proper care or maintenance. The carburetor may need adjustment, the ignition system may be faulty, inadequate lubrication may have caused damage to the system, valve clearance may need checking, or your engine may be overheating.

Tractor breakdowns may cause costly repairs and, during certain seasons, a serious loss in crop production. Simple and timely precautions will keep your tractor at peak efficiency most economically.

The proper care of the cooling and ignition systems, valves, carburetors and lubrication is explained in the new series of five circulars, Nos. 188 to 192, on Tractor Operation, prepared by members of the staff of the Department of Agricultural Engineering of the Ontario Agricultural College.

They are obtainable now from your agricultural representative.

Scientists at Canada's Chalk River, Ont., nuclear project are studying the possibility of generating electric power from atomic energy. The lower panel shows the Corra Linn dam and hydro-electric power plant at Nelson, B.C., an example of the source of much of Canada's present electric power. The top picture is an artist's conception of how an atomic power generating system might look. Its size (note figures of worker would be insignificant compared with the giant hydro-electric project shown below (CP Photo).

Turning Atom's Power Into Electricity One of the Aims Of Canada's Nuclear Scientists

Turning the atom's power into electricity is one of the aims of Canada's nuclear scientists. This story, last of a series of three on the government's atomic project, tells of the physicists' plans.

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHALK RIVER, Ont. (CP)—Scientists at Canada's nuclear project here are confident that within a year or so they will be designing a small reactor to generate electric power from atomic energy.

But they hedge on the possibility of electricity from atomic energy becoming an early reality.

There have been predictions by responsible persons that the atom will be harnessed for power on a commercial basis in five years. Chalk River scientists will only say that prospects are good for economical nuclear power for commercial purposes. They don't say that their proposed pilot reactor will produce electric energy economically.

CAREFUL STUDIES

The scientists base their hopes on studies now being conducted by officials of Atomic Energy of Canada, Ltd., the crown company operating the atomic project, and the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission.

Dr. W. B. Lewis, vice-president in charge of research and development, said the feasibility studies will determine how it will be practical to build a pilot reactor. With that problem solved, scientists could start thinking about the construction of a power reactor which would produce electric energy economically.

"We all hope that these studies will show the way to build a power reactor which will be fully economic," Dr. Lewis said.

"These studies will continue for a year or more before we will be in a position to make a decision on the pilot reactor."

MAY TAKE TWO YEARS

The studies, launched by a small staff of engineers and scientists, will cost about $200,000 and provision has been made to conduct them for two years if necessary.

The studies are expected to be facilitated by a recent decision of the sixth international declassification conference which met at Chalk River last April. The conference, including representatives of Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom, agreed to make more secrets on the design of atomic power plants available to industry.

One problem that must be overcome is the economical production of suitable metals for construction of a power reactor.

The principle of nuclear power generation is relatively simple. Heat is transferred from the reactor to raise steam which drives a generator. The reactor merely replaces the boiler and coal-firing equipment of a conventional electric-power station.

NEED NEW METALS

However, the usual construction materials, such as steel, are not suitable for an atomic furnace. They absorb too many neutrons—the atomic bullets released during the fission of chain-reaction process inside the reactor. This atomic process creates the heat which will be used to raise steam to drive electric generators.

Scientists now are searching for new metals which will not absorb the neutrons. Some metals, including aluminum, do not absorb many neutrons but they have a low melting point.

"We must find a metal which will not melt at the high temperatures inside an atomic furnace and which will not absorb heuttons and prevent the operating," said Dr. Lewis.

He said the best metal discovered to date for a power reactor is zirconium. Ten years ago zirconium cost about as much as gold to produce and was used only for laboratory work. It now can be produced for about $14 a pound compared with three cents for steel or 20 cents for aluminum.

The high cost of metals creates another difficulty. An economical way must be found to produce them after they have been discovered. Most of the research on metals for use in an atomic power plant is being conducted by the physical metallurgy division of the department of mines and technical surveys. At present the division is studying other metals besides zirconium.

Other problems include the availability of the atomic fuel—uranium—and the cost of mining, separating and producing metallic uranium. Canada produces uranium only in oxide form and receives the metal from the United States at an undisclosed cost.

MINIMUM FRENCH WAGE UP

CAMPBELLFORD

P.U.C. and Hydro Talk Over Power Proposals

CAMPBELLFORD — A special meeting of the utilities commission was held recently when matters pertaining to the electric power situation in the town were discussed with representatives of the Ontario Hydro Commission.

Special arrangements had been made previously to bring the representatives here to discuss various propositions. The representatives were F. A. Adsett and C. H. Luxton.

In August of last year, a joint meeting of the town council and P.U.C. was held to discuss the power situation. As a result of this joint meeting, town council sent a letter to the HEPC head office, asking for information on three propositions which were then before the town.

THREE PROPOSITIONS.

The three propositions were as follows.

1. That the corporation of the town of Campbellford purchase outright a block of power from the HEPC and continue to maintain and operate their own plant under their own rates and jurisdiction.

2. That the town purchase a block of power and come under the Hydro Act but still maintain and operate their own power plant as a municipal under the Act.

3. That the town sell to the HEPC the town power plant and become a municipality under the Hydro Act for the supply of electric power.

The third proposal that the HEPC purchase the power plant, appeared to be of little or no interest to Hydro officials. After discussing the first and second proposals at great length, it was decided that the second was what appeared to be the most suited to both parties.

Before deciding anything concrete on the matter it was decided to ask Hydro for detailed information on the proposition.

The commission accordingly passed a motion by William Whitton and Mayor R. C. Lodge was is an ex-officio member of the PUC, asking HEPC to present the second proposition at an adjourned meeting of the PUC in the board room early in April.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

THIS MAY BE IT!

The fate of the Flying Memos may be decided no later than Friday night when the Orillia Pontiacs clash with the Peterborough Petes in the Litfock City and the Oshawa Truckmen are the guests of the Kingston Goodyears in the latter's Community Centre.

The Memos, naturally, will be rooting for victories for the top-alot duo as a win for the Pontiacs and Goodyears will automatically eliminate the Dashing Doranites.

The Truckmen and Petes are assured of a playoff berth but the Goodies and Pontiacs are looking with worried optics at the eleventh-hour antics of the revitalized Memos.

As matters stand at the present the Goodyears are the more likable of the two squads to go down to oblivion if and when the Memos pull a near-miracle rabbit out of the schedule hat. For the Petes have five games to play as against three for the Goodyears.

The Goodyears have lost four of their last five starts with the lone victory, the 6-5 tussle they eked out over the Memos three games ago. Not taking any glory and honor from the Memos, in that 10-3 drubbing they suffered Tuesday night, the Goodyears looked vastly different to the team that won all-Ontario honors last year.

No matter what happens, they cannot say the Memos did not go down, or stay in, with colors flying and all guns flicking. They have played sensational hockey in their last five times out and have swept their last three outings by decisive scores.

Tuesday night's performance was par excellence, and it had to be for the Goodyears brought all the strength on the roster in an effort to clinch the berth and let the Memos battle it out with the Pontiacs. In fact, Manager Art Casterton and Coach Johnny Carr-Harris zested confidence in a two-game confab with this department and Brother Devine.

But they had not reckoned with an inspired Memos club, every member of which gave all he had in a superb performance in hand the stunned Goodyears their most decisive defeat in some time.

It was all the more creditable since playing coach 'Red' Doran, himself sidelined with a leg injury and with Jackie Wardhaugh out for the season with a fractured leg bone, was forced to use two lines in a masterpiece of juggling. From youthful Don Barclay out every member of the squad gave all he had, and they deserved every inch of the seasonal's easily-won victory.

It has and will be a long uphill fight, but fandom bereabouts, after the fine performances exhibited by the Memos in the dying games of the schedule, are rallying behind the squad in an effort to root 'em home to the coveted playoff berth.

If they are eliminated the Memos will have the consolation that they went down as "the hottest team in the group," one that proved beyond the shadow of a doubt the early and mid-season statements by this department, club officials and a large number of fans, that playing the brand of hockey of which it was capable, the team was as good as any in the group. In the latter stages it proved it was better than any.

So, the eyes of Belleville fandom will be on the Oshawa-Kingston and Orillia-Peterborough games on Friday night and a lot of fingers hereabouts will be crossed. For on the results of those tussles rests the fate of the Memos.

OLDTIMERS' HOCKEY!

Kingston will send its quota of former National Hockey League stars to the big game here tomorrow night in the persons of "Flat" Walsh, Gus Marker and George Patterson.

Dick Beare informs us that ice stars of the Quinte Skating Club will present colorful performances between the second and third periods of the game, and there will be other attractions. It looks like a night of grand entertainment all round.

Programs will be available at the arena and patrons are reminded to bring along a pencil. Numbers of the National League players will be announced over the public address system. These can be placed in blank spaces placed against the names in the program. And you won't have to worry about autographs. The programs contain a photograph of the signatures of all the players and officials involved in the game.

PLAYOFFS,

Back to hockey. Lorne Cook, OHA executive member and convener of the district senior "B" said today that the group will hold a meeting in Peterborough Monday, February 22 for the purpose of setting dates for the playoffs. The first team meets the fourth and the second clashes with the third. The original arrangements called for four-of-seven series all round but this may be changed at the Monday meeting.

Harry Lumley and Terry Sawchuk couldn't be beaten Wednesday night.

The two top goalkeepers in the National Hockey League, running neck-and-neck for the Vezina trophy and the $1,000 that goes with it pulled off their second 0-0 duel as the second-place Leafs and the league-leading Detroit Red Wings battled to a scoreless tie at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens.

The 13,081 fans that packed the Gardens may have had a Stanley Cup playoff preview as Lumley and Sawchuk kicked out everything that came their way. The tie left the Red Wings 10 points ahead of the Leafs.

In the only other game, centre Paul Ronty scored a goal and assisted on the winning marker as New York Rangers defeated Boston Bruins 2-1 at New York's Madison Square Garden. The victory moved the fifth-place Rangers to within three points of the Bruins.

At Toronto, the goalie struggle was a takeoff on the Toronto-Detroit game of Jan. 3, when the two clubs ended up in a goalless tie.

Sawchuk, the Detroit defender who has won the Vezina for the last two seasons, made 27 stops, some of them diving saves on Leaf drives. Lumley handled 33 shots.

It left Lumley with a slight edge over Sawchuk. Lumley has been scored on 51 times in 55 games; Sawchuk 55 times in 56.

The Leafs lengthened their lead over the fourth-place Montreal Canadiens to two points.

BETTY LALONDE

Attractive Betty Lalonde of Esparare, won the right to represent Eastern Ontario in the provincial ladies' bowling finals bowling held at the Sportsmen's Show in Toronto next month. Betty defeated the cream of Eastern Ontario lady keglers in the tournament held in the Bowl-O-Drome here last Saturday. She racked up a score of 1951 for an average of 213 a game. Not many of the male species could turn in a count like that.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Jimmy Welsh of Winnipeg Deer Lodge, 1947 Dominion champion, won a berth in the Dominion curling championships by defeating Gordie Taylor of Rivers, Man., 13-11 Wednesday night in an extra-end match for the Manitoba title.

The Dominion championships are scheduled in Edmonton next month.

Guelph Biltmores Protest Ruling Giving Coach Pike Year's Suspension

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

An Ontario Hockey Association ruling which suspended coach Alf Pike of Guelph Biltmores for one year without the right to appeal has been protested. The Biltmores, members of the OHA Junior 'A' series, may have found a loophole in the rule.

Pike was suspended for withdrawing the Biltmores from the ice in Toronto during a game with Marlboros last Sunday. Marlboros were leading 5-2 with less than three minutes in the game. Pike later said he was unhappy with the officiating of referee Jack Hogan.

The OHA, after reviewing the case, suspended Pike Tuesday under the rule that says "If a team or withdraws from the ice, fails to go on the ice and start play or bring on the ice for a start play, within two minutes when ordered to do so by the referee in charge, the game or series shall be forfeited to the opposing team. The manager, coach or official of the club which is responsible for any of these actions, shall be automatically suspended for one year from the date of the infraction, without the right to appeal."

It was established that Pike was responsible for the withdrawal of the Biltmores from the ice and the coach did keep it. Two minutes were also counted off before Hogan awarded the game to Marlboros but this is where the protest is based on.

NO DIRECT ORDER

The Biltmores say that Hogan didn't tell either Pike or the Guelph captain that he was starting to count off the two minutes. But the public address system in Maple Leaf Gardens blared out words to the effect that Hogan had pulled the watch.

The Biltmores apparently are arguing that they should have had a special order directed at them by Hogan and say that the referee didn't do so.

Meanwhile, the Biltmores, cellar-dwellers in the OHA Junior race, gave newly-appointed coach Swat Mason a fine welcome by edging Trois-Rivieres Reds of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association Junior league 3-2 in Guelph Wednesday night.

In other games Marlboros defeated Kitchener - Waterloo Greenshirts 6-2 in Guelph to pull to within six points of the league-leading St. Catharines TeePees and Hamilton Cubs took a 4-2 home-ice victory from the third-place Toronto St. Michael's College Majors to move into a fourth-place tie with Kitchener.

Guelph's victory over Trois-Rivieres gave the Biltmores a clean sweep of their home games in the Quebec-Ontario interlocking schedule. The game was the last of the interlocking schedule in Guelph this year.

GILLIS NETS WINNER

John Gillis scored the winning goal for the Biltmores five minutes before the end of the second period. Hillary Menard and John Muckler notched the other Guelph goals. Jean Cossette scored both for Trois-Rivieres.

Wally Maxwell, Gerry James, Jack Blonda and rookie Bob Pulford shared the Toronto scoring. Gord Onotsky and Howie Glover, both former Marlboros, scored for Kitchener.

In Hamilton the Cubs led St. Michael's all the way. It was the seventh win for the Cubs in their last nine games and their third in a row.

Lyndies Win Tenth in Row In Germany

COLOGNE, Germany (CP) — Toronto Lyndhurst leave here today for Stockholm and the world hockey championships with 10 straight European victories to their credit. The West German national team fell 6-3 beneath the Canadians' onslaught in an exhibition game here Wednesday night.

Only one more test remains in Lyndhurst's warm - up exhibition tour which started with their only European loss in Paris last month. They last that one 11-3 to a team of Canadians from English leagues.

In Wednesday night's contest, Lyndhurst slammed in four goals in the first period and went on to win easily over the Germans with 7,000 fans looking on.

The losers covered the gap with single goals in the first and second periods but the Canadians got two more goals in the finals to clinch the victory.

Northern Electric Hockey Playoffs

The deciding games in the semi-finals for the Northern Electric hockey title were played over the week-end with the Jerks and the Minos struggling to meet in the finals by virtue of their 5-0 and 4-3 wins over the Elbow Benders and the Buzzers.

The Jerks took their series with the E.B.'s, two games to one while the Minos did the same with the Buzzers.

The Jerks had little trouble taking their game as Belmgo, Locke, Wardaugh, P. Jones and Thurso scored without an answer. Assisted went to Belmgo, Wardhaugh and Jones.

The second game went into overtime before the Idols, led by Dave Jones carried home the decision. Jones had three goals and one assist while MacDonald notched the odd marker.

Decked out in two of the Buzzers goals with Bell picking up a pair of assists and Day the third goal.

ALLIE HOLDING OUT

NEW YORK (AP)—A matter of something like $2,500 is keeping big Allie Reynolds from signing his 1954 New York Yankee baseball contract.

The eight-hander conferred for more than two hours Wednesday with assistant general manager George Weiss on the negotiations.

"We're not too far apart," Reynolds said afterwards, as Hamey nodded agreement.

The veteran pitcher is reported asking $40,000 while being offered no more than the $37,500 he is reported to have received last year.

Marathon Runner Willing To Sacrifice Job to Take Part in British Empire Games

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — James Henry Peters, a thin, incredible Englishman, says his "whole life" revolves around getting Vancouver this summer for the British Empire Games.

"I'll forfeit my pay to get there, or even resign my job," says Peters, on his record one of the world's great distance runners, perhaps one of the all-time greats.

Here are some of the things that are incredible about this master marathoner:

He trains like a commando. This summer, at 35, plans to cover more than 2,000 practice miles, running twice a day through the mandatory of putting one foot after another sometimes "bores me to tears."

QUICK SUCCESS

His record is unusual. He ran his first marathon only three years ago, and went straight to the top, outlasting everybody except Czechoslovakia's mighty Emil Zatopek. Though there are no official marathon records, Peters is credited with six of the 12 best times for the 26-odd miles, including the fastest.

He is an "emotional" athlete, rejecting conventional methods. He can't pace himself at the start, so he starts sprinting off like a maniac," running five-minute miles till he is free of frost, then settles to sheer guts and stamina to keep him going to the end.

In those long-testing last laps, he keeps telling himself:

"This is my last race, I'm through with this lark. Just let me finish this time and I'll pack up the foolishness. I can't watch it."

Peters is practically a sure thing to represent England at Vancouver. If he doesn't make the team he'll quit running, because it would inevitably mean he'd passed his peak. If he does go, he'll run both in the marathon and in the six-mile event. He predicts records will be set in both races.

EYE OF VICTUALS

His present training schedule is geared to take in both the Empire games and the European championships at Berne, Switzerland, about a month later, but it is the Canadian title he really wants. After that, he hopes for another crack at Zatopek in the 1956 Olympics.

He ran against Zatopek at Helsinki in 1952 in the one bad race he has ever run. Since then he has twice eclipsed Zatopek's Olympic time, his best mark being two hours, 14 minutes and 34 seconds. This was also achieved in Finland and was five minutes faster than the Czech's time—but he admits that doesn't necessarily mean he would beat Zatopek in a rematch.

The Olympic flame of amateurism burns brightly in Peters. Born in London's drab east end, a rail-way foreman's son, he works a 5½-day week at an optician's for less than £1,000 a year, spends 3½ hours daily travelling to and from work and does his running in his spare time.

"I force myself to keep on running, even in this cold weather," he said during a break for tea at his office in Chesham, Surrey. "I don't feel up to it my wife makes me go. Sometimes I'll be bad-tempered if I don't stick to my schedule."

ON BORROWED GEAR

His wife Frieda and six-year-old son Robin are chiefs of the man who started serious running in 1946 on a pair of borrowed spikes.

"We've been married 16 years," he said. "Frieda knows running is part of my life. Anyway she knows she's not going to get me to come home Saturday afternoon—if it wasn't running it would be football."

Even in cold weather Peters goes outdoors in nothing more elaborate than a track suit. Sometimes he wishes life were a little softer.

"You know, we don't get off big at all. Athletes like Zatopek, on the other hand—well, I imagine he's a pretty pampered chap."

This feeling of scanty justice probably lay behind a speech Peters made to a gathering of sport writers.

"Please don't degrade us," he said. "You can count on one thing—we'll train till our eyeballs fall out."

Jimmy Slade Wins Over Clarence Henry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jimmy Slade, a speedy fellow with a real knockout punch, upset Clarence Henry Wednesday night in a closely-fought 10-round bout.

Slade, outweighed by 7½ pounds to Henry's 167, won one judge's card and 98-91 on the other. Referee Harry Reynolds scored it a draw at 94-94.

Henry, 198, of Los Angeles, never got untracked against the speedy Slade's powerful attack. Once, in the ninth, he caught Slade with a right during the upper hand, but Slade came back with a fourth in the 10th to seal the decision.

There were no knockdowns.

The victory was a real vindication for Slade, the Norfolk, Va., lad who lost a split decision to Harold Johnson, the No. 1 lightheavyweight contender, in his last outing.

Henry, in semi-retirement for 18 months, had won both his efforts handily since re-entering the ring.

ARRANGE TITLE BOUT

The contract calls for a return bout within 90 days if DeMarco wins.

The bout will mark the ninth title defence for the 30-year-old Carter, who won the championship from Ike Williams in 1951. In his last defence, he knocked out Armand Savoie in the fifth round at Montreal last Nov. 11.

DeMarco, 26, is ranked fourth in the lightweight division.

Defending Champ Retains World Skating Title

OSLO (AP) — Defending champion Hayes Alan Jenkins of Akron, O., outskated teammate Jimmy Grogan of Colorado Springs, Colo., Wednesday night to capture his second straight world figure skating championship.

The 19-year-old Jenkins, holder of the North American and United States titles, put on a brilliant performance to win the title after another young American star, Tenley Albright of Boston, had tied for the lead in the competition for the women's title she won last year.

The victory for Jenkins was almost a duplicate of the 1953 man's finals at Davis, Switzerland, where Grogan also finished second in competition with the world's finest figure stylist, Jenkins finished with 173.28 points, compared with 173.22 points for Grogan.

A 41-year-old French lady, Alain Gilette, finished 5th, while fourth place was awarded to David W. Jenkins, Hayes' 16-year-old brother. Another fancy American free skater, Tommy Litchenberg, of Long Beach, Calif., was fifth.

CANADA SEVENTH

England's Michael Booker was sixth, and Canada's Charles Snelling finished seventh.

Miss Albright, who took the world crown last winter at Davos and followed this up by winning the North American and U.S. figure skating titles for women, held a clear margin in the compulsory calculations.

She appeared to have an easy victory over Germany's Gundi Busch, 19, recent winner of the European championship.

Third place was still a tossup between Hungarian Cristan d'Orsy onto and Erica Batchelor of England.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—The time has come around again to spread the alarm that Ted Kluszewski, Luber and son, have a Kentucky Derby horse, and that Eddie Arcaro has promised to ride it for them May 1 at Louisville.

This combination up to now has batted exactly 1,000 in the three-year-old stakes. Four times Arcaro has straddled a Calumet colt trained by Ben the elder and son Jimmy, and each time the world's richest jockey has trotted him back to the winner's circle.

Last year, for a heartening change in the family statistics, the Jones boys and Calumet passed their hand, not believing they had a horse good enough to win the Native Dancer. But now they are back with a $7-60 on one Judge's card and 98-91 on the other. Referee Harry Reynolds scored it a draw at 94-94.

Henry, 198, of Los Angeles, never got untracked against the speedy Slade's powerful attack. Once, in the ninth, he caught Slade with a right during the upper hand, but Slade came back with a fourth in the 10th to seal the decision.

There were no knockdowns.

The victory was a real vindication for Slade, the Norfolk, Va., lad who lost a split decision to Harold Johnson, the No. 1 lightheavyweight contender, in his last outing.

Henry, in semi-retirement for 18 months, had won both his efforts handily since re-entering the ring.

Dusky Duke's ran only once last year, in April, and didn't do any good then. The Jones boys started turning him loose only recently and in Canada.

After a few trial spins, the newest Calumet threat came up to lose by a nose. Since then he has run away with three straight races, including the Bahamas Derby. The race stretches out to a mile and one-eighth, the first distance on the Kentucky Derby route, and should indicate how far the colt likes to run.

FAMILIAR PATTERN SEEN

Rival horsemen already are saying they see a familiar Jones pattern in the Duke's recent development. "If there is one thing you can be sure of," one of them said, "it is that the colt will be at his absolute peak on the day the Kentucky Derby is run."

As it looks now, the Jones boys and Calumet have won the last two Santa Anita derbies. Hill Gail took it two years ago and went on to win the sixth Kentucky Derby victory for the Joneses before going lame. Chanka won last year, but suffered a quarter crack and never reached Louisville.

Brantford Sox Put Tabs On Four Players

BRANTFORD (CP) — Brantford Red Sox of the Senior Intercounty Baseball League have placed four players on their negotiation list, Qualification list.

They are Frank Colman of London, Ont., former major league outfielder and player-coach with Brantford in the 1955 Intercounty League last year, Harry Dalton of Windsor, and Ken Galand and Doug Gosslin, both of Toronto.

The Intercounty League established a negotiation list ruling in 1954 and Brantford was the first team this year. Each team may hold up to 10 players on the list at one time and other teams in the league are not eligible to sign those players.

Colman, traded by Toronto to Chatham early in the winter, was reported to be in line for a job as manager of London Majors.

They are second baseman Al Cihocki, who played with Cleveland Indians of the American League, and two pitchers who played with Cleveland Indians of the American League. Both managed to play with Toronto in the International League last summer but couldn't be located by the Leafs, Dewey Williams, who pitched for Toronto in the American Association last year, and Billy Galicia, a Cuban pitcher in the International League.

Maroons Edge Hamilton 3-2 In Senior Tilt

CHATHAM (CP) — Chatham Maroons edged Hamilton Tigers 3-2 in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior A game Wednesday night.

The win had no bearing on the Maroons standing, since they clinched sixth and last playoff spot last week-end, but it prevented the Tigers from climbing into third place ahead of the idle Windsor Bulldogs.

Following a 1-1 deadlock at the end of the first period on goals by Lee of Chatham and McGinn of Hamilton, play got rougher and rougher.

Joe Carveth scored at 17:46 of the second to give the Maroons a 2-1 margin.

In the third, Bill Lee potted his second to give the Red McLagan drove a long shot that beat Hamilton netminder Bannon and cut the Chatham edge to 3-2, the final score.

Only Canadian Heavyweight Champ Not Interested in Boxing Any More

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — A twinkling-eyed, ruddy-cheeked little man who won the world's heavyweight boxing championship, owned a pub, operated a speakeasy and was an added attraction in a burlesque show, is "just starting to work real well." He's 73 years old and his life work as an evangelist is spreading universal love.

The man: Tommy Burns, born Noah Brunso in the little southwestern Ontario town of Hanover June 17, 1881. He adopted the name Tommy Burns years ago when he knocked out a man in a Detroit ring—"he didn't appear to for three days"—and his mother asked him to quit fighting.

"I changed my name and continued fighting because I didn't want my mother to know about me," Tommy said in an interview, "but, frankly all my life, from the time I was a youngster, and I look back and see what a fool I was, I love God."

Now, the only Canadian to win the world's title isn't interested in the boxing game any more, although he admits he looks at the fights over television "once in a while." "I've got something better to do and that is love for my fellow-man. My main object in life is to help the sick and the suffering."

BOXING VICIOUS

Tommy, in Toronto as a guest of the Ontario Sports Writers and Sportscasters Association annual celebrities dinner Thursday night, carefully steers the conversation from his boxing career. He says boxing is "vicious and full of hatred."

His ring career started in 1901, when he went to a fight at Detroit. A boxer didn't turn up, Tommy volunteered to go in the ring, knocked out his opponent in five rounds and received $1.25 for the effort.

He took up the game seriously then, won the world title with a 20 round decision over Marvin Hart at Los Angeles Feb. 23, 1906, and lost it to the great Jack Johnson at Sydney, Australia, Dec. 26, 1908, when police hopped into the ring and mercifully stopped the bout in the 14th round with Burns badly beaten.

"And the power of hate when I fought Johnson," Burns said. "I hated him so much that I beat myself and hate nearly put me in my grave because I took a terrible beating.

QUIT WHEN 38

He campaigned around the world after that and his last bout was in 1920—when he was 38. He was knocked out by Bill Beckley in London in seven rounds.

Tommy blossomed out as a pub owner in London a few years later, operated a speakeasy in New York in the '30s, was an added attraction in a burlesque liter on and "got religion" in 1935 after a severe attack of arthritis.

"Doctors sent me home to die, but Tommy Burns refused to die," he said. "With the power of thought I qualified with love I was better in two months."

His "real work" started then and Tommy, now living in Coalings, Ont., has devoted his life to his work.

Wellington Bows To Cambellford By 9-4 Score

CAMPBELLFORD (Special)—Overcoming a first-period two-goal deficit Campbellford's entry in the Trent Valley Hockey League went on to defeat the Wellington Dukes by a 9-4 score here last night.

The Dukes scored twice in the first, half of the opening period, but the homesters rallied to bang home four without a return to take a 4-2 period lead.

Wellington staged a stiff offensive in the second heat, scoring twice in forty seconds to knot the count. Again the home team rallied to fire three goals, while holding the Dukes off the scoresheet.

Campbellford notched the only two tallies in the third period, Wilson, Harrington and Doolher looked the best for Campbellford, with Scott, Bryant and Mulvihill starring for the Dukes.

Herrington, Campbellford player, was hurt in the third period and was carried off the ice for repairs following a stiff, but legal body check. The game was cleanly fought.

Ontario Bonspiel Curlers Reach Semi-Finals

TORONTO (CP)—Pete Gilbert of Chatham, a two-time trophy winner in Ontario bonspiel play, is aiming for his biggest prize yet in the annual competition sponsored by the Ontario Curling Association.

Now he's heading for the Royal York Trophy, top prize in the 37th annual bonspiel. He has two sons —Gordon and Bob—in his rink to help him.

Gilbert, Ontario champion last year, defeated M. V. Knowlson of Detroit 10-8 and eliminated John Grant Jr. of Unionville, by the same score to advance into the semi-finals of the Royal York event.

Other semi-finalists in the premier event are R. K. Metcalf of Toronto Royals, C. Lovelace of Brantford and V. Mathewman of Toronto Granites.

Metcalf made the semi-finals by downing G. C. Tedhope of Parry Sound, 10-8, after an extra end in the morning draw and topped D. W. Durrie of Toronto Granites 9-8 in the evening game.

BRANTFORD 10, TORONTO 9

Lovelace led his Brantford rink to a 12-7 victory over Ken Miles of Toronto High Park in the morning and defeated Cliff Cassidy of Toronto Royals 10-4 later in the day.

Mathewman Wednesday bested Gerve Meeks, last year's winner of the Royal York, 9-8 after an extra end sift from discard of J. W. Wyse of Toronto 9-8.

The semi-finals for the Brier Trophy, second top prize in the bonspiel, were also reached.

Semi-finalists include Don Holden of Oshawa, who ousted Charles Booth of Huntsville, and Andy Grant of Orillia, who edged out and defeated J. G. Lumb of Kingston.

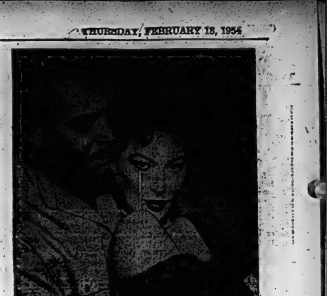
NAGUIB ARMS SUDAN

CAIRO (Reuters)—President Mohammed Naguib announced Tuesday night that Egypt will give Sudan defence forces five training planes, arms and equipment for 1,000 men on the occasion of opening of the Sudanese Parliament March 1. The announcement coincided with the Sudan government's decision to send two ministers to Juba in the south following reports of anti-northern demonstrations and threats by tribesmen.

Sport in Brief

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim Norris and Arthur Wirtz, after many weeks of financial transactions, have become sole owners of the Chicago Stadium and subsidiaries, it was learned.

The subsidiaries include Chicago Black Hawks hockey team, the International Boxing Club of Illinois, the Hollywood Ice Revue starring Ottawa's Barbara Ann Scott and several lesser amusement operations.



Norris and Wirtz purchased the interest of Bruce and Marguerite Norris, brother and sister of Jim Norris, in Chicago Stadium and subsidiaries. In turn, Bruce and Marguerite purchased the holdings of the other two in the Detroit Olympia and Detroit Red Wings hockey team.

Bruce, 29, has been a vice-president of the Black Hawks since last July, a development that followed the death of his father, the elder Norris, by more than a year ago. He now will become president of the Red Wings, a position taken over by Miss Norris after the death of her father.

Bruce will represent the Red Wings on the board of governors of the National Hockey League in assuming many of the duties that have fallen to Jack Adams, Wings' general manager.

AT THE BELLE—Clark Gable and Ava Gardner find the pitfalls of falling in love, almost as dangerous as their adventures with the wild beasts of the African veldt in "Mogambo," M-G-M's thrilling Technicolor drama held over at the Belle Theatre. Blond Grace Kelly is seen as Miss Gardner's rival, in the flaming Jungle love feud, filmed on location in Africa. John Ford directed. "Posse Cat", a funny Tom and Jerry color cartoon is an added attraction.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON

An expert bridge player with a fast mind can twist an opponent into a pretzel, nothing fanatical simply by legitimate application of obvious acts at the psychological times.

There was the deal shown here:

♥ A K 6 4 3
♦ 10 8 5 3 2
♣ Q 2

WEST — EAST

♠ 10 9 6 4 3 2 — ♠ Q 8 7
♥ 9 — ♥ 10 9 8 7 5
♦ 9 6 — ♦ A
♣ K J 9 7 — ♣ A 10 8 6

SOUTH

♠ A K J
♥ Q 2
♣ 5 4 3

South can make five diamonds if given the timing for it. Or opponents can down it two tricks if they grab their two clubs and lead a heart before declarer catches his breath.

Instead of going to five diamonds, however, south rammed it into a contract of three no-trump. This he did after he heard north say he had support for this minor suit.

There it stayed and down it would go if opponents take their four clubs and the diamond ace. However, when this deal was played, west elected to start out with an opening lead of a spade.

East went up with the queen and south did something that looks crazy. He dropped his jack of spades on the trick. He did it with quick thinking and without any seeming hesitation.

Realizing clubs and diamonds would defeat him, south wanted east to keep his mind away from the minor suit. He wanted east to believe the spade suit was what south had to fear.

Dropping his spade jack on east's queen gave east the impression south hoped to leave. When you stop to think of it, what else could east assume under these circumstances.

So, east returned a spade which south took with the ace. The jack drop and then taking the next trick with the ace completed the hoax. It gave east the impression that west had the spade king.

Thus, when south lost a diamond to east, back came a spade. South won with the king and ran diamonds and three hearts for nine needed tricks. Foxy play saved the day.

CAPITOL

In Thrilling Color

"THE DIAMOND QUEEN".

The adventure and intrigue behind the story of the famous Hope Diamond are promised in the Warner Bros. production in color, "The Diamond Queen", opening at the Capitol Theatre for its first city showing. Fernando Lamas, Arlene Dahl and Gilbert Roland star in the action drama.

The picture is the story of swashbuckling Jean Baptiste Tavernier, the "Marco Polo of France," first Frenchman to explore India, who later returned to France with the diamond that became the captains of the crown of Louis XIV. This is the role played by Fernando Lamas, a made-to-order swashbuckler with colorful and thrilling story episodes.

An actor in his native Argentina before he rose to meteoric fame in Hollywood, Lamas is teamed romantically with Miss Dahl with whom he has been making romantic headlines off the screen as well.

Arlene Dahl, whose interests outside of Hollywood include a thriving lingerie business, plays the role of a woman whose beauty brings an empire to her feet. Gilbert Roland, also playing a romantic part, comes to "The Diamond Queen", following his success in Warner Bros.' "The Miracle of Fatima."

Ten acres of jungle were built for "The Diamond Queen" under the supervision of Art Director Eugene Lourie who has spent part of his life in India. In addition, sumptuous palaces were construc-led for interior scenes including a marble swimming pool sized bathtub where Lamas, in the film, first comes upon the lovely Arlene Dahl.

On the same program, in color by Technicolor: "Vengeance Valley" starring Burt Lancaster, nominated for best acting honors of 1953.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY, FEB. 19, 1954

March 21 to April 20 Aries — Today could be favorable to your activities in many ways if your efforts are adequate. Forethought and discretion are needed. Don't overexpand in any matters.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) Carelessness could bring loss, perhaps needless domestic differences. Your big thought should be to concentrate on the plausible and worth while. Seek knowledge always.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) Make a special effort to be true to your ideals during this somewhat uncertain period. Initiative and originality will bring results. Don't waste energy.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Generous influences prevail during the hours between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Business and private ambition are on the favored list now; but be astute, think keenly.

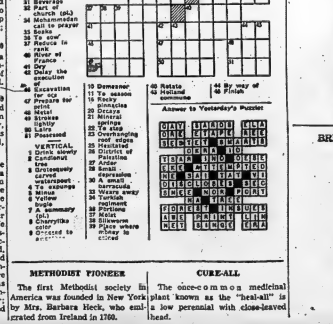
July 4 to August 23 (Leo) — Personal and professional matters share the better aspects today. Keep a steady pace and you will achieve goals more easily. Romance, marriage social affairs are favored now.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo) — Watch outside trends. Don't rely on hearsay or depend on "guesses." Technical and engineering interests, financial, business activities should progress.

September 24 to October 22 (Libra)—New contacts, better business possible for some time. Good results obtainable if you work to the best of your ability.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Possibly some loss through others indicated. You may feel cold to suggestions but being unresponsive will only aggravate differences. Avoid reckless money, personal or property risks.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Co-operation with associates will bring extra benefits now. You need not forget your individuality in your motivation's good. Take care in travel, legal matters.



December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Day may demand new action, new ideas for you to handle creatively. Take leadership in affairs that touch you personally; aim to raise your credits.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Express thoughts in a clear, concise manner and, if understanding obligations, be sure of the terms. Facts are essential. Don't try the impractical.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—You may be presented with propositions which seem vague. Don't accept without study, advice. Some excellent influences for familiar duties, industrial, military tasks.

YOU BORN TODAY can be splendid teachers, can do well in a scientific field. You have an innate desire for learning and are willing to impart your knowledge to others. But keep prodding yourself on to high goals, and never permit a careless or easy-going life to engulf you. You can be successful in a truly big way in any occupation for which you are trained, and especially if you like it; should be a sound consultant; can be considerate with money though are not miserly. Birthdate: Nicholas Copernicus, famed Polish astronomer; Adelina Patti, vocal singer; David Garrick, Eng. actor and dramatist.

IN NO DANGER OF STOMACH ULCERS

Elektro, the mechanical man built in New York, is human to the point of developing bad habits. He walks, talks, follows directions, can play the piano and can discern different colors. The smoking habit is something he just picked up, on urging from Jeanne Dowling. Elektro has one capacity that flesh and blood humans don't have—there is nothing in his constitution that allows him to worry. (Central Press Canadian).

Thomasburg

THOMASBURG — There was a fair attendance at afternoon service in Christ Church on Sunday.

Fifty-one children attended the United Church Sunday school, Next Sunday the staff hopes to have an even larger attendance, due partly to the absence of young people, several of whom attended the Young People's rally at Foxboro.

The recent meeting of the C.G.I.T. group, under the leadership of Miss Shirley Mayers, took the form of a coasting party on the hill in Thomasburg. Tweed C.G.I.T. were guests for the evening. After the fun at the hill refreshments were served at the schoolhouse.

Sympathy is extended to Miss Shirley Mayers and her family in the sudden passing of her uncle, Mr. W. J. Birdie of Belleville.

Mr. H. K. Morton has been impanelled as a juror to attend the Supreme Court sitting in Belleville.

The epidemic of 'flu has passed its peak. A short time ago many in Thomasburg were on the sick list.

Mrs. A. Jones, who was a patient in Belleville General Hospital last week, has returned to her home and is progressing favorably.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Adams and Mr. and Mrs. T. Emerson were guests for supper on Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Wilson.

Mr. C. E. Richardson, Stirling, was a caller on Monday at his mother's home in Thomasburg.

FINISH STUDY OF COMET

LONDON (AP)—Three top officials of Japan Air Lines flew home Monday night after 2½ months in Britain studying the Comet II airliner. The airline has placed an initial order for two Comets for the Tokyo-San Francisco run. The service opened last week with an American-built DC-6, but the Japanese plan to switch to Comets next year.

STASSEN, RHEE CONFER

SEOUL (AP)—Harold Stassen, director of the United States foreign operations administration, conferred today with South Korea's President Syngman Rhee. Prime Minister Paik Too China, who sat in, said Stassen and Rhee discussed general economic plans to fight communism.

Stomach Upset, Had Aches And Pains—Tells of Relief

Got Awful Gas, Distress In Pit of Stomach, Headaches, Backache, Dizzy Feelings; Tells of First Real Relief by Taking Syntona.

"For four years I suffered with stomach trouble and at the first real relief I've had has come through taking Syntona," said Mr. Hank Meisenmaier, R.R. 1, Bear Lisa, Ontario, in a recent statement.

"I would get awful gassy pains in the pit of my stomach, and sometimes the pain would go up in my stomach giving me indigestion, heartburn and a sick nauseated feeling. Often my stomach was upset for days at a time. I was subject to dizzy spells and throbbing headaches and more recently rheumatic pains set into my back, limbs and muscles.

How It Helped Him

"I was trying one thing and another without getting any better, so when I read about Syntona I began taking it and undoubtedly this is the best medicine I've had for stomach trouble. It cleared up the gassy condition of my stomach, stopped my food from souring and relieved the heartburn. After awhile the aches and pains and headaches went away and I could enjoy all my meals. I feel better now than I have in years."

Has Helped Thousands

It is no exaggeration to say that Syntona has helped thousands of men and women all over the country in the same way. Made from 12 of Nature's Finest Herbs and Roots Syntona is particularly helpful to sufferers from the following conditions: Stomach upset, gas, intestinal bowels, and associated rheumatic pains, nervousness, and tired, rundown feeling.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville by Dolan The Druggist.

Big Four Parley's Long Fight Over, Winner Undecided

Depends on What Happens In Paris, Geneva in Spring

Woman Killers Like to Watch Victims Suffer

LONDON (AP)—A Scotland Yard murder expert declared Thursday that woman is indeed the more deadly of the species.

"Men generally kill quickly and mercifully," Cmdr. C. H. Churchill-Smith, head of the Yard's criminal investigation division, told a meeting of the Royal Empire Society.

"When a woman decides to kill someone she usually plans carefully and just sits for weeks watching her victim suffer terrible agonies before dying, without any compassion or pity at all."

Legislature Will Receive Report On Election Laws

TORONTO (CP) — A legislative committee which has studied election machinery in Ontario for two years submits its report today.

The committee has listed its observations and recommendations in a 15-page report.

A change is submitted in a $200 deposit by election candidates. No deposit is necessary now, the purpose of the recommendation is to cut down on the number of "nuisance" candidates. Considerable opposition to the recommendation is expected.

The committee, headed by W. H. Collings, Progressive Conservative member for Toronto Beaches, also recommends that instead of 100 polls-clerks, only the required nomination papers.

A 45-day period between the issuing of the election writ and the polling day instead of the present 37 days in summer and 40 in winter, is also recommended.

The committee has also suggested that candidates be allowed 10 live cars on election days and that campaign workers be allowed to vote.

ID OVER HIGHWAYS

Thursday Premier Frost and Liberal opposition leader Farquhar Oliver sparred over the question of alleged irregularities in the highways department.

Mr. Oliver called for a royal investigation to investigate "scandals . . . such as exist in this department."

"I suggest that until these suggestions are proved erroneous we should expect the question of the people of Ontario to see if there is fire behind the smoke."

The opposition leader suggested three courses: "Do nothing, employ by the government of the day a group of consultants to investigate and report, or call a legislature committee probe or a royal commission."

"If there ever was a set of conditions for a probe by a royal commission this is it," he said.

Almost Certain Canada to Attend Geneva Parley

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada will "almost certainly" attend the Korean political conference at Geneva in April, official said today.

However, no definite decision will be announced until cabinet has met at the earliest. External Affairs Minister Pearson returns in Florida on a 10-day holiday and won't be back in Ottawa until next week.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synoptic: Today will be mostly cloudy with spring-like day over all of Ontario as the mid-February thaw enters its final week. Afternoon temperatures in all sections will be around the 50 mark or higher again today.

Saturday's weather will be determined by the future course of a centre of low pressure located over Kansas. Current charts indicate an easterly track for this disturbance, and this will bring rain into southwestern counties tonight, and up into the lower lakes region on Saturday.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

BERLIN (AP) — The Big Four foreign ministers have concluded 36 hours and 18 minutes of dignomatic battling at their Berlin conference — and the winner depends on what happens in Geneva and Paris this spring.

The Allied powers' conference which the four ministers agreed to open in Geneva April 26 may determine whether Korea will get unification and a real peace, and whether fighting will end in Indo-China.

The French National Assembly also may determine whether the European army containing German divisions is to be created. A project Russia fought to the bitter end in the Berlin conference and which still is the keystone of United States plans for the defence of Europe.

Those were outstanding among the issues at the heart of the grinding arguments which John Foster Dulles of the U.S., Anthony Eden of Britain, Georges Bidault of France and V. M. Molotov of the Soviet Union pursued for four weeks here.

OTHER QUESTIONS

There were at least two other questions of critical importance:

1. Is Russia ready to roll back the iron Curtain, even a little?

2. Are the Western powers ready to accept a compromise settlement over the Chinese mainland—more than one-sixth of the earth?

The Berlin conference answered both questions with a resounding "No."

The ministers held six restricted sessions and 22 that were fully publicized. It was the first Big Four foreign ministers' conference in five years.

The arguments, including private talks between Dulles and Molotov on atomic energy, turned on six major subjects:

The West said this was the conference's major business, and Eden proposed for all three a unity plan beginning with free all - German elections under U.N. four and next an anti-sniper treaties. Molotov agreed that West Germany's elected government should be free, but vigorously rejected Western moves to establish a half-sized international army and basement to hold elections and negotiate a peace treaty. He also called for the near withdrawal of all foreign troops from Germany, but the Western powers rejected them back.

PLAN CALLED TRAP

Molotov turned down the Western plan, the West called his plan a trap to create a Communist German army and a defenceless western Europe.

European Security

Molotov called for a 32-country 50-year European security treaty excluding the U. S. from Europe. He said it was designed to wreck Western plans for rearming West Germany in the proposed European Defence Community. The West said European security needs both east and west rests on the North Atlantic Treaty and the EDC, and rejected Molotov's plan.

Canada's Army and RCAF Move Fast To Pin Down 'Invaders' at Sept Iles

By BOB JOYCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VALCARTIER, Que. (CP) — Canada's army and air force moved swiftly today to pin down enemy forces attacking Sept Iles, Que., in Canada's winter manoeuvres.

As paratroopers of the 2nd battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment, most of them native-born veterans of Korean fighting, prepared for action, bombers and troop-carrying aircraft sped towards northeastern Canada to battle the attackers.

On the attack, an imaginary enemy strike from the north, the first "invader" was the Canadian Regiment, from London, Ont., dug in at Sept Iles airfield, on a main road to Montreal and 630 miles from Europe.

Job of the defending forces in exercise Loup Garou—French for werewolf, is to capture the airfield some 250 miles northeast of Quebec, and retake possession of the town of 7,000 persons, also important as the railhead for Labrador iron, soon to become a strategic item in U. S.-Canadian steel production.

The mutual attack, reported here as having taken place Thursday, drew quick action from the army's Quebec command.

As soon as local ranger units, composed largely of woodcutters from the area, radioed that the attacking RCR's had landed in force at Sept Iles airfield, Quebec command called on Canada's tactical air command at Edmonton for help.

The defenders had already been on a war footing for several days. Ten days ago, they were told that they would be sent to Labrador to avoided Greenland.

Then Sept Iles asked for help. B-25 Mitchell squadrons (406 city of Saskatoon and 418 city of Edmonton squadrons) and 426 Thunderbird squadron from Dorval, Que., were ordered to Quebec from Montreal to take on the airborne defenders.

The exercise, directed by Maj.-Gen. J. P. E. Bernatchez, officer commanding, Quebec command, and Air Commodore S. W. Coleman, officer commanding, tactical air command, Edmonton, is one of the biggest winter warfare exercises staged by the army and air force. Some 2,000 combat troops are involved.

DISCOVER LOOT IN GRAVEYARD AT FORT ERIE

Policeman, 2 Others Held in $10,800 Theft

TORONTO (CP)—A third man was arrested early today in connection with the theft of $10,800 from an insurance firm employer and "several thousand dollars" has been recovered from a hiding place in a graveyard in the heart of Fort Erie, Ont.

A police officer and a protection agency employee previously had been charged with the theft and police had been hunting a third man believed to be the one who posed as a policeman and who matched a brief case containing the money from a messenger minutes earlier while escorting her to a bank.

Police said the third man, Peter Mason, was arrested today in Fort Erie, 20 miles south of Niagara Falls, by constables William Webb and John Broadley of Fort Erie police.

He was later taken into custody by Det.-Sgt. Police Herman Lamb of the Toronto suburb of Swansea and Inspector Ted Symons of the Toronto police department.

TOMBSTONE YIELDS LOOT

Earlier from Buffalo, Erie and Toronto, acting on information, the source of which police did not disclose, searched St. Paul's cemetery on Niagara boulevard in Fort Erie. They recovered what they said was "several thousand dollars" in a brief case in a tombstone.

The money was discovered after several hours of intense search of the 100-year-old burial ground.

Mason has been charged with theft and possession of stolen goods. He was taken back to Toronto from the Niagara peninsula city at 10:30 a. m. today.

The men previously arrested are Frank Pringle, 25, and police constable Terry Thomas, 25, of the Swansea police. Thomas was assigned to escort Eleanor Randington to the bank but arrived at the insurance office of Prudential Insurance Co. about five minutes after the robbery.

Miss Randington said her boss telephoned the suburban Swansea police station and asked for an officer to escort her her last Tuesday. When she was ready to take the money to the bank.

Soon after, a "police" man wearing a blue uniform arrived and the girl set off with him for the nearby bank. She said the officer told her he was going to take the money. Then he told her to get out stepped into a car which was double parked near the bank.

MONEY FOUND BURYING

When Constable Thomas arrived and was told of the incident he telephoned headquarters and reported the robbery.

He, too, in uniform and the police case and cheques were found in a theatre. The $8,300 in cash was found in the graveyard.

Thomas has been a member of the police force for the last two years. Prior to that he was a guard at the Don jail for six months.

A native of Birmingham, Eng., Pringle has been employed by the department there before coming to Canada. His wife joined him in England for the Coronation and is believed to still be there. They have no children.

President Says Banks Have No Large Pool to Aid Housing

OTTAWA (CP) — A spokesman for one of Canada's chartered banks said today the banks have no large pool of savings deposits available for mortgage lending.

E. R. Atkinson of Montreal said it would be "wrong" for anyone to conceive that a substantial proportion of the banks' loaning funds can be made available for mortgages under the government's new housing legislation.

He is president of the Canadian Bankers' Association and vice-president and general manager of the Royal Bank of Canada. He, appearing as a witness before the Commons banking committee, he said that he spoke only for the Royal Bank.

He criticized the legislation as containing certain features "not entirely favorable from a banking standpoint." The legislation, which would allow the banks to enter the mortgage-lending business for the first time in history, had been proposed, he said, without prior consultation with the banks. But they were co-operating with the government and would make "every effort" to give the plan a fair trial and make it work.

Though the banks would help to make the scheme work, the committee must understand that deposits received by the banks were virtually payable on demand.

The chartered banks understood they would be the last to use the mortgages as security for loans from the Bank of Canada. But such loans were urgently were short and "the Bank of Canada is confident "it is not the intention that the central bank should carry for an indefinite period these mortgages as security for loans to banks."

LOANS TO BANKS

(Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, told the committee Thursday that the central agency usually makes loans to chartered banks for a couple of weeks. The banks at the moment but loans usually are not extended for that length of time.)

Mr. Atkinson said there appears to be a view in some quarters that banks have a very large pool of savings deposits which can be made available for mortgage lending.

"I think I should point out that it is a misconception. It is true that the savings deposits of the banks aggregate something of the nature of $2,000,000,000, but that is not the net idle.

"Essentially it is on loan to commerce, industry and individuals engaged hand and in governments and municipalities . . . and to the banks' holdings of securities on the other hand.

"Bill 102 (the housing bill) will simply not give the banks more than the employment of funds. The banks must decide what percentage of their funds can be so channelled into this new avenue."

St. Laurent Sees Khyber Pass On Pakistan's Wild Frontier

PESHAWAR (Reuters)—Prime Minister St. Laurent arrived here by air tonight from Karachi for a brief visit during his global tour to this capital of Pakistan's Northwest Frontier province.

Before leaving the capital he recorded a broadcast to the people of Pakistan which followed a press conference Thursday night in which he said he feels as much at home among the Moslem people of this young Asian state as in his own capital.

Peshawar, capital of the northwest frontier province, was today's host to him. A drive was planned from there to the Khyber pass before going on to Lahore, where he will be the guest of the governor and Mrs. Faqir Khan.

The prime minister told a large group of Karachi newspaper men at the governor-general's residence Thursday night that he appreciated the warm welcome given him on the first Asian stop of his tour. He felt at home because Prime Minister Mohammed Ali of Pakistan had been in Ottawa three years as high commissioner, and the first prime minister of this state, Liaquat Ali Khan, had visited him in Ottawa.

SHOELESS IN RAIN

The Canadian leader stood shoeless, a Moslem custom, in the rain Thursday as he placed a wreath at the grave of Mohammed Ali Jinnah, who died from an assassin's bullet, and Mohammed Ali Jinnah, founder of Pakistan.

Then he spent the day in talks with government leaders here before holding the evening press conference.

He told the Moslem newspaper men that the warmth of his reception here showed "we are all of the same human nature."

"Some of us may think we are more advanced than others. But the whole thing started in Asia, where four or five civilizations have been built up, one on top of the other."

Police Believe Car Theft Ring Is Smashed

TORONTO (CP) — Police said Thursday night they believe they have smashed a car theft ring that reached across Canada.

They arrested John Koval, 40, owner of an automobile body repair shop in west-central Toronto, in the charges of receiving and theft.

Police who made the arrest said they believe that during the last two years the ring has sold at least stole vehicles in Toronto, changed their color and chassis, then sold them as used cars in the Niagara peninsula.

Detectives said they traced cars across the province. They recovered several vehicles.

Police said the stolen cars were sold through newspaper advertisements at an average price of $1,500.

Throws Chisel Through Window Of Treasury Dept.

VICTORIA (CP) — An elderly woman, asserting that she had been robbed of thousands of dollars by the British Columbia Government, threw a piece of two-inch pipe and a cold chisel through a plate glass window in the legislative buildings Thursday.

Police Constable Mrs. Alice May Dodge said the amazing affair happened. No one was hurt when the pipe and chisel shattered the window and showered glass over a British Columbia treasury department.

Police said the woman, who was tottering incoherently when she was taken to the police station, refused to give the reason for the attack.

Ritchie, Jacobs Are Set Free By Windsor Court

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Donald Ritchie, who told authorities he knew who killed Pearl Jacobs and Rev. Reuben in 1948, has been freed on a total of seven charges ranging from a charge of attempted murder to theft.

He walked out of Essex county court Thursday a free man after Attorney-General Leslie M. Frost dropped said evidence at the ex-parte hearing and announced the special arrangements between Ritchie and the United Automobile Workers (CIO) Thursday. Inducement for Ritchie to make statements to police was declared inadmissible under Canadian law.

Ritchie, in a statement signed before Warren county crown attorney Gerald K. O'Brien of Detroit, had named his uncle, Clarence Jacobs, as the triggerman in the abortive attempt on the life of the UAW and CIO president.

Judge Albert J. Clarion dismissed the extradition proceedings against Ritchie and Jacobs. During the hearing, United States authorities had sought permission to take the two men across the border for a trial in Detroit.

As a result of the Windsor action, the prosecuting Detroit case against Jacobs and three other men in connection with the shooting apparently has ended as Ritchie had been regarded as the star witness.

Jack Conway, assistant to Reuther, said the United Automobile union promised to pay Ritchie $25,000 in three instalments for providing a statement. The first instalment, $5,000, was paid.

HOUSE MEMBERS WANT SECURITY FOR THEIR WIVES

Coldwell Wants Fund Set Up Out of Pay

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliamentarians want some financial security for their wives, should they be described as "among heroines."

Speakers of all parties said Thursday that MPs' pay-a session should be extended to provide for widows, if it can be arranged within not additional cost to the taxpayer.

"We will be a member of Parliament does other than serve this country well," said CCF leader M. J. Coldwell, who died last June.

He suggested that all members contribute to a fund "out of which widows of members who have served this country well could be provided for."

The wife since during study of a measure amending the present Parliamentary Pension Act. The Bill, given second reading—provides that the maximum pension for MPs will remain at $3,000 a year despite an increase in members' pay to $10,000 from $8,000.

Without the bill, the pension would increase to $3,750 as the pay is linked to the parliamentary indemnity which was doubled to $2,000 from $4,000 earlier this year. Members also receive a $2,000 non-taxable allowance.

GIVES MUCH TIME

J. H. Ferguson (PC—Simcoe North) said the parliamentarian gives freely of her time and energy to help her husband. "Any man who is worthwhile he dies his widow is aided at the door of the poorhouse."

Hazen Argue (CCF—Assiniboia) suggested a pensioned member be given a choice of taking a smaller pension during his lifetime if it were continued for his wife if she survived him. Such a plan could be worked out without increasing the cost to the government.

Acting Prime Minister Howe said that proposal would put a strain on the pension fund. A similar arrangement for the widows of judges had been "very satisfactory."

However, the government would be willing to consider a plan covering widows if it were on a contributory basis. Mr. Howe said he had supported the present pension scheme. It had been worked out in the first place by private members.

Leon Crouse (Social Credit leader, said he would support a plan for retirement no extra cost to the treasury.

And Mrs. Ann Shipley (L—Timiskaming) said the widow of a member, year, said she hopes members will form a committee to study the idea. Figures would be available if left for widows when MPs died.

Dealing with other features of the present pension plan, Mr. Howe said members must serve longer to qualify for the maximum $3,000 pension.

Under the present plan, in effect for a year, members qualify for $100 annual pension after six years of sessions. Some have qualified with 14 years' service, since sometimes more than one session has been held in a year. Mr. Howe said it would still take 14 years.

Members elected to three Parliaments become eligible for a part time Senate appointment. After a year, up to a maximum of $4,000, the government pays him salary payments. The annual pension is two-thirds of a member's contribution.

Life On Hundred Million Planets Probable Says Harvard Astronomer

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
NEW YORK (AP) — We are not alone in the universe, for there probably are hundreds of millions of planets suitable for high forms of life, says the famous Harvard astronomer, Dr. Harlow Shapley.

The life on some of them may be far superior to humans, he writes in a new book, "Climatic Change," published by Columbia University. And we should admit, of course, that the astronomers, physicists or other organisms on other happier planets may have far surpassed the terrestrial brains that have been developed ever to presume that homo sapiens is the final evolutionary masterpiece.

And corvus americanus (ravens or crows) are the best that biochemevolution has so far produced on this earth.

No earth-sized planets have yet been detected around other stars, because the stars are too bright and planets too small to affect the motions of their stars by present measuring methods.

Dr. Shapley says Mars is the only other planet in our sun's family which might have life of some kind.

Bathing Birds' Feet Is His Occupation

SPRINGFIELD, Ont. (AP)—How is this for an unusual occupation?

Dick Patton, 13, said he bathes birds' feet on a busy downtown street corner at night.

The company for which Patton works operates a grocery-automobile building ledges to discourage birds from roosting. The birds become entangled in the goo and fall to the sidewalk. Patton's job is to capture the birds, wash the goo from their feet and send them on their way.

On four hours Thursday night Patton attended about a dozen birds, washing their feet and treating their toes. He said it takes about five minutes to spruce up a sparrow or starling. Pigeons take longer.

Common Sense Still Best Guide In Driving

"Aside from all the laws and regulations governing traffic, common sense is still the best guide for safe operation of a motor vehicle," says Belleville Chief Constable J. W. Frobisher. "Every driver doesn't have the same ability or the same attitude or knowledge, but most drivers have one thing in common—a desire to avoid becoming the victim of an accident!

"Sometimes I say they have the desire, but whether they take the common-sense precautions which are necessary to avoid accidents is another matter.

"Obedience to traffic laws is just the first step towards safe driving conditions. Any vehicle, individual attitude, physical shape and mental state constitute variations determine whether a person is a good or bad driver.

"It is not unusual for a reference comes in for a great deal of abuse and I, for one, fortunately, good natured, especially if he has to call an unpopular decision against the home team, and as police officers we fall heir to the same criticism as all others are compelled to enforce the rules of the road.

"The fact that a summons for going through a 'stop sign' court leave a motorist's life seldom occurs to him.

"He just walks away with merely shifting into second a dozen times which convinces him of his special immunity from accidents. But sooner or later the law of averages catches up and one day the price he will pay for merely shifting into second will be out of all proportion to the summons which reminded him that he was breaking the law.

"Traffic safety is not a game of the motorist versus the police," says Chief Frobert. "Our job is the conservation of human life. Whether we accomplish this through enforcement of laws enacted for the protection of everyone or through appeals to the common sense of the public, the results are the same.

"I am sure that drivers who take chances with so-called minor infractions are cheating nobody but themselves, their families and their fellow man!"

Gerry Flurey Wins Scholarship, Given High Post

Gerry Flurey, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Flurey, 10 Pine Street, has been elected senior representative of the faculty of Applied Science and Engineering on the 1954-55 executive of the Alma Mater Society of Queen's University's student government.

The position at senior faculty representatives is one of four from which the next president of the student government is chosen.

Gerry was awarded recently the Wesley and Margaret Gerow scholarship of $100. The scholarship is provided by Mr. Stanley George of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, to a third-year engineering student from Prince Edward, Hastings or Northumberland counties of Ontario, and was taken as an active part in extra-curricular activities.

Gerry has been representative of the Faculty of Science on the Queen's Journal, the student newspaper.

Mr. Gerow was born in Prince Edward County and went to school at Massanoga, Albert College and Queen's. His mother was born in Northumberland and his father was born in Prince Edward County. That is why the three counties are named as conditions in the awarding of scholarship.

Stirling Wins Juvenile 'C' Group Title

Stirling's smart little juvenile "C" team won its group championship, and the right to enter the OMHA playdowns last night when they defeated the Campbellford team by a 8-5 score in the latter's arena.

The game was played before a large crowd but the soft watery ice was anything but conducive to good hockey.

The Stirling team won the playoff round 26-9 and will meet the Wellington team in the first round of the OMHA playdowns. Date of the first game of the goal-to-go round has been postponed due to weather conditions.

Paced by Hermiston who scored three goals and the McGee brothers, Stirling grabbed a 5-3 lead in the first period after Campbellford had opened the scoring. They outscored the locals 5-1 in the second period and second the only marker of the thirg heat.

Play quietened somewhat in the third period when the teams tired and tempers frayed. Seven penalties were handed out in this frame by the officials.

Hadley and Bill McGee each scored twice for the winners with McMurrry and Scott getting single-counters. Gerry led the losers with three goals with Doobey and Fields accounting for the remaining pair.

Ald. C. D. Tice New Chairman Recreation Com.

At the inaugural meeting of the Recreation committee, held in the council chambers on Thursday evening, Ald. Claude D. Tice was elected as chairman for the coming year. All members including Mrs. W. H. Gander, Ald. Bryson Reid, Frank Grandiane, Don McNevin, Lieut.-Col. A. E. Geen, William VanTassel, recreational director, Lloyd "Hoot" Doran and secretary-treasurer Drury Denyes were in attendance and the organization looks forward to what will be a successful season in recreation.

The vice chairman of the committee will be the past chairman, William VanTassel, while Drury Denyes will again act as secretary treasurer. Frank Grandiane with Lieut.-Col. A. E. Geen will compose the Public Relations committee, Don McNevin with Ald. Bryson Reid the Maintenance and Equipment committee, Mrs. W. H. Gander and William VanTassel the program committee and William VanTassel and Mrs. W. H. Gander the personnel committee.

It was decided that the committee will meet on the first Friday of each month, with the first immediately with the district representatives of Community Programs branch of the Department of Education, Charles Muir, will educate the chairmen of the committee in this city and strive for the betterment of every facility available both for children and adults.

THANKED FOR HONOR.

The new chairman thanked the members for the honor conferred on him and hoped for co-operation of the members, that the coming year would result in a greater number of the citizens enjoying the privileges provided by the committee in the way of recreation. He thanked the recreational director for his direction and the amount of work that he has done in since elected to the position.

William VanTassel, retiring chairman, thanked the committee for their co-operation over the past two years. He requested organizations in the city to get behind the recreation program, "because" he said some have not been pulling their weight. The speaker, stated more action by groups, because piling the work on the recreational director, "did not give him time for organization of different activities, that should be part of the recreation program. The committee can organize, guide the work but if his time is taken up with clerical work, he can not devote the time to other matters that really requires his attention. He pointed out the older citizens club, formed last year, which is making wonderful progress.

Mr. Grandiane, who for many years, has headed the minor baseball organization, paid a tribute to the recreational director. "He has been the driving power of strength in the done an excellent job but he cannot do it all alone" said Mr. Grandiane. The speaker stated he would be unable to take the chairmanship of this organization another year, but hoped it would prosper and grow with the years and that baseball would take its place it once enjoyed in this district. Over the past week part in the program last year and the committee should strive to have at least 500 this year.

It was decided that as many members that wished to go should attend the Ontario Recreation Association convention to be held in Peterborough on April 30th, May 1st and 2nd and that the dues to this Association be paid.

Flood Troubles Still Remain As Weather Mild

TORONTO (CP)—Flood troubles remained in parts of southern Ontario today as weather man forecast a mild milder day than Thursday with a probable high of 38 degrees.

Rain was predicted for late today or early Saturday.

The flood woes left in the wake of a sleet and snow storm that swept the southern half of the province Tuesday and Wednesday. The storm blanketed Cornwall with nearly 30 inches of snow and resulted in traffic on busy Highway 2 coming to a halt for several hours.

Snowplows opened both lanes of the highway in the Cornwall district Thursday night. Hundreds of trucks and automobiles that had been stranded in the area streamed through the eastern Ontario city in either direction. As the city continued to dig itself out, it announced the reopening of schools closed for the last two days.

One of the hardest-hit flood districts was the village of Churchville, 15 miles northwest of Toronto. The community of 200 persons estimated damages at $100,000 after chunks of ice 30 feet across crashed down from a dam on Credit river and smashed into stores, automobiles and homes. Residents of the damaged homes evacuated before flood waters advanced, found temporary shelter with neighbors on higher ground.

Tommy Leslie, Churchville fire chief, said a huge layer of ice on another dam 3½ miles upriver showed signs of cracking.

Name Belleville Man 4-H Clubs' Officer

EDMONTON (CP)—K. S. Manning of Toronto was elected president of the Canadian Council of 4-H Clubs at Wednesday's concluding session of the 23rd annual meeting.

Among the vice-presidents is J. E. McArthur, Belleville.

Curling Club To View Films, Elect Officers

Despite the fact there is no curling rink in this city, those, who enjoy the pastime, meet from time to time, to renew friendships and figure ways and means to start a program, that will lead to a rink being erected in the city.

The Quinte Curling Club will held its annual meeting at Kilwanis Centre on Tuesday evening, when the election of officers will take place and plans laid for a few weeks of curling at the Memorial Arena, when the hockey season is concluded. The club has used the Arena for the past two years and a real good time has been the result. Last year a successful bonspiel was held and this year, if enough time is available, the spiel will be held. At the present time the Club has two trophies for annual competition and it is hoped a third one will be added.

Since the last year's operation, a number of curlers have taken up the sport in the city and the first question asked by them is what is the city doing about erecting a curling rink in the city?

At the meeting on Tuesday evening, two films on curling will be shown, the first the Brier competition last year and the second the curling in the Toronto Winter Carnival. Both these films are in color and excellently edited and have proved worthwhile wherever shown.

It is to be hoped that a large number will be in attendance. The members of the club are asked to contact anyone known to be interested in curling and bring them along. A good time is promised.

TAX RATE IS UNCHANGED

Belleville's tax rate remains unchanged — at 70 mills.

Some ratepayers will be disappointed. Others—and they will include those who know most about municipal problems—will be pleasantly surprised.

Municipalities, like private business firms and individuals, have been facing a steady increase in their "cost of living." The inflationary spiral may have been checked, but it has certainly not been reversed. Under the circumstances "holding a line" is a noteworthy achievement.

Critics may argue that the line has not been held, that while the tax rate remains unchanged estimated expenditures have increased and that a resultant increase in taxes has only been avoided because of an increase in assessment, and because of the availability of a surplus from last year's operations.

That, however, is just the point. The assessment has increased because Belleville has grown and the growth of the city has made necessary a growth in services, for which the ratepayers must pay. It is happily true that, in time, ratepayers may reasonably expect to benefit in lower taxes as a result of this growth.

But such a benefit should not be expected immediately. Indeed, some of the more extensive services made necessary by the city's growth involve heavy expenditures. Councils of growing municipalities which manage to make the additional revenue from increased assessments cover the cost of additional services have reason to congratulate themselves.

DO NOT DRENCH PEDESTRIANS

One of the most insufferable forms of discourtesy, unfortunately, is that to be heyday in the mid-February thaw. As winter starts sluicing its way to the storm sewers it is inevitable that streets will become slushy and pot holes in roads and low depressions in gutters will fill with dirty water. It is also just as inevitable that the thoughtless motorists will come sailing through these muddy pools at 30 miles an hour or faster.

And the ensuing bow wave inevitably rises higher and is thrown farther in direct proportion to the speed of the car drenching those unfortunate pedestrians. To contemplate such conduct is to too true that this form of public insult so infuriates its victims that quite often they fail to notice the license number of the offending vehicle. This failure, of course, allows the boorish motorist to continue his disgusting practices without the reprimand of the law or his fellow citizens.

Sometimes, of course, a pedestrian is soaked accidentally by a passing motorist who, if he knew of the accident, would be horrified. But the fact remains that the victim is just as drenched in either case. The only remedy is for motorists to proceed slowly and with great consideration on wet pavements when pedestrians are on nearby walks.

ST. LAURENT MEETS AN OLD FRIEND

Names in the news change quite rapidly, at times, and it is possible that many Canadians had overlooked the fact that the name of the prime minister of Pakistan, Mohammed Ali, is the same as that of the man who spent three years as high commissioner to Canada.

That fact, he is the same man.

It seems to us that, in selecting a man of the prime minister's calibre to represent it in London, Pakistan paid Canada a high compliment. We hope that, while he resided amongst us, Mohammed Ali was sufficiently impressed with Canadians to take home with him a high regard for their rude but sturdy world. That he has a high regard for our Prime Minister we have little doubt for, regardless of political affiliation, most Canadians will agree that the statesmanship of the Prime Minister here creates a favorable impression of the nation he represents, wherever he may go.

A WORTH-WHILE SUGGESTION

When Arthur Jolley, Progressive Conservative member for Niagara Falls, moved the address in reply to the speech from the throne in the Ontario Legislature on Tuesday, he made one suggestion which should receive support from the members of all parties.

Mr. Jolley urged that the various levels of government "go easy" in taking over good farm land for various projects.

Many a farmer knows from experience how such projects as new highways or new hydro lines can handicap him in his operations. True, he gets paid for his land. But money is not everything. And, if the individual farmer is just as rich, the country is certainly poorer if a road is built on good land when it could easily have been constructed on useless land.

Nobody should expect that governments will be able to avoid expropriating additional farm land for other purposes as the province grows. But we have a right to expect that adequate study will be given to this problem and that such expropriations will be kept to a minimum. Proper planning in this field can pay big dividends.

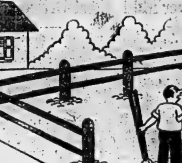
TO A BOY CALLED SISSY

Heart-broken, frightened and ashamed,
"They call me sissy!" he exclaimed;
"If one with them I wouldn't be,
They said they'd make it rough for me;
Should be be your boy, and he may,
What is his father would you say?



Were he my son I'd have him know
It's easy to the gang to go.
But calls for courage not to fight;
And when it's done for hate or spite.

Not be the weak one, night or day,
Who from what's shameful turns away.
Better it is to walk alone
Than as a hoodlum to be known
It's easy to submit to wrong,
But to refuse needs will-power strong.

Slay clean of hand and heart and mind.
Be thoughtful, courteous and kind.
Always the good from evil choose,
The easy way of gangs refuse.
Regardless of what hoodlums say,
You'll be the man! the stanies, they.

Are Teaching Home Builders

(Ottawa Citizen)

In the field of co-operative housing, St. Francis Xavier University at Antigonish, Nova Scotia, deserves promoted the building of several small communities. Father Coady, Father D. S. Patrick's College aspires to rival the achievements of the Extension Institution. Father F. A. Marrocco, head of the social science department with the Canadian Catholic Conference, interested the college in starting study groups, and 34 rural couples are building homes in the Lakeview Terrace subdivision of Middleton. Marrocco expects 500 more to follow suit saving half the cost of $4,000 houses, and the movement spreading to other Ontario communities.

The weakness that has hampered not a few groups that have undertaken co-operative housing projects in Canada is insufficient preparation. Dr. Patrick Colege, like St. Francis Xavier, therefore emphasizes pedagogical study, and provides the courses. When properly trained, the home builders can do much of the construction work themselves, and they have mastered the economics of home ownership. Bulk buying of supplies helps keep costs down. The boundless enthusiasm of "do it yourself" by this procedure, for not many of those who need better accommodation have the time, skill, and desire to do the work. But it can be measurably relieved.

Co-operative housing is of more than material value. It promotes self-confidence and independence, and at the same time provides the satisfaction of a shared enterprise. From the common interests and the common effort may develop happy communities. Home building under this plan is an admirable type of "social action."

Head-Hunters' Technique

By Elizabeth McK wes, London Record

According to his latest travel book, Amazon Head-Hunters (Robert Hale, 12s), a camera, or "magic black box," scared Lewis Collow of all the peoples through the land of the Jivaros, or Amazonian head-hunters. In the same way as his little black bag makes it possible for a doctor to enter unmolested through the upstairs water-front slums of Westminster.

This does not mean that all the Jivaros he encountered liked their photographed. Some did, others did not. But a photographer was unlikely to be attacked for faithfully shot-guns for shrunken heads, like the other white men who had penetrated the Brazilian jungle to their settlements, or Jivaria. Lewis Collow was welcome.

Lewis Collow has made three trips to the land of the Jivaros since 1940 and these visits form the main subject of his book. The photographs he took appeared in magazines all over the world, and the motion pictures he was able to shoot were released under the title of "Head-Hunters."

The interesting and shuddering thing about the Jivaros is that, as most civilized people are concerned, is first of all a race of Amazonian savages cut off from enemies heads, shrink them to the size of a fist and then preserve them, and secondly, how they do it. Mr. Collow has devoted much to both these questions in detail, illustrated with protographs of the whole process involved and related with a number of explanatory figures and charts of the route of the various tribes and clans.

The origin of head-hunting lies as far back in the history of the Jivaros as the Jivaros' own. Old feuds are never forgotten, even though their origin may be lost, but the blood-debt must be remembered by either clan.

Two clans may "bury the lance" for a short while, but it will certainly be taken up again in a few years' time. The feuds never die out because every male child of the tribe is taught by his father that it is his sacred duty to kill a member of the clan of the enemy in order to bring peace to the wandering spirits of his own relatives.

The greatest chief of them all explained to Lewis Collow: "He told me (Utitiaja, the chief, is talking about himself) that the most solemn duty would be to take blood revenge against those who had killed members of my family. I can still see him, seriously, slowly, almost sadly, with great force.

"If I fail in my duty and fulfilled all obligations to the spirits of my dead family, I would have to suffer the most humiliating, and longlife. If I failed my crops would spoil and I would become poor; because the spirits of my relatives would be angry and would bother me. I have had a good life because I have always performed my duty as the head of a man."

Utitiaja, by the way, had collected 36 heads when Mr. Collow first met him, and 56 by the end of the book.

Most of the feuds were at one time or another started either by the witch doctors or by the chief, the only two men in the community like the Jivaros, women are always in demand, as cooks and servants and wives, as well as mothers. "Men need several wives to be rich. They explained Utitiaja, "and if they cannot find them in friendly clans, they will come to fight for women."

The witch doctors initiate feuds, because it is their job to find someone responsible for the death that may befall his tribe. The great chief Peruche died of a snake bite on the way back from visiting his best friend, a neighboring chief.

Peruche's days of living in a trance, drinking only narcotic mush money could be raised.

What Price Moustaches?

(Windsor Star)

How much is a moustache worth, if anything? This is in process of being estimated in a court case in Tennessee. A barmany 's suing a doctor and a hospital for $15,000. During an operation on an opponent part of his body a moustache was shaved off his upper lip. The skin was left in such condition it won't produce another one.

Many men wouldn't wear a moustache if paid to do so. Others go to great pains to develop one. This often is the case with young men, with down on their faces which they hope will develop into manly whiskers (even if they must shave off down for the remainder of their lives). They think it's evidence of virility or something.

Most men who wear moustaches think those add to their appearance; lend distinction or, at least, prove their masculinity. Thus the moustache assumes an importance and value to the wearer which it does not intrinsically possess.

Whatever the Tennessee man thinks his worth, the value usually is over-rated. Few men with two small children, who never had seen him without a moustache, were plagued by mother and his wife to shave it off. They wanted to see what he looked like, face-to-face.

In the secrecy of the bathroom he finally did the deed, and his family didn't even notice the difference. This deflated his ego, and his belief in the importance of a moustache.

Individualist In True Sense

(Montreal Star).

There were some who called the late Sir Ernest Benn an eccentric. He was a publisher who read and edited his own manuscripts.

These very incomplete descriptions of him are more due to the fact that he was, above everything else, an individualist in the broadest sense of the word.

He fought against the trend in the modern world which led toward conformity. The only people he ever encouraged were those who believe individualists who felt as he did were to be die-hard lovers of freedom.

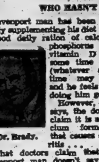
Something of the man's flavor can be found in his barbed comments on the business of government, which, he declared, "Only rose to fame from inside the British House of Commons."

"Politics is the highest form of the science of double crossing," he declared. "The art of looking for trouble, finding it whether it exists or not, diagnosing it wrongly, and applying the wrong remedy."

The modern system of budgetfreezing consists of deciding how much money governments can get from looking around to see how much money could be raised."

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK



In a large cities, you have to go to those slightly depressed residential areas, to get it pointed out to you to find a really good, old-fashioned hardware store.

But a real old-fashioned hardware store, I mean the kind that has barrels of flour and kegs of nails suspended and dangling out in front.

Known, in the dicer residential districts, you can hardly tell a hardware store from a drug store, or a real estate office. Never, is anything put out on view to catch the eye. The modern displays of these highly respectable representatives of trade are simply not in fashion.

Sometimes the windows are given over to a severe display of guns, in a severe case. Other times, you might see a very small display of sporting doorknobs and a sprinkling of conservative pale bronze door fixtures. You would think it was Tiffany's.

But down in the older and more seedy parts of the city, where people live over the store, the side streets are full of little houses burrowing with population, where you can't tell a hardware store, you can see it a block away. Its front is

Dr. Brady.

DISTINGUISHING PATTERNS

What a beautiful earth on which we live! What a multitude of patterns all about us. A sheer white sand on Springtime, and then Summertime. There were patterns in all foliage. Each leaf, each flower, each rock, each ocean wave, each bird and animal, each cloud formation.

Why are there six points to the snowflake and to the star opal? And why are there equal petals to flowers of the same class? What distinguishes the human face and in everything created in nature? Why is the spider's web always the same construction, and where did that spider get his ideas? The world of patterns is endless.

There is hardly a pattern of man that he has attempted to use that didn't have its origin somewhere in nature. There are patterns of nature than in all the books and libraries. There are the patterns of the sea, the ever-changing patterns of all knowledge. There are even patterns to the human face as to the patterns of this earth.

There are patterns in houses, too, from the cave dwellings of old and uncivilized to marble palaces. All crystal formations have interested me. Take the rock crystal and other semi-precious rock formations, how perfectly they are in age, are to be found in the geological formations of earth.

What a relationship there is to the patterns of nature and of our star! How many a flower has the rainbow touched and left its imprint! Glisten in the sunlight on the dew-covered grass are those words of patterns reveals, though they smile ever so briefly.

There are patterns in the flight of birds, in the garments of animals, and in the soft song of wind-swept trees. There has a language all its own, as silent as that of the blind, but there is significant. All the old and inspired prose have patterns all their own.

PUTTING EFFECTS BEFORE CAUSES

A man confessed recently that when he was a child, he believed the wind blew because of the flapping of the branches of the trees.

We smile at such ignorance. Yet many adults are putting effects before causes in the same manner which we smile at. Only it is not amusing when adults do it.

There is far too much of the wide-spread feeling that the reason why some people have plenty of this world's good and others very, very little is because of an unjust economic system which continues to grinds the faces of the poor. No economic system is perfect. Nothing is perfect in this imperfect world. But most people have as much success in life as they are willing to purchase with effort and persistance, qualities of both the mental capacity and their good judgment.

Fifty years ago we were assured that the reason why we had criminals was because we had slums. That slums were the cause of crime. There is no doubt, and slum clearance is one of the beneficent movements of the days. But let no one believe that when the slums are cleared there will be no criminals. Some of the worst criminals to-day are coming from apparently excellent homes.

A great deal of the world's bad mistakes arise from the fact that people misjudge effects and call them causes. They think the world has been bettered by the tipping of the branches of the trees.

Slash in Price Drive to Pick Up Customers

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has sliced the price of wheat on the western board by seven cents a bushel in a drive to pick up more customers in Europe.

Trade Minister Howe said Thursday in the Commons that the move will result in the sale of more Canadian wheat. But the price shift, while "realistic," is not permanent. It may be changed next spring when Great Lakes shipping is reopened.

What the government has done, in effect, said Mr. Howe, is lower the price at the Lakehead so buyers can get wheat as cheaply at Montreal and Halifax as they can at Vancouver.

Previously the differential was such, that Vancouver had a slight price advantage. More wheat was currently going out of that port than last year.

The price at the Lakehead now is $1.78 a bushel in Canadian funds for No. 1 northern, compared with $2.03 at the opening of the crop year last August. The price at Vancouver is about $1.85 and at Churchill about $1.87.

The price at Halifax is the same as at Montreal—$1.79 a bushel plus 31 cents freight, a total of $2. The Canadian wheat board, which represents the growers, absorbs the freight cost between Montreal and Halifax. This move was made somd time ago to attract customers to Halifax.

BIG SURPLUSES

The United Kingdom, Canada's best wheat customer, declined to sign the new International Wheat Agreement last year, because the top exporters, Canada and the United States, insisted on an IWA ceiling of $2.05 (U.S.), rather than accept Britain's offer of less.

Heavy surpluses both in Canada and the U.S. and lagging buying interest in overseas countries steadily pared the price. Meanwhile competition for markets between Canada and the U.S. has been increasing.

No sooner did Canada announce her price change earlier this week than the U.S. immediately boosted her east-coast export subsidy to make American wheat prices competitive with Canadian.

Opposition Leader Drew initiated the wheat discussion in the Commons when he asked Mr. Howe for an explanation of the price change.

Mr. Howe maintained that the new prices "are not really a lowering of the prices." It had been the government's policy to price wheat the same in all three marketing points—Vancouver, Fort William-Port Arthur and Churchill, Man.

"Owing to higher rail rates within Canada and lower ocean freight rates outside of Canada, the effect of that policy has been that the Vancouver rate has been very much lower than the Fort William rate."

LABORITE RAPS U. S.

LONDON (AP) — The United States was denounced by Labor member Eric Fletcher in Parliament Wednesday for sending tanks to Spain before meeting the needs of NATO allies. Fletcher called American policy "obnoxious and perverse." Selwyn Lloyd, minister of state for foreign affairs, rejected Fletcher's suggestion that Britain make formal representations to Washington, declaring: "We know the U. S. government has fully in mind the requirements of NATO allies."

Indo-China Talks Plan is Obstacle To EDC Approval

PARIS (AP) — The Berlin conference's promises of Indo-China peace talks has posed a new obstacle to speedy French action on the hotly disputed European Army treaty.

Following Big Four agreement to meet again April 26 to discuss prospects for peace in Asia, even the supporters here of the European Defence Community face this dilemma:

Should they (1) press for the national assembly to ratify the army treaty at once, as the United States wants, and perhaps so anger Russia that she would not use her influence with the Chinese Communists and the Communist leaders of the Vietminh rebels to stop the war in Indo-China; or

(2) Delay the assembly vote on the army treaty until after the Geneva conference on Korea and Indo-China, and run the risk of the U.S. congress cutting off all important aid to France on the "agonizing reappraisal" State Secretary Dulles has threatened.

The conservative, neutralist afternoon newspaper Le Monde, an all-out opponent of EDC, probably sounded the rallying cry for the army plan's supporters when it said it proclaimed Thursday night:

"Solution of the Indo-China problem is a prior condition to the ratification of EDC."

This was one of the few times this argument has been advanced to stall final action on the EDC treaty, which was signed in May, 1952.

FINAL DECISION

The final decision on when to put the treaty before the assembly rests with Premier Laniel and his cabinet. Laniel has been working toward an assembly vote during the second half of March or early April. It is not known whether he will yield under the new pressure for further delay.

The cabinet, fulfilling the return of foreign min. Bidault from Berlin, may hammer out its strategy next week.

Assembly members generally feel Bidault conducted himself with great skill at Berlin and enhanced his personal stature considerably.

Russia's flat rejections of Western proposals for Germany and Austria also are believed to have convinced some wavering French deputies that there is nothing left to do but approve the EDC treaty. Many in France had hoped some positive result at Berlin would make an European army unnecessary.

The last-minute Russian agreement to a new meeting on Indo-China probably did not win back these waverers. An effort to jam the treaty through the assembly without waiting to see what happens at Geneva, however, might cost some votes.

BIG FOUR PARLEY'S

The Big Four in 1949 had completed an Austrian independence treaty of 32 articles except for five articles on which they disagreed. The West here accepted Russia's version of those five and challenged Molotov to sign the pact. The Russian offered two more points —forbidding Austria to join any alliance and allowing the Big Four's occupation troops to remain in Austria until a German peace treaty, or indefinitely. Dulles termed this a "fraud" to give Austria freedom in letter only.

Asia

Molotov proposed that the Big Four meet with Communist China in a Big Five conference on world problems, a bid for recognition at Peiping. The Western ministers branded China the aggressor in Korea and supporter of aggression in Indo-China and said "no" to such recognition.

Instead, the Western ministers proposed that the Big Four sponsor a conference on Asian peace problems, Korea and Indo-China, and invite China and other interested powers to attend.

ONLY IMPORTANT AGREEMENT

The result was the only important agreement of the 27 sessions here—that the Big Four, China, North and South Korea, and other countries whose troops fought in Korea would meet in Geneva late in April to seek a peace settlement. And this would be followed by an Indo-China peace conference of the Big Four, the Chinese and "other interested states."

Disarmament

Molotov proposed a world disarmament conference outside the United Nations. His aim was to include China. The West countered with a proposal for a conference under the UN, from which China, not a UN member, automatically would be excluded.

The result: a brush-off agreement for a later "exchange of views" in line with last year's UN resolution asking all countries to work for arms reduction.

Atomic

Dulles urged Molotov to join Russia with other powers in negotiating President Eisenhower's proposal for a world pool of atomic energy for peaceful purposes. In the U.S. view, the chief participants in such negotiations should be the U.S., Russia, Britain and possibly France. Molotov proposed that China join the talks. But the U. S. doesn't consider China an atomic power. These talks will continue in Washington.

Return From Florida And Sentenced to Jail

SIMCOE (CP) — Douglas Johnston, 18, and Gerald Stewart, 17, who went to Florida instead of appearing in court last month for sentence on charges of breaking and entering, Thursday were sentenced to nine months definite and 12 months indefinite.

The youths pleaded guilty before Christmas but were allowed to spend Christmas at home.

Simcoe police picked them up at Fort Erie last week where they had been found by United States officers from Florida.

Farmer-Labor Body to Fight Recession

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's two major labor bodies and representatives of Prairie and Ontario farmers have formed a joint council to map a program to fight recession.

The new agency, named the Canadian Farmer-Labor Economic Council, was established at a meeting here Thursday among heads of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, the Canadian Congress of Labor and the Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario Farmers' Unions. Its first meeting is scheduled for Winnipeg in June or month.

A statement following the meeting said it is felt that there are definite signs of a recession and "this will soon become serious economic dislocations as a result."

The meeting also discussed farm prices and labor costs, parity prices for agricultural products and "the widening gap" between the prices received by the farmer and those paid by the consumer.

The executive council of the vestry: rector, wardens (ex-officio); lay delegates, Mrs. B. Woodcock, Mrs. M. Tanner, Mrs. J. Whitehead, Ralph Andrews (representing men's club), auditors, treasurer, vestry clerk, F. Hoochin, Mrs. J. Villetorie, W. Wright, Mrs. Noble and George Noble.

All reports showed favorable balances. The request from the budget committee of Synod for increased giving for an advance budget fund was received, and the required amount voted to be paid.

The new enlarged financial request to be made to members was noted with interest, and the expression was "kind" shared by the Guild and Ladies' League.

At the close of this interesting meeting the ladies served refreshments.

of unemployment snowballing "with still more serious economic dislocations as a result."

The meeting also discussed farm prices and labor costs, parity prices for agricultural products and "the widening gap" between the prices received by the farmer and those paid by the consumer.

Weddings

DAUFFENBACH—LEE

The marriage of Clare Elizabeth Lee, daughter of Mrs. F. C. Lee, Belleville, to Mr. Frederick George Dauffenbach, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Dauffenbach, of Sioux City, Nebraska, was solemnized at Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Oakland, California, on Saturday last. The Rev. William Hennebry officiated.

The bride was attired in a street-length dress of pink wool with matching accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

Eileen Lewis of Oakland, California, was the bride's only attendant. She wore a blue wool street-length dress with matching accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Dr. R. E. Dauffenbach, of Alameda, California, was his brother's groom, acted as groomsman.

Following a wedding breakfast at the Virginia Restaurant in Oakland, California, Mr. and Dauffenbach left for a wedding trip to Carmel, California. On their return they will take up residence at 2715 Cadillo Ave., San Francisco, California.

The bride is a graduate of St. Michael's Hospital School of Nursing, in Toronto, and the groom is a law student at the University of California.

McGUDDNESS—WHALEN

The Church of St. Vincent de Paul, Deseronto, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday, January 23, when Theresa Rosalyn, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Whalen of Deseronto, became the bride of Theodore Charles, only son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. McGuinness, Lonsdale.

The double ring ceremony was performed and the Nuptial Mass celebrated by Rev. G. T. Martin.

Harold Whalen, brother of the bride, and Tommy Farrell, cousin of the groom, were acolytes. Rev. I. F. Donoghue was present in the sanctuary.

Mrs. Joseph Kennelly, of Bath, presided at the organ and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. M. E. Dowling.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a navy blue all-wool suit with white and black accessories, and a corsage of red roses. She carried a white prayer book.

Miss Grace Whalen was her sister's bridesmaid, wearing a suit of beige gabardine with brown accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Mr. Fred Farrell, Lonsdale, cousin of the groom, was groomsman. The ushers were Mr. Aloysius Whalen, Marysville, brother of the bride, and Charles Farrell of Lonsdale.

The wedding reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride's mother received the guests wearing a turquoise faille dress with black accessories, and corsage of red carnations. The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a navy blue dress with red accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

They will reside in Lonsdale upon their return.

C.W.L. MEETS

The Holy Rosary sub-division of the Catholic Women's League, met at Holy Rosary hall with 30 members present.

Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Ministerial Association Meeting

The February meeting of the Central Hastings Ministerial Association met at Madoc in St. John's Parish Hall, with 16 members present.

Rev. Mr. Harvey Good, rector, welcomed the brethren to Madoc. Considerable discussion took place regarding the religious broadcasts and six more members expressed their willingness to participate. Various ideas were discussed as to the best means of efficient radio broadcasting.

It was noted that the film "Martin Luther" would soon be showing in Belleville and members were urged to publicize this coming church business.

The March meeting will be held in St. Andrew's Parish Hall, Stirling, and the paper on "The Christian Hope" will be given by the Rev. H. C. Secker. The subject is the theme of the great World Council of Churches meeting this August in Evanston, Ill. The April meeting paper will be given by Lt. Brown, of the Salvation Army, Tweed. The May paper will be given by Rev. W. Middleton of Bayside, the subject "The Coming Again".

Rev. T. Harvey Good read an excellent concise summary of the history of the church from 63 A.D. to 1531, with special emphasis on the origin of the English church prior to Henry VIII.

Rev. L. E. Hawkes led in devotional prayers, which included a hymn and an inspirational exegetical interpretation of John 3 with appropriate prayers. Mrs. Good, assisted by Mrs. Lane and Mrs. Hawkes, served refreshments. Mr. Giffin, Foxboro, tendered a vote of thanks, and an expression of good wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Good who are moving to Kingston.

H. and S. Assoc. Hears Address On Plant Case

MARMORA — The monthly meeting of the Marmora Home and School Association took place in Marmora public school on Wednesday evening with Mrs. Roy Frost presiding.

The meeting opened with the singing of "O Canada" and the recitation, in unison, of the association's Creed. Minutes of the last meeting, as read by Mrs. Janne Heath, were confirmed. The financial statement, read by Mrs. Leighton McGinnis, showed a favorable balance on hand.

A letter was read by James Sproul which he had received from Marmora Public School Board relative to playground equipment. Further consideration is being given to the project by the board and the association.

The president mentioned the two camps which are being held under Home and School auspices in June and expressed the hope that the Marmora Association would be represented at one or the other of these camps.

ATTENDANCE PRIZE.

The attendance of grandparents and parents was then taken by the grandson of Mrs. Rousborn, Miss M. Rousborn's room, receiving the attendance prize.

Mrs. Frost mentioned that more information was being sought regarding the proposed display of art.

Glen Thompson of the Bowmanville branch of the Dowsham Nurseries was the speaker of the evening. His talk concerned the careful planning, planting and attention that should be given flowers, flowering shrubs and evergreens.

Included in the series of colored slides which he showed were those illustrating the proper and improper planting of beds and gardens.

He was introduced by Mrs. Frost and thanked by Mrs. McGinnis.

The meeting closed with the national anthem, after which refreshments were served.

Mary Pickford Looks Back On Life at Sixty

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"Sure, the Irish drank goat's milk," said Mary Pickford. "That's how I have my vitality—because my ancestors drank goat's milk."

At 60, "America's sweetheart" of yesterday still retains the simple charm that once made her the movie favorite of millions.

"I'm the baldest woman in Beverly Hills—or any other hill," she said, smiling, as we sat in the living room of her hotel suite.

"I have a big house to look after, and my husband, Buddy Rogers, and my business interests—and the children, Ronald and Roberta.

"How will soon be 12, but she's already four inches taller than I am. She's horse crazy. But I'd rather look forward to her being horse crazy than boy crazy."

Mary also is active in half a dozen philanthropic and charitable enterprises. She recently completed her memoirs for McCall's magazine, and said she would like to "write" a story from the screen—to return in one last film.

BORN IN TORONTO

"It would be the story of my mother's life," she said, "and end on that day in 1909 when I walked into the old Biograph studio and got my first movie job."

Mary was born in Toronto and started her stage career there at the age of six. She rose from $40 to $10,000 a week for movies and piled up millions later, producing her own films. This girl with the haunting face of a golden angel also had a cashbox mind.

"But I dislike business heartily," she said.

Here is Mary Pickford looking back at her life—a reverie aloud:

"The greatest picture ever made? My choice would be 'Cavalcade' with the Wind.' Of my own pictures, I suppose I still like 'Coquette' the best. Country' best. I made it twice—in 1914 and 1922.

CHAPLIN, DISNEY GREAT

"The greatest geniuses of the motion picture have been Charlie Chaplin and Walt Disney. After them? D. W. Griffith and Irving Thalberg. Irving had a bad heart. He walked with death at his back. He knew he had not time to waste on trivial things, or things half done. He died young.

"I made 50-odd feature pictures. We do look ridiculous in them today . . and sometimes I feel like destroying my old films . . . Those awful clothes we used to wear. . .

"They can't compare with the theater now, of course. But silent pictures did speak a universal language. . . Until Jolson's 'The Jazz Singer' came along, there was too many sound effects now. . . The great ones avoid superfluous gestures and superfluous sound. . . But the great ones are all too few . . ."

BIRTHDAY CAKE CLIMAX OF DINNER

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

At a birthday dinner, to which twenty-four relatives and friends are being invited, someone has suggested that the birthday cake (which is to be a very beautiful and elaborate one!) be the centre piece of the dinner table. What do you advise about this idea?

Hostess

I don't approve of this plan. Usually the centerpiece is of flowers, often the favorite flowers of the person honored, or sometimes in her or his favorite color. There should be a dramatic entrance for the birthday cake. . .it should be brought in with the candles lighted to give a radiant and festive crown. And always there should be the gala surprise feature of. . .this entrance, which certainly should be sadly lost if the guests sit all during the dinner looking at the birthday cake centerpiece!

The birthday cake should be brought in just before the "birthday" ice cream is served. It is placed on the table in front of the one whose birthday it is, . . then "Happy Birthday to you", . . the blowing-out of the candles, . . the cutting and serving of the slices.

A "BRIDE" FOR THE SECOND TIME

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have often wondered: If it is proper to refer to a woman who has just been married for the second time as "bride." Is it?

M.S.

Yes, indeed this is proper.

WIDOW KEEPS HER HUSBAND'S NAME. MRS. CHARLES SMITH

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My uncle died several months ago, and when I write to my aunt (which is quite often, for I love her very much) I always address the envelope to Mrs. Charles Smith. My sister and my brother think this is wrong, that I should write "Mrs. Mary Smith". But my mother agrees with me that a widow should keep her husband's name, that Mrs. Charles Smith is correct. Which form is correct?

Regina K.

The correct form of name for a widow in Mrs. Charles Smith. In business or profession it is permissible for her to use "Mrs. Mary Smith," but socially "Mrs. Charles Smith" is correct.

PRESENT TO GROOM AT BACHELOR DINNER

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

The prospective groom has invited his best man and ushers to his bachelor dinner. Do you think we should give the groom individual presents or one present for a joint present?

It is customary on this occasion to give a joint present. The most usual one is a silver (sometimes a gold!) cigarette, engraved with the facsimiles of all the signatures of the givers. Or sometimes a silver tray or a silver photograph frame (for the wedding photograph) is engraved in this way.

TO SHAKE HANDS WHEN OFFERING CONGRATULATIONS?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When one is congratulating a person is it incorrect not to shake hands? —K.L.

There couldn't be any definite rule about this, for it would depend on the circumstances. However, I should certainly say that in the majority of cases it would be the natural and cordial inclination of the person offering congratulations to extend her or his hand to give emphasis to the enthusiastic words.

WHO SHOULD GIVE HER IN MARRIAGE?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am to be married in a few months. I have been living with my sister and her husband for a year. Do you think I should have my brother-in-law or my oldest brother give me in marriage at my church wedding?

Florine

That depends. . .depends on your personal preference, on the degree of you devotion. For example, if if your brother-in-law has been particularly kind and thoughtful in cooperating with your sister to provide a good home background for you, and you aren't particularly close to your brother, it would be natural that you would give to your brother-in-law the honor of giving you in marriage. But if you and your oldest brother have always been close friends, I am sure your brother-in-law would understand if you have a straightforward talk with him, explain that you would like to have your brother give you in marriage, or if you wish to give honor to both, there might be a "devoted agreement" that your brother-in-law would escort you up the aisle, and your brother step from the front pew on the left of the aisle to give you in marriage.

WHEN ARRIVING IN CITY WHERE RELATIVES LIVE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am going for a visit to a city where I have several relatives, not very close ones. I am going to stay at a hotel for ten days or two weeks, to carry out several professional duties. Should I get in touch with my relatives, or should, I wait for them to get in touch with me?

Helen S.

It's quite the right procedure for you to let them know when you have arrived, and if you wish, invite them to come to lunch or dinner or have tea with you at your hotel. But it would be entirely within propriety, or ask you to come to see them, at the more definite occasion at their home.

READING WEDDING-CONGRATULATIONS TELEGRAMS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

At the wedding reception, who is supposed to collect and take care of the congratulatory telegrams? And who reads them to the guests? (I'm far out and full of wonder if I have any responsibility about this!)

You, as the best man, collect and take care of the telegrams of congratulation. Sometime the bride's father asks the best man to read the telegrams to the guests, at a stated time in the reception, and sometime the bride's father takes over this pleasant task. You should wait to be invited to read the telegrams.

Readers' Friday Column

By Mary Moore

QUESTION:

. . . I have been trying to locate a recipe I used a good many years ago for Spiced Beef . . . I know the ingredients were a roast of beer weighing about 20 to 24 lbs., saltpeter, salt, brown sugar, . . . the meat was placed in a deep dish, the spices rubbed in each day for ten days, . . . meat covered with suet and encased in a thin paste of flour and water and cooked for about six hours . . . I try your recipes quite often and like the results very much.—Mabel S.

ANSWER:

My two recipes for spiced beef run a little differently Mabel. I will outline them for you. What you describe is a little familiar to me and I think if I print this one of our readers may be kind enough to send in the method.

SPICED BEEF NO. 1

Eight pounds of beef, 1 tespoon mace, 1 teaspoon black pepper, 1 nutmeg grated, 1-4 teaspoon cayenne pepper, 1 onion, 7 oz. moist brown sugar, 2 teaspoons powdered cloves, 1-2 lb. salt, 1 1-2 pints beer broth, 4 carrots, 1 tablespoon crumbled thyme, 1-2 cup chopped parsley. Mix dried spices and sugar together, rub beef thoroughly with the mixture and let it lie for two days, turning it over once. Then rub the salt into the beef. Leave it for nine days, turning meat every day. Wash off excess spice and salt. Place in kettle, pour over beer broth, bring to boil, remove all scum, add vegetables and thyme and parsley. Simmer very gently covered for 5 hours or until very tender. Allow to cool in cooking liquor. Slice cleverly into rump in attractive pattern to serve and slice thinly.

SPICED BEEF NO. 2

To 1 gallon boiling water add 3 to 6 tablespoons salt, 1-2 oz. each mustard seed, whole cloves, cayenne pods, stick cinnamon and mace, and 1 oz. ginger root. Boil five minutes and let cool. Add 1 cup sugar, and 1-4 oz. saltpeter. Pour over beef, adding enough cold water to cover beef if necessary—but not more than 1 quart. Piece of beef should weigh about 8 lbs. (Brisket point is ideal for this.) Let stand in cold place four weeks. Then cook it as described above, after draining from spice pickle.

QUESTION:

. . .I wonder if you could tell me how to make "fillies" . . . a pastry made with eggs, flour, milk, etc. which requires a lot of beating. It is rolled out and cut with a large cookie cutter. When fried in deep fat one slit pinch two edges together, then when they are cold this serves as a handle. Have ice cream or whipped cream on top with a cherry in middle. They are delicious—like the puff of a cone, but much tastier, and decorative. Or sometimes a silver an old recipe. . . . hope I have made myself clear.—Mary J.

ANSWER:

You made yourself clear Mary, but I haven't one clue to lead me to the recipe. The only feeble suggestion I have to make is rolling almond wafers, but they do not contain eggs. Maybe some of our alert readers will see this and recognize what you are after and send the recipe to me. If so I'll print it.

ROLLED ALMOND WAFERS

(If shaped like a cornucopia these could be used for the purpose you describe.) Cream 1-4 cup butter and gradually cream into it 1-3 cup (full sugar. Add 7-8 cup unsifted bread flour alternately with 1-4 cup milk, then add 1-2 teaspoon vanilla. Spread this pictiure very thinly on buttered cookie sheet. Mark in 2-inch squares. Sprinkle with 1-3 cup very finely chopped almonds which have been blanched. Bake in slow oven of 300 deg. Fahr. until delicately browned. Draw pan to oven door and work there to keep squares pliable. Separate squares with knife, turn them over, with broad spatula and roll quickly. Transfer to plate to cool and become firm.

S.O.S. Readers—Could anyone come to our rescue with Spiced Beef as Mabel describes it, and with "Lillies" such as Mary wants?

TO DYE OR NOT TO DYE

There is many an attractive hairdo that is sailing under false colors. Specialists who dye and tint feminine tresses have developed their art to a high degree—and an art it is. The tones created by means of chemicals vary from the platinum that is like white-gold to dark brown with intermediate colors like copper, ash and chestnut. A bollywood star can be a brunette today and a golden girl tomorrow—that is the only when experts do the job.

It is when the first silver threads appear that a woman is likely to contemplate having something done to restore the pristine shade of her hair. Premature greyness can, of course, make a woman unhappy. But in middle age when the complexion, as well as the hair, undergoes changes, the snowy crown may be becoming, make a woman appear distinguished. It forms a soft, becoming frame for her face.

Home treatment may prove to be pouring trouble an one's head although, if there is only a few white threads, they can be touched up. It is necessary to find precisely and exactly the right medium, the right color, however. Pepper and salt growths are especially difficult to treat. The trouble is that a woman, not having eyes in the back of her head, may not be able to distribute the coloring matter evenly and properly.

To change from one dye to another is a graver mistake. The combination of chemicals may turn the hair green or worse. If a satisfactory medium has been found there should be no switching to another one.

Any woman flirting with the idea of darkening hair that has frosted should remember that the first treatment is not the end of the project. The new growth pushes forth at the rate of six inches a month. That means that every two months there must be a touch-up. As one application should not overlap the other, only an experienced operator can do the work as it should be done.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

IT'S WISE TO AVOID SAYING THINGS YOU MAY LATER REGRET

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am almost 16 and my boy friend is 17. We have been going together for over a year now.

All the girls are crazy about him, and he knows it, and we often argue about his being conceited. I know he just eats up their flattery and he certainly pays other girls a lot of attention when I am around so I can just imagine what he does behind my back.

There is one girl in particular who tells me often about how he acts with other girls, but when I ask him about it, he denies it all and says she's trying to make trouble. I know she's crazy about him herself.

My problem is that he is going into the service for four years very soon and wants to marry me when he gets out, but four years is a long time to wait. Anyhow, should I believe him when he tells me he loves me, or should I believe the girl who tells me he is always fooling around with other girls? — A.F.R.

Dear A.F.R.:

Four years definitely is a long time to wait; too long when the girl is no more than "almost 16," and the boy only 17.

Talk about marriage all you want with this boy, but don't be foolish enough to take it too seriously, push him against your extreme youth and partly because it doesn't sound to me as though either of you have any real wish to commit yourselves to one person yet.

If the boy wants to "fool around" with other girls, that's his business, and you'll be very silly to get jealous. It simply shows that he is a normal 17-year-old who wants to be free to pay attention to any girls he likes. You'd be smart to do the same with boys.

If he wants you to write him when he goes away, do it by all means, but don't write him a lot of sentimental stuff. Just send him nice friendly letters giving him all the news about things back home and let it go at that. Both of you are going to change and grow up a lot in four years, and you'll be much wiser if you don't say a lot of things now that you may later regret.

HOW TO QUIT "GOING STEADY"

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am writing this letter for a girl friend of mine.

Her problem is that she is going steady with a boy but wants to quit going steady.

How can she tell him this without hurting his feelings.

She is 14 years old. — T.Y.

Dear T.Y.:

As a rule, I think it is better for people to speak for themselves and ask for any friend to step in and try to make decisions for them. Or you can actually ask for yourself and don't like to say so?

If there really is a girl friend and you wish to pass along to her the thought that it is very foolish for anyone only 14 years of age to "go steady," it can certainly do no harm, though I doubt if it will do any real good. I would suggest that she simply tell this boy she has come to believe it is better for anyone so young to wait awhile before "going steady."

I doubt if she will really go along with this in her own mind, though, and all it will probably mean is that she just wants to get out of this one situation as comfortably as possible so that she can feel free to "Go steady" with the next boy who appeals to her.

Business Taxed on Profits Which Are Not Profits Says Brief Presented to Abbott

OTTAWA (CP) — Business is being taxed on "profits" which are not actually "profits," the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants and the Canadian Bar Association said today.

The views of the two bodies were made known in a joint representation prepared by Netherwood Dey to Finance Minister Abbott and Charles Gavsie, deputy minister (taxation), representing national Revenue Minister McCann.

An amendment last year, said the brief, requires business to pay tax on moneys received or receivable "without proper deductions necessarily being allowed for costs or losses which will be incurred in a subsequent year."

For example, it stated, a house builder, who takes a second mortgage for part of the purchase price, must assume, for all practical purposes, that the second mortgage will be paid in full and pay tax accordingly, whereas ultimate collection is not necessarily assured.

The brief stated also that the system of depreciation allowances adopted by the government for tax purposes should be supplemented by methods employed in "sound business accounting."

EXAMPLES CITED

Expenditures not deductible in computing profits for income tax; Costs of computing income tax; expenses incurred before commencement of a business which would be deductible if incurred afterwards; costs of procuring a loan of capital other than the interest paid thereon; cost of acquiring or protecting a franchise which is, though of value for a limited period of years only, is not expressed to be or limited in the document by which it is granted.

Laird Watt of Montreal, chairman of the taxation committee, and Clem L. King of Toronto, executive secretary of the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants, represented the accounting body. Stuart Thom of Toronto and Palmer Howard of Montreal, chairman and secretary respectively of the taxation section of the bar association, spoke for the association. They recommended 32 changes in federal tax statutes.

They said charitable donations by persons and companies have become part of the costs of carrying on business and should be treated in the same way as are other business expenses.

The committee expressed the belief that removal of all restrictions on tax deductions for charitable donations would result in little loss of revenue.

On another point, the committee said that depreciation allowances in a tax appeal in the courts is not allowed a deduction of the costs of such appeals.

RETIREMENT PENSIONS

They asked the government to permit all taxpayers to make tax-free contributions towards provision of retirement pensions, such pensions to be taxed as income when later received.

The committee contended that hardship results in cases where a gift or bequest is greatly increased in value and is no longer in possession of the recipient.

Amendment was urged to the Dominion Succession Duty Act so that it would apply only to the portion of an estate in excess of $50,000.

The delegation urged further that tax judges should be appointed instead of for 10-year periods, so as "to safeguard judicial independence."

Britain's Giant Jet Plane Due to Fly in June Next Year

WEYBRIDGE, England (CP)— A giant jet plane fast taking shape here may constitute Britain's most formidable bid for the world's long distance air transport business.

This revolutionary aircraft, due to fly in June next year, will have a top speed of 500 miles an hour and be able to carry 100 persons non-stop from London to New York.

If necessary it would be able to make the round trip from London to New York and back—about 7,000 miles—in a single day.

The aircraft is the Vickers 1,000, which has been ordered as a military transport prototype. If orders are forthcoming, the makers will go straight on to the production of a civil airliner version.

The Vickers 1,000 is being developed in the light of experience gained with the firm's four-jet Valiant atom bomber, now in service, and in production for the Royal Air Force.

SPEED WITH ECONOMY

They say Rolls-Royce Conway bypass gas turbines, designed to give the tremendous speed of the pure-jet engine coupled with an economy comparable to that obtained with the slower propeller-jet.

A pure jet plane, such as the Comet, is driven through the air by the force of gas expelled from the rear of its turbine engines. A propeller-jet uses the power generated by its gas-turbines to drive conventional propellers.

The by-pass engine operates on the pure-jet principle, but only air is by-passed around the gas-turbine proper. The by-pass is expected to give the same take-off power with the same high-speed properties as a comet, but be much more quieter and more economical than the ordinary pure-jet or propeller-jet.

The aircraft has been designed by Vickers team headed by George Edwards, which produced the propeller-jet Viscount, now in service with British European Airways and Air France, and soon to go into service with Trans-Canada Air Lines which has bought 15 of the 61-seat passenger liners.

CRUISING SPEED HIGH

The cruising speed of the Vickers 1,000 will exceed 500 miles an hour, and it will have a total capacity sufficient to enable it to cross the Atlantic non-stop with adequate reserves for "stand off" or for reaching alternative airports.

The Vickers 1,000 is one of three big jetliner projects which have originated in cooperation with Britain's new atom bombers. The others are an Avro delta-wing jetliner which will be based on experience with the Avro Vulcan delta bomber and a flying-wing jetliner which owes much to the same firm's earlier jet bomber.

Like the Vickers project, these airliners will have a high speed and carry up to 1,000 more passengers over long ranges.

Before this year ends, a supersonic comet will be flying. This is the new series 111, which will carry 36 passengers over long stages at an economical speed nearly 100 miles faster than 500 miles an hour." The present Comet series 1 carries up to 44 passengers.

Union Objects To Share-Work Plan in States

DETROIT (AP) — The United Automobile Workers (CIO) Thursday demanded that legislation be shelved on what it called "short work weeks—or share the-work schemes" by the states in the United States.

GM replied that its hourly employment in the U.S. "are working more than 40 hours per week on the average."

UAW vice-president John Livingston asked GM president Harlow Curtice in order an immediate reduction in the work force to provide a full 40-hour week for regular employees.

This would mean lay-offs for the newer employees.

H. W. Anderson, GM vice-president in charge of personnel, said:

"Our more than 110,000 hourly-rated employees in Michigan are also working on the average in excess of a 40-hour week. There is no reason GM employees currently working in Michigan than they worked a year ago. We have some 30,000 more employees working in the United States at this time than we had during the same period last year.

"Many of our automobile plants are working overtime including some especially operations. Some assembly plants are currently scheduled to work between 52 and 56 hours per week, which we expect to be temporary."

Canada's Wheat Surplus Asset

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's wheat supplies are an asset rather than a worry, in the opinion of James S. Duncan, president of Massey-Harris-Ferguson Ltd., international manufacturers of farm equipment.

In an address prepared for delivery to the company's annual meeting today, he said:

"I cannot subscribe to the concern expressed in some quarters regarding the large accumulation of wheat in the Western provinces. Conditions should change as this anxiety are those of drought and crop failure, not those of abundance. Even if our wheat cannot be immediately marketed, it still remains a valuable source of wealth."

At the same time, however, flood surpluses in the United States "will continue to be a serious problem and have a depressive effect on the price of farm commodities."

EARLY EGGS

WINNIPEG (CP) — Mallard ducks at the Assiniboine Park Zoo are sitting on eggs which normally they would not lay until May or June. Park officials said the birds are in first class condition, which makes them lay their eggs earlier.

Would-Amend Act

TORONTO (CP)—A bill which would amend part of the Municipal Act to provide that all requests for alterations in municipal status be referred to the municipal board was introduced in the legislature Thursday by Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar.

The amended act, retroactive to last Jan. 1, would take away a county's power to establish village.

Pay Full Value If Swine, Sheep Are Slaughtered

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons Thursday approved legislation removing the ceiling on compensation paid for swine and sheep slaughtered to combat disease epidemics.

The bill providing for compensation on the basis of market value, was given second reading—approval in principle—and then passed clause-by-clause study.

The new system of payments will be retroactive to last May 1, prior to a widespread outbreak of hog cholera in Ontario in which more than 1,000 hogs were slaughtered to halt the spread of the disease.

Robert Macaulay, parliamentary assistant for agriculture, said that 3,075 hogs have been ordered slaughtered since cholera struck various diseases.

The former ceilings on compensation were $50 for purebred swine and sheep, $30 for slaughter hogs and $15 for feeder hogs.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner said the "market value" set on swine and sheep ordered destroyed will take into account whether they are purebred, slaughter animals.

Opposition members objected to the continuation of ceilings on payments for cattle and horses ordered destroyed.

Writers, Casters Raise $34,000 At 'Celeb'Dinner

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Sportswriters' and Sportscasters' Association has undertaken to raise $42,000 for crippled children's camps and other charities this year. It picked up $34,000 Thursday night.

The association said it realized $22,000 from its third annual $25-a-plate sports celebrities dinner attended by greats of the past and present. At the dinner it was announced that an anonymous Toronto financier had donated $12,700 towards the projects.

The money will go to a $34,000 lodge and playground at Lakewood Camp, 12 miles west of Port Colborne on Lake Erie. The other $8,000 will go into Camp Northwood near Kirkland Lake.

The funds were handed over to Conn Smythe of Toronto, treasurer of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children.

Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, honored by an association poll as Ontario's athlete of the year, was presented with the Lou Marsh shield for the second time in three years. Others on hand included Tommy Burns, football's Herman Hickman, hockey's John Bower and Ted Reeve, Eddie Bushell's Tris Speaker and racing's Earl Sande.

GLACIERS AND FARMING

The fertile soil of good farming soil in various Canadian areas resulted from centuries of glacial action.

Remanded in Custody

SIMCOE (CP)—Jerry Simmons and Joe Glen Lohary Thursday were remanded in custody to Feb. 26 on a charge of murder in the death of 68-year-old Bruce Beatty. Crown Attorney R. M. Waddell said the crown was not ready to proceed and the accused had not obtained a lawyer.

Simmons, 61, of Syracuse, N.Y., and Lohary, 25, of Detroit, were arrested near Renton, four miles east of here, where Beatty and his 45-year-old wife were beaten with an ax and robbed Feb. 2. Their car — station house was ransacked.

BONN AIDS WEST ARMIES

BONN (AP)—West Germany has agreed to continue paying 600,000,000 marks ($142,800,000) a month to help support the Allied armies here, the government announced today. This is the same amount the Germans have been paying for the last year to the United States, Britain and France. The new agreement will run until June 30.

Kenora Thistles To Tour Japan For One Month

By AL VICKERY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KENORA, Ont. (CP) — Kenora Thistles, the first Canadian hockey team to tour Japan in 18 years, needs more than $9,000 before it leaves Vancouver by ship March 1.

The Thistles will be on an expense-paid trip from the time they land at Yokohama March 16 until they leave for home March 30 but $9,000 is needed to pay railway fares for the players from this Lake of the Woods city to Vancouver and return and to buy souvenirs to distribute in Japan. They shouldn't have much trouble raising the money.

The Thistles, acting as Canada's ambassadors of goodwill for the eight-game exhibition series against Japanese clubs, are 1953 champions. The club was awarded the trip by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association after winning the title 6-2 in games over Ponoka, Alta., Stampeders.

LAST TOUR IN 1936

The last Canadian team to tour Japan was a North Battleford, Sask., club in 1936.

The all-juvenile Skating Club, which asked the CAHA to choose a team for the tour, is now at work from the time the Thistles leave Vancouver until their return to the British Columbia port.

The money is needed to pay return rail fares from Kenora, about 140 miles east of Winnipeg, to Vancouver and to buy 15 dozen hockey sweaters to be distributed to Japanese juvenile, midget and peewee teams. Also on the list are hockey sticks, and colorful ribbons and pennants.

The CAHA is expected to make a small donation. The Thunder Bay branch of the CAHA has raised $250 and residents of Kenora plan to stage money-from-program sales at home games before the team leaves, sales of red and white ribbons, the team's colors, a dance, draw and sportsman's banquet.

KENORA TALENT

All but Simoneau were members of the team at the start of last season. He was picked up as a replacement in the 1953 playoffs and has stayed with the club. All players learned their minor hockey locally.

Neither last year's coach, Vince Gallagher, nor manager and present coach Johnny Beda will make the trip.

Accompanying the team as the vice-president Jimmy Dunn of Winnipeg's representative of the first Shipeg. The Thistles will embark on the Hikawa Maru at Vancouver. They play their first game in Tokyo March 17 and their final game, also in Tokyo, March 28.

Here is their schedule of games: 1954 all-Japan team at Tokyo March 17; Hokkaido all-stars at Tokyo March 18; all-Kanto team at Tokyo, March 20; all-Japan team at Tokyo, March 21; the 1954 Japanese senior champions at Nagoya, March 22; the collegiate all-stars at Osaka, March 25; an all-Japan team at Kyata March 27, and at Tokyo, March 28.

TO TOUR JAPAN — Kenora Thistles, 1953 Western Canada intermediate A champions, is first Canadian hockey team to tour Japan in 18 years. The club was awarded the trip by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association after winning the title. The team leaves Vancouver by ship March 1 for an eight-game exhibition series against Japanese clubs. Giants Start Court Action Over Player

SEATTLE (CP)—The New York Giants started court action Thursday in an effort to keep tackle Arnie G. Weinmeister of Seattle from leaving the National pro football league club to play with the British Columbia team.

An attorney for the Giants got a temporary restraining order from superior judge Donald A. McDonald pending a court hearing March 5.

In the suit, the New York club contended Weinmeister signed an $11,000-a-season contract in 1952 running to May 1, 1954, and reportedly by the Giants to May 1, 1955, at not less than 90 per cent of that salary.

The Giants asserted they notified Weinmeister last Dec. 21 of intent to renew the contract, but that he signed a contract Jan. 21 to play with the Vancouver club of the Western International Football Union.

The legal action filed Thursday was threatened by the Giants' management after Weinmeister announced several weeks ago that he was through with New York and had signed with the Lions.

Shields Loses To Trabert

NEW YORK (AP) — American champion Tony Trabert of Cincinnati Thursday night subdued Frank Shields of New York 6-4, 6-2, 6-2 in the opening round of the United States indoor tennis championships.

Henri Rochon of Montreal, third seeded among the foreign competitors, defeated Dick Sorlein of Philadelphia 6-2, 7-5.

It was the first tennis for the Davis Cupper Trabert since he lost to the veteran John Bromwich at Sydney, Australia, last month and it was his first appearance on hardwood since the 1950 national indoors at this same armory.

Kurt Nielson young Danish powerhouse who was runner-up to lefty Art Larsen in the indoor a year ago, breezed past Harry Fagel of University of Notre Dame, 6-0, 6-0.

Budge Patty, the internationalist who registers from Los Angeles, Paris and New Orleans, eliminated 16-year-old Ronald Hainberg of Brooklyn, N.Y., one of the United States' best-looking young prospects, 6-2, 6-4.

Rudy Horvath, Windsor Golf Star Dominates Big Field in Texas Open

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The so-called "unknowns," featuring Rudy Horvath, a Canadian with wrestler's build but an easy touch with a golf club whose blazing 61 bested the field by a stroke dominated the top pecan as the $12,500 Texas Open moved into its windup today.

Horvath, stubby young man from Windsor, Ont., ruined Bracken-ridge Park's par 71 Thursday in the first round—and so did 90 other players in the greatest par-wrecking spree this ancient tournament ever saw.

The second round started with only a five-stroke difference from Horvath down to 18th place, with 16 golfers figuring in that spread. Among them were few of the "name" players on the winter tour and the leaders had a "foreign" look.

In a tie for sixth at 64 was Peter Thompson of Australia, and resting at 65 was another Canadian, Jerry Kesselring of Kitchener.

Other Canadians in the tournament are Al Balding of Tofonto, who shot a 37-32—69 in the first round, Bob Dean of Cornwall, with 39-35—74, and Johnny Kay of Toronto with 36-37—73.

MOORE SECONDED

Joe Moore Jr. of White Plains, N.Y.—was a second place with a 62, while three budding botshots had Cla—Wally Ulrich of Maple Heights, Shelby Mayfield of Chicopee, Mass., and Lionel Hebert of Erie, Pa.

The field that started out at 157 but was cut to 154 by withdrawals will be further trimmed today—The 60 low professionals and ties and 10 low amateurs will go into the final 36 holes.

Horvath, a former RCAF bomber pilot and former Ontario amateur champion, was just one stroke over the all-time PGA record for 36 holes held by Al Brosch and Bill Nary, both posting their 60 in Texas tournaments. The Canadian had an eagle in his round while he missed two, stopping at from 80 feet out for one of them. Moore made a six-foot birdie putt by inches on the 18th, or he would have tied Horvath.

HOWE BECOMES A PAPA

MONTREAL (CP)—Gordie Howe Detroit Red Wing scorer, became a father Thursday night but he wasn't told about it during progress of the Detroit-Montreal National hockey League game. Word reached Detroit officials before game time that Howe's wife had given birth to a boy in Detroit.

MARTIN ARMY BOUND

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Bill Martin, New York Yankee second baseman, has lost a draft appeal and faces induction into the army soon, his draft board said.

Martin served six months in the service in 1950-51 but was discharged for hardship reasons. Last month he was reclassified 1-A and his appealed, claiming a dependents his estranged wife, two daughters, his mother, a sister and stepfather.

There was no indication when he is to report for induction but it might be in March.

ARCARO SET DOWN

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — The stewards at Santa Anita Thursday set jockey Eddie Arcaro down for five days for carelessness riding Wednesday.

They ruled that he caused interference going into the first turn in the seventh race. He was on Dixie Lad. The ban is effective Saturday but he will be permitted to fulfill stakes engagements which means he will be up on Duke's Lea in Saturday's $100,000 Santa Anita Derby.

British Pair Wins World Skating Crown

OSLO (AP)—Britain's ice dancing couple, Jean Westwood and Lawrence Demmy, spun through the 1954 world figure skating championships to their second straight world title Thursday night.

The English couple drew tremendous applause from the crowd and top marks from each of the five judges.

Another British couple, Nesta Davies and Paul Thomas, won second place ahead of Carmel and Edward Bodel of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Tenley Albright of Boston skated flawlessly through the last of the compulsory figures and goes into the free skating with an imposing lead over Gundi Busch of Germany, European champion.

Most experts figured that only a serious fall by Miss Albright could rob her of her second straight world crown, since the 18-year-old blonde is a whiz at fancy skating.

Erica Batchelor of Britain was third after the compulsory figures with Barbara Gratton of Toronto fourth, Frances Dorsey of Mercer Island, Wash., was a close fifth ahead of Margaret Anne Graham of Tulsa.

Hamilton Lady Heads Golf Body

US Grid Imports Used Benzedrine Charges Calgary Stampeders Star

VANCOUVER (CP)—Pete Thodos, backfield star who came out of the Vancouver junior leagues to play for Calgary Stampeders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, said Thursday night he has seen United States imports using benzedrine during games.

Keith Matheson, Vancouver News-Herald sports editor, writing in his column "The Sports Herald" quoted Thodos as saying that the Canadian players used "boozy, goofy."

"Some clubs used cubes of chocolate. I didn't want to say this, but I have seen players use benzedrine. They were the American imports."

Thodos was commenting on a statement by Bob Snyder, former Stamps coach, that it was "common knowledge" that players in the U.S. used benzedrine to give them "a lift" during games.

Thodos defended Snyder, who has admitted he was hired by the National Football League to tell United States players in the college players with "the truth" about Canadian football.

"He was the fairest coach I ever played for. He knew was accepted is sensible, intelligent man, he impressed everyone he met as a fellow who was a real gentleman."

NO DRINKING, GAMBLING

"He didn't allow us to smoke, drink or gamble in his presence. Some players thought he went too far with his idea. I didn't. He told us he would never fine a player. He would fire us, instead."

Matheson quoted Thodos as saying Snyder made one big mistake—"Under-rating our brand of ball."

"When I arrived at training camp, I saw some players who couldn't have made Singer's midgets. Later it was to prove our downfall. I don't think this fact particularly new, but we didn't have much of a team."

Snyder, who admitted in Hamilton Tuesday night that he was "through" as coach, told players said:

"It simply told them the truth. There were numerous wild stories attributed to me, but they weren't true."

Maritime Stars Draw Heavy Suspension, Fines

GLACE BAY, N.S. (CP) — The heaviest suspensions in Maritime Major Hockey League history were levied Thursday night against Carroll Bloom and Bob Bowness of Halifax Atlantics and Bill Needham of Glace Bay Miners for fight.

They will sit out a total of 15 games and pay fines totalling $175 for their part in Wednesday night's melee, which the Miners won 6-4.

Bloom, a defenceman, was suspended nine games—the remainder of the schedule—and fined $50 for attempting to injure Needham.

Needham will sit out four games and pay $25 for his part in the fracas. He was also charged with attempting to injure. He and Bloom clashed in the last minute of play and received match penalties.

Bowness was suspended for two games and fined $25. He got a match misconduct for feuding with fans around the penalty box and was tagged with the suspension after he tangled with the fans en route to the dressing room.

Rugged Battle Marks Canadiens 4-2 Victory Over Detroit Red Wings

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

TONIGHT'S THE NIGHT!

Don't forget there are 400 seats going on sale at 7.30 tonight in Memorial Arena for the National Hockey League Old Timers' game. The seats are situated in the south end of the arena and have not been reserved. The first come, first served and the sooner the better the seat. The Quinte Skating Club starry artists will perform between the second and third periods and this will be a treat in itself thanks to friend Jack Dickson. The Rotary Club is bringing a half dozen of its crippled kiddies proteges to the game as guests and they will view the proceedings from the penalty box. No wise cracks, please. Be sure and get one of the programs, whether you are an autograph hound or not. If you are you will be tickled to get the photographed specimen of the signatures of the entire roster of ex-stars. And a warning, don't heckle the referees too much. Mike Rodden can still throw a wicked right or left and his verbal repartee is still as effective as it was twenty years ago. Friend of ours who saw a motion picture shot of the Old Timers in action said: "Don't think these guys are slow pokes. They will amaze you with their speed and delivery. I don't think any of the would go sixty minutes straight. They don't have too, but while they're out there, they really turn it on."

BASEBALL!

Efforts will be made here on Sunday afternoon to reorganize the Central Ontario Baseball League. A meeting has been called by league proxy Jack Devine for the Queens Hotel at two o'clock sharp.

Notification of the meeting has been sent to Watertown, New York; Kingston, Peterborough, Oshawa, Belleville, Smith's Falls and Brockville. Belleville, Kingston, Peterborough, Oshawa and Smith's Falls have notified league officials they will be present.

The league did not operate last year due to the fact sufficient entries could not be obtained. Efforts were made to form a Border Baseball League after Central Ontario teams refused to enter a three-team loop.

However, the "Border League" failed to materialize after several attempts were made at organization and senior baseball took a year's vacation.

President Malcolm Robb and manager Jack Carson had gathered all material on paper to be a powerful team, but the baseball "horse" had no barn to play in, and the players were more or less scattered. However, it is felt a good representative team of the district can be assembled to carry the Belleville banner in the loop, if, and when it is formed.

The Petes have a flock of promising juniors and veterans and Perdueville should be able to form a strong entry. Kingston, never had any trouble lining up players, while Oshawa should come up with a well-balanced squad. The others are unknown qualities at the moment.

Belleville fandom will be able to watch baseball this summer with a fine degree of comfort. The new grandstand at the Fair Ground will be completed, if not already, and the new structure will provide accommodation for the diamond faithful that has been lacking the past few years.

CURLERS AHOY!

The long-suffering, patient collection of city and district sportsmen known as the Quinte Curling Club, hope to get in some sessions at their favorite sport before spring calls a halt to winter recreational activities.

President Don MacKinnon said today he has called a meeting of the administration and anybody interested in the "roarin' game," for the Kiwanis Centre next Tuesday evening starting at eight o'clock.

The club, he said, hopes to get in its annual bonspiel this season, the dates, of course, depending on what happens to the hockey situation. Discussion of the bonspiel is one of the principal items on the business agenda of the meeting.

There will be entertainment, too. Members and others will have the opportunity of seeing the screen version of the 1953 MacDonald Brier Tankard and the Ontario Curling Championship. All curlers from nine to ninety, regardless of affiliation, are urged to attend.

SKATE SHOW!

President Jack Dickens of the Quinte Skating Club, informs us that on Sunday afternoon the club will stage a program of figure skating along with its regular skating session. The object is to assist the public with the facilities now offered the children of the city with the respect to promotion of figure skating. The show is being offered in conjunction with the Recreation Commission. The skating program lasts from two to three o'clock with the regular instructional period following. There is no admission charge.

HELP!

Al Weill, manager of Rocky Marciano, world's heavyweight champion, passes up no opportunity to "moider" the Queen's English.

After talking about an offer of $100,000 to match Rocky against Bruce Harrison, conqueror of Earl Walls, if that is any distinction, Weill, discussing his health, told a New York Mirror columnist the other day: "Mebbe I should undergo a cranium contamination. The doc said my heart don't have no kodiak trouble. Said all was okey dokel in the 'l oubia and the blood was running good in my milleritics. And I got more red corpuscle than white ones."

SENATORS-ORIOLES SWAP

Sievers, 27-year-old righthanded hitter, was voted the American League's rookie-of-the-year in 1949 with St. Louis Browns when he batted 306, but dipped to 228 the following season, then suffered a shoulder separation and since has been only part-time duty.

Coan, who sustained a fractured skull, chipped wrist and a broken ankle with Washington, never fulfilled the promise he displayed when he batted .372 with Chattanooga in 1945.

Minors, Majors, Misconducts Handed Out in Brawlish Game, Habs, Leafs Tied For Second

By JIM BASTABLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Frank Udvari just happens to get the rough hockey games.

It is never a soft touch refereeing a National Hockey League game, but Udvari has had to squelch more brawls and scrimmages this year than all the other four referees together. And, Frank doesn't like it.

He had his hands full Thursday night as the quick-tempered Montreal Canadiens defeated the league leading Detroit Red Wings 4-2 at Montreal Forum.

Udvari's accusing finger was working overtime. He got the works right from the start as the 14,501 fans saw an outburst of rough stuff that ended with seven penalties.

Before the game was over, and the Canadiens had moved back into a second-place tie with Toronto Maple Leafs, Udvari handed out 18 penalties, including three majors and two misconducts before the sentences went to Montreal.

The game wasn't as bad as some Udvari has handled this year. But there was plenty of action and Udvari has said that before he would rather quit than get mixed up in brawls.

AWAY IN FRONT

The loss left the Red Wings with a 10-point lead over Montreal and Toronto.

Ken Mosdell, Maurice Richard, Bert Olmstead and Elmer Lach teamed for the Canadiens' goals and Ted Lindsay tallied for Detroit.

It was the only league game of the night and Udvari started blowing his whistle before it was 45 seconds old.

Rookie Bill Dineen of the Wings drew a double major, which carries an automatic misconduct, and later Canadiens' Defence Terry Sawchuk drew a misconduct when he chased Udvari about the ice to protest Olmstead's goal, which proved to be the winner.

Dineen and Olmstead slugged it out in the opening seconds and the Montreal lefthinger was given a minor for cross-checking and a major for fighting. Sawchuk's two majors were for high sticking, which drew blood, and for fighting.

FIREWORKS OVER

Seconds later Richard went out with a double minor—for slashing and high sticking. Most of the fireworks were over after that but the two clubs threw many stiff bodychecks.

Jacques Plante was in the nets again for Canadiens and he handled 17 shots. Sawchuk kicked out 44 Montreal drives.

Only one game is scheduled for tonight. The fifth-place New York Rangers take on the last-place Black Hawks in Chicago.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

The small Negro who once starred for Baldwin Wallace College has for the past eight years been about as unbeatable at his specialty, both indoor and out, as any track man who ever lived. So that period he has been beaten only twice on a board track, and never in a championship event.

However, it is not of Dillard's superlative skill over the sticks that we would sing. Our mind goes back more than five years to what we will always consider the crowning achievement of an amazing career. No thing Dillard has done since, or will do, can match his tremendous feat in the 1948 Olympics at London.

At that time Dillard was unquestionably the world's greatest high hurdler. He was considered a cinch to win a gold medal at London. In the official trials Dillard got mixed up with two crowbars and did not even finish in the final heat. Was he out of the Olympics?

TURNED TO SPRINGING

Nope, Bones decided hurriedly that he was a 100-metre man, and he proved it to the extent that, when the U.S. team sailed, he had a berth as a sprinter. He was not, of course, considered quite in the same class with the U.S. team's Mel Patton and Barney Ewell, but he was aboard.

It was while the United States team was in training at Uxbridge air base that it was made the long trip out and, after considerable wandering around, came to a running track. Not many athletes were about at the hour, but over near the little wooden grandstand this fellow wearing a familiar shield was practising starts—over and over again.

It was Dillard. We asked him if he thought he had a chance. He grinned wide.

'EVERYBODY' HAS CHANCE

"Sure," he said, agreeably, "everybody's got a chance. What I've got to do is learn to get out of those hats in a hurry. If I do, maybe I can make it close."

We often have studied a graphic photo of the start of the 100-metre final. It shows six sprinters in their first frantic lunge. The heads of five are in nearly perfect alignment. The sixth head, Dillard's, is fully a foot in front, and several inches lower than any other.

It was a fine start—but relinquished. Dillard, the hurdler, equalled the Olympic record of 10.3 seconds and his margin of victory probably was less than the advantage he had gained by his tremendous start.

REFEREE CHARGED

MONTREAL (CP) — Rollie Ricard, sports writer for the Montreal Daily La Patrie, Thursday swore out a formal charge of common assault against referee Ken Mullins.

Mullins is to appear in court in Verdun March 4.

The referee is said to have socked the reporter in the face between periods of a Quebec Junior Hockey League game at Verdun Auditorium Wednesday night. Mullins was quoted as saying "It was too much" when Ricard called him a vile name.

Trabert Report May Shake Tennis Relations

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Repercussions from the stormy United States Davis Cup campaign in Australia threatened today to shake tennis' relations between the two countries.

U.S. champion Tony Trabert said he has prepared a detailed report, obviously dealing with the various rhubarbs and playing conditions, and is ready to present it to the president of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association.

He added: "It won't be favorable."

Art Larsen, third-ranking American who played in Australia in 1950 and 1951, said bitterly:

"I would never play there again. The crowds and the ... ful and Harry Hopman ... Aussie Davis ... worst of the lot.

"I don't know what Tony is going to say. But I think our officials ought to do something about it. Otherwise we ought to just let them keep the blasted cup. It's not worth the price."

FACTUAL REPORT

"I can't say what is in the report," Trabert, 23-year-old University of Cincinnati athlete, added. "It's just a factual report of the various things that happened. Those people down there are fanatical over tennis and you have to experience them to know just what the playing conditions are."

In a Davis Cup challenge round and in the tournaments preceding and following the event, Americans figured in a number of rhubarbs with the Australian galleries and officials.

Aragon Gets Decision Over Davey Officials Get Post-Bout Suspension

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Controversial Art Aragon won a split decision over southpaw Chuck Davey Thursday night, and two officials of the bout were suspended immediately as a result of the disputed verdict.

Touching off an immediate roar of disbelief and disapproval from most of a turnaway crowd of 10,000, Los Angeles' self-styled golden boy was awarded the bout at the end of 10 rousing rounds.

Chairman Tony Estenza and commissioners Everett Sanders and Norman Houston of the California athletic commission went into a hurried conference within a matter of minutes.

Soon after, Sanders hurtled down Davey's dressing room and announced that the two officials who had cast the 1-point-a-round system, Charlie Randolph, the other judge, called it for Davey, 5-4.

The Associated Press had it 56-54 for Davey, and the Michigan State College graduate winning six rounds and losing three, with one even.

Aragon was a 2-to-1 betting favorite.

Sanders called for a hearing Feb. 24. He said it probably is impossible to reverse the decision, but he declared: "We are going to cut out these burn decisions and the split decisions. We will not tolerate such a lack of uniformity."

The 27-year-old Davey, sitting on the rubbing table, grinned halfheartedly and said:

"I was the most surprised guy in the house—unless it was Aragon."

Aragon, his left eyebrow a bloody mess—Chuck was scarred a bit, too—told hearing listers: "Leave those southpaws out of my life. I don't know how to fight them."

There were no knockdowns. Aragon weighed 145 to Davey's 145½.

Burlington 5 Points Shy of Record As Mercurys Increase Senior Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Tommy Burlington, the 33-year-old Owen Sound centre who has the use of only one eye, missed the big leagues by an arrow. But he hasn't any regrets.

When the hockey-minded citizens of Owen Sound raised $4,500 to buy Tommy's release from Providence Reds of the American Hockey League a few years ago, they made one of the soundest investments in hockey. Burlington, native of Toronto, has now adopted Owen Sound as his home and says that any hockey pet left in him will be played there.

And you can bet there's plenty of hockey left in the veteran centre-winger who is attempting to break a scoring record in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series.

Burlington lost the use of one eye when he was 7 years old. He was struck by a playmate's arrow. But Tommy takes a philosophical view of his handicap.

"If I'd had both eyes, maybe I wouldn't have been as good a hockey player," he says. "The other guys look at my blind eye and they can't tell which way I'm going."

FIRST LOVE

When Tommy first started out to get a job at his first love, hockey, it was customary for scouts to say: "But you only have one eye." The 175-pound centre-ice fan figures he has the king of diamonds."

After scoring 60 goals and 65 assists for a league scoring record while playing for Atlantic Seaboard Oils of the Eastern Amateur Hockey League, Tommy turned pro with Cleveland Barons of the American league. Because he had only one eye he was barred from the big league.

He led the league in scoring during one of his four years with the Barons and then was sold to Providence. After one season with the Reds Tommy wanted to play for Owen Sound, where he had received his first chance in organized hockey. The Reds refused and put the five-foot, eight-inch centre on the suspended list.

That's when the hockey fans in Owen Sound came to the rescue to bail him out. And Burlington, who was third best among the Owen Sound scorers last year, is again repaying them this year.

The Mercurys, who took a five-point hold on first place in the OHA Senior league by defeating Windsor Bulldogs in Owen Sound Thursday night, are depending heavily on Burlington to help them clinch the league title.

KEEN MARKSMAN

Tommy has scored 45 of the 344 goals amassed by the Mercurys this year. In addition he has 62 assists which give him 106 points—five short of the league record set by Mickey Roth of Stratford Indians. He has five games left to break the mark and even if he doesn't set a record, he'll probably win the league scoring championship. And that's quite a feat for a man to perform when he reaches the age "when I move more quickly and heal more slowly."

Burlington scored one of Owen Sound's goals Tuesday night to help the Mercurys pull to within four points of clinching first place. Elmer Skov, Jerry McCosh and Doug Gillespie scored the others. Earl Keyes counted twice for the Bulldogs with the remaining Windsor goal going to Fred Hildebrand.

Two victories for Mercurys in their five remaining games will sew up the title.

In the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior Southern group the last-place 'Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Indians kept their playoff hopes alive by pounding the leading Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Greyhounds 8-2 in Michigan.

Centre Laurie Peterson scored three times for the Indians. Marcel Clements and Connie Bonhomme notched two each and Ron Hubbs and Bill McCracken scored singles. Carl Smellie got two goals for the Greyhounds with the other going to Terry Bicchi.

In OHA action tonight Stratford is at Chatham, Kitchener at Hamilton and Owen Sound at Niagara Falls.

North Bay plays the Wolves in Sudbury.

Toronto Curler Takes Top Prize In Ont. Bonspiel

TORONTO (CP)—The race for the big prize—the Royal York Trophy—ended Thursday night with a 10-6 victory by Vern Mathewman of Toronto Granites over Pete Gillespie of Chatham at the Ontario bonspiel.

Mathewman, who eliminated Gerve Reeve, last year's winner, in an extra-end game Wednesday, shot out T. O. Loveless of Brantford 9-4 earlier in the day to reach the finals.

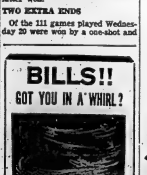
The Granite crew was matched by Chatham in the first six ends of their game but the score was tied at 4-4. Gilbert advanced two in the seventh which Mathewman equalled in the eighth. Gilbert scored a single in the ninth to edge the Toronto foursome 7-6 with three ends left to go. But Vern Mathewman clinched the game with a three-end in the 10th and added another in the final while the best Gilbert could get was a single in the 11th.

Another Toronto quartet walked away with the second prize—the Birks trophy—when Andy Grant of the Royal Canadian Club defeated Bert Rose of Agincourt 13-2.

ROSE CONCEDES

Grant opened strongly with a four in the first end, counted singles in the second, third and fourth, chalked up a three in the fifth and added another single in the sixth. Lou Rose notched his double in the seventh which Grant equalled in the eighth. Only eight ends were played for this decision.

In a Saturday semi-final game J. W. Rasko of Kingsmere defeated John B. MacFarlane of St. Paul, Minn., 12-8. The second semi-final for the third prize was scheduled to play today.



Other play scheduled for today include the North American Life semi-finals between Kinks from Lindsay, Granites, Toronto and the Royal Canadian Club will compete for the fourth-prize trophy.

Surviving rinks from the third round in the Seagram trophy came from Toronto, Granites, Kingston, Campbellford, N.B., Georgetown, Fenelon Falls and two from Toronto High Park.

Of the 16 rinks left in the March, 11 were from local clubs. In the first round, where qualifiers for the Royal York and Birks trophies met in opposition, only five of the latter won.

TWO EXTRA ENDS

Of the 111 games played Wednesday 30 were won by a one-shot and

BCI Seniors Edge Albert In COSSA Game

By BOB GALWAY.

In an exciting COSSA league basketball game played against Albert College last evening, the BCI Seniors defeated the Albert Seniors by the close score 31-48.

Lead by the sharpshooting of Cuffe and Budgell the Albert quad had two point advantage over the BCI senior team at quarter time. The BCI quintet then pulled up their pants and started to roll. Scoring five baskets they came out on top of a half time score of 22-20. At three-quarter time the score was 30-all, then Albert was awarded a free throw after the whistle had gone, it was good and BCI was one point down. In the fourth quarter both teams were fighting desperately to win, and tempers were flaring. A last minute foul shot made by Bill Gault gave BCI a one point advantage, equalled in the eighth. Gilbert scored a single in the ninth to edge the Toronto foursome 7-6 with three ends left to go. But Vern Mathewman clinched the game with a three-end in the 10th and added another in the final while the best Gilbert could get was a single in the 11th.

Another Toronto quartet walked away with the second prize—the Birks trophy—when Andy Grant of the Royal Canadian Club defeated Bert Rose of Agincourt 13-2.

ROSE CONCEDES

Grant opened strongly with a four in the first end, counted singles in the second, third and fourth, chalked up a three in the fifth and added another single in the sixth. Lou Rose notched his double in the seventh which Grant equalled in the eighth. Only eight ends were played for this decision.

In a Saturday semi-final game J. W. Rasko of Kingsmere defeated John B. MacFarlane of St. Paul, Minn., 12-8. The second semi-final for the third prize was scheduled to play today.

Other play scheduled for today include the North American Life semi-finals between Kinks from Lindsay, Granites, Toronto and the Royal Canadian Club will compete for the fourth-prize trophy.

Surviving rinks from the third round in the Seagram trophy came from Toronto, Granites, Kingston, Campbellford, N.B., Georgetown, Fenelon Falls and two from Toronto High Park.

Of the 16 rinks left in the March, 11 were from local clubs. In the first round, where qualifiers for the Royal York and Birks trophies met in opposition, only five of the latter won.

TWO EXTRA ENDS

Of the 111 games played Wednesday 30 were won by a one-shot and 18 by a two. Two extra ends were played. L. J. Mackay of Lindsay needed an 11th end to edge J. D. McIntosh of High Park 7-6 and Bert Kennedy of Toronto Royals shaded Judge A. Cochrane of Brampton 9-8 in the other.

All games in the Ontario bonspiel are drawn except the semi-finals and finals, which have 12.

Ten games were lost by default Thursday.

An amendment to the Municipal Act to make such notification possible was introduced in the legislature Thursday by Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar.

BY SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Monotony is the last thing bridge can be accused. McSly rules of bidding are based on average uniformity, its plans of play mean plenty, provided you have ingenuity. But each has variety galore.

Of the 635,013,559,600 different hands in a bridge pack, many are similar. The plays in all of them are confined to only seven general principles. But each is subject to subtle distinctions.

Surprises are not as frequent as normalcy, of course. But the unexpected run into the millions nevertheless. And some of these are starting even to surprise who know they exist.

There are occasions when an odd spread of cards will stump an expert even when he suspects its presence. Why? Some small card in any different position can make a mess of his best plans.

The darndest climaxer I have seen in many a moon came up in a game I was kibitzing a few nights ago. It was not so much the unusual spread of cards. The amazing endings were almost incredible.

The deal was as you see it here:

♥ A K Q J 8 7 6 3
♦ K 7
♣ A Q 2

WEST
♦ Q 6 5 3 2
♣ K 7 6 3

EAST
♠ A J 8 7 6 3
♥ 10 9 5
♣ 10 9 8 4

SOUTH
♠ K Q J 10 9 5
♥ None
♦ A J 10 9 8
♣ J 5

You and I have seen hands like these before. We have known them to reach contracts of four, five, six or seven. We have seen them go down or make. But then saw a couple of twists.

I will tell you this much now. South became the declarer at a contract of seven hearts without a heart in his hand. North has all the trumps needed, of course. But south became the declarer.

The grand slam was doubled by east. The opening lead from west was the tiny ♦4 diamonds. Without any mistake made by opponents, south figured the play that took 13 tricks.

As space will permit I will tell you some of the details. If you do not believe what you hear, I will be forced to ask: Yes you dere, Sharley? Well, I was.

TOBACCO BARNS BURN

TILLSONBURG (CP) — Two tobacco barns were destroyed by fire near here within a few hours of each other Thursday, with losses estimated at $35,000. Some 65 bales of tobacco were lost in the blaze on the farm of John Solalvi. The barn of Frans Drees contained seven kilns of tobacco, two horses and farm implements.

Canadians Soon Will Be Able To Check Chart

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians soon may be able to check a chart and decide whether to lose that weight.

The chart is being prepared by officials under Health Minister Martin, a man with a lot of experience when it comes to reducing.

On the advice of his doctor, Mr. Martin went on a diet more than a year ago. He took off more than 40 pounds and his weight has been about 180 pounds since.

On several occasions he has said publicly that the loss of weight improved his health.

Officials of the health department and the bureau of statistics have weighed and measured about 25,000 persons; the health department said Thursday in a return tabled in the Commons. These measurements now are being arranged according to sex, height and age. A standard weight table soon will be issued.

The return said:

"While this average weight may not be the ideal weight for an individual (this only his doctor can decide) it is the considered opinion of medical experts that the average weight can serve as a guide to everyone in eating with a view to adjusting his or her weight to that which will help to ensure good health."

DIES OF INJURIES

Club officials said they did not wish to sell the club but they were willing to sell a major interest so that some organization could build a powerful team for Trois-Rivieres. Trois-Rivieres is in third place in the five-team league.

I Remember

The Honeymoon Bridge Collapse

BY BRUCE WEST

"I remember the battle of the giants at Niagara in the spring of 1938, when the great Honeymoon Bridge finally collapsed after withstanding for days the onslaught of one of the biggest ice floes in the history of the mighty and romantic river.

It was a classic case of the irresistible force meeting the supposedly immovable object. If conflict makes news, surely there was never a better news story than this.

Day after day the tremendous adversaries were locked in a death grip. News cameramen from all over the world stood ready hour after hour on the bank of the river, waiting to record the crash if and when it came.

And the heart-breaking thing was that not one of these patient photographers was ready when it finally happened. Each one, after waiting for days in the cold, had relaxed his vigilance at the precise moment when the huge structure toppled.

The only man who caught the action on film as the bridge tumbled into the gorge with a roar was an amateur photographer from Simcoe, Ontario who had raised his camera for a shot of the ice floes just as the bridge fell. He sold his pictures to the news services for $200 but he could have commanded $3,000."

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY, FEB. 20, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Born before April 6th, more care needed in financial affairs and employment department. Born in latter period: you can make headway if you don't shirk the tedious though important tasks.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Extra care advised in a.m.—especially for confidential affairs, also shipping, travelling. Maintain balance in your ideas and actions. Clear vision is necessary to efficient functioning.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Your natural attitude is sometimes to take a quick look then act. Today look, then stop to think well before acting. Tact, thoughtfulness further progress, make friends.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Day offers wide scope and some advantages if you will analyze and follow through intelligently. You might take on an unusual and far-reaching project if it has value.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Aspects indicate benefits in promotion, advertising, creating new and mass-used merchandise, bargaining things; also through mechanics, social service and industrial matters.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Personal matters, health and family affairs are rated tops. Inventions may be effective. Romance, courtship, socials and children's care can bring much satisfaction, lasting blessings.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Excellent aspects. Achievement is possible if you concentrate on worthwhile matters. Be aggressive but don't be guided by selfish motives. Help give ambition to loved ones.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—You are among the keen and quick-on-the-trigger Zodiacal natives. This can work to your advantage and vice versa. Pace your actions to acquire results without strain or pressure.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Star aspects made to order for you. Quintessential individuals. Jupiter bestows optimism and benevolence. With your fine attributes you have much to offer this world.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—One of the favorable periods this month for you, folks. 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.: plan carefully, work harder for top results. It's a matter of co-ordination. Rays generate initiative now.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Combine your energy and knowledge to move forward faster and, with honest effort, you can expect fine rewards. This should be a happy day, generally, for you and your loved ones.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Similar to Aquarius today. Strike a middle-of-the-road course in money, business matters; be satisfied with honest gains. Don't demand more than is reasonable.

YOU BORN TODAY are on the idealistic side, with a leaning toward science, mechanics and philosophical knowledge. You are unusually fond of travel, entertainment; also like research and history. You have fine ideas but sometimes lack the confidence to put them over because you are retiring rather than aggressive. Association with more progressive people will urge you on to success. You will work with great patience and persistence. Somewhat contradictory at times, you are sometimes sympathetic, then again seemingly indifferent, exacting.

Birthdate: Joseph Jefferson, Amer. actor; Mary Garden, opera singer.

Quebec Moves To Check Fires Caused By Trains

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Legislation which would hold railway companies and conductors responsible for forest fires caused by locomotives has been introduced in the Quebec legislative assembly.

It would require all locomotives passing through forests or forests to be equipped with "the most improved and efficient means for preventing the escape of sparks."

Opening Thursday of the New Brunswick and Alberta legislatures brought to seven the number now in session. The three Nova Scotia legislature will open Feb. 24 with the Prince Edward Island opening set for March 2.

The Quebec bill, introduced by the government, also would provide restrictions for the building of fires by those who are not the licensing of waste and dumps.

Negligent train conductors would be liable for fines ranging from $50 to $300 or jail sentences from one to six months and railway companies would be liable to fines from $300 to $1,000 in addition to damages.

KIDNELLED MAN RETURNS

Emilien LaFrance (L. — Richmond), expelled for 15 days after he called Premier Duplessis "a coward," returned to his seat.

The speech from the throne in Alberta outlined proposed legislation which would create a private company to build and operate a natural gas pipeline system in the province.

The throne speech in New Brunswick mentioned bills which would improve jail conditions and provide for a labor relations act.

In Regina, the only Progressive Conservative elected in the Saskatchewan legislature in 20 years made his maiden speech Thursday.

Robert Kohaly, 32, said he is opposed to socialism and will assist and support free enterprise. He would give his support to the CCF government when policies which would benefit Saskatchewan and his constituency were presented.

CCF leader Arnold Webster said in the opening debate on the speech from the throne in the British Columbia legislature that the Ottawa Liberals had promised to take over sole responsibility for unemployment relief when unemployed and to initiate a national health plan.

He said the argument that because all provinces did not participate in the unemployment-provincial taxation agreement the proposals were discriminatory to them was invalid. Legislation could be passed which would make it retroactive to provinces that are in the agreement.

ENABLE BOREHOWING

In the Manitoba legislature, second reading—approval in principle—was given to a bill which would empower the Manitoba Hydro-Electric to borrow funds to repay advances made to it by the government.

Provincial Treasurer R. D. Turner said that up to Feb. 13 the government had advanced $37,078,359 to the board.

Stirling

C.W.L. EUCHRE PARTY.

STIRLING, Feb. 18 — A successful euchre party was held Monday evening in Stirling Legion Hall under the auspices of St. James Catholic Women's League with a large attendance.

The convenors, Mrs. John Ryan and Mrs. Bill Long, provided the prizes.

There were 14 tables in play with the following prize winners: ladies' high, Mrs. Frank Long; second, Mrs. Manson Farrell; men's high, Thomas McAvoy; second, Michael Kerby.

The door prize, donated by Mrs. Clinton McGee, was won by John Morrison.

Refreshments were served at the close of play.

The Stirling Legion branch was forced to postpone its annual ice carnival scheduled for Monday evening at the local arena, because of water on the ice.

They hope to have it as soon as weather permits.

The hockey match scheduled for Monday evening at Campbellford had to be postponed.

TAHEDI PRESENTS PLAN

TEHERAN (AP) — Premier Fazollah Zahedi Wednesday marked the end of his first half-year in power with a policy address urging Iranians to "work—not talk." He also threatened a crackdown on internal enemies. Zahedi, who pushed out ex-dictator Mohammed Mossadegh last August in a one-day coup, presented a 19-point program for economic development. His plan includes quick re-establishment of Iran as an international oil producer.

May Revise Code To Make Sale Of Babies Crime

OTTAWA (CP)—A new section may be written into Canada's revised Criminal Code to spell out baby selling as a crime.

Justice Minister Garson said Thursday in the Commons that the code, now being studied by Parliament, does not specifically make it a crime to sell children.

Mr. Garson made the statement in reply to a question prompted by the disclosure of a multi-million dollar baby-selling ring in Montreal and the arrest of two Montreal lawyers, Herman Buller and Louis Glazer. The two pleaded not guilty to charges involving falsification of birth certificates and will appear in court for preliminary hearing later this month.

John T. Richard (L.—Ottawa East) asked whether the revised code contained a section which would make it punishable to sell children for adoption.

Mr. Garson replied:

"I would say that the present Bill No. 7, (the new code) which is before the House, does not specifically make that crime to sell infants or children."

Mr. Garson did not say whether baby selling is a specific crime under the law at present. He promised to make a more complete statement to the House.

MAY BE FUNDRAISER

However, Mr. Garson said the practice might be punishable under other sections of the proposed code. He did not cite the sections.

Outside the House, legal officials said the two men arrested in Montreal are charged with falsification of birth certificates. They said it would be possible in most cases of baby selling to charge suspected individuals with obtaining birth certificates, forgery or conspiracy.

The officials said they know of no provision in the present Criminal Code which specifically defines baby selling as a crime. However, a prosecution might be launched under common law.

Mr. Garson said the common law in effect at present in Canada would not be in effect after the revised Criminal Code has been approved by Parliament. The new code would contain provisions for the whole field of criminal law and will abolish all common law offences."

Campbellford

WMS. MEETS.

CAMPBELLFORD — The February meeting of St. John's W.A.S. was held on Thursday in the school room with 34 present.

Mrs. J. D. Bennett presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. W. A. Kingston.

Mrs. Nelson's group had charge of the program.

Mrs. F. M. Rutherford and Mrs. W. A. Kingston, delegates to the Cobourg Presbyterial in January gave most interesting addresses.

Mrs. Rutherford dealt with a report on the work of the United Church Training School, Toronto.

Mrs. Garrison made the statement in reply to a question prompted by the disclosure of a multi-million dollar baby-selling ring in Montreal and the arrest of two Montreal lawyers, Herman Buller and Louis Glazer. The two pleaded not guilty to charges involving falsification of birth certificates and will appear in court for preliminary hearing later this month.

Airlift Has Three-Year Record Of Never Losing a Passenger Or Piece of Cargo Carried

By JACK BRADLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TOKYO (CP) — When a pink-cheeked RCAF pilot tells you confidently that his plane will arrive at the Far East terminus of the Pacific airlift at 6:15 p.m. you're inclined to take no chances and smile. Thousands of miles away at this time and to some of his weary passengers, the pilot barely seems qualified to split seconds because he was obviously a schoolboy when some of them were flight-ing the last war.

But the big North Star lags its service personnel and military supplies on the dot. The air crew is first to say it's not so much the way they operate the flight but the way the ground servicing detach-ments carry out inspection and re-pairs.

Working in bleak and soggy out-of-the-world spots like Shemya in the Aleutians, these men are largely responsible for the airlift's three-year record of never losing a passenger or piece of cargo and they've carried thousands of each.

REVAMPED IN 1950

The 426 Thunderbird Squadron, after a flashy wartime record, was reconstituted in 1950 to the Pa-cific airlift as part of Canada's contribution in the Korean war.

Above their famous totem-pole crest they carry the blue and white emblem of the United Nations and the business-like cipher of mate-rial the United States Military Air Transport Service — which is supplying Far East forces with men and materiel. Most of their passengers and much cargo origin-ates in the United States because of its dominant role in this theatre. That's why the last leg of the flights is based at McChord field near Tacoma, Wash. American ser-vice personnel are usually sur-prised—and pleased—when they find themselves in Canadian hands because of the RCAF safety rec-ord.

The North Stars actually origin-ate their flights in Montreal and are used for military and cargo service between Dorval and Van-couver. Their crews have built up thousands of hours of safe flying records that probably exceed those of other countries for the same age group.

For example on one recent flight to this terminus, the captain was FO. Bob Husch of Kelowna, B.C.; only 21; his first officer was FO. Bill Kronich of Albany, N.Y., and navigator, 22, the navigator was FO. Keith Ramey of Bridgewater, N.S., a mere 18, and they were two veterans of 24 and 27. FO. Fred Huard of Haileybury, Ont., and Don Seaton of Ottawa. A real old timer was the flight engineer, 32-year-old Frank Fraser of Dauphin, Man., one man with a war record.

CAREFUL COMMANDER

Commander of the squadron is Wing Cmdr. W. R. Lapton, who like most of the unit, lives at the Montreal base. He is not only a pilot but a practical guy who op-erates on the basis that the life he saves may be his own. His serious approach to maintenance and op-eration radiates through all ranks and is just as exhaustive and careful at Shemya as at Dorval.

The ground servicing detach-ments of eight with their equip-ment and spare parts are stationed at all points along the route to Tokyo. They often work around the clock to clear a rush of planes. The big North Stars operate in bad weather, keeping on schedule. This often means long hours in the bone-chilling cold of wind-swept fields in Alaska and along the Aleutian chain.

The detachment at Shemya is a good example of how maintenance is carried on without loss of time and temper and with no effect on morale despite the bleak climate. When you can see beyond your nose which is rare, the outlook is the bleak and other flotter 'fields in Pacific and the station hasn't a girl, a tree and hardly a blade of grass. It's strictly a landing strip with barracks and hangars.

CHEERFUL FORCE

But the detachment, under FO. Mark Innes of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., has a cheerful outlook and a sense of humor. Crew members work only on three-month hitches which gives them little time to get bushed.

The ground detachment at Shemya includes veterans like Sgt. Gerry Shane, R. Ottawa; Cpl. Johnny Launoe, 24, Montreal; Cpl. Bob Russel, 30, Montreal and LAC Butch Boucher, Quebec. Ike Ishi-buchi, Vancouver. Bobbie Robi-chaud, Moncton, N.B., and Ernie Trepanier, Megantic, Que.

They spend their spare time see-ing five movies a week, playing cribbage and bridge and bett of all, reading mail from home. Their only beef is when the mail doesn't come.

Gerry Shane said that all new-comers are told right away about the girl situation.

"We tell 'em first that there are as many women on the island as there are trees," says Gerry.

"And before it gets real enough for them to see that there aren't any trees, we tell 'em about the 500 beautiful Russian girls who work in the fish factory on a nearby Siberian island. We tell 'em how a ferry service runs regularly to the island, how one girl—Olga—is especially beautiful, and how they all come over to our dance on Saturday nights. Some of them believe it and we've even had guys get all cleaned up and start out asking about ferry schedules. They want to get a head start on the other 500 guys on the base."

Acute Alcholism Cause of Death

STRATFORD (CP) — A coron-er's jury decided Wednesday that Mrs. Alfretia Brown, 44, a nurse at Stratford General Hospital, died of acute alcoholism.

The inquest was called after bruises on several parts of her body gave rise to the suspicion of foul play. A sister of the dead woman from Sarnia testified that easy bruising is a characteristic of the family.

Dr. J. L. Penistan, pathol-ogist, testified that liver tis-sue had been destroyed. Mrs. Brown died Jan. 31.

Inquest Jury Says Youth Died Of Ruptured Liver

ORILLIA (CP)—An inquest jury decided Wednesday that a youth-ful patient in a mental hospital died of a ruptured liver suffered in a scuffle with an attendant. It absolved the hospital staff of any blame.

Evidence was that the patient, Albert Edward Morrison of Moose Factory, grappled with attendant Harold Rogers Feb. 2 and tried to choke him. Rogers had been attempting to lead the youth from the hospital dining room to the dormitory where Morrison was confined as part of punishment.

In the struggle, both the youth and the attendant fell to the floor. Morrison died an hour and a half later.

Provincial pathologist Dr. An-thony Barkauskas testified that an autopsy showed the cause of death as a ruptured liver. He said the liver was poorly developed and in-adequately supported because of abnormally thin and elongated lig-ament. Any violent movement could produce a rupture in a defec-tive liver of the type he found in Morrison, he said.

Dr. Fred Hamilton, hospital superintendent, described Morri-son as having a mental age of eight years. Morrison was ad-mitted to the hospital Jan. 22, 1952, and was a model patient until two weeks before the struggle that led to his death, Dr. Hamil-ton said.

The superintendent said that during the two-week period the youth became boisterous and dis-obedient, a condition Dr. Hamil-ton described as a recurrence of a psychotic disturbance.

Sunday School Lesson:

Hatreds Make Strange Bedfellows

By ROY L. SMITH

One of the most interesting things about the New Testament is the remarkable way in which some very plain people show up to great advantage, although there were an essential dignity about human nature which dis-ease, poverty, race, color, or eco-nomic status cannot destroy.

For an entire lifetime a poor wretch had lain at the gate of the Temple begging alms. Ig-nored by everyone, judged to have been born under a terrible odium of sin because of his blind-ness, and treated everywhere and at all times with contempt, the poor fellow represented the low-est of the low in the city. But as the story progresses we discover in him qualities of character and mind that are nothing less than magnificent. He had an indepen-dence of mind, and a clarity of logic, that are very refreshing even in a scientific day.

SOUGHT TO DISCREDIT JESUS

The learned doctors of the law, like bigots in any age or circum-stance, were determined to dis-credit the young prophet of Gal-ilee because he had dared ignore one of their precious regulations. It made little difference to them that a blind man, formerly a public charge and a public nui-sance, had been healed of his blindness. Human values were, to them, of far less importance than argumentative victories. They would far rather have let the poor wretch go on in his wretchedness for the rest of his days than that they be compelled to give an inch in their logical position. In this they did not dif-fer greatly from the modern con-troversialist who would rather destroy a godly work than to see it done by one of his polemical rivals.

With solemn and terrible im-pressiveness they charged him to tell the truth—"How did this man do this thing?" "Is he a sinner, as we say he is, or not?"

It must be remembered that his Inquisitors had the power to ex-communicate him entirely, so that he would wander for the rest of his days entirely outside all the pale of recent society.

"NOW I SEE"

But the young man, with a disarming logic, asked them a few simple questions. "Has any-one ever healed a man of blind-ness before? Are you learned doctors of the law and are you not able to explain this? I am but a poor ignorant fellow of no standing, and there are thou-sands of things I do not know, but I do know this. I was blind, and now I see."

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for February 2: The Man Born Blind," John 9.

No man is ever more vindic-tive than that one who is conceit-ed over his own power and privi-leges, and who is confronted by a contradictory and inescapable fact at the hands of one he con-siders his social inferior. The wrath of the learned doctors of the law was nothing short of ter-rible, as it always is under sim-ilar circumstances.

In the last analysis Christian-ity, as every other religion, must rest its case on a single argu-ment. It must prove its claims by its performances.

As long as the church of Jesus Christ can open the minds of men, making them more honest and just. In dealing with the truth, making them more con-siderate of their fellow men when they are equally honest, making them more ready to co-operate with all decency and righteousness, making them easier to live with and more reverent of holy things, making them more generous of mind and heart, it has no fear of no successful contradiction.

Woman Detective Tells of Buying Black Market Baby

Paid $3,000 to Lawyer Louis Glazer in Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — A New York woman detective told criminal court here Friday she bought a baby in a Montreal black market for $3,000.

Miss Theresa Bagatta said she paid the money to Louis Glazer, Montreal lawyer, and that she had a false birth registration for the child arranged through him.

She told Glazer this preliminary hearing of Glazer, charged on five counts in connection with what police have described as a $3,000,000 baby-selling racket operating in Montreal and the United States.

Judge Gerald Almond adjourned until next week the hearing of Glazer, who faces two charges of conspiracy in connection with birth registration, two of falsification and forgery and one of uttering.

The judge set the same date for continuation of the hearing of another Montreal lawyer, Herbert Gelber, charged with falsifying entries in birth certificate and with giving advice and assistance in procuring an indictable offence. Both have pleaded not guilty.

PARENTS' WORRIES

Meanwhile, George Hill, crown prosecutor in charge of the case, announced action asking for a purgatory commission to go to New York to question persons there about the adoption records from the international ring. The judge took the motion under advisement.

Such a commission would take evidence which could be used at subsequent trials. It would resemble a purgatory in New York of coming to Montreal to testify.

Only witness at Bullet's hearing was Georges Boyer, statistician and registrar, who testified that legal documents and other exhibits were official registrars. He also testified regarding a particular name inscribed in one.

Judge Almond told reporters early in the day he is contemplating of court if a name mentioned in a birth certificate book produced in court were made public.

Nehru to Confer With St. Laurent On Six Occasions

NEW DELHI (CP) — Indian leaders, impressed by the six whole days which Mme. Louis St. Laurent will spend in their country—longest scheduled stop on his round-the-world tour—prepared today to talk over their problems with the Canadian leader.

The prime minister visited Labore, in Pakistan's northwest frontier province, today after arriving Friday at Peshawar, in the rugged region of historic Khyber Pass. He is due to arrive in this Indian Commonwealth republic at noon Sunday.

At least six different times at his arrival here, the Canadian leader will be closeted with Prime Minister Nehru, and it is a general guess that India's opposition to the proposed United States arms to Pakistan, the Moslem state bordering India which was made a separate Dominion in 1947, will be high on the list of subjects they will discuss.

Canada is the country which India sought hardest to enlist in the role of intervener with the U.S. in an effort to slow or block the program of help in Pakistan's armament. Hindu India and Moslem Pakistan have long disputed on many issues, particularly the fate of the rich Kashmir area.

Canada has made no public declaration on the subject beyond the prime minister's statement that India and Pakistan should follow the Canadian-U.S. example of settling neighborly relations.

The colorful Nehru heads a galaxy of officials and diplomats who will be waiting Sunday when the RCAF's C-5 transport carrying the Canadian party lands at Palam, New Delhi's nearby airfield.

For three nights the two prime ministers will dine together, and the program also lists three other formal meetings between them, when Nehru will present Asian problems as India views them.

Two Bigamous Marriages Are Annulled by Court

TORONTO (CP) — Two bigamous marriages involving men who had been married before, ended the Iron Curtain and wedded again were annulled Friday.

In Ontario Supreme Court hearings, Mr. Justice Wilfred Judson declared null and void the double wedding ceremonies that united Elizabeth Jobko and Mrs. Ruth Jean Reigh, Yugoslavs who met in a displaced persons' camp in Italy and were married in St. Peter's church in Rome, and George Popovich and Estella Curin who became acquainted in Toronto.

Loula Herman, counsel for the women, said that in the case of the first couple the "bride" wrote home to her mother in Yugoslavia who checked with a village priest and learned about Reigi's wife and child. Annulled at once, not long after the ceremony, found among her husband's possessions was a certificate of his former marriage in Yugoslavia.

The original marriage documents of both Reigh and Popovich were produced in court.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: Scattered showers entering southwestern Ontario this morning will produce showers through the rest of the province tonight and Sunday. There appears little prospect for much change in the mild temperatures of recent days. This is because a large area of low pressure in the central states is now moving quite slowly and hence the winds will be blowing from a southerly quarter for the next 48 hours.

HUGE WINDSOR CHEMICAL PLANT DROPS 22 FEET

Canadian Industries Suffers Heavy Loss

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Sections of a huge chemical plant on the banks of the Detroit river continued to settle into a newly-created lake resulting from underground cave-ins.

Part of the marshy land on which the $6,000,000 Canadian Industries Limited plant is built dropped at least 22 feet with little warning Friday, carrying down two big buildings.

Today the earth still crumbled. Cracks appeared in a two-year-old office building. Officials said the Canadian Salt Company plant, an industry linked to the chemical one, is settling. Workers cleared all records and furniture out of the salt company's office building.

The water-filled pit stretched 375 yards from east to west and 125 yards from north to south. The water level appeared the same as the Detroit river. The river was rising and it was believed river water was breaking into the pit through salt mine crevices in the limestone formation.

A hydrogen tank on one end of a concrete slab listed eight inches to the right and company officials said that if the tank were to topple, an announcement to that effect would end the slab would go down as well.

ROAD THREATENED

Other nearby structures included a four-storey salt warehouse and a plant which makes the bleaching chlorine. Officials said the warehouse would be the westmost plant could drop away.

Rockers on a railway spur also were threatened.

Two C.I. buildings were ruined in the initial collapse. A large warehouse all but vanished in the sudden cave-in and a pump-house settled to its rooftop with more than $10,000 worth of equipment.

A representative of a diving company Friday night went to the pit and retired after a series of services in recovering the pumping machinery.

The area was closed to sightseers but countless motorists traveling along Highway 2 at a safe distance away slowed down to try to get a look at the crippled chemical plant with some of its buildings sunk and others tilted at crazy angles.

The 30-acre plant lies less than a mile from the $45,000,000 Ontario hydro commission steam-powered electric generating plant.

EXPLOSION FEARED

Muffled explosions about noon Friday warned CIL and Canadian Salt officials that they had ordered 200 workers from the buildings which had settled. No one was injured.

Fears that the buildings sank in water pushed up from the depths of the earth and swirled about the structures.

One theory was that a cavein in the Detroit river where ice was mined half a century ago caused the land to settle. However, foreign legend also attributed the appearance of "black water" when earthquakes struck Detroit and when there had been an earth slippage at the depth of about 100 feet.

Immediately after the Canadian invitation nor the Queen's conditional acceptance include Princess Margaret.

The government extended the invitation to the Queen Mother after the recent announcement that she will be going to the United States for a 10-day tour in the fall. Since the announcement did not mention the princess, the Canadian invitation did not include her.

The prospective Canadian visit was discussed by Prime Minister Frolic when Donald Fleming, (C.C.-Toronto Eglinton) asked Acting Prime Minister Dow if there has been a reply to the Canadian invitation.

"I have heard indirectly . . . that the Queen Mother has stated that the Queen will come to Canada," Mr. Howe said amid applause.

Later, government officials said the Queen's reply to the invitation has been received but hope her visit but had stated there will be no public announcement until plans were arranged further.

ANTIQUE TORN DOWN

— NAPANEE (CP)—This town's last link with the horse-and-buggy days was broken Friday with the removal of a church shed at Centre United Church. The building was the last of such structures in this area once provided by most churches to be the protection horses while their owners attended services.

Dust Storms, Gales, Tornadoes Present Crazy Weather Pattern

CHICAGO (CP)—A big portion of the United States today presented a patchwork scene of nature with the colors shading from dark brown to white.

High winds kicked up heavy dust storms over the midwest states Friday and were followed by heavy snow in some areas Friday night.

Western Kansas, hit hardest by the duster, came in for a full-fledged blizzard. After a day of zero visibility because of dust, the snow swept over the state out powerlines and stall transportation.

Communications with 16 Kansas towns were reported cut off. The highway patrol said all roads and major highways in the northwestern corner of the state were blocked by drifting snow.

Eight passenger trains were reported halted between Kinsley and Garden City. Power outages and signal systems were crippled by ice and snow. Scores of automobiles were ditched and abandoned.

Light snow still was falling early today.

Dust piled up to three inches in streets Friday and, as the rain and snow moved in, mud balls and broken snow fell in some areas.

TEXAS DUST FALL

A dust pall hung over Texas early today except for the western tip.

Blowing dust was heaviest in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, but also dipped over into sections of Colorado and New Mexico.

Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, was hard hit when 65-mile-an-hour winds knocked down power lines and an estimated two-thirds of the television antennas in the city.

Rounding out the Friday weather scene were two tornadoes, one at Pine Bluff, Ark., and the other at Conroe, Tex.

Five persons were injured in the Arkansas twister and 30 buildings were damaged. At Pine Bluff, six homes were wrecked and one child was injured.

PAY INCREASES FOR CABINET ARE OPPOSED

Coldwell and Drew Differ As to Reasons

OTTAWA (CP)—Pay increases for the cabinet, an extra $10,000 for the prime minister and $5,000 for other ministers in the government, are opposed by two parties. Their reasons are sharply different.

CCF leader Coldwell said Friday that "at this time" is more than is warranted at this time."

However, opposition leader Drew criticized a vote to implement the increases as giving the Commons no chance to study an alternative idea of tailoring the salary to fit the individual job.

He said the question should be referred to a select parliamentary committee or royal commission for an inquiry before the Commons is asked to approve any raises.

Debate will be resumed Monday on the legislation, which increases the salary of the prime minister to $15,000 from $10,000.

ADDITIONAL ALLOWANCE

The increase, effective April 1, would be on top of a $4,000 raise in parliamentary indemnity which became law earlier this week. All members of the Commons and Senate now receive $10,000 a year. The increase would make the total pay for the prime minister $29,000, including a $2,000 tax-free allowance.

Acting Prime Minister Howe, opening the debate Friday, said the salary of the prime minister has not been changed since 1920 is "perhaps the strangest argument" for the legislation.

Those days, Income tax was negligible. But the present tax on a cabinet minister's salary and income on his pay is "no more than the salary of a very junior executive in an ordinary business corporation."

The prime minister's job was "literally the position of the greatest responsibility of any man in Canada" and the salary of the group of executives worked longer hours under greater responsibilities than cabinet ministers.

Mr. Drew said a select committee or royal commission should be set up to study an "alternative method" to a flat pay rate for all ministers.

"BIG BUSINESS"

Government was "big business on a very large scale" and cabinet salaries should reflect that fact. They should be based on executive salaries to the responsibilities of the job and the capabilities of individuals.

Mr. Drew said varying amounts are paid to ambassadors in the United Kingdom, Australia and France.

Mr. Coldwell said the Commons must accept its responsibility to fix the salaries and added: "I refer it to a committee or commission."

The CCF party would oppose the bill although individual members felt some increase was justified, especially for the prime minister.

Solon E. Low (SC—Mackenzie), speaking in the absence of Social Credit Leader Blair, said he has "no particular objection" to the increases.

MOUNTAIN TRAVESTY

John Diefenbaker (PC—Prince Albert) said the public was not ready for the proposed increase for last summer's election. Unemployment insurance legislation was "a travesty on Parliament."

Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) said the second $4,000 indemnity increase is more than most Canadians make in such a year. The cabinet should seek no more at present.

Court Hears Story of Brave Man Broken by Red Captors

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a drab, improvised courtroom on a hill overlooking the Pentagon, United States military headquarters, marine Sgt. Peter Cpl. Schwable told the central figure in the story of a man broken by his Communist captors.

He was a war prisoner in Korea 14 months. Midway in his captivity he signed a confession of his part in germ-warfare activities which, in fact, never were carried on.

The Reds used Schwable's "confession" for propaganda. Now a four-member court of inquiry is trying to decide whether the 25-year-old Schwable should face a court-martial.

Four marines and one army sergeant glimpsed Schwable in prison camps during his ordeal told their stories Friday.

Some told of seeing Schwable in September and October, 1953—emaciated, unshaven, jittery but defiant. Schwable was in solitary most of the preceding July 8. He'd been thrown into solitary confinement, harrassed by constant questioning, deprived of food. But his attitude toward his Red tormentors was: "Go to hell."

Former marine Cpl. William N. Mayer told how Schwable's defiant words ring out in a film voice one night over the loudspeaker. Schwable interrogator was submitting Schwable to inquisition.

"BRAINWASHING"

Sgt. Pearson O. Porter, an army man, told of stronger language from Schwable in reply to a Communist questioner.

It was a different story, though, by Dec. 8 when Schwable and some of the men were herded into the "progressive" section of the camp. They described the colored lights:

"Awful nervous."

"Oh, that sheet is bright ahead."

"He kept jerking and twitching, like a punch-drunk prize fighter."

Cpl. Charles Mead, Schwable's leaped up to his feet and cried he was "brainwashed by all these Commies" and off on the floor. Again, they said, he brooded two hours before making the notation of the guard's remark about the weather, and that the colonel started the shadow-boxing when they stopped for food.

Queen Mother Likely to Pay Canada Visit

OTTAWA (CP) — Queen Mother Elizabeth, who captivated Canadians on the royal tour of 1939, is likely to pay another—but much briefer—visit to Canada in November.

Buckingham Palace has advised Governor General Vincent Massey that she "hopes very much" to come to this country again while she is in North America for a trip to the United States to attend Eisenhower's inauguration.

So far, government informants to the palace have received Canadian invitation nor the Queen's conditional acceptance include Princess Margaret.

The government extended the invitation to the Queen Mother after the recent announcement that she will be going to the United States for a 10-day tour in the fall. Since the announcement did not mention the princess, the Canadian invitation did not include her.

Rescue Heir To Rum Fortune After Abduction

SANTIAGO, Cuba (AP) — Swift army action, rescue, arrests and the killing of a servant deemed ringleader broke the Facundo Bacardi kidnapping Friday night little more than 11 hours after the eight-year-old heir to a rum fortune was taken from his home.

The servant was chauffeur Guillermo Rodriguez, 30, who reportedly discharged navy veteran who drove the boy to the fashionable section where he was found.

Accused of conspiracy in the kidnapping of the millionaire's son while attempting to escape" soon after Facundo was safely restored to his family, Rodriguez reportedly nabbed while walking the boy along a street in the suburb of Vista Alegre.

Army officials said Rodriguez, ejected out of the navy as a result of juana peddler and gambler some months before the Bacardi family moved to the area, was one of the soldiers' bullets when he made a break for freedom in the country while re-enacting his part in the crime.

The surviving prisoner, Manuel Echevarria, 20, faces prosecution under a law providing a maximum of 12 years for kidnapping.

TIRED, HUNGRY

"To Facundo, the day was one of thrilling adventure.

"There was lots and lots of walking and I got very tired and hungry," he said. "The men did not harm me in any way, but they gave me bananas to eat. I am partine now."

The ransom was paid.

Facundo's father, Daniel Bacardi, had offered $100,000 in peso notes and made one attempt through Rodriguez to deliver it as instructed. But the note from the chauffeur said was given him by a group of three kidnappers.

But Rodriguez returned with a story that he was unable to re-establish contact.

The lieutenant said the boy might be the rum heir, Gambos shouted "Facundo!"

Mr. Drew said varying amounts are paid to ambassadors in the United Kingdom, Australia and France.

Mr. Coldwell said the Commons must accept its responsibility to fix the salaries and added: "I refer it to a committee or commission."

The CCF party would oppose the bill although individual members felt some increase was justified, especially for the prime minister.

Solon E. Low (SC—Mackenzie), speaking in the absence of Social Credit Leader Blair, said he has "no particular objection" to the increases.

Dulles Maintains Geneva Parley Victory For U.S.

Says U.S. Got All It Wanted In Plan for Asia Conference

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dulles has undertaken to convince his critics, Congress and the country that the United States scored a diplomatic victory in arranging for a conference to discuss peace in Asia.

Dulles returned Friday night from Berlin, where four foreign ministers' meeting in Berlin, where he agreed to posting Russia and China to the conference opening April 26 at Geneva, Switzerland.

The conference is disturbed by fears in Congress that "appeasement" might result. He told reporters that the U.S. got "100 per cent" of what it wanted and that the plan and composition of the conference are precisely what we sought."

Dulles, fatigued after nearly a month of fencing with Russia's V. M. Molotov, turned down days of questioning by congressional leaders of both parties and by congressional foreign-affairs committees. He also will report Wednesday night on the Berlin talks.

He is said to be planning to emphasize that the U.S. will continue to refuse recognition to Red China and will not permit her admission to the United Nations.

PEACE TO KOREA

The Asian peace conference will search for ways of bring peace in Korea and also to end the seven-year Indochina war, according to Indo-China.

Dulles also is reported concerned over a diplomatic protest lodged by South Korea's ambassador Yoo Chan Yang, acting on instructions from his government, Yang called at the state department a few hours before Dulles' arrival to protest that the Berlin conference refused to consider Korea's request for the withdrawal of Red Chinese troops from the South.

Support Policy Not Likely To Be Affected

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government's price support policy on butter is not likely to be affected by a drop in the United States government support price, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said Friday.

"We do not expect the U.S. support price will continue at that level," he told the Commons in reply to a question from R. E. Anderson (PC—Peace River).

Mr. Gardiner said the eight-cent reduction in the U.S. support price brings it down to 58 cents a pound, the same figure at which the Canadian government buys producers' surpluses.

Tasmania Renames Cape After Queen As Royal Pair Visits 'Apple Island'

HOBART, Tasmania (AP)—150th anniversary of the founding Honor for Australia's first geographical reminder of the current royal tour was the renaming of the "apple island" off the Commonwealth's southern coast.

As the royal Gothic rounded Cape Pillar early today and sailed up the island's east coast, Premier Robert, the Tasmanian government announced that henceforth it will be called Cape Queen Elizabeth.

The cape, known to mariners the world over who have taken their ships to Hobart, is marked by its 1,000-foot-high cliffs which can be seen for miles.

The royal couple's arrival in Hobart today coincided with the of the city. The Gothic steamed through a welcoming swarm of yachts, small craft moored along the Derwent, while a squadron of Australian bombers dipped overhead in salute.

An estimated 150,000 people, many of them on vacation and in carnival spirits all night, greeted the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh with cheering as they were welcomed by Governor Sir Ronald Cross.

The Queen, dressed in a fitted lavender - grey coat with long sleeves, a close - fitting matching hat and high shoes, received a civic welcome after driving through the decorated streets.

Forest Policy For Ontario To Be Outlined

TORONTO (CP)—A white paper on Ontario forests will be presented in the legislature Monday.

Premier Frost indicated the report will set down a long-range policy on Ontario forests.

"We are at the point where the forest inventory is virtually completed in most parts of Ontario," he said in the house Friday. "What we now must do is establish a long-range policy on forests. There are unlisted problems, and the fairest way to put them to the people . . . is to place a white paper before the house. Then let those people who wish to make known their opinions, come before us."

He said the report, to be presented by Lands and Forests Minister Gemmell, will be referred to committee for study. It was prepared by Maj.-Gen. Howard Kennedy, forest conservation author-search for new land by the R. E. Sisco, dean of forestry at the University of Toronto, in co-operation with the lands and forests department.

DISCUSS ELECTION LAWS

A difference in opinion in government party ranks arose Friday over the report of the select committee on election laws.

Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar and Dr. C. F. Cownie (PC—Waterloo North) objected to the recommended $200 deposit by candidates in provincial elections and the lowering of the number of signatures on nomination papers from 100 to 10.

Mr. Dunbar said the deposit was "penalizing" and Mr. Cownie objected for public service and a reduction of names on nomination papers would allow "crackpots" to run for office. He and Dr. Leavine favored 200 names.

H. C. Nixon (L—Brant) and W. J. Gilbertson (PC—Cochrane South) expressed approval of a recommendation calling for permanent planning offices but were opposed to any deposit, calling it "undemocratic."

Machinists' Lodge Holds Banquet, Hears F. Follwell

TRENTON (Special) — Frank Follwell, member of parliament for Hastings South, reviewed 50 years of labor progress in Canada as he spoke at the 10th anniversary banquet of Lodge 1788 Machinists at the Quaseway Hotel here last night.

He added that the position of labor at the turn of the century was one of struggle and insecurity. Conditions improved because of sound labor management and skilled labor, he said, saying "it is f'kam that can't be beaten. Labor can't be beaten in wartime and surely it can't be beaten in peacetime."

Management's task, he said, is to aid labor and management in reaching one solution. Mr. Follwell addressing members of lodge 1788 and their wives and distinguished guests mentioned the great benefits the Beta community had brought to the community.

"Labor has a stake in Canada," he continued. "Labor is aware that under freedom it is able to thrive." The outlook for labor people to have confidence and faith in the future.

Mr. Follwell touched on the unemployment situation. "Don't mal-nutrition," he said, "and no Canadian expects employment to be the same in mid-winter as it is later on in the year."

We Canadian can combat the potentiality of Canada", he asserted.

THANKS COMPANY.

Alex Ketch, Regional Organizer of the Machinists' Union, said he appreciated the co-operation the shop company has given the union. He recalled that Lodge 1788 started with 90 men and 10 women as charter members. He disclosed that 19 original members still hold charter memberships.

Dr. C. K. Hyer of the Beta Company, who acted his business trip to South America to be present at the dinner, said he received his invitation while sitting in a plane high above the Andes.

"This seems to be a year of anniversaries," he said, announcing that the Beta company has been in Canada 15 years and that the event was being duly celebrated. He introduced Mr. Follwell.

Lodge President Roy Osterhout offered a vote of thanks to Mr. Follwell and said he hoped to see the Lodge membership increase by the next anniversary. He thanked the committee and staff for providing the sumptuous meal.

Art Duncan of the Beta Company acted as chairman.

Boundary Lines of Manitoba Ridings May Be Redrawn

(By THE CANADIAN PRESS)

The boundary lines of Manitoba constituencies may be redrawn to keep pace with development and population shifts.

Premier Campbell of Manitoba proposed in the legislature at Winnipeg Friday that a committee be appointed to study the problem. It is expected that Ottawa will make a similar committee this year.

The last Manitoba redistribution in 1949, eliminated two rural constituencies, gave two additional seats to Winnipeg, a second to St. Boniface and created the constituency of Kildonan-Transcona. The house now has 57 seats.

As throne speech debate continued in the Saskatchewan legislature, the only woman member, Mrs. C. C. Merriam, said she cannot vote for Regina, said she cannot support the view that restriction makes people wait a while until easy. accessibility would decrease use of liquor. She said any proposal to make the province's liquor laws more liberal should be approached with extreme caution.

INCREASED PENALTIES

A measure introduced in the Alberta legislature would increase the fine for illegal entry into a prison from $10 to $50 and the alternative jail term from one month to three. The increased penalties also would apply for trespassing or loitering on prison property.

The Quebec legislature discussed details of the proposed provincial income tax. Premier Duplessis said his government is ready to reconsider fixing the filing date at March 15, six weeks ahead of the deadline for federal returns.

In the New Brunswick Legislature, Attorney General Bennett gave notice of a request for information. The Progressive Conservative government will face the biggest single list of opposition questions in years.

Eisenhower Believes Consumer Takes His Cue from Robins

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Watch how the consumer reacts to the robins. If he starts to buy more in March from now and gives business its usual spring lift, President Eisenhower says, all will be well and the United States government's prescription for curing the recession by encouraging business will work as planned.

If the consumer doesn't—or can't —step up his buying, then Eisenhower proposes to tackle the recession from the other end and give the consumer more encouragement—presumably by lightening his tax load.

So far, the idea has largely been that it is business and industry that provide jobs and therefore tax burdens on business should be eased. Credit made readily available and at slightly lower interest rates. Business can stay healthy, or recover its health—and create more jobs.

The U.S. economy got a $5,000,000,000-a-year boost Jan. 1 when that amount of local taxes was lifted from off the books. Other tax easing for business is before Congress. The effect of this, Eisenhower has been mostly psychological—as witness the stock market's reaction so far the tax reforms are only a future promise, being still under debate in Congress.

JOBLESS COUNT RISES

But the number of those out of work continues to rise—it officially admitted now to be more than 3,000,000.

At the end of the year the total dollar value of the goods and services turned out in the United States was dropping at the rate of $6,000,000,000 a year. And the drop has continued this year.

Industrial production, which usually rises in January, dipped this time, and the February output of both steel and factories will doubtless be still lower.

Business failures have been rising. Chain stores report their sales in each of the last six months have been running behind the previous year's figures.

Since most observers expected a drop in February, there has been little alarm. All hands, however, have been counting on March and April to halt or slow down this downward trend somewhat.

Spring usually makes consumers think of a lot of things they'd like to buy—a car, new finery for Easter, a home in the suburbs. Spring revives jobs on the farm, usually gives the building industry a boost.

A Lift for Living

Making Time

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

We have mentioned "Spending Time" and "Saving Time". This week we consider "Making Time".

Time is elastic. Some days stretch out with seeming endlessness, others race past in a flash. An hour spent in a hospital awaiting the outcome of an operation may seem an eternity, while to a pair of lovers an hour is gone before they know it.

Since time is so elastic, God can help us to make time by crowding more experience into certain magic moments. By that I do not mean rushing around pushing with more things or trying to cram more thrills into a crowded schedule, as some tourists try "to do" Rome in an afternoon or try to take in a half dozen night-clubs before closing time.

We can compute man-hours of manual labor and the horse-power of machines, but who can say how much thought and feeling can be put into an hour? We can open our minds and hearts to a greater flow of thought and emotion. Recall how Handel composed "The Messiah." For twenty-four days he was completely withdrawn from the things of this world. He was so immersed in his music that the food brought to him was sometimes left untouched. Describing his feeling when the Hallelujah chorus burst on his mind, Handel said, "I did think I did see all Heaven before me and the great God Himself."

ONE CROWDED HOUR

We ordinary mortals do not have the capacity of a Handel but we can have our high moments when we feel that one crowded hour of glorious life is worth an age without a name." If we hold our minds to the things we know and open our hearts to the best we feel, God fills our minutes with magic content.

Another way to make time is to decide in advance what you most want to do. We can always make time for a thing if we desire it enough. We commonly say that when you want a thing done, go to the busy person. We mean that he handles his time efficiently. He knows how to put first things first.

Hence it is a good thing to start the morning by making a review of the day. Decide on the "musts." Emergencies may arise to interrupt your schedule, but don't let them sidetrack you. It was said of Oliver Cromwell that he always gave the impression of "going somewhere." He knew his goal and he was on his way, leaving the world to marvel at his energy and achievement.

DOUBLE DUTY

God helps us to make time by living concurrently in other lives. There is a good sense as well as a bad sense to which a man can live a double life. I think of a father whose son died young. That father once told me that he felt he must somehow carry on his work, and he does double duty, exerting almost superhuman efforts.

During the last war a young naval officer of my acquaintance saw a shipmate die when his destroyer was hit. The young lieutenant said to me then: I think of my future, the most compelling thought which comes to me is that I must carry on what that lad wanted his country to do."

God helps us to make time by living in lives that will come after ours. We can experience what George Eliot prayed for: "Oh may I join the choir invisible of those immortal dead who live again in minds made better by their presence."

NOT LIMITED IN LIFE

We are not limited to our own little span of years. Some of us will go on living in our children and grandchildren. Some will be living fifty years from now in the careers of those boys and girls whom they are helping through college. Some will be living a hundred years hence in movements and causes which they have aided.

Would we make the most of our time as Saint Paul bade us? Then let us improve each passing moment, but also remember that we can make added time by extending our lives into lives and causes which will be going on far beyond our years.

For Parents Only

Fear In Children

By NANCY CLEAVER

"Daddy, I'm scared!" "Mummy, I'm afraid!"

How do you re-act to your child's fear? Perhaps he doesn't say he is afraid, but you can see that he is frightened. Fear is written on his little face. The muscles of his body are tense, His heart is pounding like a hammer. -

Fathers are sometimes annoyed when a son shows is frightened. They forget how they felt when they were small! They may be more lenient with a little girl's uneasiness. But all the same, they are proud of their children when they are confident and sure of themselves.

Mothers are more apt to be sympathetic. Often a child needs a mother's re-assuring arms to put courage back into him. Perhaps he just needs comforting to make the sun seem to shine on a gloomy day.

COMMON EXPERIENCE

Parents are able to be more patient with their child's fears if they know that being afraid is a common experience of all little folk. No infant instinctively fear of certain things. But a new baby appears to be frightened by loud, sharp noises. He is scared if he seems to be falling. Also because this makes him feel insecure.

A little child is often nervous in unfamiliar surroundings or with a stranger. If he has no pet at home, a cat or dog may frighten him. Between the ages of two and six, bad dreams of lions, bears, tigers and such sometimes are so terrifying that a child cries out and wakes up. Almost every child at some time expresses fear of the dark. Terrifying movies or T.V. shows may be a source of nightmare and certain kinds of violent Crime Comics have tended to greatly increase school children's nightmares.

MISTAKE IN TRAINING

Unnecessary exposure to fear-provoking situations is a mistake in child training. Movies which are advertised as showing "most seniational" or "most gruesome scenes" are certainly not suitable for tiny tots or even public school scholars. A cross watch dog at a certain home, may be avoided by walking along with mother on the other side of the street. At the same time parents should explain to boys and girls that there are many movies suitable for juveniles and that most days are full of children and enjoy their company.

A child will be able to be able to confess one's anxieties to a friendly parent. Especially at bed-time a child's fears may be mentioned. The majority of youngsters, especially boys, who engage in rough play, secretly fear danger situations in which they may receive bodily injury. They may also be very much afraid of being called a "sissy" when they are dared to do something they realize is unsafe.

Fear of parents of a bed-time a child's fears may be mentioned. Physicians often prefer to see their small patients alone because the parent's apprehension is most contagious. The child should be told that the doctor is a kindly person. Although his treatment may hurt, it won't hurt for long. This helps a child to overcome his panic when entering a doctor's office. Letting a child know that we expect banishes the dread of the unknown to some extent.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

JESUS IS ALL THE WORLD TO ME

Jesus is all the world to me,
My life, my joy, my all;
He is my strength from day to day,
Without Him I would fall.
When I am sad, to Him I go,
No other one can cheer me so;
When I am sad, He makes me glad,
He's my Friend.

Jesus is all the world to me,
My Friend in trials sore;
I go to Him for blessings,
And He gives them o'er and o'er;
He sends the sunshine and the rain,
He sends the harvest's golden grain;
Sunshine and rain, harvest - or plain,
He's my Friend.

Jesus is all the world to me,
And true to Him I'll be;
Oh, how could I have a Friend deny
When He's so true to me?
Following Him I know I'm right,
He watches o'er me day and night;
Following Him, by day and night,
He's my Friend.

Jesus is all the world to me,
I want no better Friend;
I trust Him now, I'll trust Him when
Life's fleeting days shall end.
Beautiful life with such a Friend;
Beautiful life that has no end;
Eternal life, eternal joy,
He's my Friend.

JESUS IS ALL THE WORLD TO ME"

Will L. Thompson, the author of this popular gospel hymn, found the friend of whom he sang at a Methodist revival meeting and his song-message must have reflected something of his own spiritual joy following his decision to yield his life to Christ.

His hymn, and others which he wrote, have been sung through the years at revivals and evangelistic meetings have been instrumental in persuading thousands of pilgrims to set their feet upon the path that leads to Jesus.

Mr. Thompson was born in 1849 in Liverpool, Ohio and lived out his entire life in that community. He died there in 1911. He wrote the music and the words for most of his hymn creations.

Christians new and old, in gospel services and mission meetings across America, still love to sing "Jesus Is All The World To Me" along with other Thompson favorites like "Jesus, Lover Of My Soul" and "Softly and Tenderly, Jesus is Calling". Hymn lovers of all Christendom, through several generations, have been singing the popular refrain of the last mentioned gem:

"Come home, come home,
Ye who are weary, come home;
Earnestly, tenderly, Jesus is calling,
Calling, O sinner, come home!"

What to Do...

When Someone Faints

Never have to give first aid to someone who has fainted?

There's no need to get panicky, says St. John Ambulance. First—it's important to know what to do. The popular movie remedy of sloshing or splashing cold water on the face is not recommended. Nor is trying to revive the victim to a sitting position or slapping his face.

Leave him flat on the ground and loosen any tight clothing around the neck and waist. If you have some smelling salts handy, or some aromatic spirits of ammonia, you can hold them under her nose, although this isn't essential. Nature is a short effective doctor and if it's just a "normal" faint the patient will regain consciousness in a few minutes. If he doesn't call a doctor.

PRECAUTIONS TO OBSERVE

The next most important thing to remember is never to leave him lying on his back, face up. An unconscious person lying thus is likely to have his tongue fall back and saliva collect, blocking the entrance of air to the lungs. If vomiting occurs, the victim is almost sure to be sucked back into the lungs causing death or serious damage. Many lives have been lost unnecessarily because people who have fainted have been left this way. Turn the head to one side and, if possible, lower his head and shoulders and raise his feet.

It may surprise you—but it is useless to give a stimulant (whiskey, for instance) to the unconscious person. He can't swallow so it does no good.

It is often easy to tell when a person is going to faint. He will feel dizzy and weak and will look pale. Sometimes you can prevent actual fainting by getting him to sit down and bend his head between his knees. Fainting is caused by lack of blood circulation to the brain so by lowering the head this condition can be helped.

If he does not feel better, lay him flat on his back and raise his feet to aid the flow of blood to the head. A blanket or pillow under his hips will help do the trick.

The unconscious person you happen upon may be a diabetic who has lapsed into a coma. How can you tell? Well, most diabetics receiving insulin carry a card stating this fact and pointing out the emergency treatment for insulin shock. So, if you are in doubt, look in the patients pocket or purse for such a card. You might save a life by doing so.

THE RAILWAY FREIGHT RATES PROBLEM

This week the board of transport commissioners rejected a proposal by the Canadian Pacific Railway which, if approved, would have established a new yardstick for fixing freight rates. The CPR had requested that it be allowed a specified annual rate of earnings. If this plan had been accepted it would have resulted, according to press reports, in a drastic upward revision of Canada's railway rate structure.

Most Canadians welcomed the transport board's decision, because freight rates are a factor in the price of almost everything we buy and because any large increase in such rates would have touched off another round of price increases.

Still, only the short-sighted will maintain that the board's decision solved any problem.

The reasons why the CPR suggested this new yardstick for establishing freight rates remain unchanged. Because the railways play such a vital part in the life of the entire nation, their problems are, in a very real sense, the problems of every Canadian citizen.

Both the CPR and the railways of Canada are experiencing difficulty in making their revenues match their expenditures.

The entire question of freight rates is so involved that it would be presumptuous for any person other than an expert even to suggest a solution. Still, as citizens we have a certain duty to endeavor to understand the nature of the problem which faces the railroads. In this connection an article by Frank Flaherty in "Canadian Business," published by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, may be helpful.

Mr. Flaherty touches on several phases of the question, quoting both President W. A. Mather of the CPR and President Donald Gordon of the CNR. Mr. Mather is critical of the Crow's Nest rates, which require the railways to carry western grain and grain products for the Lakehead at the 1897 rate. Mr. Gordon says the attached regulations as out-dated and damaging to the national interest. Mr. Flaherty says that Mr. Gordon's thought seems to be that regulations designed to curb a monopoly cannot fit a competitive transportation system. In the early days, of course, the railways did enjoy what amounted to a monopoly in the movement of freight. Truck transportation has changed that.

Mr. Gordon has argued that the railways should be free to adjust their rates in accordance with conditions. The chief weapon of high-rated traffic is seriously undermining their ability to carry bulk traffic at marginal rates," he has said.

Mr. Flaherty reports that one rate student maintains that railways should reverse their pattern of rate-making, charging higher rates on bulk commodities and lower rates on manufactured goods and high-value commodities generally. It is in the transportation of these latter goods that the trucking industry is giving the railways keen competition. But no one can take the bulk traffic in coal, lumber, pulpwood, sand, gravel and grain away from the railways. So, it is argued, they can charge more for hauling these things.

This argument is interesting. It should be noted, however, that it is just in this field that the railways have a monopoly and therefore it is just in respect to freight rates for moving these commodities that Mr. Gordon's criticism of existing regulations as out-dated has the least force.

The rate student quoted by Mr. Flaherty maintains that the railways should be free to lower rates on items carried by trucks, in an effort, to get some of this business back. That sounds reasonable. But it seems to us there is an additional factor to be considered. That is, we generally recognized that the railways are, in effect, part of Canada's defence system. If they are important in peace-time, they are doubly important in time of war. Such, at least, was the growth of highway transportation that it, too, should be regarded as part of our national defence system. While it is essential that competition between trucking firms should not be allowed to cripple railways, it is also essential that the railways should not be permitted to ham-string the trucking industry, by carrying at a loss that which high-speed highway transportation can handle and making up this deficit by charging higher rates on classes of goods which the railways alone can move.

This, of course, is just one aspect of a most complex problem.

TENSION BETWEEN NEIGHBORS

We think we live in a world of tensions. But for residents of the North American continent, these tensions are smiles compared with those which the world getting smaller all the time we may worry, and with reason, about such problems as the Korean situation, the war in Indo-China and a dividing Germany. But we have no concern about the intentions of our neighbors.

Our good fortune in this regard is brought forcibly home by a perusal of the Pakistan News Digest, published by the Press Information Department of the Government of Pakistan. Of its eight pages, well over three, containing eighteen articles, are devoted to different phases of Pakistan's relations with India. The impression is inescapable that Pakistan fears India's intentions. The extremely harsh language in which many of these articles are couched, and the evident relish with which opinions sharply critical of Prime Minister Nehru of India are copied from newspapers published in other lands, augurs ill for the hope that these two newly-constituted nations will be able to settle their differences amicably.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

Mrs. W. D. Elliott, Bridge Street east, is spending a few days in Toronto.

Mrs. Fred Embury, of Toronto, is the guest of Mrs. John Hume in this city.

The regular meeting of the Presbyterian Guild was held last evening at the home of Mrs. H. L. Bivens, Catherine Street, and was in charge of Prof. Anglin.

An pleasant event took place recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Almond Hystick, Glen Miller, when sixty friends and neighbors gathered to honor Mr. Patrick on the occasion of the 64th anniversary of his birth.

It was 19 degrees below zero last night and for a time early this morning; during the moderated to two degrees above zero. There are many frozen water pipes in the city and manager T. T. Austin of the Waterworks Department and his men are unable to keep up with the calls from citizens asking for immediate attention to their frozen pipes; the cause of the trouble they will have to take their turn. A water main on South John St. froze last night for the first time in 20 years.

In a special election yesterday Mr. Isaac Stephenson was elected school trustee for Bleecker Ward by a majority of 61 votes over his opponent, Mr. Margaret Fleming, retired public school teacher. The vote at this special election will be about $80. Candidates at the regular municipal elections withdrew and this made necessary the holding of this special election.

"Pussy," the mascot at No. 2 fire hall was taking a snooze on the hose cart this morning when an alarm called the firemen to a chimney blaze on Chatham Street. The cat remained upon the truck and was whirled away to the scene of the fire and was on the truck again when the fire return trip to the fire hall.

The members of the Excel sler Young Men's Club in connection with Holloway Street Methodist Church gave a sleigh drive party last evening in company with their lady friends. After a jolly drive about the city streets and country roads the party returned to the Sunday School rooms where refreshments were served and an enjoyable program put on. Mrs. Adams and Harry Poste led in community singing.

Mr. Charles Rollins, of Coe Hill, warden of the County of Hastings, was in town today.

40 YEARS AGO

FEBRUARY 20, 1914

Mr. Fred Lee, of Campbellford, will come to this city to reside shortly.

Mrs. John Buckley, Mrs. Joseph Pitt and Mrs. James Power, of Read, Tyendinaga township, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Dan Power, Dundas St.

Mr. J. Wilfred Holmes, who has been the efficient city sale collector for sales tax, will be appointed to the office of city clerk to succeed Mr. Wm. J. Thomson, who resigned recently. At a meeting of the civic committee it was recommended that a by-law be prepared appointing Mr. Holmes as city clerk. He is now discharging the duties of city clerk and as such is advertising for a tax collector to succeed him in that position.

50 YEARS AGO

FEBRUARY 20, 1904

Mr. W. Garrett, of Napanee, spent the week-end here.

Mr. D. Fraser, of Napanee, spent Sunday here with friends.

Police Officer Cook will be able to resume his duties shortly.

Mr. William Hudson, Jr., has left for Montreal where he has accepted a position in the Grand Trunk Railway offices.

Mr. S. S. Miller, of Trafalgar, was in town today.

Mr. W. J. Moore, of Madoc, was in town today.

Some Front Street merchants, who cleared the sidewalks in front of their stores properly, are now getting their snow in the form of four inches of water in front of the entrances to their stores, while the merchants who failed to clean their walks properly are now high and dry. Moral: the way of the transgressor is sometimes best—for Belleville.

Free Market Thing of Past?

(Financial Post).

Some restaurant owners in Toronto have been complaining about street hawkers and their sales of hot dogs, candy and peanuts. The Board of Health claims such sales are unsanitary. Some hawkers in the area would like to stamp out jewelry auctions because they are disruptive and harmful to the trade and, as their spokesman said, they deliberately engender an exciting atmosphere in which the untrained public frequently exhibits a total retail value for the merchandise involved.

In Hamilton, an alderman wants gas stations to get together to set hours when none of them will be open. A city-by-law closes them at 11 p.m. during the week on "boot-legging" at exorbitant prices.

The barriers to practicing law in the various provinces have long been lifted, and the Canadian Law Society still refuses to give full recognition to law faculties of the provincial university.

Where has free enterprise gone? Here's a country still settled over the age-old freedom of the market place.

Has anyone ever heard of a popcorn vendor getting a deferred prosecution for black plugger? Does anyone worry — besides the jewelers — over the auction of jewelry as exciting. And early closing by-laws? Obviously it is anybody's own business to stay open 40 hours a day if he wants, and if he chooses to disturb the peace or work his employees over the legal limit.

Perhaps journalists and other writers are behind the times. Long since should have banded together to keep part-timers like Winston Churchill, Dwight D. Eisenhower and all those college professors from cluttering up the field. These people have been filling columns of type and thinking — columns which otherwise might have represented the honest toil of fulltime, professional writers, unionized, authorized, established, documented writers.

Even Aristotle. What right had he to take up the pen? In doing so, he displaced some unionized writer. And after all, thinking was his main job. Not writing.

Escape To Cuckoo Land

Hamilton Spectator

A recent news announcement tells of a man who has spent every evening of his life in the last seven years at a movie except watching motion pictures. Although this fact not constitutes a record for this particular form of amusement it is, nevertheless, a remarkable instance of devotion.

There have been, we believe, persons who have attended motion pictures every night for fifteen years or more, and in each case they, too, have done so for more than 10 years. It is a rare and curious psychology which makes a constant retreat from reality into a romantic cuckoo land. One might think that this man would show the effects of his long vigils watching the silver screen, but if he did so it was in the severity of his expression, a slight drooping at the corner of the mouth was due, no doubt, to disappointments experienced in the field of reality, or perhaps to the perkily of a middle-aged widow in a neighboring town who had challenged his record and was unfairly stealing a few local patrons by attending afternoon performances as well. The shadows on the screen have not visibly disappointed him. Unlike the characters he met in the outside world, they never disappointed their just deserts before the curtains closed. They were tasks of fatigue, irritability, lack of "pep", palpitation, lack of appetite, "gas", indigestion". Meets no longer in-

"The grey sickness" it seems to me, has taken the place of what, in Dr. Osler's time, was known as "the green sickness"—chlorosis, a type of anemia, found in teen-age girls and was still fairly common around the beginning of this century, but, the real doctors tell me, seldom occurs these days. The girl or woman was not just pale she had a distinctly greenish pallor.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE WORLD OF BOOKS

Through the courtesy of the Yale University Press I wish to quote the finest thing that I have ever read on the power and influence of books. It was written by Clarence Day, a Yale man and author of "God and My Father," "Life with Father," and many others. It is the best thing I have to say, and the only thing I could ever write, so here it is:

THE WORLD OF BOOKS

Is the most remarkable creation of man.

Nothing else that he builds ever lasts

Monuments fall

Nations perish

Civilizations grow old and die out

And after an era of darkness

New races build others

But in the world of books are Volumes

That have seen this happen again and again

And yet live on

Still young

Still as fresh as the day they were written

Still telling men's hearts of the hearts of men centuries dead.

After reading this inspired piece of writing, how can we fail to gather about ourselves treasures so rich, surpassing wealth, true joy and eternal gratitude?

Especially the assimilation from The Story Of The Yale University Press Told By A Friend—Clarence Day.

How Measures Were Fixed

(Owen Sound Sun-Times).

The fine points of a fly is of great importance sometimes, especially when one is crawling around on the back of your neck. The National Geographic Society of Washington, D.C., says that a fly's foot has been calculated but the amount of power in a steel bar compressed by a fly lighting on one end can be measured.

It is perhaps more interesting, though, to learn how some of the world's measurements and weights were arrived at. Strangest of all was the custom of the German soldiers of the Fourth Army. The combined length of the left feet of 11 men, and the width of a thumb from church on Sunday made a rod.

The yard is said to be the distance between King Henry I's nose and his outstretched hand. By order of Edward II, was the length of the barleycorn laid end to end. The cubit of the Egyptians meant the distance from the elbow to the tip of the middle finger. Every man his own standard was the rule in those days.

Today the metric system, proposed in France a century ago, is used by all but conceded to be best. For science is it universally accepted. It is based on the meter, sound, and does away with such oddities as the relation between the Imperial gallon of 160 ounces and the American gallon of 128 ounces.

Scientists these days can weigh invisible amounts of matter through the bending of a quartz fibre as the scale. Quartz, itself was weighed long since. But we go on blissfully using the foot, yard and pound, which were fixed in Saxon nicety. The weights we are used to are close enough, even though the metric system has great theoretical advantages; so great that it is a wonder there are not more frequent proposals that a change-over is made.

Standard Time 75 Years Old

(Fort Arthur News-Chronicle)

Standard time as it is known the world over, is only 75 years old.

It is such a simple and easily understood system that it is hard to conceive that it could not been in use for centuries before being worked out by a Canadian, Sir Sandford Fleming.

Mr. Flemming was an engineer on construction of the intercolonial railway and was responsible between Halifax and Montreal.

It was on February 8, 1878, that he first proposed the system consisting of 70 engineers. It was merely the dividing of the earth's spherical surface into 24 parts, to correspond with the 24 hours of the day, each part being the distance between five hour to each. As there are 360 degrees in the circle, each meant 15 degrees of longitude and practically over half the world. Greenwich was chosen as the first to give adherence and in 1882 it was accepted by all the principal nations except France.

According to the original some system of time, Canada and the U.S. are in the Central time time zone, the line of division between it and Eastern time being a short distance east.

In 1917 J. F. Hewlston of Port Arthur began an agitation here to switch from Central to Eastern time, to gain an hour of daylight in the evening. It was tried and successful, but that is because it is permanent and official by act of the legislature and is legalize all insurance and other documents in which the time factor was involved.

Quiet Noise With Noise

(Philadelphia Inquirer).

Of all the incredible but nevertheless very real inventions of modern science, the latest is likely to appeal most to many city living persons is the device for noise absorbing device just described by scientists of the Princeton (NJ) laboratory of the Radio Corporation of America.

Most persons—and who are we to be skeptical — this little gadget would go a long way toward to relieve the geniny who turned the atom bombs, the window smashing sonic booms and street-going public address systems, the air conditioning systems, cats, dogs and boiler factories.

Sound, the electronic people explain, is the movement of air molecules in wavelike motions which assail the ears. The noise absorber, consisting of a microphone and a loudspeaker (no less), sets up a countervary of noise cules (noise) which smooths out the original noise waves before they get a chance to whack away at the human eardrums.

Our own experience with trying to stop a noise by yelling at it has been long that the only result yowls louder, but we are not electronic scientists.

Meal Problems In Jet Age

Wall Street Journal

Tomorrow's 600 mile-an-hour jetliners pose a perplexing problem for the people who have to feed passengers in flight.

Hungry travelers, such speedy craft would keep pace with the sun. A traveller boarding his plane at London's Idlewild for instance, would also put down in New York at 10 a.m. local time. If they were going on to Los Angeles, he'd also step out into the west coast's mid-morning sun.

Puzzled airline dieticians wonder if the passengers would be gorged with breakfast all the way across so he'd be ready to breakfast again on arrival. Or should the fellow who gets on the plane at New York at 10 a.m. expect eggs and bacon while the London-embarking passenger gets luncheon when he's first started in Calxe munches a steak dinner?

Encouragement

(Edmonton Journal)

A sociologist states that most of our troubles are due to the fact that a person mentally ill don't plunge into things as a unit." He may be encouraged by the news that a Russian mentally ill patient and son have been arrested for an armed car robbery.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Those who have done any flying are familiar with the way the clouds whip past when the plane passes close to, or enters, the vapor. Credit for this impression of speed is given to the aircraft. But a young fellow who has been asking at Banff lately tells me that he was with a party who reached a pretty high altitude onsone of the mountains. And what impressed him was the way clouds whipped and raced past, as he stood among them.

The lovely effect of slow sailing clouds is one of the comeliest experiences of us earth dwellers. We think of clouds as floating with a movement which is barely perceptible as to give the watcher a sense of peace and serenity. Now and then we see thunderclouds boiling and mooling in the sky. But the immediate image the word creates in our minds is of something quiet and stately, tranquil and poised. In actual fact, as mountaineers know, most clouds are racing.

One thing television is doing for itself steadily increasing section of the public who can get it, is to put them in the weather picture. A nice feature of television is the daily weather man, with his continental map, his chalk, and his description of the movement of the great bodies of cold and warm air, the areas, of high pressure and of low pressure, and the endless pursuit of the one by the other. We Toms, Dicks and Harrys are beginning to realize that weather is not a freak but a timeless fight between forces forever equally measured against each other but never to be beaten. The weatherman shows us stories of low pressure moving at three hundred miles an hour, or five hundred miles in a day. We see the clouds and feel the wind giving the lie to any effect of speed.

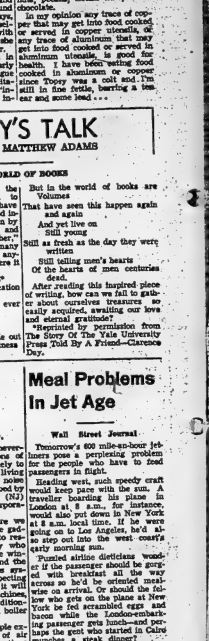
But the speed is there. The clouds are not drifting. They are the tag and bagpipes of the air, by express. They have a prestige destination. They are getting there, borne on and on by a more majestic thing—the movement of massive volumes of air in thermic breach and counter-march, all over the continent, and out to sea, and over the whole round world.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

UNSEEN—BUT REAL

How much time do you spend in quiet reflection?



If you are an average modern, probably not much. The early brain, the office hours, the hurried lunch period, the ride back home, the evening meal, the news broadcaste, the movies or TV programs and the day is gone.

But if you do have time for reflection, how much of it is real, fraudulent. It exists, but its substance is not as great as we think. Far outside and beyond this physical world is another, unseen, but very real world. Science disclosed a vast empire to our gaze; faith tells us we believe in an even greater spiritual empire.

And it is inspiring to realize that this legislation world is not only up in the stars, or in a realm beyond our gaze. It is also in our own hearts.

On a papyrus discovered some years ago, was found this saying attributed to Jesus: "Verily, the kingdom of heaven is within you and whosoever knoweth himself shall find it."

"Deep in our hearts, buried, hidden, in patience veiled, divine and wondrous things."

Student Personalities At Albert College

A weekly feature of interesting facts revealed in interviews with those young undergraduat s who hail from countries beyond the seas.

By GEORGE H. CARVER

JEAN VALLEDEOUIN

Colorful Haiti, once fiery jewel in the Islands crown of the Isles Caribbean has a factual story-book history.

Founded by ex-slaves who revolted against their masters and confiscated their property, Haiti began its nationality as an international outcast and was long regarded with disfavor by the great powers which had neighboring territory.

In 1630 French buccaneers and freebooters undertook the conquest of what became Saint Domingue. Haiti now comprises the western portion of the island of Hispaniola formerly called Santo Domingo, the remainder now forming the Dominican Republic.

The better class of French people migrated to the island and from these descended the fine type that now forms part of the estimated 3,000,000 population of Haiti.

One of these is Jean Vallerdouin, fifteen-year-old student at Albert College.

Jean speaks fairly good English, but being reared in a French atmosphere, in a beautiful home in Port-Au-Prince, Haitian capital, he was perhaps a trifle shy in this fourth interview with students of the college.

Jean is a handsome lad. He is spending his first educational year away from his beloved home in the sun-drenched island.

Like all students of Albert College who hail from the tropical zones, Jean in his first year away from temperatures that seldom go below the seventies, finds it difficult to acclimatize himself. After all, he can scarcely be blamed if he not exactly falling in love with gusty, blustery Canadian winter with its blizzards, below-zero temperatures snow-drifts and the rest of it.

But Jean is not interested so much in the Canadian weather as in laying the educational foundation for a degree in medicine.

And he will be carrying on a family tradition, since his father Mr. Windsor Valledrouin, is one of the better-known physicians of Port-Au-Prince. His mother, also well known in Haiti, who is "in commerce" in the Haitian capital.

The lazy peacefulness of tropical Haiti is a far cry from the revolutionary upheavals that mark the island's history of the early days. Discovered in 1492 the island was divided into five sections. Spain held the island until 1630 when French pioneers undertook its conquest.

Native Haitians who had become wealthy asked for and received equality of political rights. The French landords objected and rallied on the British for help. In 1793 they threw part of the island which seemed lost to France.

Then Toussaint l'Ouverture an extraordinary man who had admiration for Albert College, its faithful faculty and students during her residence there with the result that brother Jean was advised to attend the school.

Jean received his early education at one of the fifteen private schools in Haiti. The school system of the island is modelled after the French system. Education is free and compulsory. Special schools are available for special studies. There is a different institution for medicine, applied science, and agriculture. Jean, however, has decided on his medical degree from a Canadian university.

He is sports-minded and being born at one of the finest soccer stadiums in the same naturally is his favorite recreation. He excels at a centre-forward position and has played between the posts for teams in his native island. He does not care for Canadian football, nor does he take to the Britton's game of cricket.

Jean was born in the town of Jeremie, a community some 300 miles from Port-Au Prince. In the summer he works for an uncle who is "in commerce" in the Haitin capital.

Agriculture is carried on in seven large plains ranging in area from 25,000 to 200,000 acres. Coffee is the most important crop which averages 31,800,000 kilos a year. For many years the coffee came from the original French plantings of 100 years ago, but coffee trees are now being cultivated. Sugar growing is another great importance and gives promise of developing into a tremendous source of wealth. Cocoa, cotton, tobacco and sugar are other main crops.

And it won't be too many years before tourists from the United States will be flocking to this island paradise to take up the practice now being carried on by an illustrious been a slave up to 40 years of age succeeded in ridding the island of the English and Spaniards. The French government rewarded him by making him governor.

He became powerful. Napoleon sent a great army to suppress l'Ouverture. He retired after a few skirmishes and later was arrested and deported to France. On January 11, 1804 Haiti proclaimed its independence. In 1825 the Spanish part of the island came under the administration of Haiti, but in 1844 it secured established an independent government known today as the Dominican republic.

Mayor, Forester Address Rotary Club

CAMPBELLFORD. — Mayor Norman Graham, Peterborough, was guest speaker at the Rotary Club meeting this week. He divided the time alloted to this with W. R. Greenwood, regional director of the Department of Lands and Forests.

A great deal of Mr. Graham's time was taken up with the outlining of the duties of the city clerk, who, he said, is doing a great deal more than is ordinarily required of that officer. His salary is about $7,000 per annum, and for this he works nearly every night in the week, the mayor disclosed. He reviewed the duties, which in Peterborough, are delegated to that official, "but which," he said, "are not performed by a long shot by larger municipalities. Among these duties, management of city properties including their care; maintenance and collection of rents which total $34,350 annually; management of the city hall; purchasing property for industrial purposes; acting as secretary of the city planning board; approving small zoning; looking after claims against the city; looking after the issuing of city licences; clerk of the Court of Revision and secretary of the Board of Health, He serves on a special traffic committee and as advisor to various committees on the council.

UNDERSTAFFED

Mayor Graham described the arrangement of the city's police department. He said it was "sadly understaffed."

The Board of Works employs a total of 65 persons.

In giving general statistics of the city, Mayor Graham said the population is 20,714 and the assessment just over 42 million dollars. The debenture debt, sinking fund, is almost 7.5 million dollars.

Mr. W. R. Greenwood, regional manager of the Department of Lands and Forests of Peterborough, gave an interesting talk on the department.

He stated that the management of natural assets entrusted to the department by the public, is big business.

The department is the equivalent of a multi-million dollar public corporation. The president is the Hon. W. S. Gemmell, minister of the department. He said that similar to large industrial corporations there are many sub departments. In the field, the general-manager is represented by regional foresters, and under these are deputy foresters. Beneath the latter are conservation officers, rangers and tower men.

The revenue of the department in the year ending March 31, 1953 was $18 million and the cost of operating was $10 million. The profit on this renewable asset was five million dollars.

LARGE ASSETS

The assets of this corporation include 3,500 miles of telephone lines, 281 steel towers, 40 aircraft, 1,000 boats, 1200 motor trucks, 14 bulldozers, one pumping equipment for 20,000 men, five pumps, a total fleet of five hundred and pumpers.

Fish to the number of 381 million were planted and 21 million trees were put out last year. Over $200,000 was collected in timber dues in 1953 and 174 fires were extinguished. The department crossed speckled and lake trout to make a new species of trout known as "Splake" and developed a hybrid poplar to produce a better grade of pulp. The department employs 1,622 persons to police 410,000 square miles and do all the office work involved.

"The department is doing all in its power to ensure to the shareholders (the people of Ontario) dividends on their renewable assets in perpetuity," the speaker declared.

Club nominations for the various offices for 1954-55 are as follows: Wm. McComb, H. Beetig, A. Putnam, Leo Doherty, Arn. Bright, Wm. Holmes, C. Gibson, F. O'Sullivan, Dave Ness, R. Richardson, D. D. McDonald, Wm. Dawson. From these a president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer and two directors will be chosen next week.

He lies encased in the long, except for a 15-minute period daily when it is thrown open and he breathes under his own power.

Despite this, Kalevi, of Finnish-Canadian extraction has educated himself, reads widely and has a keen interest in the world around him.

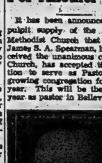
He has evolved a philosophy of life, usually associated with those of mature years and deep understanding.

Kalevi's lung is a way of life, forcing him to eat and talk and even think in its rhythm. Sometimes his voice becomes heavy and cumbersome under the machine's force, then he slows his words to harmonize.



Books and magazines are pinned on the wall of the lung before his eyes. Pied on his dressing table are books indicating his keen interest in politics, science and religion. Beside him is his well-worn Bible from which he can quote passages by heart.

From his lung Kalevi verbally blasts those who deny the existence of God.

Pastor Receives Recall to Church For Another Year

It has been announced by the pulpit supply of the Wesleyan Methodist Church that the Rev. James S. A. Spearman, having received the unanimous call of the Church, has accepted the invitation to serve as pastor of this growing congregation for another year. This will be the eleventh year as pastor in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Spearman moved from Waltham, P.Q., in the spring of 1943, which was shortly after the opening of a new Church in Belleville, known as "The Wesleyan Methodist Church of America in Canada."

For the first few years the new congregation worshipped in a building on Dundas Street East, then known as the Sulzator City Mission. In 1946 a new church building valued at $25,000 was erected on Everett Street, at the corner of Henry Street. This new Church was dedicated in April 1947. On the fourth anniversary of worship in the new building, 1951, the $13,000 mortgage was burned. A new eight-roomed parsonage valued at $15,000 was built beside the Church in 1952, and in January of this year the parsonage debt was entirely liquidated.

During the past year $3,000 was expended on church furnishings, including a new Hammond electric organ.

It's quite a usual thing for Rev. Spearman to preach twice at the Church on a Sunday morning, and as a result of rapid growth, plans are now under consideration for a new addition to provide almost double the present seating capacity, additional Sunday school rooms, a nursery, vestry, and pastor's office.

Mr. Spearman has been secretary of the Belleville Ministerial Association for a number of years. He is also vice-president of the Canada Conference. In 1952 he was elected Conference Educational Secretary and appointed a member of the Houghton College Board of Managers at Houghton, N.Y.

NEGLECTED AGE

No one to talk to all the day,
The friends of youth are gone away;
No one to lend a listening ear
The twice-told tales to kindly hear;
No one to sit beside his chair
The gossip of the day to share;
For he is old and worn and gray
And youthful days are far away.

The busy world it passes by
Unheeding of youth's restful cry;
Alone he dreams of by-gone days
And wanders again in pleasant ways;
The busy throngs seem to hear,
The old time tales he holds so dear;
No one to talk to all the day
For he is old and worn and gray.

Once he was stalwart, strong and wise,
Ambition's fire gleamed in his eyes;
With honest hand and courage strong
He stood for right against the wrong;
And labored hard with brawn and brain
A life's ambition to attain;
A kindly husband, father, friend,
The ends of right he would defend—
But now he's old and in the way
With no one to talk to all the day.

O shame that human hearts should harden
The love for which the aged yearn!
How tenderly they need our care
Our highest thought and aim to share.
Perhaps sometime we'll be as they,
Feeble and worn and old and gray
With no one to talk to all the day.

—Helen B. Anderson.

Vota Vita Hears Rev. M. Collins

The February meeting of the Vota Vita Mission Circle of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church was held recently in the church parlors with 29 attending.

President, Mrs. Helen Hales opened the meeting.

Mrs. Kay Hall, leader of the scripture group, felt we should be affiliated with them especially since they are now studying missions.

Members decided to accept financial responsibility for the group.

Mrs. Mary Lush sought for new subscribers to the Canadian Baptist magazine.

Miss Nora Hales brought us news on India, Africa, Bolivia, and the French Canadian work.

Mrs. Marjorie Hales and Miss Barbara Girling sang a duet.

WORSHIP SERVICE

The worship service was conducted by Mrs. Ruth Hall and assisted by Mrs. Violet Demorest.

Rev. M. Collins was guest speaker for the evening. He gave a talk on early Bible missionaries. was most interesting.

Our Lord said "Go ye into the world and preach the gospel to all the nations." Rev. Collins told the story of Cain and Abel, stating that the mark of Cain was actually a mark of God's mercy to him and that God in His mercy desires unto Jonah was the first unwilling missionary for he refused to go to Nineveh to preach when God asked him. But he did go and he preached and when all repented Jonah asked that God should forgive them so readily for it offended his thoughts of justice.

A missionary's work is not a place of privilege and although the we may feel we are not talented, when God requests our help, we must not fail Him.

Miss Marjorie Hales and Miss Barbara Girling sang another song.

Garden Notes

Preparing The Seed Flats

By FLORA M. SAVILLE.

Outside a song sparrow is singing. He came back from the south early this year, but had forgotten how to sing. After two weeks of practice he is again in fine voice, and may be heard almost any time of the day telling us it is almost spring.

And, before it really is spring, we must decide what we want in this year's vegetable and flower garden. Right now it you plan to start some of your seeds in flats. If you have stored your started soil and are all ready to begin, or you can buy some from local nurseries. Commercial growers all use flats in the fall and stack them away until February when they make their first plantings. Some growers mix their soil with formaldehyde, and others use a formaldehyde dust, then water it in. Greenhouse men are using formaldehyde, a 37% solution of formaldehyde, and finding it effective against damping-off, a withering of new plants—caused by a fungus disease.

A good mix is two parts garden soil, three parts sand, and two parts peat moss. Screen this through a half inch mesh. Over this add one ounce, level tablespoon of fertilizer. This can be had at most drug stores. Mix this together thoroughly, turning it over well at least four times, as you would sand for cement. If you are using old flats they must not be sterilized, the action of the formalin will spread to them and kill off disease spores in the wood.

Some gardeners advise waiting four days or a week before planting in the treated soil, but greenhouse men have found that we have expressed his appreciation of the co-operation of the board through the years.

The soil should be levelled off nicely, a short board and firmed down. Mark off the surface of the soil, which should be thoroughly damp, but not sticky wet, into rows or squares. If you are using a row you may think a shallow hole at the corner of each square and drop in a seed. Firm down the soil again. Cover with glass, cellophane, or clear plastic, if preferred. This will help to conserve moisture in the soil.

A word of caution. Do not plant too early. Unless you have a cold frame or a sun parlor, you are apt to end up with a lot of spindly seedlings which are a nuisance to every member of the family. You will spend endless time shifting and hoping and trying to give each one a place in the sun and you will tire of the whole project long before the weather is warm enough to plant your precious seedlings outdoors.

One Ontario nurseryman is marketing a package called fern-pak. This is a pot filled with soil, drainage material, acid neutralizer, fertilizer and humus and a vermiculite starter surface. Tne certified seeds have been treated with fungicide for a quick start and vegorous root system. You supply water and a warm atmosphere. One hundred seeds are supplied with each pack. The range of plants is not too wide, three vegetables, tomatoes, cabbage, and spanish onions and three flowers, asters, giant zinnias and marigolds, are offered. They are also supplying the pots with the soil mix which you can use to sow your own choice of seed. They are featuring tuberous rooted begonias planted in these same type of pots and offered in dozen lots. If these are started in the first of March they will be just right to set out in the garden in late May.

SISTERS ALL

By Jean Love Galloway

If there is one thing that annoys every woman, it is the habit some people have of using table dishes as ash trays. Some too, like to dunk their cigaret butts in the refuains of the coffee in their cups. Hostesses, of course, should provide ash trays and glasses conveniently on the dinner table and about the house. If there are ash trays, then it is very bad manners for guests or members of the family to put their cigarets on dishes used for eating.

For one thing, grinding a red hot butt into china can damage the glaze on the surface on the china. It is also very difficult to wash dishes when they are plastered with a mixture of ashes and the remains of food and beverages.

Nor is it only the homemaker who is riled at people who have careless smoking habits. Restaurant proprietors are plagued with these same people. Yesterday, we had lunch in a fine, clean restaurant in Kingston. We noticed small framed cards had been put on some of the walls with this message: "If you must put your cigaret ashes or butts in the cups, please ask a waitress and she will serve your coffee in the ash trays."

BATHTUBS

One of the biggest hazards in the home is the bathtub. Hundreds of people, especially elderly folks, are injured every year when getting out of a bathtub.

One way to prevent this is if you are the least bit clumsy or not confident, is to pull the plug and let the water drain out before getting up. Then, spread a bath towel in the bottom of the tub. Be sure not to stand on when stepping out. This helps a great deal. A rubber mat can also be used.

GIFT

Every once in a while there's a time when you want to send or take some little gift to a shut-in friend who is sick, or someone you think a bit lonely or downhearted. It isn't always easy to get something which is both inexpensive and not "just too." From the old days, women used to take over a jar of homemade jam, a box or two of buns, or send a piece of sewing.

One way to solve the problem these days, is to buy some of those small packages of nuts, candies, etc. Some imported biscuits are done up in fancy tin boxes. These are ideal for jellies and spices, too.

We have just sent off a little fancy tin of a fine blend of coffee for breakfast tea to a grandmother. To another friend, we sent a small stilton cheese. There are tins of luxury soups and sauces which would make a gift too. Try them. See how much they are appreciated.

Uncle Frontenac says the new tractor can do a lot of work around the farm, but it can't pull the old red cutter.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

GOOD MANNERS

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

THE WORLD NEEDS MORE BEATERS

A few weeks ago, there was a letter in my column from a married woman of 40 who described herself as "very lonely and without too many friends." She had no children, and she said her home duties did not take up all her time so that she had on her hands "too many hours when I'm alone and I had something interesting to do."

She went on to say that she felt there must be other lonely women like herself living in her town, and she wondered if there wasn't some way most of them could get together and form a club. Publication of her letter brought in communications from other women who felt the same way and were eager to be put in touch with the first woman.

It would have been a fine idea for all these women to get together, but since they all lived in different and widely scattered cities, it was scarcely possible. Most letters made me wonder, and see what she could do about rounding-up women with time on their hands who would like to increase their friendships and have more fun. Every one of them, obviously, had read not only the original letter from the lonely woman but my answer to her in which I made a number of suggestions. What was to prevent them from adopting these suggestions. What was to prevent them from adopting these suggestions and putting through projects of their own?

Incidentally, I wonder if the woman whose letter precipitated all the others ever did anything herself about my suggestions. I wish she would write and let me know.

As I see it, the whole trouble with people who would like more friends and more interests is that they lack the initiative to get up and do something about it. Never before have there been so many ways for people to get together and share stimulating activities as there are today. Yet women who frankly say that they have "time on their hands" and don't know what to do with it—and how I wish I were in their shoes!—simply sit around moaning about it.

What we need in the world is more people who are self-starters. If someone were to come to each of these women who spend their time brooding about how lonely they are, and invite them to do this, go there or take part in that, they'd undoubtedly get up and reach for their hats at once. But they don't seem able to put their hats on until someone else suggests it; they have to have a push before they'll move.

What I'd like to get across is that any woman who is lonely today has only herself to blame. Every town is full of organizations of every type that are always on the hunt for new members. The thing to do is to look around the place you live and make a survey to find out just what organizations there are, and then go from door to door opportunities immediately opens.

My own choice of the best first step to take is to pick out some organization which works for the good of the community. If there is a hospital in your town, as there is, women's auxiliary or something of the kind whose business is to provide volunteer workers to help out in the hospital? There's a good place to start. Almost every town has a Red Cross whose members meet regularly to make hospital supplies, to prepare bandages and dressings and to do various other things of this kind. Every Red Cross is eager to find more helping hands. Why not donate yours?

Most towns have some sort of organization that looks after the sick and the needy who are unable to help themselves. Do you even know if your town has such an organization, and, if so, how about doing your share here?

Ever think of helping out with the young people by becoming leader of a Girl Scout or other group? Such leaders are desperately needed because there are, so I hear more girls who want to be Scouts than there are older women to take charge.

What about the Woman's Club in your town? That's the place to go for cultural and social interests, once you have picked out the service organization you will help by becoming a working volunteer.

Ever think of joining a hobby club? If you've looked and can't find one, start one yourself. It won't be hard to find plenty of others eager to go along with you. Get you local newspaper to run a little piece saying such a project is afoot and your phone will start ringing the very day it appears.

These are a few of the many ways in which lonely women can find new friends and new zest in life. It's up to themselves whether they want to make the slight necessary effort or perfer to sit home and go on pitying themselves.

I hope I will hear from at least one woman who has the will power to turn herself into a self starter. Who is going to be the first to write me?

Readers' Saturday Column

By Mary Moore

LETTER:

Am writing to tell you how much we enjoy your cookery column, and was particularly interested in the column on cooking cereals, for we too like oatmeal under our belts, but use skim milk in place of water in the double boiler (when making it). It prevents burning and sticking. Have used skim milk for several years and would not want to change. Do you use milk in pie crust? We do and like it. Hope I have been some help in getting more milk into everyday foods. —Mrs. Cecil S.

ANSWER:

I am reminded of an observation made in my hearing by an unimaginative woman: "You can use water instead of milk in just most everything if you think about it, I have to economize because we have so many doctor bills."

That statement made it so apparent to me that maybe if she had used milk instead of water her bills would have the doctor bills to pay—and would have the added dividend of good health for her whole family. Economizing on nutritious food always adds up to poor bills.

Thank you for your boost.

QUESTION:

. . . I noticed that, upon request, you would print recipe for Chocolate Roll batter. I should like to have the recipe.—Mabel M. . . .

QUESTION:

Would you please print the recipe for Chocolate Roll Batter?—I.J.O.

ANSWER:

With pleasure ladies.

CHOCOLATE ROLL BATTER

Four tablespoons each sifted flour and unsifted cocoa, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 6 egg whites, 1-2 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1-2 cup of sugar, 6 egg yolks, 1-2 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Sift together the cocoa, flour and salt. Beat until stiff the egg whites and cream of tarter, then gradually beat into them the first 1-2 cup sugar until meringue is glossy. Beat until very thick and lemon-colored the egg yolks and then gradually beat into them the second 1-2 cup sugar, then beat into them the sifted dry ingredients. Then carefully fold this into the egg whites mixture. Line a greased pan that is 15 1-2 by 10 1-2 inches with greased paper and spread the batter in 1-2 inch thick. Bake in slow oven of 325 deg. Fahr. about 20 to 25 minutes or until surface springs back when lightly touched with finger. Immediately turn cake down on icing-sugar-sprinkled paper. Quickly remove paper off cake, and roll cake up in towel, enclosing towel in the roll. Roll from side or end, depending on whether you want a thin long roll, or a thick short roll. Shortly before serving time, unroll and place roll on folds of waxed paper. Remove towel. Fill with double whipped cream filling as described January 26. Roll up carefully, tucking any overflow of cream back into roll. Chill. Serve in thick slices.

QUESTION:

Just keep up the good work, I think you are terrific. Would appreciate recipe for split pea soup, also a pea soup that's creamed in tins that you buy. The split pea soup is usually served in restaurants with a few slices of toast cut in squares on the top. Either or both would be appreciated also "Bismarks" . . . they are like doughnuts but instead of the open hole they are usually filled with jam or thick chocolate mace.—Mrs. B. T. .

ANSWER:

I have mailed you the release for column which appeared Jan. 18. It contained recipe for vegetarian split pea soup and honey cream doughnuts. To the pea soup add 1-4 lb. finely chopped or ground fat salt pork or side bacon. The the recipe for honey cream doughnuts but when you come to cut them out roll them 1-3-inch thick. Then cut out 3-inch rounds with floured cookie cutter—not one with hole for cutting out regular doughnuts. Fry as directed. When doughnuts are cool cut a short slit in side of each fried ball through to the centre, with teaspoonful of jam or jelly or whatever filling you fancy into the centre and close tightly. Roll in sugar. These should be served fresh.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

THE MENACE OF DANDRUFF

Dandruff, like baldness, is an affliction that seems to be confined mainly to the male sex. Few women are bothered with it and nearly all of them bang onto most of their hair way into life's autumn. Specialists offer a guess: women better care of their hair than men do. Their shampoos at home or in the beauty shop are thorough—with several soapings and prolonged rinsings. Men stand under the shower, rub a bar of soap over their heads and it is doubtful whether all the suds are ever rinsed away. If they aren't they cling to the scalp and interfere with the normal functioning of the pores and glands.

After a shampoo the scalp should be frictioned. The man of the house has "no time for that sort of nonsense," he says. So he spreads some sort of oily stuff over the damp locks, brushes them flat and be is "dolled up" for the day. But that moist, soaped scalp may prove to be a perfect tenement for dandruff.

At the first appearance of dandruff a woman flies into a panic. She hates it, will not tolerate it. Unless she has to keep a weather eye on her budget, she will ask all attentions of a medical man who specializes in diseases of the skin and scalp. There are different forms of dandruff, and some cases may prove extremely stubborn.

If the dandruff is treated with home treatment, however, she should choose a shampoo medium she is using. A bland liquid soap can be used or a cream shampoo. The soap should be diluted with one half hot water.

The night before the head washing, there should be a hot oil treatment to loosen the dry flakes. After brushing the hair, strand by strand, part it at various places, tickle hot mineral oil along the partings until it is evenly distributed. Spread out fingers and thumbs, friction the scalp briskly, lifting and rolling the flesh if possible. Let the oil remain on over night.

Start the shampoo next morning with a hot water spraying to remove as much of the oil as possible. Have at least three applications of the shampoo medium, each one followed by a prolonged rinsing with a bath spray. A five minute scalp friction every night will also help.

I.O.D.E. Hears Address About Drama Festival

CAMPBELLFORD — The annual dinner of the Semenyde Chapter, I.O.D.E., was held on Wednesday in the United Church basement with the evening Aux-Story of the church providing the banquet.

The regent, Mrs. F. G. DeCarol, presided during the program. Community singing was led by Miss Irene Stephen with Mrs. Nichols at the piano. The guest speaker was introduced by Mrs. James Senior.

Mrs. Gillings took as her subject "The Shakespearian Festival at Stratford". She described the early struggles of those interested in Shakespearian drama in that city to secure financial backing for their great undertaking.

The success of the venture was due to the services of the cast from England who came with little remuneration to further interest in Shakespearian drama in Canada. Alec, Guiness, one of England's great actors interpreted Shakespeare played the leading role in Richard III and Dr. Tyrone Guthrie, the well known director, served throughout the festival at great financial sacrifice to himself.

The continuance of this great cultural event is assured, she said.

Seats are selling fast for next summer. Stratford will again be filled with tourists. The Stratford festival has been of tremendous benefit to the Canadian Theatre and has justified the faith of those who worked so hard to bring it about.

Mrs. E. C. Roberts thanked Mrs. Gillings for her interesting talk and presented her with a bouquet of flowers.

Miss Gale Meyers and Barbara Fox sang a duet, "The Lord is My Shepherd", delighted the audience. Miss Irene Stephen played the accompaniment and responded in an encore with "Chopin Waltz". Mrs. F. Free sang "Go From My Window", "Lynden Lee", "Only a Baby Small".

Mrs. G. A. Anderson thanked the regent for her work during the past year and presented Mrs. Carrol with a small gift in appreciation of her efforts. Mrs. W. A. Redmond thanked all who had contributed to the evening's success.

The evening's program closed with the singing of "O Canada"

Surviving in his wife, the former Helen Thomas of Campbellford, two daughters, Laura Lee and Mary K.; his parents and two brothers, Dr. J. R. Anderson, Toronto and Dr. C. Anderson of Kirkfield.

Funeral services were conducted on Monday afternoon at Bennett's Funeral Parlors, with Reverend A. E. Toombs of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, the officiating man in charge. There was a large attendance, and the flowers were numerous and beautiful. The pallbearers were two members of the Canadian Legion acting as honor bearers.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

PERPETUAL FLIGHT

With great long capacity, streamlined bodies, motor, air-filled bones, and coats impregnated for coldness and strength, birds are undeniably suited for aerial locomotion. The penguin is one of the few unable to fly. The eagle is the very symbol of majestic flight. Each family in Birdland is built for a special purpose—endurance, cooling, speed, and so on, but certain individuals stand out as perfect examples in their own group.

In autumn the Arctic plover, after feasting upon Nova Scotia's fruit, takes off due south. Unless storms arise, in which case a short stop-over must be made somewhere on the United States' coast, Bermuda, or one of the small Caribbean Islands, this 10¼ inch bird flies over the Atlantic until the coast of South America is reached, a 2,400 mile stretch.

BUILT FOR ENDURANCE

A relatively small, plump body, thick neck, and long, pointed wings are necessary for sustained power. The end of a short, rounded, tail, make a plower into a bird built for endurance.

The diminutive hummingbird, described above as perfect, must be able to hover over a flower in order to poke its long bill into the nectar in the blossom.

And so its wings are especially constructed. The section beyond the joint is much longer than the one next to the body. In flight action, is unique. With wings beating about 75 times a second, it can move forward, backward, or up at all.

Speed is the main characteristic of the swift, which is structurally quite different from any other bird. Its feet, for instance, are of no necessary weight, therefore the feet are small and weak. The plumage is hard and compact. The closed wings extend far beyond the tail, and are curved and stiff in flight.

HATE EN ROUTE

The technique required in their navigation is also somewhat unique. In order to avoid loss of time by stopping over for food, the bird's mouth is so formed with wide gape, that insects may be caught on the wing.

Almost unbelievable soaring ability is given to a few with which we have seen, are unfamiliar—the albatross. However, watch a soaring gull-like hawk, which is a good "second". Broad, rounded wings and a long tail that can be expanded into a broad semi-circle seem to be the chief requisites.

But long, pointed wings give to the Peregrine falcon the power of attack which requires a combination of speed and endurance. A spiral climb upward is followed by a sudden drop, ending with the striking of the prey with powerful talons.

Bohemian Waxwing, a Rare Species of Bird, Seen in Ont.

By WALTER GRAY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The bohemian waxwing, a rare species of bird, considered in European countries as a lucky omen, a forerunner of severe weather conditions and political upheaval, has been spotted in Ottawa.

Dr. William W. H. Gunn, secretary of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists, says four of the birds, normally found in the Siberian wastelands and the Pacific Northwest, were located on the Dominion experimental farm outside Ottawa recently.

Dr. Gunn said it was curious to note that the waxwing arrived in Berlin just at the time of the Big Four conference of foreign ministers and that it is a series of freezing storms that lashed most of Europe.

UNUSUAL EVENT

He said the reporting of waxwings this far east in Canada has practically been unheard of.

The bird is usually a polar migrator. He offered no explanation for their arrival in Ottawa.

Some migratory birds which stayed behind in southern Ontario last fall due to the unusually warm weather are now finding things difficult there, says Dr. Gunn.

The bodies of several mourning doves have been found in the Brantford and St. Thomas areas.

James L. Baillie, assistant director of ornithology at the Ontario Museum, said mourning doves were also starving at Port Credit.

"Probably what they have survived I don't know," he said. The dove normally feeds on roots and seeds.

TARDY MIGRANTS

Cowbirds and towhees have been seen near Brantford and St. Thomas.

Flocks of meadowlarks, which usually migrate to the southeastern United States, remained in the London, St. Thomas, Hamilton and Toronto areas. Insect-eating birds, the larks have been foraging around farms.

The tree sparrow, pileated woodpecker and the kingfisher were seen in the Toronto district.

A sudden decrease in lemmings, a small mouse found in the Arctic barrens, has brought the snowy owl down from the frozen northland to the warmer climes of southern Ontario.

The northern shrike, a northern Ontario habitant, has been spotted in large numbers along county roads. A predator, the northern shrike feeds on small birds and mice.

Cleaning Fluid Shrunk World For Irishman

LONDON (AP) — The British that an Irishman without Paddy—they didn't bother identifying him further—has discovered how to become a giant among men. You just take a big swig of trichloroethylene.

The stuff is usually used to clean cleaning fluid. Paddy mistook it for a bottle of beer.

He woke up 36 hours later in the hospital.

"The ward appeared to be only two feet high and the Beds about 18 inches long," he related.

"In response to my cries a little nurse, 12 inches tall, ran to my bed.

"She was followed by other nurses and a doctor, all about a foot high.

"The only other person in the ward who seemed to be of normal size was the man in the next bed."

Psychiatrist J. R. Todd, who wrote a report on Paddy, said Paddy's vision returned to normal the following day.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

DEEPEST SYMPATHY!

In conjunction with sportsmen and all those connected with sport in this district this department offers its sincere sympathy to that grand sports family of Point Anne who lost a devoted wife and mother in sudden bereavement.

To Mr. Verner Green, Sr.; Murney, Jr.; Johnny, Peter and Gordon and their sister we offer our condolences. The late Mrs. Green was proud of the sports exploits and ability of her husband and sons and they justified that pride in their fine sportsmanlike behavior, whether it was on hockey cushion, or softball and baseball diamonds.

SKATE SHOW!

Do not forget the special figure skating show being held in conjunction with the Recreation Commission's skating instruction period in Memorial Arena tomorrow afternoon. The admission is free. The Recreation Commission, which has been offering skating instruction through the medium of the Quinte Skating Club, feels the parents of the students and the public in general are not taking advantage of the facilities being offered. The program starts at 2.00 p.m. with the instruction period getting under way an hour later. .

ALMOST!

We're hanging on by a sliver of a thread. Last night the Kingston Goodyears "put in" by the skin of their teeth by defeating the Oshawa Truckmen 7-6 and the threatening Packers from Orillia tied the Fezes 3-3. That means that the best our side can do is a tie and a playoff. Let's keep our fingers crossed for tonight's game.

That is it! The Memos must beat Orillia tonight and knock off the remaining pair and thus gain a playoff for the spot, if Orillia gets beaten over the rest of the route.

OLDTIMERS!

There was no fooling about those Old Timers last night. The former National Hockey League stars gave a crowd of nearly 2,000 something to look at, compared with the hockey of today and the fact that the Old Timers set-up is something to be expected.

The passing plays of these former greats was something that opened the eyes of the faithful. It was swift, dashing hockey with the crowd staying until the last dog was hung. We will have a return engagement on March 5, so it is safe to say that the advance ballyhoo did not let these grand old guys down. Not one of the 2,000 left the arena as the Whites smashed down a big deficit to tie the count at 8-8.

Last Chance For Playoff Spot Out Window, Rangers Blank Them by 3-0 Count

By The Canadian Press

Chicago Black Hawks today now stay along for little else but "the ride" for the rest of the National Hockey League campaign.

Ever since the early stages of the season when they first showed they didn't have the manpower the Black Hawks have been chugging along on only a "prayer they wouldn't end in last place.

But now even their prayers won't help. Friday night New York Rangers dealt the blow that finished the Hawks for all practical purposes this season. The Broadway Blues blanked them 3-0 and that shut loss with only 10 victories wiped out the last remaining mathematical chance the Hawks had of moving up.

The game was played at Indianapolis before a crowd of 4,190. Because of poor attendance, all except the Hawks have made the switch to Indianapolis, where they hoped to establish an American Hockey League farm club.

The change of scenery for one of their home encounters didn't do any good. The Rangers were in command all the way and goalie Johnny Bower of the Rangers racked up his second shutout of the season.

Both Bower shutouts have come at the expense of the Hawks, who have dropped eight games and tied one in their last 11 meetings with the Rangers.

The victory drew the Rangers to within a point of fourth-place Bruins in their battle for the last playoff spot.

Nick Mickoski was the driving force for the Rangers, scoring two goals, one in each period and the other in the third, after rookie Camille Henry started the scoring in the initial session.

Mickoski's second goal came with less than seven minutes remaining in the first period. He got into the play from behind the beat goalie Al Rollins with a 15-footer from the left side after being set up by centre-Don Raleigh and defenceman Ivan Irwin. The Hawks failed to threaten at any time with Jack Price off for slashing.

Mickoski's second counter was scored on knee high shot from 12 feet out at the 8:36 mark of the final period.

New York's battle with the Rangers for the fourth playoff spot and the struggle between Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens for second place are the main attractions in the league.

The Leafs, idle tonight with the Montrealers with 65 points, play twice during the week-end while the Canadiens play once. Saturday night league-leading Habs clash with the Canadiens at Montreal while the Leafs take on the battling Bruins in Toronto.

Boston is the only other team carded for two games in the week-end action. The Bruins travel to Chicago for a Sunday encounter with the Hawks before the two-end straight night in a game at New York with the Rangers.

Sports Roundup

NEW YORK (AP)—We are only asking, but shouldn't Lou Boudreau, the Boston Red Sox manager, try to get together with his top hitter and, Ted Williams, on the subject of where the Sox figure to finish in the coming American League race?

Lou says he believes he'll have what it takes to get the Yankees this time. Ted, who probably became a supreme realist in the altogether Korea, says just as positively that talk about a Sox pennant is all this time is "silly," adding that third place would be more like it. In the interest of harmony the two should try to strike a balance, say, on second place

Honus Wagner, who is considered by many as the all-time great baseball player of them all, is set to have his 80th birthday next Wednesday at Pittsburgh.

A campaign is under way to raise $40,000 to erect an 18-foot bronze statue of the famous Dutchman at Forbes Field, scene of his mightiest triumphs. Up to only a few years ago the bowlegged old shortstop remained active as a Pirate coach.

The Milwaukee Boosters' Club, which considers that city's Braves the last word in baseball teams, turns out to be a mobile organization. About 75 of its members, all willing to wait, have taken up residence in Bradenton, Fla., only a short distance from the Braves' training camp at Bradenton.

Rocky Castellani Hands Durando Boxing Lesson

NEW YORK (AP)—Rocky Castellani, top-ranking middleweight contender from Cleveland, handed Ernie Durando an artistic boxing lesson Friday night to score a 10-round 10-round decision over the slow-moving Bayonne, N.J., boomer in Madison Square Garden. Castellani weighed 160¾, Durando 160.

It was the eighth straight victory for the 26-year-old Castellani and his second win in three fights with the powerful but inept Durando.

Two years ago Durando came from far behind to stop the broad-shouldered Castellani with a tremendous right uppercut in the jaw in the seventh round.

Friday night Ernie couldn't score with a solid right until the round but by then some of the steam had gone out of his punches and the blow hurt it didn't drop Casty.

Rocky had the ring all he was worth and then Ernie clipped him with another right to bring a roar from the crowd of 5,985 which paid $19,355 for the telcast and broadcast bouts.

Castellani, jeered earlier for his dancing tactics, brought cheers from the fans when he came back fighting in the liveliest round of the one-sided fight.

Johnny Digillo, 141, Bayonne, N.J., outpointed Kelly Kelly, 139, Niagara Falls, Ont., in a lively eight round semi-final. Digilio knocked his opponent down twice in the free-swinging affair.

Barrie Flyers Only Two Points Out of Fourth Place After Win

By The Canadian Press

The three lowest teams of the eight-club Ontario Hockey Association Junior A group Friday night scrambled to improve their positions.

Barrie Flyers came out on top with a 4-1 victory over Montreal Canadiens. The win boosted them to within two points of Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts and Hamilton Cubs, tied for fourth place with 47 points. It also kept Guelph Biltmores, with a 4-0 win over last-place Galt Black Hawks, from moving into a tie-for-last berth with Flyers.

Guelph has 43 points, two less than Barrie. Galt is in the cellar with 33 points.

Flyers turned in one of their best performances of the season in their interlocking series with the on-hometown ice with the powerful Canadiens at the Quebec Jumbo Hockey League.

More than 2,500 fans, largest crowd of the season, saw Flyers hold the Montrealers to a 1-1 score in the first period before second Flyers took a one-goal edge.

RANKIN GETS GOAL

George Rankin scored two goals and Don Robertson and Jimmy Poliziani counted the third-period markers. Henri Richard scored for Montreal.

At Guelph, Glen Ramsay's shutout was his first of the season.

Bill Sweeney, playing his second game in the junior hockey group, scored for Biltmores, the Scot scored the other three Guelph markers.

Ramsay got his shutout the easy way. He turned aside only 13 shots while Galt's Les Binkley handled 39 shots on goal.

In week-end action, Kitchener will visit Trois-Rivieres Saturday while Montreal Canadiens play at Galt and Toronto Marlboros go to Hamilton. Sunday, Kitchener will play the Royals in Montreal; Guelph will visit Quebec, St. Catharines will play Marlboros in Toronto and Hamilton will also visit Toronto for a game with St. Michael's.

ROLE OF HONOR

CAPETOWN (CP) — A roll of honor commemorating South American servicemen killed on active service in the Second World War is to be placed in the Union of South Africa Senate, alongside the roll for the First World War. It is estimated the new roll will contain 12,000 names.

Horvath Fades, Palmer Takes Lead in Open

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (CP)—Johnny Palmer of North Carolina, who thinks San Antonio's Brackenridge park is the easiest course on the winter golf tour and illustrated his belief by playing like it to fire a total of only 127, headed a field of 90 into the third round of the $12,500 Texas open golf tournament today.

The Canadian sensation of the first day's play, Rudy Horvath of Windsor, Ont., who shot a blistering 61 in the first round, ran into hard luck Friday and wound up with a par 71 which left him far down the list.

Horvath's big trouble was on the 15th, where he drove into a river and emerged with a double bogey. He did well to finish in par, but the beating the course has taken from the pros make a spectacular score mandatory to stay among the leaders.

GERRY STILL IN

Gerry Gesserling of Kitchener, Ont., is the only Canadian left in the tournament as the three other contenders failed to qualify for the next round. Kesserling, who can't win any money because of his professionary pro status which still has a month to go, ended the second round with 133, tied with four others.

The Canadians who bowed out were Bob Dean of Cornwall, Ont., at 144, Al Balding of Toronto, 146 and a bad 77 in the second round, and John Ray of Quebec at 148.

Palmer breezed over the 6,400-yard course in nine-under-par 62. It steady pursuit was Joe Moore of White Plains, N.Y., who was second to Horvath with a 62 in the first round and had 66 in the second for a total of 128.

Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill. and Lionel Hebert of Erie, Pa. tied for third place at 130.

RUGGED INDIVIDUALIST

LONDON (CP)—The National Liberal Club has erected a plaque to the memory of Clarence Willcocks, who sparked a national identity card issue four years ago when he refused to show his card to a policeman. Authorities later instructed police to demand the cards only when absolutely necessary.

Minor Hockey

The word finally came through that the Belleville Minor League teams will meet Kingston in the first round of the O.M.H.A. playoffs.

The bantam, midget and juvenile teams go east on Wednesday, February 24th where they do battle in the Community Centre in the first game of the two game goals-to-count series. The bantam teams will play the first game at 7.15 with the midget and juvenile to follow.

Due to the fact that the round must be over by March the first, the kids will get no rest as they will play the second game here in Belleville on Thursday, the next night.

These two cities always put on a great battle in any sports competition and there's no reason why this should be different. The same teams met last year with the Belleville bantams the only team or three to come out on top so the midget and juveniles will be out for revenge.

Those squirts put on a real battle last Thursday night against the Hawks won it. At one point the Leafs were in on scoring Hanna in the nets for the Hawks. He fell down to save, the Hawks cleared the puck and the Leafs brought it back in and shot another at Hanna. Down he fell and arose from the first shot. Both he and Woodcock at the other end made some real stellar 'ills' save goals to bring cheers from their sides' "hooligans" as they danced around along the boards. The kids finish it off next week-end with the second game of the series.

Coach Vic Morris decided on the changes he worked on his midget team after the two-hour workout Thursday night. Vic says he hopes to get one more piece in before Wednesday night so as to get the boys familiar with the playing lanes and the mates. Only 15 players can be dressed for each game but coach Morris did not say who would be on the line-up for Wednesday's game.

Following are the 18 players picked: Allen Sills, Beare, Wahnsley, Art Culloden, Bill Fosbery, Jack Gill, Ab Wright, Bob Wannamaker, Bob Snell, George Ferguson, Jack Thomas, Leo St. Denis, Gord St. Louis, Bill Keegan, Fred Hagerman, Gord Irwin, Charles Rowbotham and Joseph Webb.

HERE AND THERE.

The pee wee city playoffs got under way at the arena this morning. The Juvenile all-star team held a workout Thursday night with the Bantams practicing at 9 o'clock this morning. Several players who would have made the Midget all-stars did not do so because they could not produce their birth certificates. Marmora's midget "C" team won a close 1-0 victory over Wellington last Tuesday night . . . Stirling had little trouble disposing of Campbellford in the juvenile "C" playoffs. They meet Wellington next.

National League Old Timers Give Fans Thrilling Display

They may be grey-thatched and the years may have mirrored up on them, but the Old Timers of the National Hockey League demonstrated, here last night they have not by any stretch of the imagination, taken leave of their back-chasing artistry that made them the stars they were in the days of their prime.

Without regard to the score which incidentally was an eight-all tie, after the Whites roared home in the third period rally, the Old Timers put on a demonstration of stick-handling, speed and passing that was a treat to see.

It was far from the prediction that these were a bunch of "old crocks" out there for the fun of making painless extraction of money. They came up with a display of hockey that kept the near 4,000 crowd in their seats until the final whistle blew.

The Old Timers kept within the rules of the days when they were on ice, and referee Jr. chief, Mitchell Goodacre, called no penalties for the former Montreal Canadiens ace goaltender, Bill Durnan and "Moon" Mullagan were ejected as intended. In fact not a penalty was issued during the entire game and the ites, although Mr. Rodden, through sheer force of old-time habit was constantly at them, to toss some of his old time playing buddies into the cooler.

The passing plays of the Old Timers was something out of the world". There was none of the present day "holding the puck" for an end zone faceoff or by a mad scramble as is the style today. Any one of the five was most forgotten art of stick handling demonstrated. Years ago it was and I put it that way. It was a treat to watch.

The Reds flashed a burst of speed in the first period ramming home three goals before the whistle ing plays. Their "ace line of Chuck Conacher, Pewee Summerhill and Gus Mortson was the outstanding and proved to be the best scoring combination on the ice.

When the fun and furore was over the records revealed that Markey topped the snipers with four goals and assists. Conacher had two goals and four assists and Pewee Summerhill through with a quartet of helpers. Russ Johnson and "Windy" O'Neill accounted for the rest.

SAME OLD-BILLY.

Billy Taylor was the same free-wheeling, clever centre men, that made him one of the pivot stars of the major league when he was in his prime. Billy was paired with a couple for the Whites as was "Butch" Keeling and "Ted" Hodgson. In fact the latter blew while open on the last period when the training whistle went scorching haywire and tied the count.

The score was 3-2 for the Reds when the final heat opened. The Whites staged a terrific rally and came up with a brilliant exhibition of passing play that saw them score five goals in the time to count within striking distance and finally cause the game to end in the 8-8 stalemate.

The largest hockey crowd of the season saw a brilliant display of passing and shooting. Referee-in-chief Michael J. Rodden, of Kingston, aided and abetted by Bill Durnan, former goalie star of the Montreal Canadiens and "Moon" Flanagan of Kingston had little to do. Both blew the saw and potential thunder of Mr. Rodden as was evidenced in the early days of officiating, but something to do with it, but nary a penalty was issued.

Butch Keeling and Red Heron of the Whites stood out with two goals each, while Belleville's own "Red" Doran, stocky and fire-thatched, also shared the rest of his "Red-mates" turned in a fine job.

Diminutive Roy Worters has lost little of his dexterity with wizardry although Walter Hume almost stole his thunder in the latter periods.

The teams:

The Whites—Goal, Karl Chodmondley; defence, Dit Clapper, Rhys Thompson; centre, Billy Taylor; wings, Ted Heron, Johnny Conick; subs, Butch Keeling, Doug Smylie, Harry Palmer, Alex Levinsky, Ellis Pringle, Jimmy Fowler, Lorne Duguid.

The Reds—Goal, Roy Worters, Walter Hume; defence, Cy Wentworth, Red Doran; centre, Windy O'Neill; wings, Charlie Conacher, Pewee Summerhill, subs, Harvey Johnstone, Russ Johnstone, Pat Patterson, Ross Knipfel, Walt Stanowski, Bill Mosienko.

Referees—Michael J. Rodden, "Moon" Flanagan, Kingston; Bill Durnan, Ottawa.

Andy Grant Wins Three Trophies In Ontario Spiel

By ANDY GRANT

TORONTO (CP)—Andy Grant of Royal Canadians came out a triple-winner from the 27th annual Ontario bonspiel which ended Friday night.

Thursday Grant walloped L. E. Rose of Agincourt 13-2 to claim the Birks Trophy — second event on the bonspiel. He took the Monarch Knitting Trophy Friday night with an 11-6 victory over J. W. Wyse of Toronto 11-6 and was awarded the grand aggregate jewels for winning more games than any other skipper—11 out of 12 starts.

Four other finals were played Friday.

Mel Covington of Toronto defeated Wick Green of the Royal Canadian Club to win the North Toronto Trophy 8-4. Fred H. Carlyle, also ofToronto, downed R. E. Miller of Campbellford, N.B. 12-4 to win the Seagram event.

W. G. Allan of Toronto High Park won the Parker Pen Trophy with a convincing 10-3 win over Dr. Jack Thompson.

S. H. Smithers of Galt — only outsider to take a final this year—won the Selkirking after a 9-7 decision over J. W. Raine of Toronto Granite. Mrs. Smithers was awarded the grand aggregate prize in 1952.

Vern Mathewman of Toronto was the top-award Royal York finals Thursday.

Tenley Albright Loses Skating Title to German

Barbara Gratton of Toronto won fourth place behind Britain's Erica Pinkerton.

Miss Albright, the defending champion from Boston, held a 22.8-point lead over the German challenger at the start of Friday's competition. But she lost the title when her fall at the end of a double-loop jump, also was rated on a par with Miss Busch on the quality of her program. But her mishap gave her three top marks for execution.

The victory by Miss Busch completed a split of the major titles between the different countries. Hayes Alan Jenkins of the United States won the men's singles, Nortis Bowden and Frances Dafoe of Toronto carried off the doubles crown and the ice-dancing competition went to Jean Westwood and Larry Demmy of Britain.

Canada's two remaining contestants in the women's singles finished well back. Carole Jones Pohl of Montreal was eighth, Ann Gimaster of Toronto ninth and Sonia Curry of Calgary 10th in the field of 11.

Bombers After Al Sherman For Coaching Job

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Interprovincial Football Union are negotiating with Al Sherman, an assistant coach last year with New York Giants of the National Football League, to take over as Bombers' head coach, officials said Friday night.

They said Sherman returned to New York last Wednesday after meeting with the team's selection committee for a new coach.

Coach George Trafton was dropped by Bombers early this year with one year still remaining on his three-year contract.

McCready Figures 25 P.C. of Women Wrestling Fans

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—A professional wrestling bout, to a woman spectator, is worth "about $10 in medicine," says Earl McCready who started in the game because he was "afraid a well-built man could beat 'a big man.'"

A look around where he's manhandling the hero—and handsome Earl is the good man in the rig—gives the fair sex "a chance to get rid of their inhibitions—they really hold loose in their hearts' content," McCready explained in an interview. "They go home and if they had any yen to beat up on the old man it is gone—they're exhausted but happy."

McCready figures about 25 per cent of persons going to wrestling matches are from the distaff side and they often cheer for the hero in the ring.

Earl, just arrived from New Zealand for a long visit, has been in the game for Canada, was a strapping 15-year-old boy starving at Amulet, Sask., when a poster-farm fences "almost scared me to death." Then, under the name Burns, a former wrestler, and addressed the "little man," read: "Handle big men with ease."

"I figured I might be one of those big guys, so I sent away for course and learned my wrestling by correspondence."

That was 30 years ago and McCready can look back on championships he has won—the heavyweight title in the 1930 British Empire Games at Hamilton, Ont., and the professional British Empire championship in 1935. He lost the pro title six years later.

McCready, six feet two inches tall and weighing 240 pounds, still wrestles at least once a week.

He can remember enjoying the summer sunshine only four years in the last 18 as wrestles in New Zealand during the winter months —April to September—and returns to Canada every autumn around October to the end of March.

McCready was born in Lansdowne, Ont., turned pro in 1931 and accepted an offer to tour Australia. "Our boat stopped at New Zealand and we were asked to help out with wrestling matches in Auckland," he said. "I stayed on and wrestled and Frank Miller, a former wrestler, persuaded me into the ring. I stayed on and promoted.

"It's been a great time but then —wrestle in New Zealand's winter months and return to Canada for bouts in our winter season."

Lyndhurst Drops Game to Junior Swedish Team

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Toronto Lyndhurts fell 5-4 before a junior Swedish team in their first night pitting an end to the 10-game winning streak they had entered Sweden with.

The defeat marked the end of a warm-up European exhibition tour for the Toronto club which will represent Canada in the world hockey championships beginning here Friday. A team of expatriate Canadians won three of their only other defeat, 11-2, in Paris last month.

Lyndhurts won all their other contests in Switzerland, Italy and Germany.

The Canadians trailed 3-0 in the second period. After a scoreless first frame, the youthful Swedish team rapped in three fast goals.

Tallies by Hans Grar, Harold Fiskari and John Petro evened the count but in the final Sweden's Lars Soederberg sank his third goal.

Gray's second marker only narrowed the gap for the Canadians.

Swedish Fans Forget Skiing As Russians Prepare For World Title With Canada

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Stockholm sports fans forget skiing, despite the nearby ski championships, as the Russians and Canadians arrived for the world hockey tournament.

The two teams, regarded as a toss-up to take the title over all other contenders, are sharing living quarters in the city's most modern hotel.

Greg Currie, coach of Toronto Lyndhurst, said "ever since we arrived in Europe to warm up for this we have heard: 'Over here we can't match the Russians, so we count on you.'

"And we're going to do it."

Currie heads a team of 15 players with an average age of 23½ years. Four more are due Monday to strengthen the team, which has been criticized in England and at home in Stockholm for dropping European exhibition games to a team of pros, and losing 5-4 to a Swedish junior team Friday night.

"We'll make it by speed and hard checking," he said. "Russia will overcome the unfavorable statistics."

Swedish papers said today, however, that Canada hardly will win any medals on the basis of Friday night's play. The Swedish team, which included a goalie player who'll compete in the world championships, is regarded as a first-class outfit.

"A listless team playing a gloomy, unimaginative hockey without ideas, push or teamwork," said the Stockholm Tidningen, adding:

"It will be very difficult for this team to attain top placing in the championships."

RUSSIANS PLEASED

"The Soviet world ice hockey team was pleased with the form they saw the Canadians play," the Morgon Tidningen reported. "They had reason for doing so—Canada will certainly not beat the Soviet team, not even Czechoslovakia and Sweden."

The Soviet pucksters hardly took time to unpack their rucksacks before heading for the rink. They even cancelled a scheduled press conference to be there in time.

After Vladimir Igorov, coach of the all-star Soviet team selected from the Moscow TSDA (central house of the Soviet Army), Dynamo and Zenith teams, said he is confident that the "collective playing" of his men will be efficient enough to overcome the Canadians' tough tactics.

He said the Russian team had been practising among "thousands of players" all over Russia, where hockey was introduced eight years ago.

GIVEN EVEN CHANCE

Ivar Harbom, coach of the Swedish second-division team which lost 5-4 to the Lyndhurst team earlier, said the speedy Soviets might have an even chance against Canada "if they don't play like they play."

Currie sent his team right into its first try-out here shortly after arriving from a heavy exhibition tour.

The Stockholm paper Dagens Nyheter said only two of the Canadian players were of first-class calibre, Norman Gray and John Petro. Svenska Dagbladet labelled the Lyndhurst "one of the poorest teams that ever visited Europe."

"Soviet Russia will beat this Canadian team 10-0," said John Nairvesti, president of the Norrtelje Ice Hockey Federation. He had just arrived from Moscow where he saw the Russian play Switzerland and Czechoslovakia.

Burlington Suffers Broken Leg and is Out For Season

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Tommy Burlington won't set a scoring record this year.

The 24-year-old Owen Sound Mercury's centre who has the use of only one eye suffered a broken leg Friday night when he lost his balance and crashed into the boards at Niagara Falls. The hometown Cataracts defeated the league-leading Mercurys 8-4 in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A group game.

The fight for Burlington, who was four points away from the league record of 111 points held by Stratford Indian's Mickey Roth, was accidental.

Jack Castelan and Bill Harrisburg paced last-place Cataracts to their first win this season over Mercurys with three goals each. Sandy Air and Bill Young scored the others.

Doug Gillespie scored two for Merks with Jack Hunter and Bill McComb getting singles.

MAROONS-TIGERS WIN

In other games, Chatham Maroons raised their first victory over Stratford Indians and Hamilton Tigers moved back into second place ahead of Hull-Ottawa.

Hub Anslow and Harvey Jacklin got the Hamilton goals. Doug Verity, Don Oberlander, Art Hurst and Gerry Theberge scored for Kitchener.

PLAYERS MOVE UP

In the Northern Ontario Hockey Association's Senior A section group, Sudbury Wolves scored a 6-5 victory over Sault Greyhounds. The win, which lifted the Wolves to within five points of league-leading Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.) Greyhounds, came after the honors-even Port Dalhousie in the local in the second period with a pair of goals after Wolves' Tim Beaudry scored in the opener. Other Sudbury scorers were Mick Tomiuk, Peter McClellan and Fiore Goegan.

Second-place Wolves' Sudbury Wolves play will see Windsor at Kitchener, Chatham at Owen Sound and Hamilton at Stratford Saturday and Niagara Falls at Windsor Sunday.

In the NOHA Saturday, North Bay will visit Pembroke and Sudbury Wolves will visit Timmins. Wolves will visit the Sault (Mich.) Indians Sunday.

Waters That Are 'Fished-Out'

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT
(Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Salmax Tables.)

Some years ago I was having lunch with George LaBranche (he was the father of modern casting) of The Anglers' Club of New York. George, as usual, was talking and I was listening. Somehow or other, the subject of "fished-out waters" came under discussion.

"For my part," said George, "I like fished-out waters. Once in a while—not often, mind you—I will find a stream or a lake that actually is fished-out. Most of the time, however, just the reverse is true.

"Take Callicoon Creek, for instance. Flows into the Delaware River at the little town of Callicoon. I was driving by there one day, saw the stream, and stopped to make inquiries. Fished-out, I was told me; nobody fishes it any more.

"Well, the stream is beautiful, it looked good to me, I went back to look it over. As I looked, a trout rose and took a drifting insect. I put on a suitable fly and caught it. Work. That was one of the finest days I have spent with a dry fly."

SIX BEAUTIES

Not long after that a friend and I drove up the Delaware to Callicoon. Good as my memory of fishermen wasting time on this fished-out stream, I thought when I took six beauties from Callicoon an even two-and-one half pounds.

Two years ago I received a letter from a gentleman who lives in one of the larger cities of Wisconsin. I had written a news story about motor boats and the damage they do to shore-line fishing. He happened to see it in his newspaper.

He told me that most of his fishing was done in a "fished-out" lake, right in the city limits, only a short distance from his house. Because of heavy boat traffic, mostly outboards, and fierce wave, if any, bass to be found in the shallows.

Accordingly, he evolved a method of deep-water drifting, using a long, fine leader, a small hook, and live minnows. He fishes either quite early in the morning or late in the in the evening when the lake is comparatively quiet, and gets catches of bass that he brings home regularly run very impressive poundages.

STILL GOOD CATCHES

Other people fish the lake now and then, but with indifferent results. "Fished-out" they say; "no use fishing here any more." Meanwhile, my correspondent goes his merry way with little or no competition, consistently taking good catches from fished-out waters.

Even the men in the fish-management business are fooled once in a while. For example, an experienced member of the Wisconsin fish-management division spent his entire vacation summer before last trying to land a musky, but without success.

The following spring he and his crew, while gathering musky spawn, had no difficulty in netting some 200 mature muskies from that same water.

When I was a boy our immediate group staged each summer a "catch party," held in a summer camp on an island in the junction of a large river and a tributary stream. The surrounding waters, being close to town, were known to all local fishermen. However, being young and optimistic, I fished faithfully each day of our two-week stay.

Mostly my efforts were rewarded with a few sunfish. One day, during a soft summer rain, I hit jackpot. The bass were ravenous. From the same water—reputedly fished-out and which I had fished daily—I extracted a catch of bass which would have done credit to any north-woods lake.

A few years ago I was seated in the office of my friend John Monroe, president of the fishing tackle firm.

BOY BY GUESSWORK

Somewhat jokingly I asked him if there were not already too many bass plugs on the market. "Don't you believe it." he said. "Fishing lures aren't put out simply by guesswork. The lure that will be made when we put out a new lure.

"First the lure is designed—for weight, casting quality, and behavior in the water. Then it is field-tested by capable anglers. Simply to have a lure catch fish is not enough. It must out-produce lures now in use. Only then do we proven lures.

"Our men choose a certain lake within fairly easy reach of town. They use two boats. In the first is a man using a casting rod. He fishes along a shore line, covering it thoroughly. Directly behind him comes the man with the new lure, fishing the same water. Unless the new lure can take fish more or less consistently from the water just fished with the standard lure, it goes into the discard.

"The theory is this—we believe that, from a given school of bass certain fish will take a lure of a definite design and color. Change the design and the color and you will appeal to an entirely different group of fish—Thus, for our heavy fished waters we find that our new lures actually do produce more fish than the old, accepted standard of design."

NEW LURES KILL

I'm sure that every angler has had the same experience. In heavily fished water, standard, proven flies or lures often will produce fish. Then, suddenly, some new and different flies or lures commence to make a killing.

Another thing to remember about fished-out waters is that more often than not there is still a goodly supply of fish on hand. Individual fish may be the supposed of the smarter, less susceptible ones. The ready prey are already have been caught out.

These rugged individualists do feed, but under conditions are right and when they happen to be hungry. Then is when your Solunar Tables come in mighty handy. If you keep track of your daily catches you will be on hand for the times when these stubborn villains accept lures on the feed.

As I say, fished-out waters are rarer than you might suppose. To be sure, certain pools or some of the more accessible lines may be over-fished from time to time, but as anglers do restock themselves, the newer comers moving in from other localities.

So make it a point to take out to look over some fished waters in your area now and then. Sometimes these places will have a big surprise in store for you.

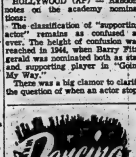
Movie Column

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Random notes on the academy nominations:

The classification of "supporting actor" remains as confused as ever. The height of confusion was reached in 1944, when Barry Fitzgerald was nominated both as star and supporting player in "Going My Way."

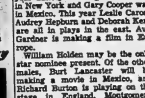
There was a big clamor to clarify the question of when an actor stops being merely a support and becomes the star of the picture. This yardstick was offered: If a performer's name is billed above the title of the picture, he is a star. Fredric March and Frank Sinatra did it. Edmund Gwenn and Edmund Gwenn Reed had star billing in "From Here to Eternity," so both were nominated in the supporting category.



On the other hand, Victor Mature played a definitely supporting role in "The Robe," so he was classified as a star in the voting. That's why he didn't get a nomination. He would have been a cinch for a nomination in the supporting classification.

It looks like another absentee year among the top winners. Last year Shirley Booth got her Oscar in New York and Gary Cooper was in Mexico. This year Leslie Caron, Audrey Hepburn and Deborah Kerr are all in place in the east. Ava Gardner is making a film in Europe.

William Holden may be the only star nominee present. Of the other males, Burt Lancaster will be making a movie in Mexico, and Richard Burton is playing on the stage in England. Montgomery Clift will probably remain in New York, and Marlon Brando—well, your guess is as good as 20th Century-Fox's. The studio has been looking for him for weeks.



The revised versions of "Little Caesar" (1930) and "Public Enemy" (1931) are a bit on the tenuous circuit. They have been given an "objectionable" classification by the Roman Catholic League of Decency, but have not been condemned.

"Little Caesar" was cited for excessive brutality, methods of crime minutely detailed and low moral tone." "Public enemy" was found objectionable for "low moral tone, suggestive sequences and excessive brutality."

THE DUTCH MILL INN

By SAM GORDON
The Ribitzer

One of the great charms of bridge is its infinite variety. No player ever gets exactly the same hand twice in his lifetime. Even though many hands look very much alike.

Furthermore, some players never seem to handle a similar hand in the same way. As a result, the final contract with a same type hand may depend on the style of player who handles it.

A deal we are telling stories about it shown here:

NORTH
♠ North
♥ A Q J 8 7 6 2
♦ K 7
♣ A Q 2

WEST
♦ Q 6 5 3 2
♣ K 7 6 5

EAST
♠ A 9 7 6 3
♥ 10 9 5
♣ 10 9 8 4

SOUTH
♠ K Q J 10 9 5
♥ None
♦ A J 10 9 8
♣ J 3

Opening bid by south was a spade. You may have an idea that a different opening bid would fit this hand better. But no matter what foundations you prefer, an opening bid of some kind is in.

North was an impatient Ibex who took the elevator with every good looking hand. Instead of approaching with a jump force in his hearts, he leaped to the slam prober bid of four no-trump.

This four no-trump is the ace and kings asking convention. In answer, south said five hearts. As the players were using no signals, this reply showed one ace and one king.

At first, north had visions of a grand slam in hearts. But with opponents now known to have an ace and a king, he was not so sure. It seemed sensible to be content with a small slam.

With the hearts he held, North had the smug feeling that this suit should be trumps. So, he went to six hearts. He did so with the confidence of one who knew he was in the right spot.

As you can quickly see, six hearts will make whether a finesse in clubs is taken or not. Only a third club could be lost.

And all there would be to this story is the fact that south has no trumps.

But the contract did not end there. South and east and north were heard from again and the result was something worth talking about. You must hear the rest of it.

Minor Hockey

The play-offs for the peewee title of the city got under way at the arena this morning with the Bruins winning over the Rangers 5-3, the Black Hawks shutting out the Leafs 4-0 and the Red Wings and Canadiens battling to a 2-2 deadlock. All were the first game in two game goals-to-count series with the next games being played next Saturday morning.

The goal scorers for the Bruins were Terry Cook with a hat trick, Boulter, Norm Boulter and Gelsthorpe. Jack Boulter and Wally Isaiah assisted. Gary Hull had a trio of assists for the Rangers while Follwell had a pair of goals and single one.

Don Moore, Gerald Ethier and Tom Brandon each had one goal and one assist in the Hawk victory while Grey Duggan scored the only one.

A goal by Fred Smith with just a few minutes to play gave the Wings their tie with the Canadiens with Jim Sheridan and Jim McGuire the other Red Wing scoring play. Doug Dafoe and Jim Potts were the Habs marksmen with Whitefield assisting on one.

"Red" Doran, chief coach for the Belleville McFarlands' hockey team said today that the three Belleville minor hockey teams playing in Kingston this Wednesday will make the trip by bus.

The first bus will leave the Memorial Arena at 5.30 p.m., taking the bantams and midgets. The bantams play first game and the midgets second. At 6.30 the second bus will leave with the juvenile team, also from the arena.

COLLISION KILLS 20

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — A rainbow-hued train late Friday at Dismantina, in Brazil's Sao Paulo State, killed 19 persons and injured six seriously, the Meridional news agency reported. The dispatch said the engine tank of the bus exploded, setting fire to the wreckage and only 10 of the bus passengers escaped.

IT'S TRUE! By Wilbur Padan

Clark GABLE had to carry a revolver loaded with live ammunition during the making of M-G-M's "MOGAMBO," filmed on a four-month safari in Africa. It was not only a precaution against wild animals but by reference to the Mau Mau, secret terror society sworn to kill all whites!

Ava GARDNER had to have her 15 costume changes for the Technicolor adventure romance made in quadruple because of climatic effect on the silk and nylon fabrics.

M-G-M's MIGHTY MOGAMBO

Narrowly escaped injury during filming of the African picture when a rhinoceros charged the jeep in which she was riding across a plain.

Grace KELLY

AT THE BELLE—Clark Gable, Ava Gardner and Grace Kelly are the romantic triangle in M.G.M.'s "Mogambo", in Technicolor, revealing a flaming Jungle Love Feud. Shown for the first time at regular prices, "Mogambo" is now in its 6th and final day at the Belle Theatre. A Tom & Jerry cartoon is an added attraction.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY, FEB. 21, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Pleasant, constructive inclinations. You can attend to necessary work without strain or complaint and win something very worth while. If you have free time, enjoy wholesome pleasure after church.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Happy indications. Your interests and those of your family are particularly honored. Show appreciation to God for blessings by going to your church, giving to charity, making others happy.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Use your bright ideas and clever knack for managing entertainment, etc. to aid church and charity affairs. Don't be too forceful. Pray for harmonious co-operation in good causes.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — This Sunday honors, along with spiritual devotions, healthy sports, recreation, children's and old folks' interests. Essential duties can be handled speedily if you accept them cheerfully.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — You can gain in many ways this benefic Sunday. If, of course, you do right and heed the laws of God and nature. No need to strain but do not neglect important duties. Be-lie!

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Ideal omens for creative, scientific research, medical study; for music and other arts. But do not work unnecessarily — One day a week we renew our energies by God.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Favorable omens point to you. Help keep this a happy, productive day with good intentions carried through. Good aspects for unique but useful ideas, methods, materials. Pray.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—One of your most propitious days in a long while. Personal affairs, occupational or business advancement, improvement generally under splendid influences. Aim to do well all week. You can!

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Your planet, Jupiter, is auspiciously aspected today — and often throughout '54—but wisdom in spending and saving is strongly advocated. Today stresses relaxing, pleasant activities and prayer.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Influence may be on the over-exciting side now but you can use this impetus as inspiration for increased ambition, to aid your present and future security, your spiritual needs.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Bow your head in prayer, thanksgiving for past and future blessings. Many good things in store for you who will work and aspire for that which will benefit family, community, church.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Much promise in day's incoming aspects. However, you must think and act rightly if we are to benefit by these good inclinations. Spiritual development must go hand in hand with the temporal.

YOU BORN TODAY have, considering trends—strong, good, admirable characteristics on the one side, vacillating, unambitious, nervous ones on the other. God has endowed us with free will, a good conscience, and the path we choose is up to us. No finer individual is to be found than the conscientious native of Aquarius: humane, intelligent, kindly and capable. Pray, work so that you may increase the latter assets daily. Birthdate: John Henry Newman, Cardinal, famous writer.

Viet Nam Heads Approve Plans For Peace Talks

Queen Opens Tasmania's State Parliament

HOBART, Tasmania (CP)—Queen Elizabeth today opened the Tasmanian state parliament in the most intimate official ceremony thus far on her royal tour of the Commonwealth.

It was an impressive and colorful ceremony despite the overcast sky and the rain which stopped temporarily just before the Queen arrived.

She made her way through flower gardens in full bloom to the tiny legislative council chamber. The Queen sat in a chair carved by convict labor when Australia still was a remote settlement.

Opposite her was a painting of the young Queen Victoria which had hung in the same place since soon after Tasmania started governing itself in 1855.

Spectators sat within six feet of the sovereign as she read a brief, four-minute speech which outlined the government's program for the coming session.

HAPPY COINCIDENCE

The Queen said she felt it a happy coincidence to visit Tasmania during the celebrations of the first British occupation of the island 150 years ago.

"The Pacific members of my realm are playing an increasingly important part in the affairs of the Commonwealth and of the world, and I am deeply interested in your progress and continued prosperity," she said.

The Queen wore a pure white silk gown with a delicate white rosee and lilac on her left hip and a white straw stole. The Duke of Edinburgh was in the blue naval form of an admiral of the fleet.

Murder Charge Being Considered At Cornwall

CORNWALL (CP) — An Ontario Supreme Court grand jury today began considering a murder indictment against Canadian army Lieutenant Peter E. R. Balcombe, 25, of London, Ont.

The indictment charges Balcombe with the murder of 20-year-old Marie Anne Carrier of Bienville, Que., last Oct. 31.

Chief Justice J. C. McRuer is presiding.

The nude and stabbed body of the CWAC reserve sergeant was found covered with dirt 100 miles north of Iroquois. She had died from several knife thrusts and severe injuries to the throat and her engagement finger.

Balcombe, married, and the father of three children, was arrested in the Toronto suburb three days later with his family at the suburban London home of his father-in-law.

He was committed for trial by Magistrate J. A. Bertrand following a two-day preliminary hearing at Morrisburg.

If the grand jury returns a true bill, the trial will probably get underway tomorrow.

Crown attorney R. P. Milligan, of Cornwall, expects to call 35 witnesses.

Balcombe is being defended by J. M. P. Kelly of Ottawa.

THREE PERSONS KILLED.

SASKATOON (CP) — Three persons were killed Sunday night 10 miles west of Saskatoon when two cars collided on Highway 16.

R. R. Minahell, Betty Klassen and Agnes Gardeen, all of Biggar, Sask. Two young daughters of Mr. Minahell were taken to hospital with slight injuries.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Cooler air entered the province Sunday night and will bring night-time temperatures tonight below freezing in Southern Ontario. Northern Ontario will see a repeat of the below-zero temperatures which can be much the same as Monday's and there is not much likelihood of either rain or snow.

BRITISH BOTTLE UP REMNANTS OF MAU MAU BAND

Casualties Expected To Run Over Hundred

By JIM BECKER

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters) — British troops today bottled up the last remnants of a desperate Mau Mau terrorist band at the end of a 100-mile running battle north of here since last Thursday.

The troops this morning closed a ring around thickly - wooded Ruathia ridge at the foot of the rugged Aberdare mountains. Their quarry contained an estimated 70 terrorists—all that remain of a fierce raiding party originally numbering well over 200.

Hundreds of native guard units tightened the ring held by the British troops, while other units fanned out behind the mountain range where the bitter battle was fought. Casualties inflicted on the terrorists in the fighting since the week-end are expected to rise above 100 when all the bodies are counted. It is the battle—the biggest success yet scored by the security forces since the state of emergency campaign — began on Thursday after the gang raided a police post at Kandara, 20 miles northeast of here. Police and troop units, native guard battalions and the 300-strong gang as it fled back toward the Aberdares.

SHOW DOWN SCORES

Scores of terrorists were mowed down Sunday night by machine-gun fire when two companies of the King's African Rifles moved through a river crossing in the Maragua valley 25 miles northwest of Fort Hall. One of the dead was identified as the Mau Mau chief recruiting officer, and secret documents found on his body are now being translated from Arabic and Indian.

Mau Mau casualties in the four-day running battle covering almost 100 miles from Thika to the Aberdare region total 111 dead and 40 wounded. Against this, only three African members of security units have been wounded.

The gang is believed to be under command of terrorist "General Kago," and has the reputation of being the toughest and most ruthless of the entire Mau Mau "army."

At fighting continued further south, Nairobi police today discovered a Mau Mau "gun shop" turning out rifles and sub-machine guns under their noses in one of the city's native quarters. Guns, gunmaking tools and drugs were confiscated.

Pakistan Asks U.S. Military Aid

KARACHI (Reuters) — Premier Mohammed Ali today announced Pakistan has asked the United States for military aid to strengthen her armed forces.

He said the request for military aid has been made under the U.S. mutual assistance program in the Middle East, No amount was specified.

Pakistan has previously admitted to informal talks on the question of U.S. military aid. First reports of Pakistan's request for aid have brought outright condemnation from the Soviet press which has criticized the move as a source of deep concern from India's Premier Nehru.

A top Russian denied Russian allegations that the United States is planning to build military bases on Pakistan soil.

Prince Charles and Princess Anne Will Meet Parents on Way Home at Tobruk

LONDON (Reuters)—Plans were announced Sunday for five-year-old Prince Charles, heir to Britain's throne, to make his first royal tour this spring.

Charles and sister Anne, 3, will sail to North Africa in April to meet their parents, Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, and will come home with them on the return from the royal tour as part of the Commonwealth.

An official announcement from the royal residence at Buckingham Palace verified earlier reports of the youngsters' journey.

Charles and his sister will start their trip outside Britain April 15, when they board the royal yacht Britannia for a voyage to Tobruk, Libya.

They will sail back from the North African port May 1 with their parents, Princess Margaret, at Malta and Gibraltar during the return trip to Britain, where they will arrive May 15.

The trip will mark the beginning of a long-distant career for both youngsters, destined from birth for the duties of Commonwealth appearances now occupying their parents in Australia.

They will be guided in their first venture abroad by Catherine Peebles, the prince's governess, and Helen Lightbody, their nurse.

There is little chance the voyage will get the children to Tobruk in time for the Queen's birthday April 21, the day before the Queen becomes 28.

SALT MINE COLLAPSES — A cave-in underground in a Windsor salt mine caused this cherub's warehouse to sink deep into the ground. Water bubbling up from the old salt workings created a lake and the flood for a time threatened much of the chlorine-manufacturing section of the big $6,000,000 Canadian Industries Limited plant. Construction Industry Opposes Expanded Public Works To Combat Unemployment OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's construction industry today opposed an "expanded federal public works program for relieving unemployment.

The Canadian Construction Association, in its annual brief to the cabinet, said it doubts such a program would affect seasonal unemployment or help particular industries in which workers are out of jobs.

The association, chief spokesman for the $4,000,000,000-a-year construction industry, took the opposite view from major labor bodies, which recently have urged a stepped-up public works policy to absorb jobless.

It said construction is desirable in times of general decline in business activity, but this year 250,000 jobs will have a high volume of construction anyway.

EFFECT DOUBTFUL

"It is very doubtful," the brief said, "that a substantial increase in the public works program would affect the present seasonal unemployment . . . or help the textile, marine ,agricultural implement and other industries currently beset with particular unemployment problems."

The CCA submission was presented to a cabinet committee by a delegation headed by president Raymond Brunet of Hull, Que., and vice-presidents W. G. Malcom of Winnipeg and A. Turner Bone of Montreal.

On housing, the association recommended federal measures to facilitate an annual program of at least 125,000 dwellings, compared with the record of 104,000 starts in 1953.

Other measures include:

1. Higher amount on which home-builders can borrow 90 per cent of a dwelling's value under the National Housing Act.

2. Extension of NHA loans to cover older houses bought for rehabilitation.

An creation of "open end" mortgages that would enable owners to enlarge homes without the expense of a new mortgage.

For highways, the association recommended further federal aid to provinces beyond the assistance on the trans-Canada highway project.

IMPROVE ROADS

Funds should be made available to the provinces for improving main road networks, to be administered by the provinces. Also, a federal-provincial program should be undertaken on such highways as those leading into undeveloped areas.

Dealing with labor relations, the CCA urged legislation to require picketing before strikes or lockouts be called.

The association opposed any legislation to make the voluntary revocable checkoff of union dues a legal right. Under this checkoff the employee authorizes the employer to pay the union his dues out of earnings but can revoke the authorization at any time.

Huge Salvage Job is Facing CIL at Its Plant at Windsor

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A huge mop-up and salvage operation was scheduled to start today in the wake of the week-end's cave-in at the Windsor property of the Canadian Industries Limited $6,000,000 chemical plant.

A collapse far underground in an old salt mine working left at the surface a water-filled hole 300 yards deep, 125 yards wide and 100 feet deep. It and the mine were several buildings and part of a railway spur that toppled into it after its earth gave way with a rumble about noon Friday.

Philip F. Morand, works manager of Canadian Salt Company on the adjacent property, said his firm will be back in full production Tuesday. He said a new office building, where records were kept and records were hastily evacuated Friday when cracks appeared in the walls, will be reoccupied at once.

At the chemical plant near the banks of the Detroit river, all 300 employees were due to return to work with the possibility they will be assigned for a time to jobs other than their regular ones. Some of their former working quarters in the chlorine-consolidated section of the big plant were entirely or partially submerged in water that gushed up from underground after the cave-in and formed a little lake around the tilted buildings.

FELL 37 FEET

The ground dropped 22 feet after the initial cave-in, then went down another 15 feet in spots, with the earth gradually crumbling back from the main pit.

WOMAN CHARGED WITH RECEIVING IN ROBBERY CASE

17-Year-Old Toronto Wife Released on Bail

TORONTO (CP) — A 17-year-old Toronto wife has been charged in connection with the $10,000 "bonus policeman" robbery here last Tuesday, police said today.

A charge of receiving $100, laid against Mrs. Darlene Johnston, brings to four the number of persons charged in connection with the briefcase snatch from a woman insurance company clerk as she crossed a busy street in suburban Swansea.

Previously charged were three natives of England, one a police officer, whom police said planned to use the robbery money to go back there. They are constable Terry Thomas, 25, of Swansea police, and Frank Stevens and Peter Mason, both 26.

Mrs. Johnston appeared in court today and was remanded to Feb. 26 on $25 bail.

CARRIED STOLEN MONEY

In an interview today, she quoted Mason as telling her by telephone: "I'm the one who went and pulled the bank robbery." She said she went to a Toronto theatre at his request.

"Where is your purse?" was the first question he asked. He started taking money from it, she said, but he was carrying and transferred it to my purse."

Mrs. Johnston said she and Mason went to another theatre where Mason transferred the silver back from the purse into his pockets.

She said she had first met Mason in a restaurant where she worked.

Britain to Supply A-Bombs to RAF, For First Time

More Money to Be Spent On Planes and Weapons

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain will supply atomic bombs to the RAF for the first time this year, it was announced today.

Air Secretary Earl de l'Isle and Dudley, made the disclosure in a report on estimated RAF expenditures for the 1954-55 year.

Prime Minister Churchill's government announced last Thursday that "atomic weapons" were being produced in Britain and being delivered to the armed forces. Today's announcement specifically mentioned bombs. The air secretary said:

"We are allowing (in the budget) for the first time for some atomic bombs."

The air secretary said that more money would be spent on planes and weapons but much less on equipment, stores and buildings in the coming year. Thus, the total estimate of costs he said, is £491,640,000 ($1,377,000,000), a reduction of about £6,425,000 in the previous year's expenditure.

SET-UP CHANGING

His report said modern trends in air warfare have produced many changes in organization of the air force.

"Many, if not all, of these changes and improvements are taking place with the prospect of guided weapons coming over the horizon," he said.

Since the modern bomber can go extremely fast and change direction suddenly, the fighter defending the whole of our ground organization and made changes in the command system to match the needs of operations that may often be conducted above the speed of sound," he commented.

He reported a serious need for more pilots and navigators.

BOMBS STORED SAFELY

Discussing the storage of atom bombs would cause no particular safety problems. The air force has made special arrangements to store them.

Large underground runways are being constructed in Britain for the V-bombers, the Vickers-Armstrong Valiant, the Vulcan and the Victor, he said.

The air minister said the air force "continues to derive great satisfaction" from the intensive training which the Canadian government provides for North Atlantic treaty nations.

Missing Plane Lands Safely

SUDBURY (CP) — A private plane, reported missing Saturday on a flight to North Bay, has turned up at Parry Sound.

The pilot, Walter Gulay of Gimby, Man., was flying the plane from Sault Ste. Marie to Newfoundland.

Billy Graham Tries to Make Peace With Labor as He Visits Britain

LONDON (AP)—A Labor member of Parliament said today Billy Graham will meet British Labor MPs in an attempt to quiet bitter criticism raised by anti-Socialist reference to the U.S. evangelist during the American evangelist's coming appearance in Britain.

Labor member Geoffrey de Freitas announced in a press statement that Graham "has asked to see me and my colleagues of the parliamentary Socialist Christian group on his arrival. The meeting will take place on Friday morning at the House of Commons."

Graham and his associates apologized profusely earlier today that they really meant to blast "socialism," not "socialism."

The uproar was touched off last week end by a calendar put out by the Billy Graham Evangelical Association. This was the offending quotation:

"When the war ended, a sense of frustration and disillusionment gripped the world. Hitler's bombs couldn't do, socialism with its accompanying evils shortly accomplished.

Graham's historic faith faltered. The churches standing gradually emptied."

The Socialist Graham, who is scheduled to arrive in British Tuesday, has issued a full explanation and apology to the 14,000,000 Labor voters for his mistake. He said an apology also had been received from Graham's organization in the United States.

The Labor MP added that he was withdrawing a parliamentary demand that Home Secretary Sir David Maxwell Fyfe receive a Protestant delegation to discuss the "reasons why Mr. Graham was invited to come to Britain to carry out the crusade."

They were being held under temporary arrest pending completion of the joint Germany-Canadian investigation, police said.

Police Say Men Posing As Govt. Auditors

City police have been asked to be on the lookout for two men for whom warrants have been issued by the Brantford police on charges of conspiracy.

Brantford police say these men, about 27 years of age, pose as government auditors or bank representatives and visually prey on elderly people. Late in January one of the men is believed to have called at the home of an elderly woman in Brantford, introducing himself as a bank representative.

He asked to check her account with the bank and the woman produced her bank books. She was then given two blank cheques to sign. After signing the cheques was told she would hear from the bank. Later the same day one of the cheques was cashed for $270.

117 Members Now Registered In Foremen's Club

Mr. F. O'Neill, membership vice-president of the Quinte District Foremen's Club announced today that there are now 117 members in the club. The total is made up of 103 foremen who hold active membership, plus 14 executive management personnel who are classified as associate members.

Present plans call for a goal of 160 members by June of this year. In order to achieve the goal, a special committee of Mr. O'Neill, Mr. E. W. Hunter, the Y.M.C.A. general secretary, Lloyd Skeaff, and club president, H. G. Jones, is presently making arrangements to invite foremen from industries in Trenton to become members of the club.

The Quinte District Foremen's Club is a member of the Canadian movement which now embraces 22 clubs and over 3,000 members across the continent. The value of this movement to industry and foremen, can be seen in the fact that at the beginning of last year there were 17 clubs in Canada and that by the end of this year there will be over 40 clubs from coast to coast.

Each club has local autonomy but is a member of a central coordinating committee known as the Canadian Council of Foremen's Clubs, which is affiliated with the International Council of Y.M.C.A.'s in Canada.

Ice-Jammed Moira River Reaches Top Retaining Wall Sunday But Subsides Quickly

The Moira River, a muddy trickle of water at the height of the spring, yesterday became a raging torrent, which threatened to overflow its banks. It reached a level on Sunday which has not been equalled since it overflowed 15 years ago, flooding Front Street and low-lying areas in the city.

This morning the ice is jamming north of the C.P.R. bridge and the waters appear to be rising slightly. A strong current is pushing tremendous ice floes down toward the mouth of the river, but according to an official, most of this ice is slipping beneath the frozen bay.

The waters of the Bay of Quinte are still frozen solid. Harry Mills, superintendent of the purification plant, reports there is no sign of cracking. This is not unusual because there has been 16 inches of solid ice on the bay for most of the winter. Mr. Mills predicts that it will hold for quite some time. He said: "It's far too early for it to break up."

City engineer Charles Mott reported that the present time "conditions are good." He said that a strong current is wearing away jamming ice packs and if the ice pack above the Cannifton bridge breaks up, it will not be subject to a heavy rain, conditions should continue satisfactory.

Mayor Both, Alderman Bruce Smith and Mr. Mott followed the river up as far as Cannifton on Sunday. The river, according to the engineer, is solid above the dam. It was also found to be frozen hard over the dam at Hilton and Corbyville dams from there on the river is open almost as far as the C.P.R. bridge in Belleville.

The task men began their tour of the river when the ice began piling up behind the footbridge at 2.00 p.m. on Sunday. When they returned from Cannifton sometime later, the ice had shifted to the C.P.R. bridge and the river level had subsided about one foot.

Mr. Mott said the river should be a little bit at a time until sufficient pressure is built up to push the jamming packs out under the ice of the bay.

Market Vendor Sees Crow Flying Across Field

The mild weather of the past few days and Saturday night's rain which let loose a torrent of water down the frozen Moira River, is possibly an indication that spring is on the way. Here there are other signs than a February thaw that points to winter's end not being far away.

A vendor on the local farmer's market on Saturday stated that he had seen a crow on Friday afternoon.

He said he first heard the crow as he voiced his arrival from the shelter of it's nearby wooded area. Then later the crow was seen flying across an open field.

Surely spring must be on the way.

Federal Control Of Trans-Border Traffic Upheld

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The Privy Council ruled today that the federal government is the only Canadian body with authority to deal with regard to the use of highways as part of an inter-provincial bus service.

The judicial committee of the Privy Council said in a reserved judgment that it was allowing the appeal of a United States bus company against a Supreme Court of Canada decision of October, 1951.

It rejected an appeal by Ontario, Prince Edward Island and Alberta, supported by British Columbia, Quebec and New Brunswick. Costs were awarded to the American company.

The ruling was, in effect, an upholding of the principle of federal control of trans-border highway traffic.

THREE-WAY CONFLICT

The case was brought from a Supreme Court of Canada ruling in December, 1952. This said that the United States-owned Bus company, Mackenzie Coach Lines of Lewiston, Me., was entitled to pick up or set deposit inside New Brunswick those passengers who had bought tickets outside the province with stop-over privileges.

The provinces — Ontario, Alberta and Prince Edward Island—had their appeals given by Quebec, British Columbia and New Brunswick.

The American company placed a counter-appeal, supported by the federal government, the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Pacific Railway. Nova Scotia asked the Privy Council to throw out both appeals and uphold the Supreme Court of Canada ruling.

The case began in 1949 when the American company challenged New Brunswick legislation. The provincial legislation gave permission for the American company to cross New Brunswick on its Maine-Nova Scotia run, but refused to allow the company to conduct business inside the province.

LARGER OTTAWA SUPREME

The company claimed that the federal government, under provisions of the British North America Act, was the only authority capable of whether bus-line operations primarily of an inter-provincial or international nature.

It maintained this argument before the Privy Council.

The provinces claimed that they had built, planned, maintained and controlled the highways and that they should continue to do so.

The judgment today expressed no opinion whether the American bus line was entitled to operate wholly within the province of New Brunswick, even as a separate company. The principle of provincial road authority within provincial boundaries had not been in dispute.

The judgment appeared to pave the way for any plans the Canadian government may have to place the $50,000,000-a-year trans-border road haulage business under the control of the board of transport commissioners in Canada.

Chamber to Send Questionnaire To All Retailers

The Chamber of Commerce will send out a questionnaire to all retailers in the city and members of the Chamber in an effort to determine merchants' feeling regarding the city's proposed purchase of the Privy Council property. The city last week took an option on the land and if council does agree to buy the property, it would be used to alleviate the parking situation in Belleville.

The Chamber of Commerce has repeatedly petitioned council during the past two years to buy land for parking space. In the Better Business Survey, compiled by the Chamber in 1953, returns of 427 families indicated there was a need for parking space. Over 90 per cent of the number said there was not enough parking space in the city.

The results of this latest survey will be presented at the meeting of the board of directors on Thursday and at the meeting of the Retail Section March 2.

Inmate Stabs Fellow-Prisoner At Kingston

KINGSTON (CP) — Penitentiary officials said today a charge of attempted murder will probably be laid against an unidentified inmate of the penitentiary here who stabbed a fellow-prisoner with a homemade knife in the dining hall exercise pad-ade Sunday.

The inmate was seriously injured and received the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church, it was reported.

No names were released.

The wounded man is in the prison hospital.

Eighteen Die In Severe Floods In Australia

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The worst storm and flood in New South Wales' history ended today, leaving some 3,000 square miles of the state's northern coast a devastated shambles.

Eighteen persons, and possibly 22, were dead, thousands were homeless and the damage was reckoned in the millions of pounds after the two days of cyclonic disturbance during which 10 to 20 inches of rain fell on the coastal plain.

Scores—by the railways are.

This year was recommended in a report by a royal commission on of the board of transport commis-transportation in 1953.

James H. Rutter, Former Warden, Laid to Rest

WELLINGTON (Special) — A sorrowing village paid final tribute to a highly respected resident here on Friday, when James Henry Rutter, former reeve, and ex-warden of Prince Edward county was laid to rest in the vault in Wellington cemetery.

Mr. Rutter was stricken with a heart seizure in his place of business on Wednesday last, and failed to rally. He was in his 87th year.

Born in Picton, Ont., Mr. Rutter was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rutter. He had resided in Wellington for the past 35 years.

"Jim" as he was familiarly known had a wide circle of friends in this village and district. His friendly personality and pleasant disposition endeared him to all with whom he came in contact.

He took an outstanding interest in the well-being of his adopted village. He was a member of the village council for a number of years and was finally honored with the reeveship. He occupied this position from 1928 to 1943, and while acting as head of the village council was made warden of the county in 1940.

In business, Mr. Rutter was a prominent and prosperous owner of a grocery store. He owned and operated a dairy for a number of years.

SERVED IN TWO WARS.

He answered the call of his country in two wars. In the First World War, he served with the Princess Patricias Canadian Light Infantry and was overseas for eighteen months with the second battalion. In the Second World War he joined the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment and was made quarter master sergeant of "D" Company in Picton. He was a member of Canadian Legion Branch No. 102.

Interest in municipal affairs saw him a member of the Wellington Board of Trade, the Wellington Public Utilities and other organizations.

Fraternally, Mr. Rutter was a member and past master of Star-In-The-East Lodge No. 164 A.F. & A.M. of Wellington.

BURIED ON FRIDAY.

Many paid their last respects to Mr. Rutter at the funeral held in the United Church here on Friday afternoon. The services were conducted by the Rev. Alfred Poulter, minister of the church and also under Masonic auspices.

Surviving are his wife, the former Dorothy Helen Morrison; two daughters, Mrs. Ottawa and Betty of Belleville and one son Jack, 20 years of age, at home. One sister, Mrs. Ernest Knapp (Minnie) Saskatoon and two brothers, Clarence G. Rutter, Picton and Charles Rutter, Lansdowne.

The honorary bearers were Messrs. Wilbur King, Garnet Taylor, Walter Nind, Elmer Morris, Dr. R. A. Thompson and Lieut.-Col. W. A. Davern.

Active bearers were Messrs. Burton Yice, Earl Marvin, Ralph MacDonald, Don MacDonald, Joe Foley and James Clemlnson.

St. Laurent Gets Cordial Greeting From Nehru

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW DELHI (CP)—Canada's minister St. Laurent today had his first smell of Mysore license during a courtesy call on Prime Minister Nehru.

"I like that very much," the Canadian leader said as the sooth Indian sandalwood burned on a table in front of a sofa where the two men were chatting in Nehru's foreign ministry office.

The Canadian prime minister received a warm personal welcome to India from Nehru on his arrival here Sunday.

The smiling leader of more than 360,000,000 Asians was at Palam airfield when the visitor's four-engined plane touched down after a 15-hour flight from London across the northern border in Pakistan.

The two men exchanged friendly, handshake on the air field concrete and the Indian prime minister chatted with members of the Canadian world tour party while Prime Minister St. Laurent from a stand surrounded by potted plants, was saluted by an army, navy and air force guard of honor.

The Canadian leader, his son Jean and daughter, Mrs. Hugh O'Donnell were taken to the palatial residence of India's president, the official residence in pre-republican days of the British viceroy.

Nehru showed his guest about the vast grounds, about the residence and later dined alone with him. The two men will have several private talks during the Canadian prime minister's Indian visit of one week, the longest of his tour.

TWO IMPORTANT "WEEKS"

There are only fifty-two weeks in the year, a fact which makes inevitable some conflict between those organizations which have the public to observe special weeks.

It is, however, somewhat unfortunate that this week, February 21 to February 28, should have been selected for special observance by two such praiseworthy organizations as the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada, and the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews. Both are sufficiently important to deserve a week of their own. Still, if it were necessary that they share a week with any organization, it is perhaps best that they share it with each other, for in many ways their ideals are similar.

This week is Brotherhood Week, sponsored by the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews, and it is also V.O.N. Week.

Slogan for Brotherhood Week is "Unity Without Uniformity." The slogan is as excellent as the cause. Honorary chairman of the sponsoring organization is Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent. Among those who have given the week their blessing are Canadians of such varied backgrounds as George Drew, M. J. Coldwell, Rhys M. Sale, the president of the Ford Motor Co. of Canada, A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Labour Congress, Syd Apps of hockey fame and Dr. Sidney Smith, president of the University of Toronto.

V.O.N. Week is aimed at making better known the work of Canada's nursing service. In every community in which it has established a branch the V.O.N. has won for itself a host of friends. R. P. Taylor, the president of the V.O.N., has made a significant statement. "Nurses of the V.O.N.," he says, "are concerned not only with attending to the physical needs of the sick in their homes; they also strive to help them use well the health they have left, to adapt themselves to normal living as much as their condition permits." That is one of many reasons why so many Canadians bless the V.O.N.

UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM

The United States Chamber of Commerce and CIO president, Walter Reuther, do not see eye to eye over the economic outlook in the U.S. Mr. Reuther believes that it is dangerous to think that spring and summer will bring prosperity, a set-up that means that U.S. unemployment in January totalled 3.8 per cent of the labor force, "in no sense an alarming amount."

We certainly have no wish to get into this argument, nor do we feel qualified to forecast what the spring holds in store for Canada, where unemployment is also causing some concern. We would, however, like to make one point. It may be true, as the U.S. Chamber of Commerce says, that there is nothing alarming, from the standpoint of the national welfare, in 3.8 per cent of the workers being unemployed, but it is a situation which can certainly be alarming for those who are out of work.

How serious their plight is depends upon how long they are unemployed. That is a factor which many of those who discuss unemployment appear to overlook. As important as the number of people out of work is the length of the period during which they are unable to find employment. In an expanding economy, where new jobs are opening up, it is quite conceivable that no grave hardship would be caused by a rather high proportion of the labor force being unemployed, because they would not be unemployed for long. But if those who are out of work find weeks or even months dragging by without jobs, then the situation becomes of national concern, even if the number of unemployed is comparatively small.

Statistics about the number of unemployed are rarely quoted—but they are difficult to discover how long those people have been out of work. Until we know that, too, we have only half the facts and cannot hope to have an accurate picture of the situation.

A CHANGED OUTLOOK

Oliver G. Clausen, writing in "Canadian Business" published by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, gives a graphic picture of Finland's problems in getting along with her ugly neighbor, the Russian Bear.

He tells of the miraculous manner in which the Finns paid reparations amounting to $300 million at the spending "binge" in which they indulged when this obligation was met, of the economic hangover which has followed this fling, and of the crisis caused by the Finns' "rescue" with a trade agreement— and how this agreement is working out.

The Russian trade debt to Finland will soon reach $100 million," writes Mr. Clausen. "That represents $100 million worth of goods obtained by Moscow for nothing and paid for by the Finns."

Mr. Clausen's interpretation of the situation makes sense to us. But we cannot help wondering what an orthodox economist would say about trade which was used to be that, when gold more than you bought, you were said to have "a favorable balance of trade," a state of affairs to be desired above anything else.

Of course, there is the question of getting paid for what you sell. And the Finns probably have been unable to discover a bailiff courageous enough to attempt collecting from the Russians.

JUST FOLKS

GEORGE WASHINGTON

He knew both thirst and hunger and the bite of bitter cold.
For freedom's sake he suffered disappointments manifold.
He walked among disheartened men, inspiring them anew.
"Against the many, now," he said
"we fight as freedom's few."

He knew defeat's discouragement and victory's cruel cost.
He saw a nation broken,
but his faith he never lost.
And that all men shall be free,"
He told them when they faltered,
"and no greater cause can be."

As the father of our country we remember him today.
Could he answer as we hail him,
this I'm certain he would say:
"Although freedom's foes are many, be as brave as were the few
Who fought for God and country

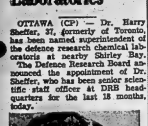
Dining in Deutschland

(By John Gould, writing from Hamburg, Germany, in the Christian Science Monitor.)

Apart from the fact that a hamburg steak is a very poor buy in Hamburg, I have a few other notes related to eating in the dining rooms of large girths and whipped cream desserts. First, here I am in the British zone of occupied Germany, with an unofficial British food rooming out of the North Countries Deutschland fog, and it is somewhat distressing to think in terms of these two countries, united in purpose after so many differences, and food still being a matter of British extremity.

I didn't get to England, but my traveling companion did, and he tells me of skating in Lapp on London hotels, and finding the light little six very light indeed on certain matters of ingestion. Austerity seems to be still austerity over on the Island.

Here in Germany the prodigious meals of the immediate past leave little to be desired. As a result of my visit I have had a meal in Germany until I lacked a "Deutschersteak" in Hamburg, which is the thick head of the hamburger, ground-beef family. The meal was the usual one, I didn't care for the special native variety, and if I had switched to filet steak the menu called for with mushrooms, would have had a bankruptcy on my hands due to mullify my specific complaint as the hamburger.

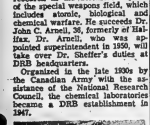


Everything I've seen here in the way of a meal is huge, extensive, and vast. I've had a dinner here on a fast, smooth, excellent train—the Hook of Holland to Copenhagen—and I had my choice of Belgian, Dutch, French, Swiss, Italian, and Bundesbain coaches. I chose the Swiss, for the train, car, but I didn't see it. The dining car was the German brand, and nonetheless, expected to clean my plate. So far the trip is coming to a close, I may finish up a credit to the Swiss family name in the eyes as the Romans do.

I returned to my compartment thinking it was a splendid investment. As I go about this tour, my wife's family thinks of me these times when I come to supper scarred with whipped cream from a second dinner. Since many of these meals are arranged by the Army, I have been feeding, the local custom of partaking with guilt and trepidation from the whole party,

Dr. H. Sheffer Superintendent of Laboratories

OTTAWA (CP) — Dr. Harry Sheffer, 37, formerly of Toronto, has been named superintendent of the defence research chemical laboratories at nearby Shirley Bay.



The Defence Research Board announced the appointment of Dr. Sheffer, who has been senior scientific staff officer at DRB headquarters for the last 18 months, today.

DR. HARRY SHEFFER

Dr. Sheffer has been responsible for co-ordinating DRB's scientific research in the defensive aspects of the special weapons field, which includes atomic, biological and chemical warfare. He succeeds Dr. John C. Arnell, 36, formerly of Halifax. Dr. Arnell, who was appointed superintendent in 1950, will take over Dr. Sheffer's duties at DRB headquarters.

Organized in the late 1930s by the Canadian Army with the assistance of the National Research Council, the chemical laboratories became a DRB establishment in 1947.

DR. JOHN C. ARNELL

Their first objectives were the development of chemical warfare equipment and improvements to anti-gas measures, but their post-war accomplishments include the development of nylon pile fabric for use in making cold-weather clothing and a carbon monoxide detector that interests mine operators as well as the military.

Both Dr. Sheffer and Dr. Arnell have published scientific papers on physical chemical research and both are fellows of the Chemical Institute of Canada and members of the American Chemical Society.

Unfrock Minister After Conviction On Heresy Charge

DETROIT (AP)—The Presbyterian Church, in an unusual action Saturday unfrocked a 59-year-old minister on a charge of heresy.

Rev. Claude Williams was convicted of heresy by a special commission of five ministers and four laymen of the Presbyterian Church of the United States of America.

The commission tried Williams on charges of "heresy and the teaching and preaching of communism" but it dismissed the charge involving communism.

Williams, who served as wartime industrial chaplain of the presbytery of Detroit, now lives in Selma, Ala.

Williams had been named by Representative Harold Velde (Rep., Ill.), chairman of the House of Representatives committee on un-American activities, as one of a half-dozen ministers now trying to infiltrate the ministry with Communist ideas.

Rev. Henry Walch, chairman of the judicial commission, said the heresy charge involved Williams' "beliefs about the deity of Christ." He said the commission found Williams "evasive" on the subject and concluded that the minister's views opposed the authorized doctrines of the church.

SOLDIER ARRESTED

Central Ont. Baseball League Reorganized Over Week-End

The Central Ontario Baseball League, (it might be known under another name before the season starts) was reorganized over the week-end at a special meeting held in the Queen's Hotel.

The 1953 executive, President Jack Devine, vice president, Harry "Vic" Bagley, Kingston and Geo. H. Carver, secretary treasurer were re-elected to office. Other members of the executive will be representatives from each of the entries.

Three teams were definitely entered at the meeting. These included Belleville, Kingston and Oshawa Merchants. Peterborough was not represented but it is felt the Peters will come through with an entry since agitation regarding the reorganization of the loop has been going on for some time in the Litchfield City.

Smiths Falls, although not represented informed the meeting that it was definitely interested in joining the league, it depending to a certain degree on whether lights will be installed.

SECOND BELLEVILLE ENTRY

Representing Belleville were Manager Jack Carson and secretary Drury Denyes. Oshawa was represented by Cec Bird and Rolly Little, and Kingston by Stan Scrutton and Bert Gaetz.

Allan Kelleher and "Mouse" Bush were present and asked permission to enter a second Belleville team. The meeting felt the matter was an internal one and should be settled among Belleville teams with pre-season games if they can be arranged.

Belleville was definitely entering getting precedence. Kelleher said a sponsor was willing to finance the club, but would not divulge his name.

On motion it was decided the entry fee would be $100 returnable to teams at the end of the season, less the league's operational expenses.

All representatives present concurred in the suggestion that one or more American teams be invited to join the league, possibly Watertown and Ogdensburg. Oshawa agreed that the teams from across the border would be an added attraction, and that they would be willing to play double-headers over week-ends to ease transportation costs.

The question of imports was discussed and the suggestion made that six American players be the limit. District players within a fair radius of clubs would not be regarded imports. These were merely suggestions and will be discussed at a meeting called for Belleville on Sunday, March 7th when it is hoped all entries will be on hand.

Representatives agreed that non-affiliation with the Ontario Baseball Association of the league as a body would be to the best interests of the concerned although teams would be permitted to affiliate as individuals if they so desired.

Distinct harmony reigned during the entire session and with expected entries forthcoming it looks as though the district will have a second baseball league this summer.

Fifteen-Year-Old Ottawa Girl Skier Wins Giant Slalom Race in Norway

OPPDAL, Norway (CP) — Anne Heggtveit of Ottawa, at 15 the youngest skier ever to win the ladies' giant slalom race at the Holmenkollen ski festival here, today is the happy holder of the coveted Holmenkollen gold medal.

Anne broke up the speed spectacular victory over 36 outstanding women competitors of seven countries, flashing down the 45-gate, 1,300-metre course at tremendous speed to finish in two minutes, 7.5 seconds—three seconds ahead of Ingehild Nesdin, Norway's best woman skier, whose time was 2:10.5.

Eighteen - year - old Lucille Wheeler, of St. Jovite, Que., was in 12th place at 2:14.

Anne was greeted with a thunderous ovation when she received her medal after the event was over and fellow Canadian skiers swung her to their shoulders for a triumphant march through the crowd. She also received the 12th prize for the women's downhill race and the 14th prize in the regular slalom event.

WASN'T EASY

The young Canadian said she was overjoyed and that "the course was fine." "It wasn't too easy," she added, "but I liked it and my skis were well waxed." Below used Austrian wax, she said.

At home in Ottawa, Anne's father was pleased but not too surprised to hear that his daughter had scored her sensational victory.

"I knew it would come," Halvor Heggtveit said in an interview. "but I didn't know it would come so soon."

Heggtveit, who has also been Anne's chief instructor and coach, said she "showed an indication of what she might do" and a promise of successes to come when she won the Canadian Junior women's downhill and slalom championships last year.

Anne, who has been skiing since she was two years old, has also won every senior and junior competition in the Ottawa district.

Her next major challenge will be in the alpine world championships at Are, Sweden, later this month. After her outstanding showing her she will likely be a favorite for that meet, and a good bet to swell Canada's guide at the Winter Olympics at Cortina d'Ampezzo, Italy, in 1956.

Scouts Lord, Boy Share Honors In Scout Awards

OTTAWA (CP)—A Scots lord and a 14-year-old Manitoba youth who died rescuing his sisters from a fire share honors today in a new list of Boy Scout awards.

Governor-General Vincent Massey, in his capacity as chief scout for Canada, announced the awards made by Boy Scouts Association of Canada on this anniversary of the birthday of Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the Boy Scouts movement.

Lord Rowallan, county commissioner of scouting at Kilmarnock, Ayrshire, Scotland, is the first recipient of the silver fox award, recently set up by the Boy Scouts Association for "services of exceptional character to scouting" by 500-residents of Canada.

Lord Rowallan's place of honor on the list is shared by Ernest Victor Bayley, 14-year-old member of the 3rd Scout Troop at The Pas, Man. The youth was awarded the bronze cross posthumously "for gallantry with special heroism." He died after rescuing his sisters from their burning home.

WORKED FOR SCOUTS

Lord Rowallan's citation for Lord Rowallan said he was first appointed district commissioner of scouting for Perth east Ayrshire in 1922 and three years later became county commissioner. It said he has since travelled "upwards of 200,000 miles in the interests of scouting, despite the handicap of a leg severely damaged by a shell in 1917 which at times caused intense pain."

The silver acorn "for distinguished service" was awarded to Lt.-Col. H. J. Heasley of Waterloo, Ont., and formerly of Montreal, and to Arthur M. Ward, assistant district commissioner of scouting in Ottawa.

Two scouts were awarded the silver cross "for gallantry with considerable risk." They were Peter Smith of the 10th Scouting Troop in Toronto "for his presence of mind" in rescuing a boy from a Georgian bay, near Meaford, Ont., and Alastair Watson of the 1st troop in Three Rivers, Que., for rescuing a woman and her son from the St. Maurice river.

News Gathering Agency Proposed By United Nations

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—A world-wide co-operative news gathering agency has been proposed in a report by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, which declares the six leading world news agencies are "not truly international."

A 232-page report on "news agencies, their structure and operation," released by UNESCO here, said there is an alternative proposal of a telegraphic news agency attached to UN and staffed by specialists from all member states.

The report said the six "world" agencies are not truly international because the financial support, directors and most of the staff are drawn from a single country—from the United States in the case of the Associated Press, United Press and International News Service, or from Britain, France and Russia in the case of Reuters, Agence France-Presse and Tass.

"However impartial they may be however strictly they may comply with the professional code of ethics they will inevitably judge and present news from the viewpoint of the country of which they are citizens," the report added.

The report acknowledged that a news agency under the UN would run into opposition from those who would refuse to use a service even indirectly under government control.

The theme of the worship service, taken by Mrs. G. Brenton was "The Christian Home". Scripture was read by Mrs. H. Putman followed by meditation.

She said that creating a home is the most important undertaking that most of us ever attempt. It involves great expense, careful thought and endless labor. No matter how much modern conveniences may improve, mother-love is still the heart and centre of every family.

No appliance or invention can take the place of the love of parents, or of brother, or of sister. Christianity works in a family just as it does everywhere else. All members of the family must try to be Christlike.

Legal Secretary For 53 Years Is Retiring

TORONTO (CP)—Eva M. Gardiner, a legal secretary here for 53 years, is a survival of the era when boater hats and bobbie skirts were the height of fashion.

The erect, white-haired office worker, who has passed 74 has many proud memories, in all her years of working she can't recall ever being late. She was employed by the same man throughout, and except for vacations has been absent through illness on only two occasions.

Cherishing her diaries, Miss Gardiner is retiring this month after winding up the affairs of her employer, the late Casey Wood, QC, who died at 83.

SOLE EMPLOYER

Lawyer and secretary worked together through half a century. She became his secretary when he was taken in as a junior partner in his firm in 1901. She says "He was a wonderful man to work for. He was a gentleman, tolerant, never impatient and very, very pleasant."

She likes to recall the carefree days of the early century when Sir William Mulock and other lawyers and business men were active downtown behind liveried drivers and perancing horses. Stenographers then enjoyed free boating and skating on Toronto harbor or went on hobsleighing and horsedrawn parties in winter months.

Born at Brockville, Miss Gardiner attended high schools and business college there before moving to Toronto with her parents.

Picton St. John Ambulance Tea

On Wednesday afternoon the St. John Ambulance tea was held in Legion hall, Picton. Mrs. G. N. McKibbod and Mrs. Garfield Mayne received and Miss Kay Dennison was treasurer.

Mrs. F. O'Sullivan and Mrs. J. Frair directed the guests to their tables. Tea was poured by Mrs. W. S. Lane, Mrs. Wanne Inrig, Mrs. H. J. McFarland, Mrs. Gerald Allison.

Her first job had been with a Brockville legal firm.

Her career parallels that of a Hamilton woman, Mrs. Maud Tobey, who at 81 is still working in a real estate office.

Both women attribute their good health and vitality to constant attention to their jobs.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

FAMOUS LAST WORDS: "I NEVER THOUGHT..."

Not all of the arguments against yielding to the temptation to have an impulsive "affair" are based on moral grounds. Most of the time, the emotional harm that young people do to themselves when they become involved in such situations is far greater than the violence they commit against the standards of right and wrong.

If girls and boys could really realize that ultimately they will bitterly regret such indiscretions for purely selfish reasons, it would be more apt to make them hesitate than all the preaching in the world. It may be a very unfortunate fact, but it is nevertheless a true one, that the possible serious consequences to oneself, when any course of action is under consideration, is a far more powerful deterrent than the thought that the action would be wrong.

A case in point comes up in the following letter from a girl who has just found that she is engaged in a hasty, temporary "affair." It was her own future happiness she was betraying—even more than the moral code. She doesn't realize it in exactly those terms. All she is concerned with is the distressing problem she has brought upon herself. Like most human beings, she is so occupied with trying to figure out ways of getting out from under the effects of what she has done that she has neither time nor interest in analyzing causes.

"I never thought I would have a problem like this," she begins.

Just stop a moment and note those first three words. They're words which are responsible for most of the trouble in this world.

"I had an affair with the fellow I was going out with," she continues, "and afterwards I was ashamed to face him, so I stopped seeing him, and it wasn't long before we completely forgot all about each other."

See the type of thing it is? So light and unimportant that the two could forget each other at once. And for what may now be about to lose her greatest happiness, for "I have met a very nice fellow with whom I am in love." She goes on to say, "and I think he is going to ask me to marry him. If he does, I would be afraid to tell him about the affair for fear I would lose him. Please tell me what I should do."

As a general rule, I think it's pretty dangerous business for a girl to hide from the man she plans to marry something that she believes would affect his feeling for her. Or for a man to do a similar thing to a girl. What usually happens under such circumstances is that the girl, or the man, lives in constant fear that the guilty secret will be discovered in some way, and so the joy and comfort and peace that should be found in the marriage relationship is made impossible. Moreover, if this girl keeps silent, and the secret should come out later, the disaster would be even greater than if she had revealed the truth herself in the beginning, because her husband would feel that she had multiplied the wrong by deceiving him.

I am not forgetting for a moment that public opinion rarely expects a man to confess his indiscretions to the girl he wants to marry. But fair or unfair, and like it or not, we cannot get around the fact that men, as a general rule, idealize the word "most," knowing that there are some to whom it is a matter of indifference—prefer their wives to have had no similar indiscretions in their background.

My advice to this girl is to tell the man the truth, and I base this advice not upon any question of right and wrong, but upon my belief that there is a chance, if she does this, of her being able to put the whole thing out of her life forever and make a fresh start toward happiness. If the man doesn't want her because of her misstep, she will suffer, of course. But the suffering would be less harrowing and briefer, than that of living in continual dread of having her happiness suddenly collapse in ruins after marriage.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

GEORGE WASHINGTON AND HIS "RULES OF DECENT BEHAVIOUR"

George Washington when he was 16 years old, wrote his own Book of Etiquette. At that impressionable young age, he was determined that he was going to be a man of good quality. And to guide him in the attainment of his high ideal of character and personality, he selected for himself what he sagely called straightforwardly titled "110 Rules of Civility and Decent Behaviour in Company and Conversation." Civility, "Decent Behaviour . . . proud, home-spun words these, of good, strong, enduring texture.

The young Washington's "110 Rules of Civility and Decent Behaviour in Company and Conversation" are to be found in a volume in the Library of Congress, written in his interesting, engrossing, old handwriting. Every one of the rules is an ideal of good manners, sound, practical, thought-compelling. This inspiring collection of "Rules of Decent Behaviour" shows that fundamentally it's the same old story—and now—for young and old. . .good manners are good manners. It shows that there is a standard of good manners and morals that is enduring because inevitably it is right.

Let's look at Rule 1: "Every action done in company ought to be with some sign of respect for those who are present." Here in one simple sentence is an essay on manners in Public! Respect for others.

Let's look at Rule 39, a classic that is still quoted in military regulations: "In writing or speaking, give to every person his due according to his degree and the custom of the place." Also Rule 30: "The highest place in most countries in the world, is next the fire place yourself on the left of those whom you desire to honor. (Hosts and hostesses and masters of ceremonies, are you listening? The woman guest of honor is seated at the right of the host. The second woman guest is seated at the right of the bridegroom: At the speakers' table at a public dinner, the guest of honor is seated at the right of the master of ceremonies.)

Rule 59 is a gem: "Never express anything unbecoming." The wise young Washington, even at 16, realized that when one says shows what one is, and many of his best rules have to do with conversation. And Rule 74, for how-to-be-good-listeners: "When another speaks, be attentive yourself."

Here's a thrust for the dogmatic: "Be not obstinate in your opinions." Listen too, to this sage, golden rule for graciousness: "Be not forward, but friendly and courteous." For the self-conscious, here's a gentle nudge: "Be not apt to relish it's time to converse." And these wonderful words prevent "Let your countenance be pleasant". . . "Let your conversation be without malice or envy, for 'tis a sign of a commendable nature". . . "Speak evil of the absent, for it is unjust."

Concerning table manners, too! What mother and father wouldn't be mighty proud of a 16-year-old son who had these how-to-behave-at-table ideals: "Feed not with greediness". . . "Drink not nor talk with your mouth full". . . "Keep your fingers clean". . . "Put not another bit into your mouth till the former be swallowed. Let not your mouth be too big for the jowls". . . "Be not angry at table whatever happens."

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

WHAT'S YOUR BEAUTY SCORE?

Be grateful for your beauty score whatever they may be, and work tooth and nail to correct defects, but don't let your mind dwell upon them too much—especially if you a Young Lovely are inclined to magnify your liabilities. There have been many famous beauties who were among most ill at ease, doubtful If there ever lived one who did not have a blemish of one kind or another to worry about. It does not stand to reason that any woman can attain physical, mental and spiritual perfection. And if she did, who in heaven's name would want to live with her? She would be a constant rebuke to one's own shortcomings.

Of the Sweet Young Thing we would ask: what matters a few freckles on the imperticent nose? Nobody will notice them if a pair of bright eyes twinkle above them. You can't have everything.

So, let little Miss Freckles make the least of her golden specules and the most of her eyes. Beautiful eyes have a high rating. You'll never notice the lit. le wrinkles in the face of your talented friend as she is gay and interesting companion, if she is right there at your side, a tower of strength when you need her. It is not enough to be pleasing to the eye. One must make an appeal to the heart and the mind if one is to rate high among one's fellow creatures.

May we make reference to a nice disposition? With a husband it counts more than long curling lashes, a dizzie complexion, sleek glossy hair.

Treasure your beauty assets, of course. Do everything you can to remain youthful in appearance because youthful is a passport, to gives one self-confidence. Only a stupid woman will let herself go in seed. But don't forget that it is what you are that really counts.

and if you have reason to do so, show it not. Put on a cheerful countenance especially if there be strangers. For good humor makes one dear a treat'. . . Lean not on the table. Lay not your arms, but only your hand, upon the table". . . It's unbecoming to stoop much to one's meat."

"Becoming" "Unbecoming". favorite words in the vocabulary of this young gentleman, important words, significant words.

Rule 110, the last of these great rules standards to the young Washington who was to have such powerful influence among men! Rule 108: "When you speak of God and his attributes, let it be serious and with reverence". . . "Honor and obey your parents" . . . and Rule 107: "Let your recreations be manful, not sinful."

Rule 110, the last rule, a masterpiece: "Labor to keep alive in your breast that Little Spark of celestial Fire called Conscience."

Many, many times in his "110 Rules of Civility and Decent Behaviour in Company and Conversation," the young George Washington speaks of a "man of quality." At 16 he had already decided very definitely decided, what "quality" of man he was to be!

Substantial Lunches for 20 People

By Mary Moore

At Pele's fraternity house it is Mrs. B.'s important job to feed anywhere from fifteen to thirty or more hungry young men.

I know from the look of Pele when he comes home hour-end that Mrs. B is doing a magnificent job.

"Pele studies me:

. . . Mrs. B. asked me if I would ask you for suggestions for economical meals. She is particularly interested in the noon meals—one lunch at 11 noon, one at 1 p.m.—when there are usually approximately 30 or us to be served over the two meals. These meals are not as elaborate as the evening dinners, and she serves something like this usually: (1) Pork and Beans, wieners, baked potato, small amount of salad; dessert might be chocolate cake and whipped cream, tea and milk, bread. (2) Spaghetti with sauce containing ground meat; dessert of plums, tea, milk, bread. (3) Shepherd's Pie, catsup; dessert, peaches, cookies, tea, milk, bread.

"I don't know of some things that are different and that everyone likes. That makes all things in quantities but she might have a different thing for the noon meal than she serves at 1 o'clock. . . "

As I read through those simple menus I wondered if Mrs. B. fit a soup—rich in protein—into those noon meals.

If I were tackling the job I'd think of all the rib-sticking soups, and serve them in big bowls for the noon meal, with hot bread and generous salads and a filling dessert. Here's where a cottage pudding with butterscotch or chocolate sauce.

But Mrs. B. wants concrete suggestions so I have chosen my favorites. The recipes will serve twenty so that if the boys are slipped in somewhere the quantities will stretch, since there are probably an average of 15 fraternity men boarding shift.

MAIN COURSE

SPLIT PEA SOUP

Five cups (approximately 2 1-2 lbs.) yellow split peas, 1 1-2 imperial quarts cold water, 1 cup each finely chopped onion and celery (including tops), 1 ham bone with some meat left on or 1 lb. ground or diced, salt and pepper and simmer gently until peas are very tender—at least 2 hours, preferably longer. Taste. The soup may need more salt. Lift out ham bone if used, and say leaf. I prefer this soup unstrained, but it may be strained if desired. Serve with sliced rye bread or bran muffins.

CORNED BEEF HASH

(The size of each serving is about 8 oz.) Use 3 1-2 lbs. canned corned beef or same amount of home cooked corned beef. Put through medium knife of food chopper. Mix (by 1. 1-2 cups chopped onions in 4 or 5 tablespoons butter or margarine until tender but not brown. Cook and mash enough potatoes to make 3 quarts (15 cups). Add onions and ground corned beef to potatoes and stir in 2-3 tablespoon salt, 1 teaspoon pepper. Spread in greased baking pan. Brush top with 3 tablespoons butter or margarine or pour over 3-4 cup table cream. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. until heated through well, and lightly browned.

LUNCHEON

BAKED POTATOES

Select 20 large uniform-sized potatoes. Wash and scrub well and trim out any defects. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. until tender. Slice — cut a 1-4-inch slice from broad side. Scoop out centres. To the centres add 3 cups boiling hot milk, 1-3 cup butter or margarine, 4 tablespoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon pepper, and beat until well mixed. Refill potato skins. On top place thick slice of cheese, or cover generously with grated cheese. On top of each potato sprinkle 1-3 slice side bacon which has been chopped. Return to very hot oven, for potatoes to heat through, cheese to melt and bacon to cook. These make a very satisfactory lunch when accompanied with a generous salad such as cole slaw or lettuce with sliced tomatoes and French Dressing.

UK Ship-Owners Complain of U.S. Restrictions

LONDON (AP) — British ship-owners accused the United States today of imposing "almost intolerable" restrictions on British merchant ships trading to Far Eastern Communist ports.

They said U.S. authorities had applied naval ratings to "shadow" these ships from one American port to another.

The Chamber of Shipping of the United Kingdom, a private association, complained that British ships were "subjected to interference by a friendly power" and singled out for criticism by Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep.-Wis.).

The accusations were made in the chamber's report which will be put before the annual meeting next Thursday. It gave no details of the "shadowing."

But a spokesman for the organization said shipowner members had reported at least three cases of "shadowing" to the chamber meeting last October. He could not immediately give the exact dates.

In each case, he said, the members reported an armed guard was put aboard British ships and U.S. naval cutters escorted them along the U.S. coast.

SUFFERED INDIGNITY

Donald Anderson, president of the chamber, issued a statement last Oct. 15 saying British ships had "suffered the indignity of having an armed guard on board while in American waters."

The annual report declared:

"It is almost incredible that in peacetime the U.S.A. should place armed guards on British merchant ships while in port and detail naval cutters to 'shadow' them from one U.S. port to another. But this happened."

Just how the "shadowing" worked was not explained in the report but it said:

"The drama was lightened by a comic touch when a British ship obligingly reduced speed to enable her U.S. crew to keep station."

In Washington, spokesmen for both the U.S. Navy and the state department said they knew nothing of any such activity and doubted the report.

The navy spokesman said the U.S. has no small ships in that area, although he said some small former navy vessels have been turned over to the Nationalist Chinese on Formosa. The state department said the U.S. and Britain are in complete agreement on trade policies in the Far East.

Frost Objects To Inaccuracies Of Hansard

TORONTO (CP) — Premier Frost has objected to the "terrific inaccuracies" in Hansard, the official record of the Ontario legislature.

The premier joined with opposition leader Farquhar Oliver who criticized the report which he said deleted certain passages of a debate on the public accounts committee last Monday.

"If we are going to have it, let's have it down correctly," the premier said. "I never was enthusiastic over Hansard anyway."

Mr. Frost said he "didn't recognize" the transcription of the debate on the accounts committee.

W. E. Hamilton, minister without portfolio, suggested the possibility of having the proceedings tape recorded.

Speaker Davies said the question was being investigated but no decision had been reached.

Hansard was introduced in the legislature in 1944 by George Drew when he took over as Conservative premier.

The Ontario contract is held by Ralph Sharpton, whose staff takes down a verbatim shorthand report in 30-minute shifts.

ENTERTAIN AIRMEN — A radio station, operated by station personnel, helps entertain Canadian airmen at the RCAF's air-material base at Langar, Eng., a former bomber station. Mrs. Bolan, whose mother, Mrs. J. F. Bolan, lives at Denholm, Sask., takes his turn as disc jockey. Langar is the first all-Canadian supply base for Canadian forces in the field associated with Canada's 12-squadron air contribution to the NATO forces in Europe. (CP-from National Defence).

Small Band Canadian Airmen Making Military History Near Famed Sherwood Forest

By H. DENT HODGSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Twelve miles north of Nottingham, England, not far from famed Sherwood forest, a small band of Canadian airmen is making Canadian military history.

The "forgotten men" of Canada's 12-squadron air contribution to the NATO forces in Europe, they form the first all-Canadian supply base for Canadian forces in the field.

Some 300 personnel, including 15 airwomen, make up the RCAF's air materiel base at Langar, a former RAF bomber station. They have a job of supplying and servicing four Sabre jet wings in three countries with everything from clothing and jet engines to cotter pins and 10-ton trucks.

STRONG FORCE

The Canadian air division, which forms the strongest striking unit of the Allied air forces, has nearly 7,000 personnel.

It's the first time a Canadian force in the field has been able to rely on its own logistics support and maintenance—and the boss of AMB at Langar, Group Capt. Gerald McCormick of Vancouver, is the man at the top of the list till the end of the Second World War as director of equipment.

"It was much more than a glorified liaison officer," Group Capt. McCormick recalled during a recent visit to headquarters. "I had not control over any of the equipment."

RELIED ON RAF

Canadian airmen were supplied mainly from RAF stores, allocated to Canadian units as the RAF saw fit.

Similarly, Canadian soldiers and sailors have never operated abroad on their own supply system. The 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade now in Germany is supplied by Britain. In Korea, the Canadian 25th Brigade has been American-supplied. Canada has found it more convenient to use supply services of other countries and pay them for it.

Langar supplies everything but food to the Sabre squadrons at North Luffenham, England, Grostenquin, France, and Zweibrucken and Soellingen, Germany. The division comes under the Allied powers' 4th Tactical Air Force which supplies rations.

This time, since the RAF was not equipped to do the job, the Canadians at Langar are handling their own show. They stock about 50,000 different items of equipment, Group Capt. McCormick said.

COVER WIDE RANGE

These include spare Sabre jet planes, engines and airframe parts clothing, and a whole range of transport vehicles which must be kept in running order—staff cars, station wagons, ambulances, crash and fire trucks, power cranes, aircraft tow tractors transports and 40-passenger buses.

The AMB, which gets most of its equipment from Canada by sea, assists the RAF in Sabre aircraft supplies and subsets repair contracts in British industries.

Langar does the job with 300 airmen plus about 250 British civilian hired hands, with only two large warehouses at the airfield. The base relies on quick supply and dispatch of materials and a mechanized accounting system.

"The essence of the operation," Group Capt. McCormick said, "is quick supply."

Three Bristol freighters, each capable of carrying four or five tons, run a shuttle service to the Canadian bases. They fly new parts to the stations and load up with unserviceable items which go back to Langar for replacement or repair.

Just Old Cry

CHATHAM (CP)—Health Minister Martin Saturday predicted a "permanent" unemployment in March and charged the Progressive Conservative opposition in parliament with sounding "the old Tory cry of blue ruin."

He told a Liberal convention here that the total number of unemployed in Canada now is "only slightly larger" than it was a year ago at this time and 1954 would see a continued high level of prosperity.

Liberal Leader Says Change-Over To Cost Plenty

CHATHAM (CP)—Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal leader, said Saturday the Ontario government has been "mismanaging our hydro-electric system" and has tried to "cover up a department of highways scandal" of "gigantic" proportions.

He said the change-over from 25-cycle to 60-cycle power will cost "well over $2,500,000,000" instead of the $191,000,000 originally estimated.

Mr. Oliver spoke at a Liberal convention that set up a new six-county Western Ontario (South) Liberal Association and chose Clarence Nichols of Blenheim president.

Mr. Oliver said: "Twenty-nine cents out of every dollar paid in hydro bills goes to pay the interest on the hydro debt."

The highway "scandal" should be investigated by a "judicial committee with all the powers of a court," he said. The special commission of private consultants appointed by Premier Frost to investigate irregularities in highway work at Fort William couldn't call witnesses.

"If a contractor told the commission to go and jump in the lake they couldn't do anything about it," he said.

The new Liberal association will cover the counties of Essex, Kent, Elgin, Middlesex, Lambton and Oxford. Last month the northern half of the Old Western Ontario Liberal Association was organized into a separate northern section.

Secrets Being Explored With Goal of Taming Cancer Cells

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — One of nature's secrets is being explored here, with the goal of taming cancer cells.

The secret is why some cells of your body become skin cells or liver or nerves, hair, glands or teeth.

They all started from one single fertilized cell. Then something made them take up special duties, somewhat as humans become lawyers, clerks, doctors, taxi-drivers or schoolteachers.

The secret of their specializing is something called organizers. The organizers went to work at certain times as the single cell kept dividing to become billions of cells.

No one is sure yet whether the organizers are chemicals, or mysterious forces, perhaps like electricity or magnetism.

But if science could learn what the organizers are, then it might be possible to control cancers.

For cancers are thought of as cells which have gone wild, no longer doing specialized jobs. The cancer cell does no useful work, simply keeps dividing, robbing civilized cells of food and living space causing pain, weakness and death.

STUDY WITH CHICKS

Could the cancer cell's wildness be cured if the mysterious organizers were isolated and applied to the cancer cells to turn them back into specialists again.

These are questions that Dr. Jack Trunnell, head of experimental medicine at M. D. Anderson Hospital University of Texas, has posed himself.

He and associates are trying to crack the secrets of the organizers. They began with a study of a single, living fertilized cell which would become a chicken.

Within 21 days, a group of cells springing from this single cell has been organized into the chick's thyroid gland.

At the end of the first five days, the researchers find, the future thyroid cells have become different from all other cells in the growing embryo. They can trap iodine, other cells can't. But as yet, this group of cells can't do anything with the iodine.

ONE KNOWN FACT

At the end of 8½ days, these cells suddenly are able to turn the iodine into thyroid hormone. The organizer which did its miracle at five days disappeared. So did the organizer which appeared at 8½ days. By 14 days, another organizer has made the same group of cells become irreversibly thyroid gland cells.

A thyroid cancer cell very possibly may be a thyroid cell which later escapes from its controlled destiny. But it were treated in the right sequence with organizers again, might it reform?

The search for organizers is extremely difficult. Two years ago nothing was known about this one set of organizers, Dr. Trunnell said. Now one fact has been learned. It is known when they go to work. The what, why and how must still be answered.

And if one set of organizers worked to tame thyroid cancer cells, other sets would be needed to take other types of cancer.

Called 'Cruel Hoax'

TORONTO (CP)—Colin Cameron CCF member of Parliament for Nanaimo, B.C., said Saturday night the federal government's new housing legislation now before a parliamentary committee is a "cruel hoax by the government on the Canadian people to deceive them that the liberals are doing all they can in the field of housing."

Addressing a Toronto and District CCF Council convention, he said the proposal to enable chartered banks to enter the mortgage field had already been "torpedoed" by the banks.

"The life insurance companies are moving out of the housing field and the banks don't want to move in," he said.

Dan Kennedy, university-educated and long experienced in Indian problems, poses with Prime Minister St. Laurent when the premier was made a chief of the Plains Indians in 1950. Mr. Kennedy, an Indian himself, is about 54, and lives at Montmarte, Sask. He says development of idle farmland on the reservations would give economic security to the Indians, while saving money for Canadian taxpayers.

Indian Advocates Development Of Idle Land on Reservations To Provide Economic Security

REGINA (CP)—Development of idle farmland on reservations would give economic security to Indians while saving money for Canadian taxpayers.

That's the plan urged by Dan Kennedy of Montmartre, Sask., in an article contributed to the Regina Leader-Post. An Indian himself, his native home is Ochankugahe.

Canadian Indians were never more progressive than their American cousins, he says, "but in the intervening years they have out-stripped us. Whilst we Canadians are marking time, they have forged ahead."

Kennedy, university - educated and long experienced in Indian problems is a venerable counsellor of the Assiniboine tribe.

He says the reason for the progress in the United States was the revision in Indian policy of the U.S. government after the First World War. Reservations then were surveyed, subdivided and allotted to individual members of the tribe —"thus giving them economic security and pride of property ownership."

PROSPEROUS INDIANS

Kennedy had worked in 1896 and 1897 in the head office—statted by Indians—of the Fort Peck Indian reservation in Montana. He visited this reservation a few months ago, he writes, "and I could hardly believe my eyes at what I saw.

"Every Indian home had modern facilities of electric lights, refrigerators, washing machines and other electrical appliances. Most of the Indians lived comfortably from the revenue derived from the proceeds of the crop share lease of their allotments. Others operate their own farms."

In Canada, agriculture is the major industry of the western provinces, "but in the midst of all this scientific and mechanical progress in agriculture, why are the large areas on the Indian reserves left undeveloped," he asks.

"The only logical course to assure economic security to the Indian is to develop the idle lands on the reserves and bring them under cultivation."

VETERAN SPORTSMAN

Kennedy is about 54 years old, but doesn't know his exact age. He figures he was 12 years old when he and other Indians walked every foot of the 500 miles from the Cypress hills to their present reserve at Montmartre, and that was 1882.

"We had no calendars in those days, and how were we to know our exact age," he says in a letter accompanying his article. "But don't classify me as a Methuthah —far from it—I still feel buoyant as a kid.

"I am a product of the buffalo days and the warpath, but have also acquired a college education and have learned to love your culture, your arts, your classics, literature and music," his letter adds.

But he says "The public is not well enough informed on the Indian question. The Indian reserves could be made self-supporting and lighten the burden of the taxpayer."

COLOMBO PLAN THEME

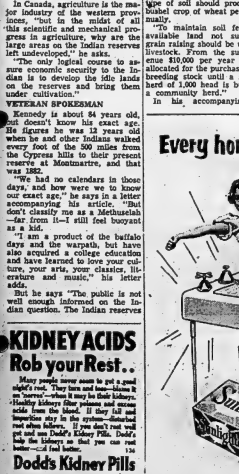
His article praises the Colombo Plan for capital development of Southeast Asia, and notes that Canada's contribution to the plan has reached a total of $75,000,000. "Canada may justly be proud" of this contribution, he says.

But closer to home, he asks "Have we the right approach to give economic security to the Indians? Have we a constructive program to rehabilitate the wards of the country?"

To illustrate his theme of agricultural development of the reserves, he uses his home reserve—the Assiniboine reserve.

"We have 40,320 acres and the population is roughly 400 members," he writes. "From this total acreage, supposing 30,000 acres were turned over for a community farm project, under the supervision of an agronomist, the initial capital investment for equipment in machinery and cost of operation would be in the neighborhood of $250,000 but the revenue derived from the project should be self-liquidating and the loan paid off in 15 years.

FERTILE SOIL



"The soil type is considered to be oxbow loam. These fertile soils are well suited to growing wheat, coarse grains and forage crops where the topography is fairly level. The precipitation record of the district is excellent.

"Assuming that the prevailing rotation system of two-thirds in crop and one-third summerfallow is adopted, the annual acreage under crop would be 20,000 acres. This type of soil should produce a 20-bushel crop of wheat per acre annually.

"To maintain soil fertility, all available land not suitable for grain raising should be utilized for livestock. From the surplus revenue $10,000 per year should be allocated for the purchase of young breeding stock until a substantial herd of 1,000 head is built up for a community herd."

In his accompanying letter, Kennedy says promising young Indians should be trained in the science of agriculture at technical schools, to be sent back to the reserves to instruct their people. "As we are doing with the underdeveloped and under privileged countries.

"We owe this debt to ourselves and to the original owners of the country."

SWAN SONG FOR '53

The Memos bowed out of the Senior "B" hockey picture in Orillia Saturday night when the Fontiacs, probably alarmed by the sudden turn of affairs and the danger of the sprinkling Memos, finished the form that has made them one of the most-feared teams in the group, to defeat our side 6-1 and gently but firmly ease them into season oblivion.

Bob Shropshire, Pontiacs' goalie, who suffered a torn cartilage a few days ago, showed little effects of the injury. He turned in a superb performance to hold the driving Memos off the scoring sheets, and in front of him the powerful Pontiac defence, one we consider one of the best, if not the best in the group, also hurled back the threats of the Men of the Moire.

Ernie Dickens' Oshawa Truckmen, smarting from the 7-5 setback at the hands of the Kingston Goodyears the other night, edged the hot Peterborough Petes 3-2 in a thrilling duel in Bowmanville Saturday evening. The win gave the Truckmen a point lead bi-the standing with the Petes. The clubs are next with 41. Then follows Orillia with 38, the Goodyears with 37 and our side with thirty, just out of the money.

Oshawa stands a good chance to collect top-spot marbles since they have three games to play, one in hand over the Petes. Oshawa will be hosts of the Memos on Tuesday night and trek to Orillia the following night. The Pontiacs and Oshawa will play the February 26 game at Oshawa or Bowmanville on Friday night. The Pontiacs wind up the schedule here Saturday evening.

Meanwhile the Petes and Goodyears will clash twice in their remaining games of the schedule with the Goodies going to Peterborough on Friday night and Kingston paying the return visit on Saturday. Orillia, with a game in hand over Kingston, has an excellent chance to cop third money.

Playoff dates will be settled tonight at a meeting in Peterborough and it is quite likely the series will start on March 2 or thereabouts. Lorne Cook, OHA executive member and convener of the group, told us at the National Hockey League Old Timers' game last Friday, the semi-finals series will likely be four-at-seven, as will the finals.

And we fully and freely predict that the series will be the hottest in the history of Senior "B" hockey in the district. With everything at stake and caution flung to the winds, all four squads will go all out to cop the honors and the right to enter the OHA Senior "B" playdowns. We're still sticking by an early prognostigation that the Pontiacs will cop the bacon, but prophecies like well-laid plans, often "gang agley."

And we are still of the same opinion that the Memos are as good as any of the other four squads. They were the victims of the "breaks" inasmuch as they lost ten games by goal-margins and two others by two-goal margins, the extra marker coming when the goalie was yanked in a last minute attempt to salvage victory.

However, we do not believe the Memos will cry alibis. They showed their true merit in the last-minute desperation drive that gave them four victories out of five starts, whipping the other squads by decisive margins. They started too late. And injuries didn't help the cause.

GOOD SHOW!

Hockey may have its faults, but it also has something that welds men together like the camaraderie of war veterans. That was evidenced here last Friday in the National Hockey League Old Timers' game. Proof positive was given in Michael J. Rodden, ex-National Hockey League official, and "Toots" Holway, Belleville's contribution to the major coverage. Both men were ill but with any luck in the atmosphere that was nostalgic to say the least. "Toots" handled one of the teams and was in his glory. Mike, tabbed as the world's greatest referee had big Bill Durnan and Maurice Flanagan, a Kingston buddy, as assistant referees. With such capable help along, Mike had plenty of time to lean over the boards and reminisce with players on the bench.

At the reception that followed many stories of bygone battles of the NHL were told and re-told. And the man with the elephantine memory from the sports editor's desk in Kingston, was one of the top story-tellers. And it is a fine thing these Oldtimers are doing. Their share of the gate, 25 percent, goes to the NHL Pension Fund. They pay their own expenses and will not play unless it is for a worthy charitable cause. They were like kids when they posed with crippled kiddies, the guests of the Rotary Club, between periods. They did an excellent job, and we are given to believe the game was a financial success. Dick Beare, of the Kingston, and Bill Gault, of the Ontarians, did yeoman service in their promotion of the game and the success of the affairs is in no small way due to their efforts.

The irrepressible Mr. Rodden was in fine fettle. He met the Memos playing coach, "Red" Doran, for the first time and we promptly invited "Red" to display a knee that had a patella floating in an inch or so of water.

Mr. Rodden gingerly touched the limb, and said: "Son, that's nothing. When I was playing in Ottawa several years ago I had the same thing. Only my leg was twice as big and it was blood, not water."

CURLING!

With the elimination of the Memos Senior "B" hockey club city and district curlers may get on earlier start at their annual bonspiel this year. In any event the matter will be discussed at the meeting of the Quinte Curling Association being held in the Kiwanis Centre tomorrow night commencing at eight o'clock. President Don McKinnon has arranged a fine program of entertainment which includes films of the McDonald Brier Tankard and the 1953 Canadian Curling Championships. All curlers are cordially invited to attend.

16,000 New York Fans Watch Blues Trim Maple Leafs 6-1; Trail Boston by One Point

By JIM BASTABLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Coach Muzz Patrick may be right.

A few weeks ago he told National Hockey League fans he had "all the confidence in the world" that his New York Rangers would get into the Stanley Cup playoffs. The Rangers were in fifth place and faltering then.

They're still there but at least 16,000 followers figure the Rangers are a cinch to make the playoff place for the championship series, particularly after Sunday night when they whipped the second-place Toronto Maple Leafs 6-1.

The victory left the Rangers within one point of overhauling the fourth-place Boston Bruins. The Bruins, meanwhile, stayed a step in front when they came from behind to defeat the last-place Black Hawks 4-3 in Chicago.

In Saturday's games, Boston took a 3-2 setback from the Leafs and Montreal Canadiens remained in a second-place deadlock with Toronto by beating the league-leading Detroit Red Wings 3-0.

SPOTLIGHT GAMES

Sunday night's games took most of the 20 spotlight. Toronto's Leafs hitting their stride and getting plenty of misses out of such veterans as Max and Doug Bentley, two key men in the late-season Ranger rampage.

The Rangers, with 24 wins and eight ties and a total of 56 points, have 12 games left in the regular season—four at home and four more in hand over the Bruins. Two of those tilts are against Boston.

The crowd of 15,925 at New York's Madison Square Garden, the second sellout this year and all allowed in the garden by New York Law, saw the Leafs and Rangers barged through the Leafs. They nearly went wholly wild when the public address system announced that the Hawks were leading Boston 3-1 in the first period. But they had to settle with the New York win.

LEAD ASSAULT

At Chicago, leftwinger Dave Creighton and centre Fleming Mackell led the Bruins' second-period assault. Creighton scored twice and Mackell put the Bruins into a four-goal lead. Bruins' goalie Ed Sandford beat netminder Al Rollins for the win. Boston marker, Seth Mosienko, Bill Gadsby and Lou Jankowski tallied for the Hawks.

The Hawks were shorthanded when the tying and winning goals were scored.

Kennedy scored the winning goal at 10:02 of the third period in Toronto. Rookie Bob Bailey and leftwinger Sid Smith got the other Toronto goals. Leo Labine and Joe Klukay got the Boston goals.

Canadiens whipped the Red Wings with two goals in the second period at Montreal. Defenceman Doug Harvey and leftwinger Bert Olmstead rammed the goals past Terry Sawchuk.

The game is scheduled for tonight. The Canadiens are at Detroit.

Goal Judges Should Be Same As Linesmen

KITCHENER (CP) — The Ontario Arenas Association Sunday urged that goal judges for Ontario Hockey Association games be appointed on the same basis as linesmen.

The resolution said goal judges should be 21 years or older and must be impartial fans. It also asked the OHA to seek permission from the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association to allow all Ontario teams to play semi-final and final CAHA playoffs on home ice.

A spokesman said that as long as certain technical requirements are met teams now are sure of the second game on home ice.

Tri-Bells Win

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Tri-Bells Saturday night moved into the International Triple-A Basketball League finals by beating Niagara Falls Jolleys 73-42, Toronto, which won the total-point semi-final series 102-86, will meet Toronto Swedes Eldredges for the championship.

Student Curlers Start Play For School Title

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP)—Forty schoolboy curlers prepared today to start the 1954 Canadian school curling championship competition at the Thistle Curling Club.

Each of 10 rinks, representing nine provinces, hoped to win the Canadian school curling title and the Sifton Trophy held at present by Owen Collegiate and Vocational Institute.

Two draws were scheduled for today, the first at 1 p.m. and the other at 8 p.m.

Only two curlers came here with experience gained in last year's bonspiel at Saskatoon. Roger Partridge, 18, skip of the Prince Edward Island rink, was lead stone on the 1953 P.E.I. rink, while his third stone, 16-year-old David Ferguson, was second stone on last year's Charlottetown rink.

The Alberta rink comes from Milo, a village with a population of 135. But when it arrived here yesterday, 20 persons including 14 women were on hand.

Alberta's curlers were backskin jackets and blue corduroy pants.

The first draw: Saskatchewan vs. New Brunswick, Nova Scotia vs. Ontario, northern Ontario vs. British Columbia, Prince Edward Island vs. Manitoba, and Quebec vs. Alberta.

The second draw: Quebec vs. Nova Scotia, British Columbia vs. Alberta, Ontario vs. Prince Edward Island, northern Ontario vs. New Brunswick, and Ontario vs. Manitoba.

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Rugby Football Union will continue its league limit of four United States imports for each team, it was decided at the union's annual meeting Saturday.

The Belleville Memos bowed out of the Senior "B" hockey picture in Orillia Saturday night when an inspired Pontiacs team, flashing their best defensive display of the season, won a 6-1 verdict that hoisted them into third position, a point in front of the Kingston Goodyears.

Bob Shropshire, Pontiacs' goalie, showed little effects of the "iron cartilage" he sustained last. The netman came up with a superb display behind a stubborn defence and was robbed of a shutout with scant seconds to go.

The victory gave the Pontiacs 38 points as against 37 for the Kingston Goodyears. They have two games remaining with Oshawa and the other with the Memos here next Saturday. Kingston has two games remaining, both with the Peterborough Petes.

The Pontiacs roared into a three-goal lead in the first period with nothing bad in the first period with their defence practically impregnable. They slashed home two more in a rough rugged second period that saw a near brawl break out and added their sixth goal after 22 seconds of play in the third session. The Memos were finally rewarded when Ed Duncan fired the rubber past a hard-worked Shropshire with the clock saying 19.28. .

Don Nelson was the scoring star for the Memos rapping home three of their counters. Payne scored one and was credited with an assist with Vasey and Bowen getting singles. Ken Ross was the lone Memos sniper with brother Erwin and Vern Goyer getting assists.

The rugged defensive work of the winners broke out into boisterous play at times with the officials doling out many penalties the sentences being split by the team. A near-riot was in the offing in the second period when Jake Wade, Don Barclay, Favero and Payne got embroiled in a free-for-all drawing major penalties for fighting.

The going was rugged in the third period, too with eight of the 18 penalties coming in rapid succession as the Memos strove hard to break the ducking and an Orillia defence tossing everything they had to protect Shropshire's shutout.

BOWEN STARTS IT

Ab Bowen opened the scoring with an unassisted marker after five minutes of play in the opening period. Payne made it 2-0 while Ed Duncan was sitting a minor sentence out. Dave Jones and Bob Duncan, on his return from penalties and Don Nelson potted his first goal of the season.

Shropshire went off for repairs to a cut forehead early in the second heat and Cliff Vasey's first goal at 16 minutes was the herald for the return of the netman. Before the first-all four players got majors with Bastedo sitting out five minutes for roughing.

Al Shewchuk put Nelson in the clear on the two period record and the winger racked up his second goal.

The third period had scarcely got under when the same player again found a hole in the home spaces on a pass from Pearsall and added up his third goal of the night.

The Pontiacs were rough and tough in the third stanza but the penalty box the Memos poured into all their power. Shropshire rose to some sort of hockey heights as he put on a dazzling display in keeping Memos goalie off the scoring sheet. Finally Ed Duncan cracked the egg with seconds to go and it was all over.

The teams:

Orillia: Goal, Shropshire; defence, Shewchuk, Pearsall, Grigg. Dee Roches; forwards, Nelson, Wood, McCrone, McDonald, Richardson, Bowen, Payne, Favero, Mc-Nicholson, Vasey.

Belleville: Goal, Barclay; defence, Wade, Semark, Bastedo, Erwin Duncan, Erwin Bowen, Ed. Duncan, Day, MacDonald, Peter Jones, D.-Jones, DeGray, D Doran.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Tony Trabert has cooled off very little, if any, since he left the warm sun of Australia and he still intends to give that country's tennis stars a run for their money in an official written report to the head men of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

The No. 1 U.S. player discussed his future and his stay in Australia with the Davis Cup team this winter he jotted down in a notebook all the things that interested him, from foot-fault calls to gallery bad manners.

It won't do him or anybody else in the U.S. any good.

Tennis officials stick together. The American leaders are on first-name terms with those of all the trails, and none of them is going to write anything that might conceivably lead to raw feelings.

A former U.S. champion, Art Larsen, who played in Australia but cut some years ago, still runs a tennis ad at the mere mention of the land down under. He favors an outright break in relations. He says the U.S. ought to tell the Australians to keep the Davis Cup forever unless they can put some sort of a play for it.

In fairness, it should be pointed out that the Aussies feel no more affection for Art than he does for them. For the last few years there has been an unwritten, though not very apparent feud on. leading U.S. lethaheart was not to go closer to Australia than the Hawaiian islands.

GAME 'NATIONAL MADNESS'

There really isn't much the men who run the game can do toward correcting the situation which has grown up over there within the last few years. Tennis has become a sort of national madness and they have developed a fever return it to its original social background just because visiting players are sensitive.

Some of the trouble stems from the fact that the challenge rounds have become of such tremendous national importance that they no longer are covered for the Australian newspapers by their top tennis writers, who know something about the game, but also by feature writers who specialize in the "angle."

It is these men who almost invariably are responsible for blowing up the artificial "incidents" and sometimes reporting pure myths, such as the one about the American players practically bathing in champagne during their recent visit.

It is not likely that the tennis people can reverse plain tennis writers' opinion of it on this continent, so the Americans will probably be back again next winter— with money in every pocket.

Marlies Narrow Margin On Teeps With Win and Tie Over Week-End

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Marlboros worked hard during the week-end to boost themselves two points closer to league-leading St. Catharines TeePees.

Lyndies, Angered by Setback, Hand Swedes 12-3 Trouncing

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Toronto Lyndhurst, angered by a referee's call that sent them off the ice in protest in the first period, Sunday returned to beat the 12-3 trouncing to the same Swedish B team that defeated them 5-2 Friday.

The Lyndhurst, Canada's representatives in the world hockey championships which begin here Friday, attracted 2,800 customers after the game had ended, but inside themselves after a blast of unfavorable newspaper comment following their defeat.

The team left the rink when referee Bert Scorgie and defenceman Doug Chapman were penalized 10 seconds apart for charging in the eight-minute second period.

The Lyndhurst's made a runaway of the game in the last two periods, right-winger Moe Galand ramming home five goals, and Slusc adding two more. Spragge and John Scott got the other three.

The Swedes countered with a single in the second frame.

Mercs Almost Cinch For Senior Top Dutchies Trail by Four Points

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Owen Sound Mercurys have chances to clinch first place in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A group. All they need is a tie in one of their three remaining games to give them sole possession of the lead spot.

In the three remaining games, Mercurys will come up against Hamilton Tigers, now tied with Wenger Bulldogs for third place, four-plus-place Stratford Indians and their toughest rivals, the Dutchmen.

Kitchener-Waterloo other remaining game is with Niagara Falls Canucks, now in the cellar.

Babe Zaharias on Comeback Trail Wins First Tourney Since Illness

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)— Babe Zaharias had a "knocking headache" and her muscles were weak from exhaustion, but she was happy.

She was plodding slowly away from the 18th green at the Bayshore golf course Sunday and her spirit was high in spite of the nagging ache in her bones. She had just won a golf tournament— the $5,000 Serbin women's invitational.

Over the years, the Babe had won many tournaments, including all of the world's important championships, but she was the big one.

It was the victory she needed to know that she could come back after conquering the toughest enemy of her fabulous sports career —cancer.

"I guess I'll have to call this the biggest thrill of my life," the Babe said. "I didn't think I would ever win another one."

Tied for first with Patty Berg at the start of the fourth and last round of 18 holes, Babe Zaharias had a 78 to finish with 294.

What you should know about strokes

They're our No. 3 killer, right behind heart diseases and cancer. What's more, they're the ones killed by stroke, at least four others suffered cerebral, attacks! Two strokes get deadly attention than the heart disease among fewer people.

In March Reader's Digest are facts about strokes, how we can lessen chances of having them, and encouraging news science is treating victims.

JOHN NIAGARA talks about:
Why Niagara may be a good place for you to borrow . . .
MONEY
We agree with people who say, "don't borrow money unless you must"—however, when you do borrow borrow money, we think Niagara is the kind of loan company you'll want to do business with. Here are some features you'll want when you borrow.
You'll rate "service" high on your list, we're sure. At Niagara, we've got to live like it to stay in business—our loans are made in 20 minutes. And politeness—our company has been designed to serve our customers. Almost everyone can borrow money at NIAGARA—when they need it . . . our plans are flexible, and on many amounts a 24 month payment period can be used.
"Reliability" will be important to you, too. Our business started in Welland, Ontario, over 25 years ago. We're associated with the Industrial Acceptance Corporation whose Merit Plan has been used by hundreds of thousands of Canadians to buy cars, appliances, etc. We're the 41st Canada Company with over 90 branches from coast-to-coast.
And here are two additional points about Niagara Loans: Rates are low—as low as you get anywhere—for your money. Loans to $1500 are life insured at no extra cost to you . . . when you can get this family protection, why do without it?
If you need money for any good reason—just drop in or phone, anytime.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON

The Kibitzer

You have seen what can happen in a bridge game that would shame the devil. And some things that look as if they were inspired by a flock of angels. So, you may be no longer surprised at anything.

But seldom is declarer in a suit grand slam without a trump in his own hand. It can happen, however, in the best regulated as well as the worst. Listen to how it came about in this deal:

NORTH
♠ Void
♥ K Q 8 7 6 5 3
♦ K 7
♣ Q 8

WEST
♥ 4 2
♦ 10 8 5 3 2
♣ K 7 6 5

EAST
♠ A 8 7 6 3
♥ 10 9 8
♦ Void
♣ 10 9 8 4

SOUTH
♠ K Q J 10 9 5
♥ None
♦ A J 10 9 8
♣ 7 3

The bidding started off like this:

South	North
1 S	4 NT
5 H	6 H

The north's impatient hop to four no-trump was the aces and kings convention. Five hearts in reply was the signal for one ace and 6 kings. Thus, at six hearts, south would be declarer without a trump.

South, a truly expert partner, lacked confidence in the heart decision of his partner. Whether or not he was justified in doing so, south took matters into his own hand and bid six spades.

Although disappointed, north respected the reputation of south and passed with his customary perfidiousness. However, questioned the wisdom of south and eagerly doubled six spades.

South passed the double and north hastily bid seven hearts, glad of an excuse to go back to his powerful suit. East doubled the seven hearts on general principles.

The first heart call in this deal had been made by south. He thus became the declarer at the doubled grand slam in hearts. There he was without a trump in his own hand, needing all 13 tricks.

The opening lead from west was the diamond trey. How to make the grand slam is something to admire. What thrilled me was how south figured the only way to take 13 tricks. It was super-duper.

Canadians Star For Michigan

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (CP)—John Ross of Oakville, Ont., and Ron Wallingford of Ottawa were individual stars in a losing cause Saturday night as Michigan University lost a Big Ten track meet to Illinois, 58½ to 55½.

Ross won the mile in 4:13.9 and finished third in the half-mile. Wallingford was the two-mile winner in 9:41.3. He was third behind Ross in the mile.

Another Michigan runner, George Lynch of Toronto, was second behind Wallingford in the two-mile. Roy Felix of Sudbury, Ont., also competing in Michigan colors, was third in the shot put.

Canadian Nurse Is Found Slain In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Detectives concentrated on the Miami, Fla., area today in their search for Anna Marie Hahn, 54-year-old ex-convict, who is wanted in connection with the slaying of a Canadian born nurse.

The body of Norma Rennie, 49, formerly of Guelph, Ont., was found by a chambermaid Saturday in her west-side hotel room. The woman, who wore only a lacy brassiere, apparently had been dead for two days. A "Don't Disturb" sign on the door had kept hotel employees from entering.

Police said Kacinski had occupied a room next to Miss Rennie's, and was known to have had dates with her.

The nurse was stabbed in the head and chest. A blood-stained kitchen knife was found in the bathroom.

'CRIME OF PASSION'

Deputy chief inspector James E. Leggett said the slaying looked "very much like a crime of passion."

On a table was a dinner sent from a restaurant. It was untouched except for two coffee containers which were empty.

Miss Rennie had lived at the hotel since October.

Police officials assigned more than 60 detectives to the case, including two who were in Florida on other business. An inter-state alarm for Kacinski was dispatched from here late Saturday night. The search for Kacinski was concentrated on the Miami area after police learned that he had told employees of a restaurant where he ate frequently that he was going to Miami to open his own restaurant.

Detectives also paid attention to Lexington, Kacinski's home town, and to Providence, R. I., where he has relatives.

BURR'S Taxidermist Talks on Birds

BURR'S—The February meeting of the Mission Band was held at the school house recently. Mr. H. Caldwell gave an illustrated talk on flesh eating, insectivorous and seed eating birds. He is a taxidermist and has mounted several specimens, including an Arctic owl.

He described the extreme care required to mount these birds for mounting. He had the children note the three types of beaks and claws necessary for securing food on the birds on view. All expressed their thanks to Mr. Caldwell for his informative talk and hoped that he would come again.

Wayne Soble opened the service with Brenda Osterhout taking up the offering. Eleanor Clarke read a letter from an African Missionary. Peter Diggins read the Scripture.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Caughey, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hough, Mr. and Mrs. H. Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. O. Diggins, Mr. and Mrs. D. Harris and Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Burr were guests at an evening dinner party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hall, Christian Ct.

Mr. Ronald Hough is recuperating from an attack of mumps.

Mr. Albert Werden has graduated from Oberlin College, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Werden are now residing in Detroit, Mich., where he is teaching art and English.

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Marjorie Main, who is as much a character off the screen as on, may retire from acting. Then again she may not.

The veteran actress is coming to the end of an MGM contract March 22, and she confesses, "I'm counting the days."

I saw her in the homey dressing room she uses at Universal-International, where she has done a sizable number of loan-outs. She had plopped her belongings down on a chair.

"I drove in last night," Miss Main mused as she hunted for a wisp of hair on her forehead. "I decided I would try to find some place near parkways. I didn't do so good. You know, they don't mark 'em very well.

"I left Palm Springs at noon and didn't get here until nine o'clock at night." It is ordinarily a three-hour trip.

I AM AT MGM

I asked her how long she had been at MGM, and she guessed around 14 years. She actually came out here in 1938 to re-create her stage role in "Dead End." How does she feel about leaving?

"Well, I'm sorry about leaving a lot of good friends at Metro," she remarked. "But I wasn't too happy about the last two pictures I did there. One was 'The Long, Long Trailer,' and I had only two or three scenes in the picture. One of them was cut out.

"The last I did 'Rose Marie.' They decided that something was needed to relieve the plot so Bert Lahr and I did a musical number. Oh, I mean it was a lot of work. Took us six weeks in all, and then they threw the number out of the picture because it interfered with the plot!"

'KETTLE' SERIES ENDING

I asked her about the "Kettle" series. The fabulously successful low-budget films have apparently come to the end of their run. There are still two to be released, but creator Percy Kilbride has said he'll do no more.

"It's entirely up to Percy," said Miss Main. "I love that little fellow! He's such a fine performer. I think he ought to go into the series after the last one. Why, they put poor little Percy on a straw mat and ground cloth all over the set! Then they had his double slide down a long slide into a swimming pool. Percy had to stand in the water up to his neck and he was terrified. He'd never been in a pool before.

"They should realize at our age you can't do all this physical stuff. You just don't have the energy that younger people do. We're too old to be running around. Percy's two years older than I am." He's 65.

'Y' Basketball

The Crazyiegs led by Danny Moon with 18 points took over first place in the Y.M.C.A. Junior Basketball House League by edging the last place Fee-Roshus-Five 28 to 26 on Saturday afternoon. Leslie Smith was high man for the Fee-Roshus-Five with 7 points. In the second game, the Wild-Cats, playing one man short defeated the Hoopstars 42-24. Jim Vance was top man for the winners with 11 points while Jim Ramsbottom bucked 15 points for the Hoopstars.

Lineups:

Crazyiegs: Poole 2, Moon 18, Bunnett 1, Muirhead, Mills, Tyran, Plane.

Fee-Roshus-Five: Symons 6, Smith 7, R. Donovan 2, R. Green 4, B. Valcamp, R. Cowles, Jobes, Garrison.

Wild-Cats: Ron McBride 12, J. Green 17, B. Skelley 13, Stirling.

Hoopstars: MacDonald 6, Ramsbottom 21, D. Valcamp 6, Cyr 1, Graham, Colebourne.

In the first game at 2.15 p.m. next Saturday the Crazyiegs meet the Hoopstars while the Wild-Cats take on the Fee-Roshus-Five in the second game at 3.00 p.m.

In an exhibition basketball game played at the YMCA on Friday night the Belleville "Y" defeated Kingston 47-45. It was a close affair with Kingston taking a first quarter lead only to have Belleville tie it up by half time. The teams battled evenly throughout the remainder of the game until Belleville scored three quick baskets near the close to take the victory.

The line-up:

Belleville — "Y" — Parkhurst 13; Farnsworth 8; Jackson 8; Matthews 6; Annis 4; Bateman 2; Voice 2; Firestone 2.

Kingston "Y" — Naesmith 22; Carswell 6; Lemon 8; Hill 5; Carpack 2; Randall 2; Bauden 1; Connolly; McDermott; Kennedy; Brownlee; Leach; Liston.

Historic Car First of 25 Built by Goods

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP) — A horseless carriage that was a revolutionary development in 1898 can be seen chugging around the roads here now and then.

The historic car was the first of 25 LeRoy Autos made by the Good brothers here. It has been restored running conditions by Lloyd (Sandy) Rider, a garage mechanic whose hobby is rejuvenating "antique" cars.

The LeRoy looks like a buggy and is steered by a tiller bar instead of a steering wheel.

Dr. Milton Good, now of Wasaga Beach, Ont., and the late Nelson Good manufactured 25 of the autos before they had to give up for lack of financial backing.

Dr. Good says the vehicle was the first car to cross the Canada-United States border. The crossing was made in 1900 when he and his brother drove from Waterloo to Brown City, Mich.

Parts for the cars were made in the basement of the Good home. A blacksmith, at Interloo, named Kaufman, built the chassis.

3; Smith 2; Gault 2; Evans; Beer.

Kingston "Y" — Naesmith 22; Carswell 6; Lemon 8; Hill 5; Carpack 2; Randall 2; Bauden 1; Connolly; McDermott; Kennedy; Brownlee; Leach; Liston.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY, FEB. 23, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — You may have temporary setback. Don't view others' success with ill feeling but try to learn where you have failed. Don't waste time blaming; get busy rectifying. Keep a sharp eye on developments.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Things that relate to past work, business situations may come up unexpectedly, should give leads to better progress. Renewal of some old issues could influence future matters. Be alert; study.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Side-step excess optimism, unrealistic ideas that things will "be okay" regardless. Use good commonsense and the knowledge gained from past experiences. In p.m. conferences, meetings favored.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Tackle unfinished business and personal affairs and finish them as swiftly as you can. Could be embarrassing otherwise. Better tempo expected.

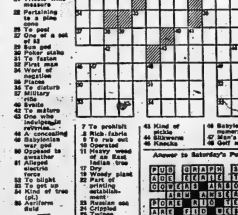
July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Accent on system and playing your art on the up-and-up. The casual, amiable contact and a friendly lift could be just what that day needs to proceed smoothly.

August 23 (September 22 Virgo)—Earnings may expand one during this period. However, step alert to changing policies, unexpected change. Some favorable appearing matters could develop if you don't check carefully.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—One of your best planetary days in some time. Don't spend hances being stubborn, too determined to have your way. Outstanding is the possibility you will be asked to sign papers! Study well first.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—You may run into uncertainties trying to guard possessions, property. Be fearless, bold to good principles and you will achieve. Important period now; be rightly concerned.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Your natural gifts and a wise desire to get ahead will pave the way for good results. Your personal magnetism will carry you to fine future gains, too.



December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Your urge to see and do today should help you feel your way interestingly, even colorfully, toward new gains. In personal matters, guard against pushing ahead to the unfair discomfort of others.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Be sure, feel secure. Put your trust in well spent energies. Worry isn't healing; it really holds one back. Build better sights, and be your natural self along the way.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Tense pressures behind the scenes. All unwanted pressures can be relieved by consultation, talks with loved ones. Don't hesitate to use that avenue to happiness. Charm, diplomacy can carry one far.

YOU BORN TODAY are talented, sympathetic and sensitive. Certain forces may tempt you to become distracted, disperse energies haphazardly. You are usually blessed with good health, but should not be careless about colds or overtaxing. You can do exceptionally well at teaching, an artistic profession, science. The stage, motion pictures, radio or TV are likely success fields. A strongly developed spiritual side is also present in your nature. Stay level headed; use your intuition carefully and have confidence. Birthdate: George Handel, noted composer; Samuel Pepys, famed English diarist.

Army Secretary And McCarthy At Loggerheads

By RICHARD LEEKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army secretary Robert Stevens and Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep., Wis.) broke from a running clash over McCarthy's investigation of army officers, most face to face on the issue Tuesday before a country-wide audience.

Turned down twice in two days on demands that the army, McCarthy has summoned its civilian head to appear before the Senate Investigations sub-committee here Tuesday.

He said Stevens would be asked to explain what the senator termed an attempt by the army "to coddle and promote Communists."

Stevens said he received no official notification, but would be glad to appear. That was after he had ordered five generals not to comply with calls for their appearance before McCarthy's sub-committee.

Objecting to the humiliation he said was inflicted on men who are at a hearing by McCarthy's staff week, Stevens said he cannot permit disloyal officers of our armed forces to be subjected to such unwarranted treatment.

"UNFAIR ATTACKS"

The secretary, who himself served as an army officer in both world wars, said he was afraid the "prestige and morale" of the military would be weakened by "unfair attacks on our officer corps."

Friday the army let pass a deadline McCarthy had set for it to produce the records of all personnel connected with the promotion and honorable discharge of a reserve officer who had declined to say whether he was ever a Communist. The reservist has not yet been given the senator.

McCarthy charged New York Army that the reserve major involved, Dr. Irving Peress, a dentist, was "commissioned and promoted, saved from overseas orders and given an honorable discharge, all despite an open record of active membership in the Communist conspiracy."

In his investigation of the Peress case, McCarthy has already summoned to a closed hearing in New York Brig.-Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, commanding officer of camp Kilmer, N.J., where Peress was stationed.

SAYS TESTIMONY TWISTED

Later, McCarthy, who conducted the hearing without any of his sub-committee colleagues, said the general had acknowledged knowing about the sub - committee's purported evidence against Peress. But Zwicker said Peress' honorable discharge "was a colored and slanted version of my testimony, twisting everything he could."

McCarthy subsequently called Zwicker and Maj.-Gen. William E. Bergin, army adjutant general, to a hearing.

Then Stevens stepped in, forbidding their appearance and charging that Zwicker suffered humiliating treatment" when he carried out the order to appear.

McCarthy said in New York, "Stevens is a loyal man, but apparently is being made a dupe by holdovers from the previous administration."

Little Benny's Note Book

This morning ma beret her hand on the stove, being one of the werst things she hairs to do, and she was still thinking about it mad at breakfast, and I was drinking my milk to myself and being purtty sleepy and wishing I could of got up for some reason or other like school, and pop said, Confound and blast.

Why, what's a matter? ma said, and pop said, Nothing, horse blanket to blame.

William, there must be something in all reel fine cattle, ma said, as I outberet from a blue sky, ma said, and pop said, if you think on knowledge, I ought to have had a thick slice of burnt toast.

Butch a statement to land asket, ma said. You know you wont even look at toast unless it's thin and browned a certain perfect shade, neither mor nor less, she said, and pop said, Not only that, but this coffee should be weak and cold.

Now William, that's descending from the rediculus to the perposterous, ma said, pop said, And then what would you think if I said this egg ought to be stale?

I'd think you were either out of your mind or crazy, ma said, and pop said, Just the same as I think what I'm talking about. I seem to be the only cherchil member of this household this lovely morning, but if your toast was wholly unburnt, and if my coffee was weak and cold, and if my egg was old and bad, I'm sure I wouldn't fit into the general picture with very little effort.

I mite of known it was something silly, but that's simply absurd, ma said.

And she luffed and so did I and so did pop, and the rest of breakfast was betterinstead of worse.

Dulles Commences His Explanations Of Berlin Parley

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dulles opens today, on the crucial congressional front, his campaign to convince the country the United States came out ahead in its latest diplomatic skirmish with the Soviets.

Dulles arranged a personal report to 18 congressional leaders on his Berlin conference decision to take part in an Asian peace conference in Geneva with Communist Chinese and Russian delegates.

Dulles has already said that in the arrangements the United States got all it could out of what it wanted. Some members of Congress expressed fears that the Geneva conference might break the ice for diplomatic recognition of Red China or "appeasement."

Today's closed meeting is the first in which reports will be given on the results of the four-week session with Russian Foreign minister Molotov, Britain's foreign secretary Eden and France's foreign minister Bidault.

In a move to reassure uneasy U.S. legislators, Dulles has gone out to stress that the forthcoming parley with the Communists does not put April 26 does not foreshadow formal U.S. diplomatic recognition or even acceptance of the Communist regime on the Chinese mainland.

Special ambassador Arthur Dean broke off talks with the North Korean and Chinese Communist representatives then, claiming they had falsely accused the United States of "germ warfare."

Although the Big Four foreign ministers spent most of their time debating the future of Germany and an Austrian peace settlement problem, Dulles is expected to spend most of his time talking about the only agreement of the 23-day meeting—the Korean-Indo-China decision.

The secretary plans to follow up today's report to congressmen Monday to the full House of Representatives foreign affairs committee in a closed meeting.

Chemical Firm Will Split Into Two Companies

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian Industries Ltd., big chemical concern with operations across Canada plans to split itself into two distinct companies.

The plan has been drawn up by CIL's two principal shareholders, the Imperial Chemical Industries Ltd. of the United Kingdom, and E. du Pont de Nemours and Company of the United States.

It follows a 1952 antitrust judgment in the United States, which directed Imperial Chemical and du Pont to separate their joint interests in a number of companies in North and South America.

The proposal, unanimously recommended by the directors, will be submitted to preferred and common shareholders at special general meetings in Montreal April 27 and, if approved, will go into effect July 1.

Operations of the present CIL would be continued in one or other of the new companies.

One, with Imperial Chemical as the principal shareholder, would be called Canadian Industries (1954) Ltd., or CIL 54 for short, and would be headed by H. Greville Smith, new president of CIL.

The other new operating company would be Du Pont of Canada Ltd., with du Pont of the United States its chief shareholder, and would be headed by Herbert H. Lank, now a CIL vice-president.

Uranium Find Exploration Is Stepped Up at Bancroft

BANCROFT — With substantial widths of uranium ore outlined by diamond drilling on its Bancroft area property, Faraday Uranium Mines Ltd. has added a fifth drill to speed up its program and gain information as quickly as possible so that the most efficient plans for underground development can be made.

Faraday's 2,600-acre property is located six miles southwest of Bancroft, Ontario, and about four miles east of Centre Lake Uranium Mines and Croft Uranium Mines, both of which are engaged in underground development programs.

First exploration of the property was carried out by an air scintillometer survey and the favorable areas indicated were investigated by ground work. To date seven anomalies have been checked on the ground and two of these partially explored by diamond drilling.

In the "Z" area, a length of 220 feet has been drilled and this length shows an average of $18.71 per ton in uranium oxide across a true width of 27.8 feet. Some 2,000 feet to the northeast lies the "A" area where drilling has indicated of 1,200 feet shows an average width of 62.5 feet and is capable of $6.09 per ton in uranium oxide.

FIND HIGHER-GRADE ORE.

The drilling has also shown evidence of higher-grade footwall and hangingwall sections. One has averaged $23.81 per ton over a width of 15.2 feet. The company states these values on a price of $7.35 per pound for uranium oxide.

Traditional Japanese Woman, Meek, Obedient and Wordless Now Finding Place in Govt.

By RELMAN MORIN

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese woman, deserted by her husband, went to the new family relations court recently, and won the equivalent of more than $8,000 in a lump sum for support of her family.

A total of 24 women hold seats in the present Japanese Parliament.

On a panel-type radio program in Tokyo, three of four wives admitted that they now ask their husbands to help with the housework, and occasionally with the marketing.

The head of a woman's organization, who lost her son in the Japanese Air Force during the war, told this correspondent: "Never again will we give up our men so easily to the army."

All this has come since the end of the Pacific war.

The traditional Japanese woman —meek, obedient, wordless—began to change. She suddenly found herself possessing legal and property rights unknown in the Orient since the beginning of time. She was given the vote and encouraged to run for Parliament.

Her status in business and industry was changed—on paper, if not entirely in fact.

RADICAL CHANGE

She may be almost as well informed on questions of domestic and foreign policy now as the average North American woman.

Today, in all the basics of her life—marriage, divorce, relationship to her children, the education of her daughters, protection under the law—her position has been altered so radically that she has by no means grasped the full meaning of it.

Moreover, in a fairly direct connection, she is having an effect on the world balance of power.

The Japanese constitution, written after the war, legally prevents the creation of another armed force. Article nine specifically forbids this.

So, in the majority view, full rearmament by Japan so that she can carry the burden of her own defence must be preceded by a revision of article nine.

To do this requires a national referendum. That's where the Japanese woman, who has a vote and has used it, enters the picture.

55 PER CENT VOTED

Most political observers here believe the women would vote against a proposition which would make it possible for the Japanese government to conscript their men.

Two questions touch this point: Do the women use the vote? And do they exercise independent judgment, or take their husbands' opinions?

Statistics answer the first. Nearly 68 per cent have voted in electing members of Parliament in local elections, percentages have run from 73 to 85 of all those eligible.

As to whether they do their own thinking, there is of course, no definitive answer possible.

You hear both answers. Some Japanese husbands told this correspondent they do not know how their wives and daughters voted, and do not try to influence their decisions.

One of the most famous women in Japan, Mrs. Shizue Kato, takes a more restrained view. She thinks the majority of women vote the way their husbands vote. She says they know more about the major issues than they ever knew, but still are "considerably confused."

Mrs. Kato is the former baroness Ishimoto.

She has spent most of her life writing and speaking about women's rights in Japan. She saw a bill granting them the vote reach Parliament, and die there, in 1931.

Thus, was a born in the side of the old Japanese Army. She went to prison several times.

HARD TO BELIEVE

Today, she is a member of Parliament. She ran sixth out of several hundred candidates who are elected on a nationwide basis, in total votes received.

She said: "Even now, sometimes, I sit in the Diet and look around and see women members in their seats, and hear the debates, and I ask myself if this is a dream.

"The changes in women's position are so great that it is hard to believe."

She says, however, it' s going to take a long time, at least another generation, before anything resembling equality is achieved between men and women in Japan. In the farm areas, particularly, she finds the same "feudalistic" tendencies that are apparent in many political and economic fields.

But the Japanese woman, the gentle butterfly, is changing. The process may take a long time. But as Mrs. Kato says: "When men are deciding the big questions of policy and law today, they have to listen to the murmurs in the kitchen."

Indian Rangers Emerge as Heroes In War Exercise

By BOB JOYCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SEPT ILES, Que. (CP)—Indian Ranger scouts today led Canadian defence forces into action against theoretical invaders in the vital Sept Iles area as exercise Loup Garou entered its fourth day.

The scouts pointed the way to paratroop forces striving to knock out a tightly-moulded invading force represented by the first battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment from London, Ont.

They are the remnants of a local Canadian Rangers outfit made up of Indians, woodsmen and trappers who now are emerging as the heroes of this fast-paced arctic exercise.

Few days before the paratroopers hurtled into the Sept Iles subsist to box in the northern attacking force, Rangers scoured the ground, dodging the invaders but closely watching their movements as they set up defence positions along the fringes of Sept Iles airport.

Early Sunday, as the C-119 flying boxcars of the counter-attacking force followed in the bombers to drop their load of men and equipment by parachute, the Rangers emerged from their bush hideouts, donned red identification arm-bands and linked up with the airborne troops.

The drop Sunday nearly ended in disaster when the first "stick" of paratroopers was jettisoned above timber and floated into tree-tops on the fringes of the landing area. Despite use of an RCAF drop computer, being tested for the first time under simulated wartime conditions, 10 of the assailters fell short of the drop area.

Maintenance Cost On Picnic Tables Comes High

TORONTO (CP) — Destruction keeps the cost of maintaining the province's 1,400 picnic tables along the main highways high, J. D. Millar, deputy minister of highway states.

Mr. Millar said in an interview that the maintenance cost of each table is estimated at from $35 to $40 a year.

"That cost would be cut by half if all the people who use them were as thoughtful, clean and considerate as the great majority," he said.

Mr. Millar said carving names on tables makes them harder to keep clean. Dirt becomes embedded in the carvings and creates a nuisance.

Roadside parks and picnic sites were first introduced in 1930 and their popularity grew rapidly.

The deputy minister said sanitation is a particular problem, especially in Northern Ontario.

In some of the roadside parks, on Monday mornings, district foresters on lakes and streams bring their garbage to the camps expecting that it will be removed by the department of highways maintenance forces. But too many late comers leave garbage piled right on the picnic tables where other visitors and campers want to have their meals.

Mr. Millar said that in northern Ontario the department has had cases of tables being used to build bonfires, or stolen for other uses.

Pearson Pledges Canada's Help To U.S. in War

WINTER PARK, Fla. (AP)—External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson Sunday night pledged Canada's help to the United States in the event of war.

Speaking on Rollins College Animated Magazine, a forum-type gathering in which persons from varied walks of life read their articles instead of having them published, Pearson described Canada as the junior member of a North American partnership "which will not be dissolved by Communist blandishment or Isolationist timidity."

"It would be tempting for us to step aside in any battle of the giants," he said. "But that is not the way we feel about it.

"The conflict is not between empires and powers but between freedom and slavery . . . So we range ourselves on the side of freedom, under the leadership of the United States of America."

News Distributor Facing Possible Contempt Penalty

Balcombe Trial Opens After Jury Returns True Bill

CORNWALL (CP)—Chief Justice J. C. McRuer, presiding at the murder trial of Lieut Peter Balcombe, today ordered E. C. Bryan, proprietor of the Bryan News Agency of Cornwall, to appear in court Friday to show cause why he should not be cited for contempt of court.

At the opening Monday of Balcombe's trial on a charge of fatally stabbing Marie Anne Carrere, attractive CWAC reserve army sergeant from Montreal, Que., Defence counsel J. P. Kelly of Ottawa showed the chief justice copies of three magazines which published stories on the slaying near here last October.

One story was headed "The Riddle of Canada's Nude WAC." Another "His Alibi Came Too Late." The third was "The Nude and the Dead."

ALL U. S. MAGAZINES

Crown attorney R. P. Milligan said: "These magazines True Detective, True Police and Official Detective, are magazines that published in the United States and have no provincial or national distribution. They are, I think, sold direct from the publishers to the retail distributors."

Mr. Milligan said Mr. Bryan was ready to appear voluntarily. He understood that representatives of the publishers was also ready to appear although their presence could not be guaranteed.

Chief Justice McRuer said Mr. Bryan certainly would have to appear but the publishers were beyond the jurisdiction of the court. If they appeared they too would have to show cause why they should not be cited for contempt.

The chief justice said Monday he was very concerned where these magazines are published if they are distributed in Canada.

"An indictable offence has been drawn to my attention. There is a heavy responsibility to the country to see that the laws of this country, as observed, Continue to be carried of very great importance."

Mr. Kelly said that two years ago similar stories were written in similar magazines during the murder trial of Miss Rand, a farmhand accused of killing his employer's wife and later sent to penitentiary for life. The court in that case fined the publisher of the magazines.

Shortly after a grand jury returned its true bill against Balcombe to stand trial, 12 jurors for the trial were selected from a panel of 40 men and one woman.

Mr. Milligan, outlining to the jury the crown case, told of the discovery of the girl from the Quebec City district dead in a ditch about 35 miles west of here the afternoon of last Oct. 15.

After the body was identified, police discovered that Balcombe was known to have had a date with her although married and the father of two children. He later said he gave her a ring and asked her to marry him.

The crown attorney said a pathologist will show the girl died from stab wounds about a inches 15 and that she was almost dead when she was placed in the ditch where investigators found her. A cycling to his father's farm, found the girl's remains were said to have been inflicted with a thin, double-edged knife.

Sawmill Men Concerned Says Liberal Member

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario sawmill operators generally have expressed "deep concern" over the state of the industry, Albert Wren, Liberal-Labor member of the legislature for Kenora said Monday.

Speaking in the house on white paper calling for a long-range forest management and development program to bring back the province's exploited forest resources, Mr. Wren said the situation was not a problem of forest mismanagement "but one of economics."

He called for preferential freight rates for the industry and the construction and maintenance of access roads to timber stands.

The white paper, the first ever to be presented in an Ontario legislature, said it had taken less than a century of exploitation to deplete the forest resources of the Ottawa-Huron region to the vanishing point.

"With the decline of white pine, distress has spread through the sawmilling industry at a time when the province is experiencing its greatest industrial prosperity."

In presenting the report, Lands and Forests Minister Gemmell said it was a "blueprint for the future."

ASSURE FUTURE

"With the carrying out of the programs the future of the industry is assured."

The paper said a shift to other species of trees may be necessary for the sawmilling industry. It recommended a ban on the export of all softwoods and maple and birch logs sawmilled in an unprocessed state and the closer utilization of the hardwoods now being cut.

In reply to a question by J. B. Salsberg (Lab.-Prog.—St. Andrew) Premier Frost said the federal and Ontario governments agree that Canada is not only prepared but anxious to build the St. Lawrence seaway herself. However, Ontario's chief concern is the development of hydro-electric power; any U.S. participation in the seaway project is a question for the federal government, he said.

Today, CCF house leader W. J. Grummett will continue the throne speech debate.

Police to Lay More Charges Against Buller

MONTREAL (CP)—George Hill senior crown prosecutor, said Monday additional charges will be laid against Herman Buller, one of five Montreal lawyers charged as a result of an investigation into police described as a $3,000,000 international racket in baby adoptions.

Buller has already been charged with falsifying entries in a birth certificate and with giving advice and counsel in connection with an indictable offence. His preliminary hearing is tentatively set for Wednesday.

Mr. Hill declined to indicate the nature of the new charges he said they will be somewhat similar to those already preferred against Louis Glazer, the second lawyer charged in the case.

Glazer, whose preliminary hearing started last week, faces five charges of obtaining money in connection with birth registration; two of misdirection and forgery and one of uttering.

HOUSE APPROVES SALARY HIKES FOR PM, CABINET

CCF and Social Credit Parties Support Govt.

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons has approved salary increases of $10,000 for the prime minister and $5,000 for each of his 21 cabinet colleagues.

Two CCF members and the Social Credit group supported the Liberal majority of 130 in the division, voted 116 to 44 to give second reading, approval in principle, to legislation providing the cabinet its fifth general increase since 1930.

The bill boosts the prime minister's salary to $25,000 from $15,000 and cabinet salaries to $15,000 from $10,000 effective April 1.

Cabinet ministers would be on top of a $4,000 increase in parliamentary indemnity, which became law last week, giving all members of the Commons and Senate $10,000 in income-tax-free allowances. The new increases would raise over-all pay of the prime minister to $37,000 from $23,000 and cabinet pay to $27,000 from $18,000.

Cabinet ministers and Opposition Leader Drew receive a $2,000 non-taxable allowance. Mr. Drew also received a $5,000 pay increase along with the boost in indemnity and allowance for all the same as the prime minister whose salary increase last year has not been passed.

BILL APPROVED

The measure Monday also was given its second reading without debate and needs only third and final reading before being sent to the Senate.

Second reading of the salaries bill was opposed by 44 members, Conservatives, who wanted a select committee appointed to study the commission study of the matter, and by 19 of the 23-member CCF party, who felt the increase was too large.

However, Clarie Gillis (CCF—Cape Breton South) and Thomas Barnett (CCF—Comox Alberni) spilt from their party and voted for the increases.

Mr. Gillis, former coal miner and union leader, said they were "fair, reasonable and long overdue." Duties of ministers had increased 500 per cent since the last increase in 1920.

"I wouldn't accept a cabinet post for any money," he said. "There isn't enough money to compensate for the misery you've got to suffer."

Mr. Gillis said the arguments, made by other CCF members, that the increase be put into effect during the present unemployment situation, is a good one. "The only question was whether the cabinet was entitled to more money."

Angus MacInnis (CCF—Vancouver East) said unemployment and the needs of pensioners are relevant. He had been sent to Parliament to improve the lot of the people, not to vote pay increases for cabinet.

Acting Prime Minister Howe said that although the salary of a cabinet job means a lot, the pay isn't enough to provide security for a minister's family. The increase had been sought "by three or four older ministers who have been particularly concerned about their own salary and who no longer have debts."

Opposition Leader Drew said a flat salary rate for all cabinet members does not recognize differences in individual experience and responsibility.

Finance Minister Abbott, opposing the amendment, said he differential among cabinet members. Each minister must fit in the collective responsibility for government administration.

CCL Says Govt. Should Cut Interest on Insured Mortgages

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Congress of Labor said today lenders will get a high return on mortgage loans and suffer no risk under the government's new housing legislation.

The 375,000-member labor group said in a brief prepared for submission to the Commons banking committee that if the government is to insure mortgage lenders it should cut the interest rate "substantially."

"To give them a rate of 5½ per cent or more and almost complete immunity against loss . . . is foolproof and completely-protected enterprise. A high interest rate is supposed to compensate the lender for risk. The lending institutions, under this bill, would get the high rate, without the risk."

The bill would allow the government to insure 90 per cent of housing loans by banks.

LOWER INTEREST RATE

The brief said that if Parliament wants to bring home ownership within reach of lower-paid workers it must provide for a much lower interest rate.

It urged a lower interest to allow more persons in the low-income group to move into home ownership. Payments of the National Housing Act, which allow a 90 per cent loan, the owner would be limited to 23 per cent of his annual income to pay back a mortgage and the carrying charges.

By dropping the interest rate to two per cent from 5½ per cent on a 25-year mortgage for a $10,000 home, it added, income requirements would be cut by $555.

Half urban wage and salary earners received incomes of less than $3,000 a year, the brief added. It quoted figures purporting to show that was not enough to buy a $9,000 house, the cheapest available under the act, with a 25-year mortgage at 5½ or 5½ per cent.

The CCL estimated Canada's backlog of houses at 500,000 units. The replacement figure for substandard single dwellings was about 140,000.

CONSTRUCTION BACKLOG

Canada's record 105,000 housing starts in 1953 was "just about enough to keep pace with the increase in the need, and making little or no impression on the backlog."

The immediate need of 100,000 homes was made up of 90,000 units for new families and 10,000 more for the number of houses destroyed each year.

The 500,000-unit backlog, the CCL said, could be eliminated in about 20 years if the construction industry operated at capacity of about 125,000 units annually. That construction schedule would give employment to between 60,000 and 65,000 men.

The CCL urged the government to consider direct loans to home owners through Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, rather than bought more government subsidies for low-rental housing under the government's federal-provincial-municipal slum clearance plan.

UAW Lobby Will Tell Govt. Of Economy's 'Danger Spots'

OTTAWA (CP)—The big United Automobile Workers of America (CIO-CCL) is sending a 110-man lobby to Ottawa Wednesday to tell Parliament there are "danger spots" in the economy and to outline a program for full employment.

The delegation from the 70,000-member union, Canada's largest, will meet a cabinet delegation Wednesday and will circulate copies of its brief on employment for the next two or three days with the union's employment program.

It will be about the largest mass lobby to assail the government. Other delegations have been bigger but these have been mainly informal presentations to the government rather than to individual members.

PROGRAM OUTLINED

The UAW program, aimed at increasing buying power, calls for federal action to boost housing construction, expand public works, spread taxes "more equitably," improve national health programs, and increase payments on family allowances, old age pensions and unemployment insurance benefits.

The union asks for the convening of a "broad conference" on full employment. This would take in representatives of industry, labor, agriculture, consumers and government.

It would try to "draft a practical worksheet for full employment and full production."

"Signs are all too abundant at the present time," the UAW submissions says, "that danger spots are developing and spreading in the economy."

Farmers were being forced to lower living standards. Employment was "faltering" in many areas of industry.

The UAW said it does not share "defeatist" views that even a little recession is inevitable, but it recognizes that it is a distinct danger.

"Nothing is to be gained and everything is to be lost if we fol-

CHINESE REDS SLAY 15 MILLION IN PAST 4 YEARS

Hunger, Liquidations Have Taken Heavy Toll

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter S. Robertson, assistant secretary of state, has told the United States Congress that the Chinese Reds, in "just about the bloodiest pattern that the Communists have followed in any country in the world," have killed almost 15,000,000 of their own people since 1949.

Robertson, whose province is Far Eastern affairs, attributed the huge death toll to liquidations and starvation caused by forced collectivization.

In testimony on the state department's budget request, made public today by the senate appropriations committee, Robertson said the government anticipates in Asia for the foreseeable future "emergencies, crises and problems of the greatest importance and magnitude."

He made these other main points:

1. A basic U.S. strategy is to "help prevent Chinese national forces on Formosa as a constant threat of U.S.-supported military operations against Red China.

2. On the mainland "there is a deep-seated fear, hatred and resentments that would be glad to follow some other leadership if it had the chance."

3. New outlets must be found for Japanese products because it "accesses to U.S. markets, "or we will inevitably drive Japan into the Communist orbit."

4. For an indefinite period "we must make a substantial effort in keeping our allies strong." In Europe and Asia "we must have an army of just about 1,000,000 men . . . a big reserve against trouble in Asia" from a financial point "is heavy for these countries to handle the

During the hearings, in late January, state undersecretary Walter Bedell Smith and Henry Cabot Lodge, United Nations delegate, testified that the U.S. administration had no plans to recognize Red China.

"We do not see Communist China as a decent member of the world community at the present time, or in the foreseeable future," Smith said.

Robertson, who once served as U.S. consul general and personal envoy to South Korea, gave this sketch of China:

"The most striking fact about its worst famines in history (of 1950, 1951 and 1953) is that Red China's munist government was exporting food, with thousands of people dying of starvation. It was using food in exchange for industrial equipment from Soviet Russia.

The best estimate is "that including the Soviet slave labor camps plus the liquidations, the liquidations in public squares, where they just lined them up and turned the machine-guns on them; the liquidations in the concentration camps, the land owners, business people and the classes that they want to exterminate . . . that the Communists have liquidated about 15,000,000 people since 1949."

Two Canadian Firms Reach Sugar Accord

The story said: "Basically the deal is a barter system in turn on an agreement by the Canadian manufacturers to buy raw Cuban raw sugar if Cuban exporters agreed not to ship quantities of Cuban refined."

Red Army Ready For A-Combat Moscow Declares

36th Anniversary Observed With New Blasts Against U.S.

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia's military leaders today marked the 36th anniversary of the Red Army with new blasts at the United States and repeated assurances that Soviet armed forces are sharpening their skill with the "newest weapons."

The army chief of staff, Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky, charged in Izvestia that "American imperialists are preparing a new war against the Soviet Union and the people's democracies." He warned that Soviet forces are preparing for combat in the atomic age.

Defence Minister Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, in a special order of the day, called the armed forces for increased vigilance, military preparedness and competence in using the most modern weapons.

Admiral Nikolai Kuznetsov also spotlighted new weapons, writing in Izvestia that the Soviet army and navy have received new arms and equipment which are greatly superior to the arms and equipment of the Second World War.

It was one of the biggest Armed Forces Day celebrations ever held in the Soviet Union, with huge mass sporting events, special meetings in factories and offices across the country, and special radio and television programs. A 20-gun salute was ordered in Moscow.

Sokolovsky's three-column article, in particular, contained a charged that "reactionary circles" in the United States "are trying to the Second World War had "respected the policy agreed upon by the allies . . . aimed at strengthening the peace and security of all peoples."

"Setting themselves the goal of establishing world rule," the marshal continued, "the United States imperialists . . . are creating new aggressive blocks and building numerous military bases, conducting a mad armaments race and remilitarizing West Germany and Japan."

Sokolovsky claimed the Soviet Union is pursuing a persistent policy of peace and that the Soviet Union armed forces at their manoeuvres last fall had proved their adeptness with the latest weapons.

Queen Expresses Sympathy at Floods

SYDNEY, Australia, (CP)—Queen Elizabeth today sent a message of sympathy to Premier Robert G. Menzies following the disastrous floods in northern New South Wales in which 23 have died and three missing.

Only 14 days ago the Queen and duke were travelling through that area's agricultural country and spent overnight at Lismore, scene of the worst flooding.

Thousands of people in the rich farming districts on the north coast of New South Wales have been forced recycling floodwaters today in a grim trek back to homes wrecked or badly damaged homes.

Threats of dysentery developed. Cans of condensed milk and gasoline rations also were reported.

Wants Ottawa To Look After Unemployment

TORONTO (CP)—Public Welfare Minister Goodfellow Monday recommended that the federal government assume full responsibility for unemployed persons unable to maintain themselves.

In an address prepared for delivery over a province-wide CBC network, the minister said municipalities are neither willing or able under present conditions to share in the costs of unemployment relief."

Mr. Goodfellow said he was in agreement with unanimous resolution of the Ontario Municipal Association urging the federal government to assume "full responsibility for the complete cost of relief to unemployed, employable persons."

The minister said there is no public welfare program to take care of persons whose unemployment insurance allowances run out after a long period of time.

NEW WELFARE ACT

The minister said he will introduce a new Child Welfare Act at the present session of the legislature. He said it was an earnest attempt to consolidate the best we can discover in child welfare practice.

Two Five-Year-Old P.E. County Children Drowned

Two five-year-old Prince Edward County boys lost their lives by drowning accidents in accidents Monday afternoon, one at Bloomfield and the other at Consecon.

Drowned were Bobby Barrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Barrett, of Consecon, whose body was found at the foot of a mill dam, and Colin Fraleigh, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. Fraglund, of Bloomfield, whose body of the Bloomfield boy had not been recovered at nine o'clock today.

Provincial officers on the part of Rev. Joseph Patterson, of the Bloomfield Standard Church, and Marilyn Fraleigh, 16-year-old Bloomfield high school girl, failed to save the life of the Kradlund boy, who broke through the ice on a mill pond.

Mr. Patterson saw his own son, David, 7, clamber onto firm ice, but the younger lad was swept under the ice.

SAW BOYS ON ICE

Mr. Patterson had been sitting in the study of his home about 100 yards from the pond when he had a premonition that something was amiss. He got up and walked outside and saw three boys on the ice.

"I identified one of them as my boy and started to run in that way," he later related. "One of the lads and a learned later was Kenneth Kraglund—was a short distance behind and did not fall in.

Mr. Patterson said he rushed toward the spot. He was then about 20 feet away the ice cracked and he fell into the pond up to his neck. He was able to reach it to firm ice just as his own boy reached safety.

The father guided his son ashore and then turned to where the lad and the learned later was to remain afloat. Again the ice cracked and as the Kraglund boy continued toward the boy the ice broke and the would-be rescuer again went into the water. This time his feet became mired in the mud of the bottom of the mill pond.

Marilyn Fraleigh heard Mr. Patterson's call for help and jumped into the icy water but despite a frantic search for the youngster she was unable to find him.

Mr. Patterson said he pulled loose from the ice and again looked for the lad but was unable to find him.

Ontario Provincial Police and bargees searched until midnight for the boy's body, aided by searchlights. The search continued early today but at midmorning the body had not been located.

DROWNED IN CREEK

At Consecon the five-year-old Barrett boy drowned in swollen Consecon Creek, near his parents' home on Mill Street.

The boy had been playing with two other children, Brian Jinks, 4, and Glen Jinks, 6. He failed to answer his mother's call for dinner and a search was launched by neighbors. The other two youngsters had already gone home for their noonday meal.

As the search for the boy was proceeding Mrs. Charles Jinks set out to look for Barrett over a 12-foot dam about a quarter of a mile away. The Jinks' residence is believed to have slipped. Leo Phillips, 33, a worker at a mill near the dam, found the boy caught on a snag below the dam. Had it not been caught the body would have been swept into Weller's Bay.

FIREMEN RESPOND

Trenton firemen and firemen from Belleville applied artificial respiration under the direction of Dr. Murray G. Bishop, for over four hours without success. Weaver's ambulance from Trenton was on hand with their resuscitator.

The Barretts have five other children: Mrs. 14 and Frank, 8, and three sisters, Madonna, 13; Phyllis, 11, and Louise 9. The family moved from Newfoundland five years ago and have lived in Consecon the past two years.

'Thinking Day' Service Held By Local Guides, Brownies

In spite of inclement weather on Sunday afternoon, Christ Church parish hall was filled to its capacity as Guides, Brownies, parents and friends met together for a "Thinking Day" service.

February 22 is celebrated throughout the entire Scout and Guide world as the birthday of Lord Baden-Powell and his wife, Lord and Lady Baden-Powell. It heralds a special week of the year when Scouts and Cubs, Guides and Brownies all over the world gather together to make their thoughts on friendship. "Thinking Day" is the time for all Guides to "look wide" in its broadest sense, to see themselves not just as a member of a company or pack in a town in Ontario, but as part of a world-wide organization, and to realize that through each individual, guiding can grow and express itself as our founder meant it should.

"A friend to all regardless of race or creed" is the law of a Guide's vows.

Amid a solemn hush, the color parties of the Guide companies filed down the hall, and presented their colors, after which "God Save the Queen", was sung, and the Brownie prayer said.

RENEW PROMISE

Commissioner R. D. Arnott reminded the audience that this occasion was a fitting time to renew together the promise that each had taken to become a Guide or Brownie.

"There are," said the commissioner, "two and one-half million girl guides, brownies, cubs and scouts in the world, and what a wonderful thought it is that all these friends in guiding were all going to be sending a special friendship thought out across the world, to join those that we, here, in our turn are sending out this afternoon to them."

Guides and Brownies each representing a country of the world, made a chain of friendship in a most impressive ceremony.

District Captain Amos then spoke about the Thinking Day and World Friendship Fund, which was formed to help guiding in other countries, especially those that are not able to help themselves to the fullest extent.

WORLD TRAINER

A World Association trainer was sent out to refugee camps in South Germany, where she trained fifteen new leaders and helped them to start about a dozen new companies and packs. Other help was sent to the Near East, where one company of Guides was meeting in a tent near Beirut.

Donations of money, guide materials, note books, cards and flags, were sent to help girl guides in Korea and Israel, and world association visitors have gone to El Salvador, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Panama, Chili, Colombia, Cuba, and Turkey to help with training and organization.

"Let us send a birthday present," said Capt. Amos, "to this fund, to help guiding grow, and to help needy guides in Canada."

After the collection, an address was given by Captain Thelma Stewart, who explained the meaning of Thinking Day, and went over very thoroughly the full meaning of the guide laws, stressing the spirit of them.

"A guide must be pure in thought, word and deed according to her to be the law above all, that they should strive to keep pure their heart will mean a pure life, and a life lived for God. She must pray to pray for help from God to keep this law.

The closing hymn "All Things Bright and Beautiful" was sung, and the guide prayer brought to an end a most impressive service.

Thanks were extended to Mrs. A. C. Withers, the pianist, and to Christ Church for the use of the parish hall.

Plane Missing In North Bay To Killaloe Flight

TRENTON (Special) — A pilot and his passenger were presumed missing in a flight from North Bay to Killaloe yesterday. They were flying in a Arnon ba longing to Champlain Air Services of Ottawa.

The plane took off from North Bay a 1.31 p.m. on a proposed two-hour flight to Killaloe. Estimated time of arrival was 3.35 p.m.

When the plane became overdue Trenton Search Rescue centre was alerted and two Expediter aircraft from North Bay started a track over the most probable route taken by the lost pilot.

What actually happened the pilot, J. E. Gallipeau tried to skirt snowflurries in the area and ran low in gas. He landed at David's Lake in Bancroft and then continued to Carterville, where he reported to the Department of Transport.

RCAF searchers were concerned because the aircraft carried no radio or transmitting equipment.

Education Could Reduce Number Of TB Cases

The need of further education as a preventive measure for tuberculosis was stressed to members of the Bellville Kinsmen Club at their regular bi-monthly meeting held at the Hotel Quinte Monday evening.

Mr. Edward O'Brien, executive secretary of the Ontario Tuberculosis Association, portrayed the devastating effects of T.B. and noted how education could reduce the number of serious cases by checking the disease while still in its early stages. In his talk on the need for education regarding tuberculosis, Mr. O'Brien told the public should be better informed on what T.B. is and what it does to the human body. A film portraying the effects of T.B. was shown.

Illustrating the need for further education the speaker noted there were many persons who had tuberculosis and because the disease was in its early stages, were unaware of it. These people could be cured if the disease was caught in time. Mass X-rays conducted in plants and among employees of large companies were now doing much to assist in reducing the incidence of the disease.

The speaker was introduced by Kin Norm Garbutt, last year's chairman of the Hastings T.B. Association, and was thanked by Kin Neal Hallen, current chairman of the Association. The sale of T.B. seals is one of the projects carried on by the local Kinsmen Club which each Christmas conducts the sale campaign.

Club president "Stu" Martin presided over the meeting.

CAMPBELLFORD

40 Head of Cattle, 20 Hogs, Machinery Destroyed in Fire

CAMPBELLFORD (Special)—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a large barn with 40 head of cattle, 20 hogs, 60 tons of hay, two horses and several thousand dollars worth of farm machinery, tools and equipment on the farm of—R. B. (Jack) Billen in Seymour township last night, about 11.25 p.m. The loss was estimated as being between $15,000 and $20,000. Mr. Billen's farm is located about five miles east of Campbellford.

The flames were first noticed by a neighbor, Harold Millen, as he drove by the Billen farm shortly after 11 o'clock. Mr. Millen sounded the horn of his car until he had roused the family. Another neighbor, Kenneth Hagerman was first on the scene but was unable to save any of the stock. Mr. Billen was able to save one horse before being forced back by the flames.

Mr. Billen stood by helplessly as a large barn door burned away and watch the cattle and horses try frantically to escape from their stalls. By this morning all that remained of what once had been a fine herd of Holstein cattle were blackened carcasses.

The Campbellford fire department arrived on the scene shortly after the alarm was turned in. Although the department was unable to cope with the blaze raging in the main building, firemen were able to save a granary and chicken house.

The flames were visible for miles and residents from as far away as eight miles converged on the scene and formed a bucket brigade. Mr. Billen was unable to understand how the fire started or how it managed to gain so much headway before being noticed. The stock was insured and there was some insurance on the barn.

Fish and Game Club Will Hold Casting Contest

Angering well for the new season, the largest attendance in years featured the inaugural meeting of the 1954 Belleville and District Fish and Game Association held in the YMCA last night.

President Don McKinnon occupied the chair briefly after he dressed the hunters and anglers in the contest, paying special tribute to the number of ladies present.

He gave a brief resume of activities planned for the coming season. "Efforts were being made," he said, "to hold casting competitions in the Bridge St. armouries, and arrangements for the building had already been made."

Referring to the restocking of lakes in the district he urged all who intended such undertakings to get the order for the fish in as early as possible. The association will advise the restocking of some 160 lakes in the district with all species of game fish.

LENGTHY FILM

A film, as enjoyable and educational as it was long, was shown the meeting. Called the "Land of Long Day," the film showed the life of the Eskimo and his fishing and hunting activities in particular. It was greatly enjoyed. Biography of Store Magnate Given Rotarians

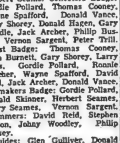
A biography on Frank W. Woolworth, founder of the 3, 4 Woolworth five to a dollar stores, was delivered before members of the Rotary Club in the Hotel Quinte Monday afternoon by J. L. Allston, manager of the local Woolworth store.

The speaker revealed Mr. Woolworth was employed at farm work in Watertown, New York, in his early years. Before he was a variety store magnate was 21 he had completed a business course and had begun work in a Watertown store.

According to Mr. Allston, Mr. Woolworth's first store, selling five-cent merchandise only, in Utica, New York, closed two months after it opened. His second attempt at selling stock at five cents in a store at Lancaster, Pennsylvania, was more successful, and he went with them opened another store at Scranton, Pennsylvania. From that point on, the variety store idea caught on and the story becomes one of one promotion after another.



Mrs. Woolworth was the former Ginny Creighton, of Picton. The first store in Belleville was opened in 1914. Mr. Allston said that it was the policy of the Woolworth Company to train managers from bottom up. He revealed all managers begin work with the company doing things such as sweeping floors, cleaning windows, and stockroom work. It takes a man five years before he becomes a manager.

The Rotarian from the most distant part of the continent was Harold Shaw, of Leicester. He was presented with a rose by W. E. McCormick. Birthday roses were presented to P. C. McGuire, J. I. Dickey, R. H. MacLean and Jack Wilson. These roses were pinned on the four men by Dr. J. R. Loynes.

Mr. Allston was introduced by D. W. Kingdon and the expression of thanks was given by Carson Elliott.

WOMEN HOLD KEY TO THE FUTURE

V. C. Wansborough, vice-president and general manager of the Canadian Metal Mining Association, told members of the Women's Canadian Club here recently that Canada's future lies north. In his review of the mushrooming growth of Canada's metals industry, Mr. Wansborough established a good case for his prediction. He outlined the development of mineral deposits in all provinces and stated that what is already known about Canada's natural wealth is only a small part of our national treasure.

In the Yukon new discoveries of base metals promise an almost inexhaustible supply when fully developed. In British Columbia base metals are the predominant source of mineral wealth and even greater deposits than in store than those on which the huge Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company have been built. The prairie provinces seem to be floating on a sea of oil—liquid mineral wealth in unknown quantities. Some experts feel that in the tar sands of Athabaska is locked as much oil as has been discovered in the whole of North America to date. Base metals and gold are here in plenty. In Yukon territory, and when uranium mines in northern Manitoba come into production Canada, next to the Belgian Congo, will be the richest producer of this strategic material.

Ontario already has gold, nickel and iron. Quebec has asbestos, undeveloped titanium deposits, and unbelievable quantities of iron in the Labrador-Ungava area. Iron is gold in Rouyn-Noranda. And on top of all this Quebec has almost limitless opportunities to develop hydro electric power. The Maritimes, too, are striving with years of neglect—knowing while their basic mineral deposits have lain undiscovered.

Newfoundland, with a hard-driving provincial government, is rapidly overcoming the 100 years lost in industrial development as a colony.

Mr. Wansborough pointed out in his address, that in the coming atomic age Canada will hold all the trump cards of nickel, alloys, and uranium. This imposes upon Canadians a responsibility to their allies out of all proportion to population.

What is hard to believe to most Canadians who have been hearing so much about themselves from outsiders in recent years but it is still impressive when all the facts are marshalled in one address.

The only barrier, however, to the full realization of ultimate greatness is the lack of skilled people to pioneer our discoveries. At present there are not enough mining engineers graduating from Canadian universities to replace those men retiring each year, let alone to provide enough men for exploration and development of new ventures.

However, the solution to the shortage put forward by Mr. Wansborough that has received little attention is that the development of the north country is being hindered by the shortage of women who will live there. He stated that some engineers and geologists, keen to go north, have been persuaded by their wives and girl friends not to bury themselves in the hinterland. Having visited most of Canada's provinces, and the progressive communities which have been established, Mr. Wansborough termed libellous any thought of our northern areas as "the stickes". He felt strongly that women have a duty to duty, romance and a thoroughly useful life for any Canadian girl, or man, lies north on Canada's moving frontier. We agree.

A MISLEADING PROCEDURE

Hon. George H. Dunbar, Ontario Minister of Municipal Affairs, has introduced in the Ontario Legislature an amendment to the Municipal Act which would require municipalities to raise tax bills the amount by which the municipality benefits from provincial grants.

It is easy to make out a plausible case for such a requirement. But under close examination this case will be found to be full of flaws.

Such a provision is not new. It was in effect when municipalities received a subsidy equivalent to one mill on their assessment.

This one-mill subsidy system was later revised. Grants were paid on the basis of a percentage of certain expenditures. Included were grants on police protection, fire protection, expenditures which any realistic appraisal would classify as a legitimate charge against real property. In other words the province was paying part of the cost of services which it had no responsibility to provide. It was paying less than it should toward the cost of certain other services, particularly in the hospital and welfare fields.

This method of payment of grants on certain types of expenditure has again been revised and a grant on a per capita basis has been substituted for some of the former grants on specific items.

Now the Ontario Government wants municipalities to state on their tax bills the amounts of all grants—or perhaps the amount by which the mill rate has been "reduced" by reason of these grants. If municipalities are compelled to do this, they might consider also stating the amount by which the mill rate has been increased because of the province's refusal to pay its fair share of the cost of welfare and other services which ought not to be a charge against real estate.

A news report from Victoria, B.C., states that an elderly woman, after what she had been robbed of thousands of dollars by the British Columbia government, threw Palace, and two inch pipe and a cold chisel through a window of the Royal treasury department. The report said that Ann Fred Soderlund "is no reason for the affair. Could she have Charles and Pat a tax collector?

Letter to the Editor

Opposes Expenditures To Fight Mosquitos

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer,

Under the title "The Way to Reduce Taxes" an editorial writer appeared a few weeks ago in the columns of your paper. It was pointed out that the only way to reduce taxes was by reducing demands for public services. Also could be eliminated without any serious effects upon anyone i.e., services not absolutely necessary. We believe plowing sidewalks is an essential public service in consideration of the persons unable to clear their walks, either due to age or infirmity. On the other hand trying the practically impossible task of liquidating the mosquito pest might benefit a few, but dealing with large families would stand to gain very little if at all, and these are the persons who should need consideration. On this and other grounds we suggest that such a venture would be practically wasted effort and can add where the expense would end?

One other condition that this writer has wondered many times about is why the city fathers allow so many quite usable houses to be torn down and replaced by parking lots of service stations, when there is still a great demand for homes? Is one to infer that this condition is brought about upon revenue than upon the well-being of our people? We would like to hear from the above some person, in a position to do so, why so much good dwellings have been demolished within the last two or three years.

We would like to be relieved of the unfair expense and undeserved suffering of taxation if such regulations are allowed to continue from year to year? This is another "penny wise pound foolish" saving penalty could be eliminated.

I would like to say 'Thank You' to whoever was responsible for making it possible for taxpayers to attend council meetings and also to Mr. Thurston's intelligencer for the splendid coverage literally given to these meetings as opposed to what might well be called secret societies in both church and state.

A satisfied citizenry will be a responsive citizenry, a more moral, democratic legislature, the best vote-winner we know.

Belgians Show the Way

(Cleveland Plain Dealer)

American pride in pioneering and efficiency is sometimes given a jolt by realization abroad of advances that America is still talking about. Here is the advent of helicopter services that the Belgian air line Sabena has created from Brussels. Paris has just been added as a terminus, the first large city to demonstrate the practicality of this form of air transportation.

Sabena now has a helicopter service that connects Brussels' municipal with Lille, Antwerp, Rotterdam, Maastricht, Cologne and Bonn as well as Paris. The purpose of using helicopters instead of planes is to afford a faster and often tedious bus ride from airports to downtown terminals.

The British, like ourselves, have been talking about helicopter service—more often between airport and town than between town and town—but nothing else has been done. The Belgians have shown the way. They have demonstrated that this form of transportation has come into being.

Cocktails Hard on Feet

(Montreal Daily Star)

The Manchester Guardian has been attacking cocktail parties, and Mr. Bruce Hutchison, editor of the Victoria Times, has seconded into the discussion with a savage polemic against this widespread institution. He cites such expensive snobbish events as the Guardian makes, the expense of cocktail parties, the poor conversation during them, and the fact they often end in a fight.

Such criticisms, valid enough they may be, miss the cardinal point against the cocktail party, namely that they are hard on the feet. The expense, the scrappy talk, the upset stomach and so on are as nothing to the aching arches, the strained leg muscles, the sheer physical fatigue. There are never chairs at cocktail parties, never enough chairs. You stand, and stand, and stand, and the human spirit, sole endurance test is the iron discipline of soldiers trooping the color. But cocktail devotees are not soldiers noted for physical fitness. They are usually sorely under-trained, and the pangs of agony they undergo as the day wears on are as well as their metatarsus (look that up) corns and cracks, is out of this world.

The best part of any cocktail party is the getting home afterwards and the removal of the shoes.

Beauty Is As Beauty Does

(Winnipeg Free Press)

Judging from the type of advertisements that have appeared in assorted publications in the last few decades, women, in order to captive the shallow male, must concentrate on acquiring beauty of face and figure; good grooming, aided by cosmetics and other devices, is of paramount importance.

In fact, in some circles if a young lady is not "groomed" she is complished," it is a term of mild opprobrium, and in those circles there is nothing outwardly distinguishing about her features or person.

Now, after 2,000 years, wood comes from a Roman matron, against that the renowned Cleopatra has been widely mentioned by beauty ads—was herself no great beauty, M. Jean Charbonneau claims that a marble head representing in an Algerian museum is that of Cleopatra. He says that the same she would come nowhere near being a Miss Universe contestant, for she has "a remarkably thick mouth," long nose, biggish eyes and pinched nostrils.

The National Geographic Society concludes that it must have been her winning ways and intellectual ability that intrigued men; she was an artiste's journeyman, conversant in several languages; she was "persuasive, adept at flattery, at times charming."

It thus appears it is not beauty, but the ability to inflate man's ego, which makes a woman captivating.

Puff-Adder Farm Planned

(Manchester, Guardian).

Starting a puff-adder farm has probably a limited attraction for would-be colonial pioneers, but a Johannesburg Swedish Pressman is reported to be undertaking such a venture.

Two acres at Fort Johnston he is building a house, and will "herd" 500 of these unlovable reptiles. For the venom a good market exists, the South African Institute of Medical Research, in Johannesburg, is prepared to take 100 grammes from him monthly—delivered by air. Each adder can be "milked" about twice a month, and the bold entrepreneur calculates that, with venom selling at 50s a gramme, he should obtain a gross annual income of £3,000.

His supply will be largely dependent upon Africans—mainly the Ajaos—who are known are to be paid a salary plus commission for each capture. Since the Akamba regard the puff-adder as a culinary delicacy there may, however, be competition.

Along the picturesque shores of Lake Nyasa hotels are to be built, where the adders can be kept until collected and taken to the farm. Nyasaland Railways is also to import rattlers and moccasins from the U.S.A.

Movies Hunt Helen of Troy

(Hamilton Spectator)

It is not without gloom that we note that Hollywood is ostentatiously looking for a new Helen of Troy. No doubt this alleged search is as phoney as the much-touted hunt for a Scarlett O'Hara for Gone With the Wind; but it is sad this imposition on the public credulity that fills us with low-level alarm and despondency. It is the prospect of a Hollywood Helen.

Helen was, as the French say "une femme fatale"—she was all woman, and while perhaps not a yard wide she was certainly more than an Olympian mould of Venus; otherwise a great many Greeks and Trojans, who were then bloodied gentry, would certainly not have massacred each other on her account. She was, in fact, as far removed from Hollywood's lip-shrunk Rita Hayworths as a concert piano is from a plastic mandolin.

It is hard to conceive of

"That wrath which hurl'd to Pluto's gloomy reign
The souls of mighty chiefs untimely slain" being unleashed by any of the false - fronted female Peter Pans of the movie studios.

Peter Pans that Moviedom calls women: nor of any of them looking down from the walls of Troy on the fateful plain where Paris and Menelaus are preparing for their single combat, as Homer has it, "with cheeks to cry"

"... for the wonder such celestial charms
For nine long years have set the world in arms;
What winning graces! What majestic mien!"

She moves a goddess, and she looks a queen."

Not for those thousand ships, there isn't a face in Fiimland with the charisma of a long and terrifying weightier than a lovesick sophomore's canoe.

CHRONIC RHEUMATISM IS NO JOKE—(Part 1)

When I was young at this business of practising it in the public prints I received a good many letters from readers who chided me for saying there was no such ailment as "rheumatism." If there wasn't, then what did they have?

Dr. Brady.

I had been ... thought. For the answer to your question. Well, advised, consult a physician.

Then I leaned back and grinned in that self-sufficient way of the insufferable egotist.

But not for long.

They came right back at me with a snappy rejoinder:

"I have consulted one or four physicians, they informed me, and every one of them said I was to be paid a salary plus commission for each capture. Since the Akamba regard the puff-adder as a culinary delicacy there may, however, be competition.

Along the picturesque shores of Lake Nyasa hotels are to be built, where the adders can be kept until collected and taken to the farm. Nyasaland Railways is also to import rattlers and moccasins from the U.S.A.

They had me there—for several weeks.

But I went into conference with N. Welser and other prominent local books, ancient and modern, and eventually came up with a definite doctrine—namely, that we can't call it a doctrine, but let me call it just another opinion. Well, anyway, I asserted with great assurance that no medical authority has defined or can define chronic rheumatism" so that any other doctor will know what he means.

In fact medical authors do not bother to define chronic rheumatism. They imply, without unbecoming language, that any d.f. knows what it is, and no author will be stilly to define it, as medical authors invariably to the all-important question I describe.

But I'm one d.f., and I believe there are 200,000 other physicians in the United States and Canada who don't know what chronic rheumatism is.

Dr. Osler certainly didn't know what it was, though he had a firm fishwife belief that it was what happens to "the poor, particularly washerwomen, day-laborers, and those whose occupation exposes them to cold and dampness." (Quoted from Osler's Practice written over 50 years ago.)

Dr. Margolis, whose Arthritis and Allied Disorders, published in '41, says: "Chronic rheumatism, in Massachusetts, is eight times more prevalent than tuberculosis, twelve times more prevalent than ... ?" but does not tell how to distinguish chronic rheumatism from chronic arthritis.

Dr. Boland, what remedy or treatment of proved value have the doctors found so far? One or another "wonder drugs" Butazolidin? Cortisone? Don't make me laugh.

Now I hate to leave the question hanging in the air like this but dammit, I have no alternative, for if I run a line over the page assigned to me—please, please, keep this piece as Part 1 of the story of "Rheumatism, a serial to appear in installments.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

NATURE OF TEMPTATION

The story of the temptation of Adam and Eve, recorded in the third chapter of Genesis is one of the most remarkable in the entire Bible. The serpent tempts Eve to get of forbidden fruit, implying that the reason why God does not want the human pair to eat the fruit of the knowledge of good and evil is because, having eaten it, the eyes of the two others shall be opened and they shall be as God.

From that day to this, the word of the tempter has been, "Ye shall be as God." Repeated, over and over again through the ages, this has produced in man such a self-sufficiency that although he does not come out and say that he knows more than God, down in the bottom of his heart he feels that many of the human affairs are concerned, he knows more about them that God or anybody else.

In other words, unregenerate man becomes an idolator, and the god of fortune-telling. This temptation finds him an easy victim. It may be that he does not yield to temptation he will miss something so worth while that he will regret it all the rest of his life. God with His rules and regulations is trying to keep man from having a good time—so the temptation runs. Man, being an unrammeled life, he whispers.

These are the continuing temptations of the one who in the beginning whispered to our first parents, "Ye shall be as God Himself."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

BEAUTIFUL THINGS

The poet Keats once wrote that "a thing of beauty is a joy forever." Little do we realize the influence that beauty has upon our lives. Take all beauty away from the commonest object and it would be of little use and would bankrupt most of those who sell them.

People live better, and think better, in a beautiful home, no matter how simple. Look at the beauty in the window of a book store and note how each vies with the other for attraction. Magazine covers wrap a plain binding, but the beauty of the cover increases the circulation of the magazine. Beautiful clean streets add tremendously to the beauty of a town or city.

Even the most commonplace offered me six times the price I paid for a beautiful antique. I told him I didn't buy it to sell, but to love, for it was so beautiful. While one means I like beautiful things about me. I love all nature because it is lavish in its beauty. The simplest wild flower thrills me. I carry about with me the memory of a great field of Texas blue bonnets in full flower.

I do not believe that any flower "wastes its sweetness on the desert air" as the poet Gray wrote in Elegiac Sonnet Written in a Country Church-Yard". Nothing that is beautiful is wasted. I was put into the world for a purpose.

Even thoughts are beautiful when born in the mind and scented in the heart. Hands, in doing and perform, are beautiful. Forests, running streams, mountains, and the wash of the ocean upon a sandy shore, are beautiful. I never see automobiles that are beautifully manufactured with more beautiful lines, but what one of all things beautiful makes us akin to our Creator!

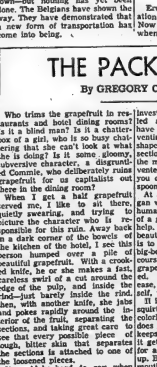
THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Who trims the grapefruit in restaurants? Is it the dining room waiter? Is it the dining room chef? Is it a chatter-ing waitress? Is it a chatter-ing that she can't eat a whole one she is doing? Is it some grapefruit subversive merchandising agent? Comme, who deliberately ruins grapefruit for everybody who's there in the dining room?

When I get a bad grapefruit served me, I like to sit there, quietly seething, and trying to decide who is the person most responsible for this ruin. Away back in a dark corner of the world is the kitchen of the hotel, I see this person humped over a pile of grapefruit, knife in hand. With a crooked knife, he or she makes a fast, careless cut all the way around the edge of the pulp, and inside the rind—just barely inside the rind—just barely inside the rind—then, with another knife, she jabs and pokes rapidly around the interior of the fruit, separating the sections, and taking great care to see that every single piece of juicy bitter skin that separates the sections is attached to one or the other section.

It would be hard to say when this person has ruined a grapefruit first began. It could have been hardware trade, cat-



Investing a new knife to sell, call led a grapefruit knife. It might have been the silver industry, inventing a new spoon with a pointed shaped spoon, for picking up the sections with. Maybe it was one of the most useless spoon ever invented. It had no bowl to it, and it was all point. Also, a mustard spoonful of juice on it.

But my rule, the tradition began with the idea that the normal human being couldn't get the juice of a grapefruit out without a lot of help. As a matter of fact, the most delicious way to eat a grapefruit is to use a dessert spoon, a good, sharp knife, and a little sugar. Of course, you must demand a half a grapefruit that has not been loosened from the rind. You must cause, you dig your sections yourself, from inside the rind.

It is true a good deal of juice squirts in all directions. But it is colorless, odorless, and probably does good to your vest and lapels, keeps the moths off them. And if it gets in your eye, it stings only for a second, and helps wake you up. But at least you don't get a mouthful of tough, bitter skin. And you don't have to wrestle with the dandy-fied sharp, rousing fruit you can

St. Laurent Addresses India Parliament

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW DELHI (CP) — Canada's prime minister, addressing both houses of India's parliament, said tonight that Asia inevitably is concerned with what happens in the West "just as we are concerned with what happens here."

"Canada's growing interest in Asia and Asian problems reflects the construction of the modern world and the fundamental changes which have taken place in recent years in Asia's relations with the West," Prime Minister St. Laurent said.

"To the extent we have come to realize that the welfare of all parts of the world is interdependent, a new concept of world-wide partnership has evolved.

"You in Asia are inevitably concerned with what happens in Europe and North America just as we are concerned with what happens here."

FOLLOWS NEHRU SPEECH

The Canadian leader's hour-long speech was prepared for delivery to the men and women of India's House of Peoples and upper council of States—the lower and upper houses respectively. He spoke a day after India's Prime Minister Nehru addressed the joint session on India's neutralism in the cold war, with the Canadian leader an interested spectator.

"We Canadians have a deep distaste for the police state system which those with totalitarian ambitions often employ, and we abhor aggression from whatever quarter it may arise," St. Laurent said in tonight's address.

"We realize that many Asian countries, devoted to the arts of civilization, are young as independent states of the 20th-century model and are faced with staggering problems as they strive to build stable societies for hundreds of millions of people, many of whom have been all too familiar with distress and want.

"While we do not presume to prescribe a political or economic philosophy for Asians, we are particularly attracted by the Indian approach which seeks material progress through the free effort of the people.

PRAISES INDIA'S VISION

"We applaud India's vision and courage in making this splendid effort, and we wish with sympathy the fine flora of many other Asian governments to work out satisfactory solutions to their problems. When we think of Asia we have a great hope that the new nations which have lately emerged out of the ancient civilizations of the East will again flourish and enrich the world."

Navy Makes Major Strides On New Weapons

LONDON (Reuters)—The Royal Navy is making major strides on new weapons to combat submarines, sea mines and attacking planes, it was disclosed today.

J. P. L. Thomas, first lord of the admiralty, did not specify in his report the lines the research is taking.

Thomas said that in the naval production program for the coming year, 1954-55, emphasis will remain on the expansion of minesweeper and anti-submarine forces and on completing aircraft carriers already under construction.

The fleet carrier Ark Royal and two light fleet carriers, Albion and Bulwark, would be completed during the coming year.

Progress on building frigates, minesweepers, sea defence boats and patrol boats had been less rapid than was hoped. This was due partly to production difficulties—which were being overcome—and partly to problems "inevitable with ships of new design."

ESTIMATES INCREASED

The report accompanied the annual navy estimates for the coming year. The net estimate is £333,000,000, an increase of about £25,000,000 over the current year.

Mining Strikes Cost Steel Union Two Million

TORONTO (CP)—Jack Brodie, international representative of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) said Monday night the strikes at mines in northern Ontario and northwestern Quebec cost the union and its supporters $2,000,000.

Addressing the Toronto and Lakeshore Labor Council (CIO-CCL), he said the miners are back at work or preparing to go back at mines near Timmins and Noranda, Que., but more money is needed to pay bills the miners have accumulated since the first of the strikes began last summer.

"The settlements were not good," he said. "They don't do justice to the miners. But the miners are convinced that this struggle is not over yet. They realized the need, due to circumstances over which ... and get those agreements signed for 18 months and then these battles will have to start again."

The union won various wage increases but lost out on its demand for the checkoff of union dues.

Of the $2,000,000 used to bolster miners on strike, the largest proportion came, he said, from the international offices of the Steelworkers Union. "The miners are grateful for the support given them."

Yankees Sell Raschi to Cards

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—New York Yankees of the American League today announced the sale of right-handed pitcher Vic Raschi to St. Louis Cardinals of the National League for cash and several minor league players.

George Weiss, general manager of the Yankees, said the deal involved "considerable cash". The exact figure was not announced and the names of the minor league players involved were not made public immediately.

Raschi has a record of 120 wins and 50 defeats during the years he has been with the Yankees. He had 13 wins and six defeats last year and a 16-6 record the year before. From 1949 through 1951, he won 21 games a year.

Drifted 450 Miles

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Viktors Zvejnieks, 28, staggered ashore north of Cairns, Australia Monday after a 45-day trip in an open 12-foot dinghy all the way from Thursday Island. Zvejnieks, who was born in Latvia, is too weak to tell the full story of his 450-mile drift, but it is known he left Thursday Island Jan. 8 in the dinghy. A storm came up and he lost his paddles. He said he caught rain water in a cup and a plate, and lived largely on seaweed.

Against Licence Fee if Money Put In General Fund

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Vic Sutton, secretary-manager of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters said Monday he would oppose a $1 licence fee for resident fishermen if government fish hatcheries are closed down.

He was commenting on a white paper tabled Monday in the Ontario legislature which called for a $1 fishing fee for Ontario residents and also recommended closing fish hatcheries at Sarnia, Southampton, Normandale, Little Current, Fort Frances and Collingwood.

He said he would welcome the $1 fee if the money were used for conservation but not if the funds were put into a general fund.

Jack Livermore, president of the Western Ontario Fish and Game Protective Association, said he would favor the fee "only if fishermen would receive value for their money."

The government proposed to use the money collected for a 10-year program of fish and wildlife management.

WILL FIGHT PROPOSAL

At Point-Edward near Sarnia, R. T. Purdy, secretary of the South Huron Fishermen's Association said closing of the Sarnia hatchery could put commercial fishermen out of business.

The Sarnia hatchery was the only one in the district replenishing Lake Huron's supply of yellow pickerel and white fish—the primary source of income to commercial fishermen.

John Manore of Grand Bend, president of the association, said the association will fight any attempt to close the hatchery.

Montreal Firm To Build Planes For Sub-Hunting

MONTREAL (CP) — Some 50 aircraft, military versions of the huge Bristol Britannia transport, will be built by Canadair Limited it was learned here Monday night. A Canadair spokesman described it as a $185,000,000 order and said only licensing agreements with the plane's designers, the Bristol Aeroplane Company of England, remain to be worked out. This might take about four weeks.

The military version of the airliner would be a four-engined, 12,400-horsepower aircraft for use by maritime air commands.

T. N. Beaupre, deputy defence production minister, was quoted as saying the initial order will be for $85,000,000 to cover license fees, tooling and engineering and the production of the first 20.

Mr. Beaupre said the plane, in the role of a submarine-hunter, will guard Canada's coastlines. To fill this role the Britannia will undergo extensive redesigning, he said.

CANADA'S BIGGEST

Canadair President Geoffrey Notman said the plane will be the largest ever constructed in Canada.

Mr. Notman said the commercial version's four turbo-prop engines will be replaced by 3,350-horsepower Wright compound engines to give the aircraft a longer range and slower speed for reconnaissance.

He said it will be about six months before Canadair begins to place orders for material but engineering work will begin immediately.

Mr. Notman said Canadair has also considered the possibility of building a commercial version of the plane.

Separate rights for this would have to be acquired from Bristol in England.

The Britannia, as a commercial aircraft, carries 100 persons and is twice as large as North Star.

Convict Parents Of Negligence In Death of Son

COLLINGWOOD (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bradman Monday were convicted of criminal negligence in the death of their infant son, burned to death Feb. 12 when fire destroyed their tiny frame home while they spent five hours in beverage rooms.

They were remanded a week for sentence." Maximum sentence is three years.

The 25-year-old mother fainted in the witness box during questioning.

Magistrate Gordon Foster termed "ridiculous" Bradman's claim that his four-year-old son, Steven, was capable of taking care of the house and the two other children.

Bradman said he had not read newspapers for several years and had not heard of other incidents in which children were burned.

"I have been far too busy looking after my family," he said.

Mr. Suter emphasized the need for stronger voice projection from most of the players and asked for a bit of exaggeration, excitement and attack in putting over the presentation.

The festival will continue all week with plays from Kingston, Cobourg, Otawa, Belleville and Grimsville staging performances.

Leading roles in Monday night's play were taken by Betty Alexander and William Rees. The performance was directed by Kay Fowler and produced by Dr. J. L. Carroll.

Brockville Guild Opens Drama Festival

BROCKVILLE (CP)—The Brockville Theatre Guild Monday night opened the eastern Ontario drama festival here with its presentation "The Corn Is Green."

Graham Suter, English adjudicator, called the play "a decent performance." He said there was common sense in the approach in the play, the story was clear to follow and there was good contrast in the choice of characters. But he added that the Emlyn Williams play was a little underplayed theatrically.

Points could have been improved to make it more vivid, Mr. Suter said. All the cast was urged to play their parts bigger and with more punch, especially the emotional scenes, he added.

Mr. Suter emphasized the need for stronger voice projection from most of the players and asked for a bit of exaggeration, excitement and attack in putting over the presentation.

The festival will continue all week with plays from Kingston, Cobourg, Otawa, Belleville and Grimsville staging performances.

WCTU Marks Founder's Day At Meet at Y

Frances Willard Day was observed by the W.C.T.U. at the February meeting held in the Y.W.C.A.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union grew out of the Woman's Temperance Crusade, held eighty years ago when arresting forces of politics, enlisted women filled the streets of the cities and towns of Ohio, praying and protesting against rum-selling. In fifty days the liquor traffic had swept out of 250 towns and cities.

The three direct aims of the society are: (1) the protection of the home; (2) the abolition of the liquor traffic; (3) the triumph of the golden rule in custom and law.

Today one can trace "The Little White Bow" all round the world with a million and a half members in 52 countries.

Frances Willard, founder of the W.C.T.U., was a prophet of modern reforms. The seeds then planted have grown into our national life. Here are some of them: physical education in public schools; pure food guaranteed by law; police matrons; equal pay for equal work in industry; eight-hour day for labor; woman's right to vote; child welfare; kindergarten, mothers' meetings and child study movement; rest rooms; penny lunches.

Mrs. F. O. Bennett spoke of temperance work in Canada and other lands. The sum of $20,000 is spent each year on scientific temperance literature, translated into many languages.

The clip sheet, "Eighty Years Ago and Now," was dealt with by Miss Gracie. The WCTU was the first woman's society to be internationally organized and the first to send out a call for world peace.

Methods that were effective eighty years ago would not be effective now, but the great principle of prayer and work still stands, it was said. "We have new weapons now which God intends us to use—science and a social conscience in the dangers of alcohol, that make even those who may not be total abstainers themselves advocate the education of youth on the alcohol problem."

The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. (Rev.) Steers. She read an extract from Matthew 5, stressing "ye are the light of the world, ye are the salt of the earth." The Christian has duties to the world, she said.

Miss M. Barnum gave a study on "Alcohol—an Age-old Problem." When human slavery was first challenged by the conscience of man, there were those who argued that there had always been slavery, and there always would be. Such an argument sounded foolish a century after the abolition, she said. It is significant that alcohol was

University Women Hear Talk On Voluntary Work Projects

The February meeting of the University Women's Club was held on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Donald Sills, 257 Foster Ave. with 40 members present. Two prospective members were welcomed with Mrs. T. J. Mc-Quaid and Mrs. W. E. Van Steenburgh.

During the business meeting, conducted by the president, Mrs. D. I. MacKinnon, it was decided to send four nominations for the C.F.U.W. scholarship to Miss Dorothy Saunders for president, Mrs. W. H. Gilleland (formerly of Actinolite) for vice-president, Miss M. MacLellan, with three now of Kitchener, and Mrs. D. I. MacKinnon. Mrs. MacKinnon has also been nominated by the local U.W.C.

Mrs. MacKinnon reported on the meeting to arrange a National Welfare Association to be made up of representatives from the 41 women's societies in Belleville. Those three members who volunteered to help with the Y.W.C.A. Bake Sale on Friday were: Mrs. A. C. Locke, Mrs. F. G. Bellamy, Mrs. J. C. Monteith, Mrs. J. H. Bateman, and Mrs. H. T. Floyd. Mrs. A. E. May agreed to act as treasurer pending the University Women's Club.

It was decided to renew the membership of the Club in the Belleville Film Council.

MANLY MACDONALD PAINTING.

It was announced that Mr. Manly Macdonald, R.C.A., has been asked to paint a painting for the Spring Fair. The thing Saturday in May was selected for this event.

On the fourth Thursday of each month, panel of members of the Kingston U.W.C. will visit the club here and give a discussion of the effect of comics on our children.

Mrs. A. E. May, program convener, introduced the speaker for the evening, Mrs. R. H. Bonsteel of Stirling, one of the club members. Mrs. Bonsteel was born in Simcoe, Ont., was graduated from Victoria College, Toronto, did youth work overseas and in New York, and is the wife of a United Church minister, and the mother of a baby daughter, Beth.

Mrs. Bonsteel's topic was "Voluntary Service Work Projects", and her talk was accompanied by slides depicting her story.

Giving first the underlying reasons for these work projects, Mrs. Bonsteel spoke of how the world today is full of trouble with three to four million people homeless in South Korea, another two million people homeless in Germany, and thousands more in like state in Pakistan, Hong Kong, Israel and Turkey.

"It is hard for us", she said, "to put ourselves in the place of these homeless people, these refugees of war, and impossible for us to understand the conditions under which they exist."

THEY NEED HELP.

The United Nations endeavors to help these people, but the work projects are what the youth of the world undertake in an effort to bring aid and friendship to the lost and homeless of this world. Last summer 10,000 students from North America paid their own way to work camps overseas, and for a period of months left their holiday becoming acquainted with refugees or oppressed people and trying to assist them. These students are often called "Ambassadors of good will. They really meet the people of the country and work with them.

There are many auspices for these work camps. Most frequent are those under the auspices of the World Council of Churches, which is completely non-sectarian. Last year there were work camps in 30 countries. In the 10 disciplines for the first time since World War II. There are even 6 camps in India with Indian students working along with white students. Living and working together in these camps, and discussing their problems, removes the barriers and class barriers, and gives youth a new tolerance and broader understanding.

WORK ON NEEDS.

The actual work of the camps depends on the needs of the community and of the many lands, such as helping farmers, helping housewives, building houses or building bridges. The aim of the students is to show the people that they care and want to help, and not to force themselves on the community, but to let the help come from the local people themselves.

The workers are met always with suspicion as the ill-used and the refugees of this world can no longer understand that there still are Christians in this world who care. But their pluck, and love, willing to work with their own hands to help them. By the time a week, month or two months' project, these suspicions and fears have changed to abiding friendships.

Mrs. Bonsteel herself was one of the students at a work camp at Nuremberg in Germany. Other students present were from Germany, France, England, Holland and Belgium. One was a negro.

The project or job was the building of a home for teen-age boys who were sleeping in railway stations and living off the proceeds of cigaret butts sold on the black market.

WASH OLD BRICKS.

The students worked with a construction company; the women were not looked upon favorably. Their job was washing old bricks and removing the old mortar from them, and washing clothes. The students cut down the cost of building by doing everything.

The students lived in camps. Everyone took turns with kitchen duty. Some ate with their hands to wear shorts or use cosmetics. Breakfast was 7.00 a.m., and consisted of coffee and black bread, with a second breakfast at 10.00. Cold meat with no salt was a frequent meal. The work was hard and dirty.

The students consider their efforts worthwhile perhaps more for the human knowledge they gain and for the spiritual uplift they give the oppressed than for the actual physical labor they do. Their friendly helpfulness does dispel fear and suspicion and is a real blow against Communism. In northern Italy there is a beautiful permanent Youth Centre built entirely by students and called "Agape" which is the Greek for "Brotherly Love."

WORK PROJECTS HERE.

Also, in our own country and in the States there are work projects which enable youth to discovery how others live—in factories, mines, migrant people, mining camps and in the government. Some jobs are paid, some volunteer service. Some are week-end jobs, others for longer periods. Some are apparent projects. Mothers and mothers to let their youth know that there are these work projects where they may discover more about this world we live in, or where they may widen their horizons.

Mrs. E. Kellett thanked Mrs. Bonsteel for her address and expressed the admiration of her fellow-members for Mrs. Bonsteel's own real Christian endeavor as wife, mother, and helper in that which she herself took part.

A pleasant social period followed when Mrs. J. Haig and her committee of hostess Stirling members, Mrs. G. Bailey, Mrs. R. Bonsteel, Mrs. C. Prior, and Miss Laura Lee, served the refreshments.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

WEEKE'S YOUR OWN PRIDE, DIANE?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Last summer I met a fellow named Steve whom I like very much. We went together for quite a month, and then he decided we should break up because we often disagreed on many things.

Ever since we broke up I have been very miserable. I even wrote Steve a letter and tried to explain to him how sorry I was about everything, but that has been four months ago now, and I have never had an answer from him.

I know you will probably say this is just an infatuation, but I am really sure it isn't because I have never felt like this about anyone before. Do you think I can get Steve back? I don't want to give him the impression that I'm chasing him, but I know there is no other girl and I think he is probably just waiting for me to make another move. You see, he is very proud and I know he will never be the one to come back first. I am 17 years old.

Diane

Dear Diane:

It sounds to me as though you are fooling yourself about quite a lot of things in this situation.

For one, if you have never heard from Steve in four months, how do you know there is no other girl in the picture? For another, what makes you think it is only Steve's pride that prevents him from getting in touch with you? Why not be realistic and consider the possibility that he may just be uninterested in you?

For a third thing, why should you feel you must be the one to make all the advances? You did it once, and he didn't respond. What about your own pride?

And finally, you're trying to fool yourself into believing that this is the love of your life. At 17, that's hardly likely. Even if it's true you "have never felt like this toward anyone before," it doesn't mean you've never going to feel like this, or even more so, about anybody else.

The very best advice I can give you is that you use your head, instead of your emotions, in this matter. If you will, I'm sure you'll see that the only sensible thing to do is to stop indulging in dramatics, stop concentrating all your thinking on a boy who obviously isn't doing the same toward you, and start putting your attention on the friends you have, as well as on the business of making new ones.

BETTER WAIT AWHILE FOR "LOVE"

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a boy of 18 and very fond of a girl who is a year younger than myself. I want her to know that I am really in love with her but just don't know how to tell her. Can you give me some suggestions? — Joe H.

Dear Joe:

If I were you, I wouldn't be in a hurry to tell this girl that you love her. You can show her that you like her and want her for a good friend by inviting her out on dates and paying her all sorts of little attentions. But at this point, it would be much better merely to express your interest in her by actions of this kind than to talk about love. Wait awhile for that

...Making Most Of The (Wedding) Preparations Myself.'

By Mary Moore

This is totally irrelevant. North American Champion of—South Africa. Violet Culture—that's my new title—strictly intrahousehold of course. It all came about because all of my violets are blooming or are—for once! I have plenty pink candles and double ones and long-stemmed single ones and scallyped leaves. Don't ask me the method of tending them though, for I do it by the neglect treatment. I'll be passing their south window and poke a finger in one of their pots, and it's been dry or course, so I flood them all with water. About once a month I sprinkle them with water in which a fertah is dissolved. It's against all the rules I know. I know my title has been condensed to Nag-Sec and I'm not sure it's complimentary—sounds too much like old bag or sad sack. However I suppose it's something to be queen even if it is only of a blushing violet.

There is a simplicity and fortitude in the following letter that thrilled me to the backbone:

"Dear Mrs. Moore: I have long been a reader of your column and have found much to serve, simpler recipes in my bachelor establishment. Now I hope you will help me in the most important occasion of my life.

"Following our informal evening wedding, we will have a party in our own house for about twenty guests, and I would appreciate suggestions as to what and how much to serve. Naturally it will have to be a cold meal and dishes that can be prepared well ahead of time as I will be making most of the preparations myself. Also, as we have not the facilities for seating that many guests at table, the meal will be served buffet style so will need to be things that can be eaten easily with a fork.

"I have been thinking of individual jellied meat salads, potato salad, deviled eggs, buttered rolls and celery, pickles, etc. Would you suggest anything that might be preferable, and would you give me some ideas as to quantities of the various foods . . . thanking you.—G."

Old fire-horse Mary gladly comes to the rescue of this plucky girl.

Since "G." mentions "jellied meat salads" and since I have an excellent recipe for jellied chicken salad for 20 people, I will give the careful details for making it.

JELLIED CHICKEN SALAD

(For twenty)

Four tablespoons plain gelatin, 8 tablespoons lemon juice, 1-4 cup cold water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup mayonnaise (see note), 2 cups hot strained liquid in which chicken is boiled (see note), 2 cups hot water, 1 cup best quality genuine mayonnaise, 1 cup cooked cold bright green peas, 1 cup very finely chopped inner celery, 4 or 5 cups diced cold cooked chicken. Soak gelatin in lemon juice and cold water 5 minutes. Add MSG and salt to boiling water (the 2 cups) and stir this hot liquid and gelatin until gelatin is dissolved. Also add the chicken liquor which should have been strained, chilled and fat layer skimmed off. Let this cool until it just begins to set. Fold in mayonnaise, chicken, peas and celery. Pour into 20 individual molds, or into 4 medium-sized molds, to chill. Turn out on bed of lettuce and garnish with pickled pear or peach or crabapple or with gherkins and tomato wedges.

POTATO SALAD

(For twenty)

To serve twenty you will need 5 1-3 lbs. potatoes weighed after paring and cooking. Chill them and dice them. Add 1-4 cup very finely chopped green onion (if desired), 1 cup each finely diced celery and hard-cooked egg, 2 tablespoons salt, 1-3 teaspoon pepper. Add about 1 1-2 cups or more mayonnaise or good quality boiled dressing. It does this salad no harm to be made ahead of time if it is stored in tightly covered bowl and kept cold. I think it improves it.

Provide 4 dozen small buttered rolls, 20 deviled eggs, 5 heads of celery cut into eight, 1 gallon of coffee at least, and a little more than 1 pint of cream.

That's a fine party you must the lucky man. The kindest of good wishes to you and him.

Fashion Flashes

Destined for quick acceptance is this delightful fabric, a blend of silk and fine wool worsted. It has body, drapes well, and is very light. In green, navy blue or black it is made up into a slim sheath dress with a scoop neck and a waistline-in, cropped bolero that buttons down the front from a tiny round collar to be topped by a matching white linen mate.

Good for light-travel packing is a straight coat of striped army twill, with shaki, that doubles for beach and bath. It buttons down the front and has two enormous patch pockets.

Going strong is the smartly tailored cotton shirt, nicer than ever for Spring. Pink, red and white striped cotton is the style in this little number that has a tiny round collar of white pique and white pique French cuffs with pearl links. The big surprise is navy pique shorts to below Elizabethan puffed sleeves.

Just getting started is the party coat, out to make a good Spring showing after a slow start. The current favorite is velvet coat of Winter makes a Spring debut in brocaded velvet. Rich Schiffli embroidery giving a three-dimensional look. Pastel cashmere makes a wonderful coat, and MSG accent) is topped by a huge jeweled capelet.

Better-than-ever values is the happy report on early Spring prints, both cottons and silks. Sheer linen printed cotton, with the sheen of silk, makes up into a charming little dress. The bodice is mushroom-tucked, back and front, with square neck and puffed sleeves. The skirt is fully full below a shaped leather belt.

He gave his works as proof of the truth of his words: "Go your way, and tell John what things ye have seen and heard; how that the blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, to the poor the gospel is preached" (Luke 7).

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

NOT GOOD TASTE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please settle this question once and for all ? I say it is not right for any relative whatever to give a shower for a member of the family. My friend thinks I am wrong. She thinks it is right for aunts and cousins to give showers, but not the immediate family.

I wish this important question could be settled "once and for all"! I know this is impossible, for there are too, too many "gimme gals," both brides-to-be and their relatives, who apparently are willing to do anything, whether it's good taste or bad taste, so long as it gathers in the loot.

The rule, based on good taste, is that bridal showers should be given only by a close friend or a group of friends of the bride-to-be. Very often it is given by the maid or matron of honor, if she isn't a sister or other relative of the bride-to-be. Very often, too, it is given by the group of attendants, honor attendant and bridesmaids. Sometimes the bride's co-workers give her a shower, or the members of a club or organization to which she belongs.

It is considered improper, entirely inappropriate for the members of either side of the bride-to-be of the groom-to-be to give a bridal shower. This means members of the immediate family. . . . the mother, a a sister. . . and also close relatives of the immediate family.

The important point is that obviously it just isn't good taste to ask for presents for a daughter, a sister, a niece, a cousin.

One more point: It's often true that when the bride's mother or the bride's sister die or her Aunt Jane or her Cousin Kate take it upon themselves to plan a shower for the bride, it's because the bride hasn't friends devoted enough to give a shower and so a relative feels she has to give a shower to scrape together some presents that would otherwise not be forthcoming. This certainly points up an unattractive fact!

ENGRAVING ON A SILVER PITCHER

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Recently my husband and I received a beautiful silver pitcher as a wedding present. On the side was the inscription (I'm witholding our real names):

Jane and John Doe
Best Mom and Pop
Ever (etc.)

Now is this wrong? I am told the husband's name should be engraved first, before his wife's. I feel this inscription is right. Am I right or wrong? — Ellen.

You are right . . . this form of inscription is right. When initials are engraved, as on this pitcher, the wife's name comes first. Although now please completely and delightedly enjoy that handsome and thoughtful present given to you

The latest, Diane, was born recently in a Fort Kent, Maine, hospital, 12 miles from the border.

Her advent evened the score at nine boys and nine girls. Seven of the children have died. There are no Cyr twins or triplets. All were single births.

All but one live at home in the 11-room farmhouse, Aubert, 24, the eldest, is married and has a home of his own.

The other children range in age from five to 21.

Farmer Cyr raises beef, pork, poultry, cows for milk, buckwheat flour, oats, potatoes and hay.

CUTTING A PRETTY FIGURE

Sometime when you are browsing in your public library, pick up a history of fashions. You will be surprised to find how the feminine figure has been distorted in the past. You will observe pictures of women with wasp waists. You will be amused to see how our forefathers appeared in farthingales, in hoops and pantalettes, in enormous bustles. Later on there were hip pads. Yes, really. That was along about 1894. They didn't last long however, because they wouldn't stay put. Within our own memory there was the hobble skirt, later on the chemise frock, cut like a pillow case, Women bound their breasts to assume a semblance of the boyish shape. All sounds pretty silly, doesn't it?

Now the ideal figure is as natures intended it to be. In Hollywood where feminine figures have a lot to do with salary figures, they are shaping them to order. Diet, exercise and strict regard for the laws of health create normal weight and normal measurements.

Overweight is the common destroyer of the figure. It sneaks up on one like a thief in the night. A few pounds registered on the bath room scales, Six weeks later, a few pounds added. If this is happening to you, my friend, do not disregard the warning. You may favor that you are going to be practically nothing a day but you are consuming more calories than you are burning up and they will stow themselves away in the form of fat.

You must cut down on fats, starches and sweets. As they are energy building elements, however, you must not delete them altogether. But use less butter on the bread. Do not exceed the consumption of one spoon. Limit your tea cake clear since sugar and cream are your enemies.

That should include lean meat, sea food, eggs, vegetables, preferably those that grow above ground, fruit and fruit juices.

Wellington on the Lake

FEBRUARY RAIN.

The day is dark and dreary,
The sky is black with frown,
And over all the countryside
The rain comes pouring down;
It floods the lowland pastures,
It frees the ice-bound stream,
That rushes like a torrent
From hills with snow a-gleam.

The fields are soaked and sodden
All fringed about with snow,
And loud the rushing waters
Beneath the stone-bridge flow;
By icy lake is flooded
And on the farther shore
The purple mist-clouds gather,
Shrouding the landscape o'er.

'Tis not a day for singing,
Nor is it a day for rhyme,
'Tis the constant cold drip
The leaden hours keep time;
But soon will break the fetters
That hold the waters fast
When birds and flowers and springtime
Will gladden earth at last.

—Helen B. Anderson.

A driving wet and high winds visited this locality on Tuesday, sending the most active and fear of our citizens indoors. But by Wednesday Old Winter asserted his power, and again mantled the earth with snow.

Minister Says House, Public Not Entitled to See Documents

OTTAWA (CP)—A cabinet member says parliament and the public are not entitled to see every document the government possesses.

Slate Secretary Pickersgill said Monday night in a speech prepared for delivery to the semi-annual meeting of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers' Association that such a policy would "upset the whole British concept of responsible parliamentary government."

Certain opposition members of Parliament took the position that Parliament was entitled to any official document.

. . . This notion that Parliament and the public are entitled to see every document in the possession of a government department is wrong," said Mr. Pickersgill. It was contrary to the constitution and "subversive in the proper meaning of that word."

The constitution guaranteed freedom of the press. However, he added:

"But freedom of the press to publish what newspaper men are able to learn for themselves, I contend, does not and should not include the right of the opposition in Parliament or of the public or the press to be given through Parliament records of deliberations in the cabinet or of official or confidential advice given to cabinet ministers."

SECRECY NECESSARY

Mr. Pickersgill, former clerk of the Privy Council, said council deliberations must be secret because cabinet members sometimes have differences of opinion. Government would be impossible if differences among ministers were not kept secret.

If ministers were to serve the country well they must have the benefit of the best and frankest advice from the ablest people in the public service. But if the system was to work and civil servants were not to become identified with any particular government the advice they give to ministers must not be made public.

The advice of civil servants was sometimes taken and sometimes rejected. Under the Canadian system there public servants were not entitled to explain themselves or defend themselves or their opinions or advice to public.

Fishermen Get Ready For Season Opening March 1

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Clear water on the lakes and the approach of Lent has spurred commercial fishermen in Lake Erie and Lake Huron ports to prepare their boats and nets for the fishing season which opens March 1.

Fishermen said only severe cold weather that would freeze the lake could delay the opening.

Most rivers and streams along the shore were reported flowing today, having discharged their ice during recent floods. Ice fields were reported offshore in some areas but enough clear water was left for fishing.

Good prices are expected for the first catches because fish prices usually rise during Lent when many persons give up eating meat.

GOOD REASON

CROYDON, England (CP)—Residents near a dance hall complained about the extra-loud dance music. They withdrew their complaints however when they were told the local league for the hard of hearing was holding a dance.

Kelso Roberts Proposes Change In Companies Act

TORONTO (CP)—An amendment to the 1953 Companies Act designed to protect corporations from shareholders who would call and use shareholders' meetings as platforms on which to gain "needless publicity for defamatory matter," is proposed in a report of a select committee of the Ontario legislature.

The report, tabled Monday by committee chairman A. K. Roberts (PC—St. Patrick) recommended several revisions to the act.

The act lays down the conditions under which advance notices of meetings and resolutions to be moved shall be given shareholders. It requires that directors also circulate to shareholders a statement of not more than 1,000 words outlining the business to be dealt with.

The new clause, however, says the directors are not bound under this section to circulate any statement if, on application by the corporation, the court is satisfied that he rights are being abused.

The report also recommended that a $1 ceiling be placed on the amount a co-operative enterprise may deduct from patronage returns for educational work. The act now does not limit the amount.

Former Egyptian Premier's Wife Goes on Trial

By ZEIN NAGATI

CAIRO (AP)—Described as too ill to appear in court, the grandbee of Egypt's once dominant Wafdist party pleaded innocent in absentia Monday to corruption charges.

After a packed courtroom had waited for two hours, a medical commission reported to the three-man military court that plump, 48-year-old Mrs. Zeinab el Wafali Nahas, wife of former premier Mustapha el Nahas, was suffering from a nervous breakdown, diabetes and high blood pressure.

The court president, Wing Cmdr. Abdel Latif Baghdadi ruled she would be tried in absentia until her health permitted her to appear.

After submission of her plea of innocence by her lawyer, Ahmed Rushdy, the court adjourned until Thursday.

AGAINST TRADITION

The lawyer later told reporters that both the Aga Khan and King Saud of Saudi Arabia had complained to the Egyptian government that the trial of a woman by a military court was against Arab tradition.

Mrs. Nahas, who piled up a considerable fortune while her husband was premier during the Second World War and again in 1951, is being tried on three charges of corruption.

Over Half Russian Doctors Women, Begin Work When 23

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW (CP) — Russian doctors, 80 per cent whom are women, begin practising medicine at the age of 23.

They start their medical studies at 17, on graduation from their 10-grade schools — equivalent of Canada's public and high schools but wrapped up in one system.

By 21, after the fourth year of their six-year course, they are given their diplomas, performing "routine" operations such as appendectomies, dressing injuries, excising cysts and lancing boils.

The system which gets doctors to work so early in life was described by Professor Victor B. Rachmanow, dean of the First Moscow (Order of Lenin) Medical Institute.

COMPARABLE STANDARDS

Dr. Rachmanow, who visited Montreal and Toronto in 1946 during a "North American visit to study methods that might be incorporated into the Soviet pattern," said he found academic standards comparable between the two countries.

His institute, one of two in Moscow, is the oldest in Russia. It graduates about 700 doctors a year and present enrolment is 3,375. It admits between 600 and 900 students to the first year.

A fair-sized town in the heart of Moscow, the institute has 49 chairs, each with its own building. Moscow's Second Medical Institute, said Rachmanow, is as large and has as many students.

BIG MEDICAL SCHOOLS

He said there are 75 medical institutes throughout Russia, producing between 24,000 and 25,000 doctors annually. All the universities in Russia in 1913, he said, produced 1,000 doctors. He said associated nursing schools graduate between 200,000 and 300,000 nurses yearly.

Forty nationalities are represented in Rachmanow's student body, including Korean, Chinese and Viet-Minh. There are at least 16 nationalities in the U.S.S.R. alone.

The institute has 20 students from North Korea, trained at state expense and, like those from China and Viet-Nam, receiving double the usual students' stipend. "They are very capable," he said, "and a Korean was one of our top students last year."

Students are either graduates of 10-grade schools, graduates of seven-grade schools who later took technical training and had three years' practice, or transfers from universities elsewhere.

All candidates except medallists —who automatically qualify for admission—must try entrance examinations.

WOMEN PREDOMINATE

The 80-40 proportion of women to men is maintained through graduation to practice and in the still higher brackets.

"Women are pushing men from this profession," he said. "It is a field whose practitioners should be affectionate, sympathetic and painstaking. These are psychological factors particular to women."

The six-year course approximately parallels Canada's except that students go into clinics during the third year instead of the fourth.

After the fourth year they are sent to hospitals for their vacation periods and sometimes do 30 or 30 operations during that month. The students operate, the doctors assisted to them easily.

Rachmanov delivered his first baby when he was 30, alone and at night.

Medical ethics as such are not taught. Throughout the course the students study the principles of Marxism and Leninism, and there is a course in the organization of the Soviet medical system. They must study one foreign language and Latin is obligatory.

Coffee Prices In Toronto Again on Rise

TORONTO (CP) — Coffee prices in Toronto have gone up again, it was reported Monday. Well-known brands are now selling at prices ranging between $1.19 to $1.33 a pound, compared to 95 cents to $1.20 last month.

Coffee in cafes is still 10 cents a cup with no prospect of its going to 15-cents at the present time, the Restaurant Association reported.

The price boosts have been attributed to frost last year in Brazil.

"GOOFY," BUT GOOD!

Lefty "El Goofo" Gomez, the clown prince of the Yankees in the McCarthy era, was at his goofiest best last Thursday at the Ontario Sports Writers and Sportscasters annual Celebrities' Dinner in Toronto.

As an orator, the Goof would make a good shinny player. As a dictionist he is a second Dizzy Dean. As a story-teller and "anecdote-retailer", he is second to none.

He had the millwrights and vocal chords of sportdomm in stitches with his droll humor and rich store of yarns.

"I have," said 'Goofy,' his face as expressionless as that of a Mississippi steamboat gambler, "the honor of having the longest home run ever hit in Yankee Stadium. Jimmy Foxx hit it off me."

"Lefty" inferred he was claustrophobic. "That Fenway Park in Boston," he grinned. "I couldn't throw a sidearm pitch there at all. If I did my knuckles would be skinned from rubbing the bleachers, the joint is so small."

Gomez, who, truthfully, was one of the poorest hitting pitchers in the major leagues of all times, wisecracked at his own expense.

"One time," he said, "I hit a double. In fact it was the only time. The next man up singled and I got on third. I bezzed Coach Art Fletcher to let me steal home."..

"What did you say?" gasped the amazed coach.

"Let me steal home, Art. C'mon."

Fletcher looked at Gomez and said: "Listen, buster. It took you thirteen years to get this far. Do you want to lemse it up?"

On another occasion when Gomez started a game, the first batter hit the first pitch for a single. The second batter hit the first pitch in the same place. The third hitsmith parked a Texas Leaguer safely off Goofy's first offering. Manager McCarthy rushed out to the mound, called in catcher Bill Dickie and demanded: "Dickie, has Gomez got his stuff today?"

Dickie never batted an eyelash.

"How do I know, Joe," he said. "I haven't caught a ball yet."

The goofy one had great respect for Jimmy Foxx. His muscles are "simple, straight, broad," he said. "We had the bases loaded and one out. I had one strike on him."

"Dickie came out to me after I had shaken off three pitches and said: 'What will we do with him.' I laughed and suggested that we stall around a bit and maybe Foxx would get mad and leave the park. At that, I held him to a double."

Gomez swore this story was true. He was playing in the World Series against the Giants. "The Yankees were one run behind, which was natural because I was pitching, when I came to bat. Carl Hubbell threw two called balls at me. I looked at Coach Art Fletcher and he gave me the 'take' sign. Then it was two and one. Again I got the 'take' sign. Then it was three and one. Again came the 'take' sign. Hubbell whistled a strike past me and it was three and two. I couldn't believe my eyes when Fletcher flashed me the 'take' again. I stepped out of the box which automatically cancelled the sign. But again he sent me the 'take'. I stepped out of the box and asked Frank Crosetti if I had mistaken the sign. 'No,' he said. It is 'take.' Anyway I took and drew a walk."

"The Yankees started a rally in that innings scoring seven runs and eventually won the game."

"The next day the papers screamed the headline: 'Gomez' Keen Eyesight Starts Winning Rally for Yankees'."

Gomez' best yarn was that which related to the time he was warming up in the bullpen when the Yankee's star southpaw, Herb Pennock, was pitching. Pennock got into trouble in the 7th and McCarthy signalled for Gomez to come in. The bases were loaded and one man was out.

"I walked to the mound and said to McCarthy, 'Okay, Joe, I know what to do, I'll feed this baby a double play ball, from first to the plate and it will be all over'.

"McCarthy bristled. 'You'll do nothing of the kind,' he gritted. That last line drive tore the webbing out of Pennock's mitt. Give him yours and go back to the bullpen'.

"Lefty" brought down the house with his yarn of the great Dizzy Dean. It seemed Diz was asked to present championship trophies to the coach, two pitchers and three outfielders of the baseball team of the University of Tampa, Florida.

"Diz could never remember names. It bothered him. So it was suggested he write the name of the coach on one cuff of his shirt, and the names of the pitchers on the other. Somebody gave him a small slip of paper, a letterhead, I think it was, with the names of the pitchers on it.

"The big moment came and after his preliminary remarks, Diz said: 'I wanna pay my respects to your great coach Brunson, and those two fine hurlers Moreland and Brown.' He took a quick glance at the paper he had held twisted in his hand and said 'And those grand outfielders, Harri, Schaffner and Marx'."

Victory Lengthens Lead Over Nearest Rivals to 10 Points; Sawchuk Marks 12th Shutout

DETROIT (CP) — Detroit Red Wings celebrated their return home after a near-disastrous road trip Monday nights by blanking the Montreal Canadiens, 3-0.

Red Wings had scored only two goals in dropping two games to Montreal and tying one with Toronto on their road trip. Monday night they turned back the Canadiens' challenge on first place in the National Hockey League and stretched their margin over Montreal and Toronto to 10 points.

Detroit has only 11 more games to play in the regular schedule, while Montreal has 12 and Toronto 13.

Terry Sawchuk turned back 20 shots in the Detroit nets in racking up his 12th shutout of the season, tops in the league. Ted Lindsay, Tony Leswick and Metro Prystai provided the scoring punch.

Lindsay opened the scoring for Detroit at 6:25 on a pass from Gordie Howe.

Howe again set up the second goal, by Prystai at 11:39. Jacques Plante, Habs' goalie, was injured Gerry McNeil in the Montreal nets, had little chance on the blazing 15-foot drive.

Leswick rounded out the scoring at the 16-minute mark of the third period when he poked in a pass from Glen Skov and Red Kelly.

MONTREAL (CP) — Detroit's mighty Red Wings appear headed for another clean sweep of the individual and team honors during the regular National Hockey League schedule.

The Wings moved a step nearer an unprecedented sixth straight league title Monday night when they turned back Montreal Canadiens, 3-0 in a crucial game at Detroit. The victory lengthened Detroit's lead to 10 points over Toronto and Montreal, their nearest challengers.

Right-winger Gordie Howe kept pace with his mates by stretching his edge in the individual scoring race to 10 points over Montreal's Maurice Richard with a pair of assists. Howe is playing for his fourth straight Art Ross trophy as the league's top scorer, and the $1,000 that goes with it from MHL headquarters.

Harry Sawchuk strengthened his bid for a third straight Vezina trophy as last year's best goalie-to-goalie by picking up his 12th shutout of the year. Sawchuk now has a goals-against average of 1.71. Harry Lumley of Toronto dropped into second spot with 2.00 points. Howe is the league's leading point-maker with 41 assists, and his 26 goals give him a 10-point bulge over the Rocket.

Ted Lindsay, Detroit captain, rapped in his 20th goal of the season. Montreal's Bert Olmstead his point count to 49 and third place.

FROM SIXTH TO FOURTH

Detroit defenceman Marcel Kelly collected one goal and three assists during the past week's play to soar from sixth to fourth place with 15 goals and 32 assists for 47 points. He passed Bernie Geoffrion of Montreal, out with injuries, who has 25 goals and 20 points.

Paul Ronty of New York collected one goal and two assists to jump from nine place to a tie for sixth. He has 13 goals and 31 assists for 44 points. Earl Reibel is tied with him with 13 goals and 29 assists.

Montrealers Bert Olmstead with 32 goals and 31 assists is third with 63 points and Ken Mosdell with 23 goals and 20 assists for 41 points, follow. Chandler of Boston rounds out the top 10 with 14 goals and 25 assists for 40 points.

Richard is the league bad man with 110 minutes in penalties, 12 more than Gus Mortson of Chicago. The Canadiens also are the most penalized team with 825 minutes in the box.

Ancar, the Irish-bred racehorse, was a tidy fortune of $106,400 in the Santa Anita Handicap 19 years ago today. That was a record purse for one race, surpassing the previous mark of $103,850 won by Whichone in the 1929 Belmont Futurity. The American turf now has a dozen races offering $100,000, with a high mark of $119,900 set by the Washington Park Handicap in 1952.

Slowinski Leads American League In Goals Scored

NEW YORK (CP) — Prosperity finally has come to Eddie Slowinski.

The 32-year-old husky currently leads American Hockey League marksmen with 35 tallies, just 13 more than his best previous total for a full season, compiled with the 1952-53 Rangers. And his sniping has had plenty to do with Buffalo Bisons' steady drive toward the AHL title.

George (Red) Sullivan continued to pull away from the pack in total points scored. The Hershey Bear centre added five points last week to run his total to 90, 15 more than runners-up Eddie Olson and Jack Gordon of Cleveland, Barons. Sullivan also held his wide lead in assists with 65.

FIVE PENALTIES

Pittsburgh Hornet rookie, Larry Cahan, picked up five minor penalties to increase his league-leading total to 147 minutes in the penalty box.

Jacques Plante of Buffalo was the leading goaltender with an average of 2.69 in 35 games, although Gerry McNeil, Montreal emergency duty, replacing injured Gerry McNeil.

Cleveland goaltender Emile Francis led the league in shutouts with four.

Reynolds Signs; Highest Paid Yankee Pitcher

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Allie Reynolds, the ace starter-reliever of New York Yankees' pitching staff, has come to terms with the club and probably will report here to begin spring training today as the highest paid pitcher in the history of the five-time champions.

General manager George Weiss announced Monday night that he has called the Big Chief in his Oklahoma City home and made him an offer. Reynolds shaped it and that was that.

Weiss would not reveal what the Yankees are paying Reynolds, but observers in camp here were of the opinion that it will be similar to Allie's demands for a pact calling for $40,000. He received an estimated $37,500 last year when he won 13 games and lost seven.

Manitoba, Saskatchewan Hold Lead In School Curling Championship

HAMILTON (CP) — Rinks from Manitoba and Saskatchewan hold the lead in the Canadian school curling championships enter the second day.

Tied with one win and one defeat each are representatives from New Brunswick, British Columbia, Alberta, Quebec, Nova Scotia and Northern Ontario.

Ontario and Prince Edward Island trail, having been defeated in both their opening-day games.

One of the upsets was the double defeat handed the Ontario provincial champions, Sarnia Collegiate Institute.

Saskatchewan took their afternoon game 9-3 with skip Ron Brunswick and later defeated Prince Edward Island 13-2.

Manitoba blasted P.E.I. 16-7 in the early draw and defeated Ontario 12-7 in the evening.

FAVORITES ALREADY CHOSEN

Spectators predicted the Saskatchewan rink, skipped by 18-year-old Bayne Secord, and the Winnipeg rink, skipped by 19-year-old Gene Walker, will be fighting it out for the Sifton Trophy, emblematic of the Canadian High school curling championship.

Monday night Quebec and Nova Scotia went into the 10th end tied at 8-8, a situation similar to one faced earlier by Nova Scotia when they put on the pressure in the 10th end and defeated Ontario 9-7.

The Queen Elizabeth high school rink of Halifax was unable to repeat the trick. The Quebec skip guided his team well in the 10th end to edge Nova Scotia 9-8.

In the British Columbia and Alberta night game the score was knotted 11-11 at the end of 10 ends.

The John Oliver high school rink from Vancouver managed to gain one point on the 11th end to edge the Milo high school rink. The Alberta rink had come from behind to defeat Quebec 12-8 in a first round game, and British Columbia was defeated 8-4 by northern Ontario in the afternoon.

CAME FROM BEHIND

The Raimurst, N.B., rink was trailing 8-4 at the end of three ends with the Noranda rink, skipped by Terry Justice, 16, racking up a five-ender in the second end. The New Brunswick rink cut the Quebec lead to two points by the ninth end. On his last stone, the Raimurst skip got three points to win 10-8.

Lightning, that vagrant and unpredictable thing which has puzzled theory, to strike twice in the same place, may feel the hockey fates this year.

At the end of the 1938-39 hockey season, Montreal Canadiens finished sixth in a 7-club league. They managed to escape the cellar, but were quickly ousted. It was a bad year for the French-Canadien team, except in one instance: the league's leading point-maker, with 26 goals, 23 assists, was Rodger "Roo" Blake, battling left wing. And for his services in out-pointing such greats as Apps, Schmidt, Drillon, Bauer, Siebert, DiMaggio and Conacher, he won the Hart Trophy, as the player most useful to his team.

As these lines are being penned, there seems to be developing a tendency, perhaps sentimental, that once again a player in the League's lowliest club should be very carefully considered for the coveted award this season. For it is believed that Elwin Ira (Al) Rollins, of Vanguard, Sask., the Thin Man who guards the Chicago Black Hawks nets, has an excellent chance of winning the award.

Last season, Rollins was second only to Detroit's Gordie Howe in the voting for the "Most valuable player to his team." And if any player has filled that description this season the player is Rollins.

The Hawks have never been known as a defensive-minded team in the postwar years, and manning the nets for them has been too much for all but the very best sustaining jobs. Like Boston's Sugar Jim Henry, Harry Lumley, now with Toronto, and ex-Brin Frank (Mr. Zero) Brimsek.

And when you discount the 24 goals scored against Chicago in four games Rollins missed earlier this season, you get a true picture of his value. Two other starters, including former rookie award winner Jack Gelineau, tried to stem the tide, but in vain.

Tall, slim, poker-faced, Rollins is lightning-fast with hands, feet and stick, has perfect reflexes, a keen eye. It was the goaling wizardry of Rollins that carried Hawks, last spring, to their first play-off berth in six years, and forced Canadiens, ultimate Cup winners, into seven games in the semi-finals.

The Hart Trophy award was made before this series, and Rollins might otherwise have won it. But lightning may strike twice, and a member of another lowly team may edge many prominent stars out of the "most valuable" award.

At stately old Woodbine Park in Toronto's east end, long the home of thoroughbred racers, a 35-day meeting of the harness racers will be held this summer. Rustics of Harness Racing Fraternity Will Watch Races At Plush Woodbine Park

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The rustics of the harness racing fraternity from the back concessions will have a fling this summer at Woodbine Park, the perennial home of haughty thoroughbreds. And it is likely they'll skin their city cousins.

A 35-day meet, from July 5 to Aug. 13, has been arranged by the Ontario Jockey Club and, based on figures of the last four years, the sulky drivers will be the only winners. They've received nearly $700,000, in purses since 1950.

And, since 1950 when a Toronto syndicate with grandiose plans of staging night meets with a totalisator for pari-mutuel betting, the operators lost more than $300,000 on the venture.

WINTER MEETINGS

Harness-race wagering at the 306-day winter meeting at Dufferin track in Toronto or at summer meetings in dozens of other centres is handled normally by books. The purses are small, the operators don't make a million but they don't need red ink for book-keeping purposes.

The 1950s is a few men with stars in their eyes and fat bankrolls decided that the sport, as rural as a fencepost, needed big-league treatment.

Night racing had proved to be the salvation of harness racing in the United States—and a highly profitable business for the operators. Why couldn't it be the same here?

Thorncliffe Park, on the fringe of northeast Toronto, was given a thorough face-lifting. Nearly $500,000 was spent on floodlights, the tote, stables and a new half-mile oval. A 45-day meet was arranged with purses totalling $210,000, including $15,000 for the Canadian Cup Pace ,equalling the largest Purse—ever offered for a horse race of any kind in Canada.

The stars left the operators' eyes and their bankrolls thinned out when the provincial government banned night racing in Ontario. Bettors stayed away from Thorncliffe's afternoon meets like mad and the first year the loss was $188,000.

FURTHER LOSSES

More bettes of red ink were bought in 1951—the operators lost $90,000. In 1952, their losses were $38,000 and the OJC, flush with record-breaking business at the tote at the thoroughbreds, bought the Thornecliffe charter and operated a trotting meet. The OJC lost only $14,000 in 1953.

"Maybe we can break even at the mutuels this year but we've already spent $100,000 on improvements with erection of 250 permanent stalls for the exclusive use of the trotters and we've laid a new half-mile track for them," an OJC official said in an interview. The total purse for the trotters this year at Woodbine is $150,000 with the $8,500 Canadian Cup Pace the feature of the program.

The standardbreds are nothing new to Woodbine. Old-timers recall they were on the program in the 1890s for two or three years.

Woodbine has remained the stronghold of the thoroughbreds since then and the cards of races it marks probably will be made by the sheet-iron occupants next July 1. That's when the runners move out after a summer meeting to make way for the incoming standard breds.

Owen Sound, Kitchener Senior Teams Finish One, Two in League Standing

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Owen Sound Mercurys not only clinched first place in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series Monday night but they also decided second place.

The Mercurys, who shut out Hamilton Tigers 2-0 in Hamilton during the only league game, earned their 78th and 79th points with the victory. Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, who will finish in second place, have 73 points and only two games remaining.

Since Chatham Maroons can't get any higher than sixth place, last playoff berth in the OHA, three places are yet to be decided before the schedule closes Wednesday night.

Those places could be determined tonight. The fifth-place Stratford Indians play the Mercurys at Owen Sound and if the Mercurys win Stratford will stay in fifth. Hamilton also plays the Bulldogs at Windsor and if either of the two wins Hamilton will also stay in fifth. If Hamilton and Windsor, who are currently tied for third place, tie, Stratford still has a chance to catch them.

If Hamilton loses Windsor is assured of third place but if the Bulldogs drop the game they still could tie for third by defeating the Indians in Stratford in their last game of the season Wednesday.

SKOV GETS WINNER

Elmer Skov shot the goal that clinched first place for the Mercurys. He also added the insurance marker in the third period.

In the only game of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association southern group North Bay Trappers shut out Pembroke Lumber Kings 5-0 in North Bay. The win was a third place tie with the Lumber Kings.

Besides the Stratford - Owen Sound and Hamilton-Windsor contests tonight Kitchener will play host to the last-place Cataracts in Niagara Falls.

In the NOHA Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Indians are at Pembroke.

The rroot took just 87 minutes before a crowd of 1,500.

Corriveau Lead Threatened By Ottawa Snipers

MONTREAL (CP) — Howard (Rip) Ricopelle and Gravelle two Ottawa Senators sharpshooters are challenging Andre Corriveau's reign as the Quebec Hockey League's leading scorer.

Corriveau, tiny Valleyfield star was held to a goal and two assists during the last week's play. He now has 94 points and 41 assists for a total of 75 points, just one more than Gravelle, former Montreal Canadiens' player in the National League.

Ricopelle potted three goals and six assists during the week, boosting his season's total to 84 markers and 50 assists. His assists total is tops in the league.

Gravelle, who campaigned with Detroit and Montreal in the NHL, rapped in two goals and assisted on six others to boost his points total to 72 and take over third place.

He is the league's leading goal getter with 46.

Marlene, Dutch Formidable Team In Golf Tourney

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Marlene Stewart, the 19-year-old British open champion from Guelph, Ont., and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, the old Arkansas traveller of the professional golf fairways, stack up as one of the most formidable teams in the international mixed two-ball golf tournament which opens here today.

Miss Stewart, a sophomore at Northwestern University, Evanston, and in two Florida golf tournaments this year, Harrison, one of the most consistent money winners on the circuit, is rapidly rounding into form after a layoff which kept him out of competition earlier this month.

Marlene was second in the Tampa women's open last month and was low amateur in the field. A week later in the Helen Lee Doherty tournament at Miami she battled Betty Jameson all the way before losing in an upset to Grace DeMiss Smith.

The top 32 teams in today's 18-hole qualifying round will go into match play Wednesday with the final 36-hole round scheduled for Sunday.

Cubs Romp to 9-2 Win Over Barrie, Habs, Bilts Whip Galt, Jonquieres

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Five of the six teams in Ontario and Quebec junior hockey action Monday night were second-division clubs. The other one showed why it isn't.

It was visitors night and home teams couldn't earn a point. Montreal Canadiens, league leaders in the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association Junior league, defeated Galt Black Hawks, cellar-shellers of the Ontario Hockey Association 3-1 in Galt; Hamilton Cubs romped to a 9-2 victory over the Flyers in Barrie; and Guelph Biltmores defeated the Marquis, cellar-shellers in the OHA Ca ior series, Quebec.

The Canadiens had a 2-1 margin with one minute left to play in Galt when the Hawks pulled netminder Les Binkley in favor of a sixth attacker. Henri Richard got a breakaway and clinched the game for Montreal. Claude Vincelette and Claude Prevost scored the other goals for Canadiens. Eddie Switzer notched Galt's tally.

The game was delayed several times in the first period. Ralph Markarian of the Hawks and Claude Boileau were penalized for roughing and then went at it again in the penalty box. Binkley was hit in the face by a deflected shot and the game was stopped while he took two stitches below the eye. Then Prevost crashed into the Galt goal post and was shaken up.

FIRE NETS FOUR

The Guelph victory in Jonquieres was led by Bill Fitzie who scored three of the four goals for the Biltmores. Hillary Menard fired the other one. Jacques Tagge and Fred Carter were the Jonquieres marksmen.

Hamilton's victory over the Flyers at Barrie put the Cubs into a fourth-place tie with Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts. Barrie held a 1-0 lead in the first period but the Cubs struck back 2-1 before the period ended and never looked back.

Bill Stewart, 19-year-old centre from Peterborough, bagged three goals for the Cubs. Ed Loutitt and Joe Zorica added two each and Real Larouche and Martin McAleenan rounded out the total. Cleland Morrison and John Robertson tallied for Barrie.

Toronto Marlboros play at Kitchener and Galt is at St. Catharines tonight.

Landy Runs Mile In 4.02.6.

MELBOURNE (AP)—John Landy Australia's ace miler, turned in a 4:02.6 performance tonight at Olympic Park, bucking a strong head wind on a track made heavy by a drizzling rain.

Landy's time for tonight's event was weather conditions that kept up the run of bad luck in that department which has plagued the Australian's struggle to set the four-minute mile—was the fourth fastest in the world.

Dennis Johansson of Finland, who ran fourth in tonight's race, said afterward that Landy "is the greatest mile runner ever."

Landy was 70 yards ahead of the field at the finish, His lap times were :57.6 for the quarter, 1:59 at the half and 3:01 at the three-quarter pole.

Fail to Play, Fail to Play

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario League basketball title has fined the Brampton senior lacrosse club $200 for failure to play a scheduled game at Peterborough last summer.

The OLA executive, at a week-end meeting, turned over the remaining $90 of the Brampton bond to the Peterborough club to help defray the cost of the game. The Peterborough club and also ordered Brampton to send an additional $219 to Peterborough.

The OLA executive said Peterborough had not handed over $423 to the association, which was the Brampton team's share of playoff receipts. The executive told Peterborough that nothing would be done with the Brampton claim until Peterborough turned in the $423. Peterborough accepted the OLA decision, turned over the receipts, and the action against Brampton followed.

LYNDHURSTE BLASTED

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Canada's entry in the world hockey championships has taken another rout in the Stockholm newspapers.

Toronto East Yorks, blasted when they dropped a 5-4 decision to a Swedish team Friday, were blasted again after whipping the same club 13-3 Sunday. Swedish hockey writers charged that the victory was the result of "unscrupulous tactics."

Svenska Dagbladet, which counted out the Canadians after their Friday defeat, added this comment after Sunday's game:

"In this match the Canadians used real roughhouse tactics, especially in the second period before they were sure of victory. Sweden's big defeat was partly due to this and on many occasions the Swedes gave in too easily."

Degens Nyheter, Sweden's biggest newspaper, said the Canadians will have small chance of beating Russia, Czechoslovakia or Sweden in the world tournament beginning Friday if they try the same tactics. Confidential reports were, if possible, even stricter in "punishing tackles and blows."

ARGOS SIGN NFL CENTRE

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four announced Monday that they have signed Louis Tepe, a centre and linebacker from Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League.

Frank Clair, coach of the Argonauts, said he tried to sign Tepe last year when he graduated from Duke University but said the player wanted "a whirl at NFL football."

Tepe, whose 210 pounds are spread over a six-foot, 1½-inch frame, was the 30th draft choice of the Steelers last year. He will try to beat out Rolf Carpenter and Red Ettinger for the centre job with Argos.

Referring to Tepe's signing, Clair said that the National League teams apparently "have no intention of respecting Canadian contracts so there's not much sense in respecting theirs."

The world's best said "Other Canadian teams are digging into the NFL so we'd be at a disadvantage if we didn't do the same." Argos previously operated on a "hands-off" policy regarding NFL players.

NEW FAVORITE PICKED

LONDON (AP) — Irish Lizard moved into the favorite's role for the Grand National Steeplechase at odds of 10-1 in a callover of London bookmakers at the Victoria Club Monday.

Last year's winner, Early Mist, slumped to 12-1 after being the 100-9 joint favorite a week ago with Irish Lizard. The price up Early Mist was lengthened after the horse's trainer, Vic O'Brien, said the Irish jumper was a doubtful starter for the race March 27. O'Brien said the horse suffered an injury in training.

Countryman now is second favorite at 100-9, with Queens Taste 100-6, Royal Tan 18-1 and Orombo 20-1.

GAVILAN FAVORED

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan is a 10-1 choice with no takers to defeat Johnny Cunningham tonight in the next-to-last tuneup for his middleweight title shot against Bobo Olson.

Despite the tremendous odds in his favor, Gavilan said he is not taking Cunningham lightly. He remembers that Cunningham was a 15-1 underdog when he defeated lightweight champion Jimmy Carter here last year in one of the biggest fight upsets of 1953.

Cunningham, who took the Carter fight on 24 hours' notice, said "I think I've got a chance. It's a good shape."

The fight will not be broadcast or telecast. A sellout crowd of 3,500 is expected to pay a gross gate of about $14,000.

LEAFS CALL UP FORWARD

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League announced Monday night that they have recalled leftwinger Bob Balfour from Pittsburgh Hornets.

The forward was called from the American Hockey League club of the Leafs under the "emergency recall" agreement between the two leagues. With Gordie Hannigan in hospital suffering a severe cold, Leafs have only nine forwards, making Balfour's recall legal.

SOUVENIR HUNTER RETURNS NEW BRUNSWICK SWORD

Games Committee Gets Raffle 'Bug' But Chairman Nearly Lands in Jug

VANCOUVER (CP) — A raffle, stirred up a row Monday between Mayor Fred Hume and Lyle Hall, mond, chairman of the special events committee of the British Empire Games.

Diamond threatened to "resign in disgust" unless he gets better co-operation.

He charged that Mayor Hume had given permission to "go as far as the women liked" in raising funds at a games-sponsored all-nations home cooking show.

Instead, police and special detail detectives moved in and seized raffle tickets on a television set planned for a door prize. Police said that "somebody" had complained.

It was finally agreed that the raffle could proceed if something valued at less than $50 was the prize. A small radio was substituted the set.

The show, staged Saturday, raised $8,000 for the games fund.

"We expected someone to say thank you, but we almost wound up in jail," said Diamond.

Mayor Hume had no comment. He said he plans to issue a statement today.

Diamond said he is ready to quit. He made the statement after being forced to "cool my heels" for two hours in an attempt to see city prosecutor Stewart McMorran.

NO PROSECUTION

Police Chief Walter Mulligan said there would be no prosecution against the special events committee.

Chief Mulligan said there was no evidence of illegal gambling in the minds of the officials responsible in respect to the law on lotteries.

"As a result of this situation and the committee's immediate willingness to return monies collected by sale of tickets for the raffle, it is not the intention of the police to prosecute," he said.

The committee has raised more than $150,000 for the games.

"Apparently no one in authority is greatly concerned about the work we are doing," said Diamond. "Under the circumstances I feel that

Ma, she her breakfit with her hat on, saying to pop, I cant put it off any longer, William, I've got to go and get my hair done this morning.

What must he must he pop sand, and ma said, I could go downtown to Jack and Jules, if I telefone first for an appointment.

I'm sure they'd be glad to hear your voice, pop said, and ma said, I'm sure they would. It would feel like the welcome sound of the cash register, with the fancy prices they charge. That's just the point, William... I neen why dont I just go around to the Uptown Bewty Shop on the avenoue and get a good trim and a nice wave for half the price! she said.

Why dont you indeed? pop said, and ma said, If I go to Jack and Jules they'll insist on giving me a hot oil treatment and it anbitious dont know what all, and if I try to refuse, their eyebrows will go up and it will be most embarrising. As a matter of fact little Dorothy around at the Uptown Bewty shop is quite reliable, considering the sayhorhood. I dont see why I should go to Jack and Jules, just because otherwise it would be like to tell sayhody where I really had my hair done without hearing an invisible sniff. What do you think, William? she said.

Well, Jack and Jules have the courage to proudly keep their prices up in spite of the high cost of living, maybe they deserve to be encouraged, pop said, and ma said, Now I think that's very broad minded of you, William, and I think I'll take your advice. I'll ride down on the bus in the car and save the price of a bus fare, she said.

Sounding like somebody feeling better instead of worse.

Horse Sense Bridge

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Hands have I seen in nearly every shape and form, fondled and mangled in all sorts of ways by bridge players. But my case of the year would go to what I now happen with this deal:

NORTH
♠ None
♥ A K Q J 8 7 6 3
♦ K
♣ A Q 2

WEST — EAST
♠ A 2 — ♠ 7 6 5 3
♥ 4 2 — ♥ 10 9 5
♦ Q 6 5 3 2 — ♦ 4
♣ K 7 5 4 — ♣ 10 9 8 6

SOUTH
♠ K Q J 10 9 5
♥ None
♦ A
♣ J 10 9 8
♦ J 3

The bidding went like this:

South	West	North	East
1 S	Pass	4 NT	Pass
5 H	Pass	6 H	Pass
6 S	Pass	Pass	Dbl
Pass	Pass	7 H	Dbl

In answer to four no-trump, five hearts signals an ace and one king. Although used as a signal, south was the first to mention the heart suit. This makes him declarer when hearts become trumps.

So, there he was without a trump in his hand obligated to take all 13 tricks at a grand slam in hearts. The opening lead from west was the diamond trey. How should the play be planned?

South realized from the doubles that east had the spade ace. Even if west has the club king which he caught in a finesse, the job is tough. There seems no way of saving the third dummy club.

There are not enough entries to dummy to establish diamonds for shedding purposes. Nor for establishing spades. Nor is there a trump in south with which to ruff a third dummy club.

The 13 tricks were taken. But how? Every where you put a card, it is not easy to figure out. Even if you play the cards over and over again, it is a tough baby to see.

The way declarer planned it no defence was able to stop 13 tricks. I hate to keep you in suspense. But you need time for the practice on this particular mess of cards.

Give yourself a workout.

Resident Angling Licence Is Advocated For Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — Introduction of a $1 resident angling licence to help pay for a 10-year program of fishery and wildlife management was proposed in a white paper tabled in the Ontario legislature Monday.

The paper, a study of Ontario's forest resources, said the licence, plus the saving achieved by the closing down of non-productive fish hatcheries, would finance the estimated $5,500,000 program.

It recommended the closing of fish hatcheries at Sarnia, Southampton, Little Current, Fort Frances, Normandale and Collingwood; called for an increase in the number of public shooting areas—at the rate of one a year; and an inventory of wildlife and fish.

"Research into habits and life history of all forms of wildlife is imperative, if we are to integrate the various types of land use and achieve the best returns from our renewable natural resources."

OTHER PROPOSALS

The paper also recommended:

Development of 200 small impoundments for producing waterfowl, muskrat and upland game birds;

One new marsh restoration project each year;

A planning program for a farm-game habitat, based on the establishment of a demonstration farm which could be used as a nursery and as an experimental area for quail and pheasants in captivity; individual trapline areas large enough to provide a trapper with a major part of his annual income; that trappers be allowed to use their areas as a place to guide tourists, fishermen and hunters;

An increased staff of conservation officers—there are 200 now—to meet the demands created by the growing influx of sportsmen;

Regulation and control of tourist resorts and private camps by a system of zoning, recreational areas;

Establishment of nature programs in Sibley provincial park in the Port Arthur area and the Kenora district; a firm statement of government policy on water pollution legislation and regulations and the addition of a full-time chairman and staff, if necessary, to the pollution control board; training courses for guides and a program to guide tourists according to individual qualifications.

McCarthy Called 'Sawdust Caesar' In Saskatchewan

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

A member of the Saskatchewan legislature Monday called Joseph McCarthy, Communist - busting United States senator, a "sawdust Caesar."

Walter Erb, CCF member for Milestone, said the government should back Premier T. C. Douglas on his stand against McCarthyism. He added:

"I suggest the American and Canadian people must clip off the growing feathers of these incipient sawdust Caesars, if we don't want an American Gestapo Reich to the south."

W. W. Wahl, CCF member for Qu'Appelle-Wolseley, said during the three-day speech debate that social and economic barriers hold Canadian Indians in "concentration camps" in the midst of plenty. He said Indians in Saskatchewan have been forced on semi-relief and some live in mud huts.

DISCUSS COUNTY SYSTEM

At Edmonton, Municipal Affairs Minister C. E. Gerhart predicted that Alberta, organized as a province in 1905, will in time adopt the county system. He added that the proposed fixing of the same boundaries for rural municipal, school and hospital boards is not, however, a subtle way of forcing the county system on Alberta.

A government bill to increase salaries of members of the Manitoba legislature ran into criticism from an opposition member, George Renouf, Progressive Conservative member for Swan River, said the increase is indemnity and expense allowance to $3,000 a year from $2,500 is an "imposition" on the people of the province.

Dulles Unable To Quiet Fears About Parley

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dulles today planned his second round in his fight to win Congress to his view that the United States more than held its own at the Big Four meeting in Berlin.

Dulles arranged to meet with the House of Representatives foreign affairs committee (3 p.m. EST) and presumably planned to take the same line he adopted in briefing key Democratic and Republican congressional leaders Monday. That U.S. agreement to seat Red Chinese delegates at an April conference in Geneva on Asiatic peace problems does not mean that U.S. recognition of China is in the offing.

Meanwhile, there was one indication that Dulles had failed to quiet all the doubts in the minds of the legislators.

Senator William F. Knowland of California, the Republican Senate leader, said in a New York speech Monday night that there is "substantial" misgivings about the decision of the Big Four foreign ministers to invite the Chinese Reds to the Geneva conference, despite Dulles' assurance about recognition.

INDO-CHINA PROBLEM

The Californian also objected to discussion of Indo-China unless representatives of the affected states are on hand as a group on "equal voice."

Most of the congressmen and senators brushed aside reporters' questions as they left Dulles' office. But their grim expressions, coupled with the length of the meeting and their terse rejection of the questions, prompted speculation that they had received hot questions at the secretary.

Later Dulles issued a formal statement that "there would be no U.S. recognition of the Chinese Communist regime." He said the U.S. had obtained Russian agreement on this "no efforts to unify Korea and promote peace in Indo-China could proceed without changing the U.S. basic position on China."

Criticism Made Of Movie Film

OTTAWA (CP)—The government will allow unrestricted distribution of a movie entitled "Farewell Oak Street," a National Film Board production described as "deeply offensive to the human dignity of many Canadians."

The controversy of the movie, one of the board's "Canada Carries On" series, came from Charles Henry (L—Toronto Rosedale) for whom Citizenship Minister Harris tabled a parliamentary return Monday.

Mr. Harris said the government has not considered a restricted distribution for the film now being shown in three Toronto theatres. He said three complaints against the film have been received.

In the normal course of events, he added, the film distributed for the board by Columbia Pictures will be shown in a large number of Canadian theatres.

Film board officials said "Farewell Oak Street" deals with the low-rental Regent Park housing development built at a cost of about $15,500,000 to replace a former Toronto slum area.

SEEK DROP 'PROGRESSIVE'

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Women's Progressive Conservative Association Monday decided to ask Premier Frost to have the word "progressive" dropped from the name of the Progressive Conservative party. The Toronto group passed a resolution suggesting the change.

Now Preparing For Duke's Visit To Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—While the Queen and Duke of Edinburgh are just slowly settled in on their Australian tour, Canadian officials already are getting down to brass tacks on arrangements for the duke's Canadian visit this summer.

An RCAF pre-tour flight has returned to Ottawa after calling at most of the duke's stopping places to line up preliminary arrangements. A second pre-tour flight will whip around the course again in May.

Four points of call have been added to the original itinerary announced last fall. They are Whitehorse in the Yukon, Fort Simpson in the Northwest Territories and Knob Lake and Goose Bay in Labrador.

The duke will travel entirely by air on his 15,000-mile tour. The RCAF will pick him up in London in the C-5, the plane now carrying Prime Minister St. Laurent around the world, fly him across Canada and back and return him to London.

Philip is scheduled to arrive here July 29 and spend three days as the guest of governor-general Massey. He will attend church here Sunday, Aug. 1, and then leave for Victoria, arriving there the same day after a one-hour stop at Rivers, Man.

From Victoria, he will go to Kitimat, B.C., site of the Aluminum Company of Canada project, and then to Vancouver, where he will spend four days at the British Empire Games.

After that, the visit concentrates on the north country.

Three Employees Of 70 On Strike Return to Work

KITCHENER (CP)—The longest strike in Kitchener's history cracked slightly Monday when three employees of a striking force of 70 returned to work at the Canada Skate Manufacturing Company. The three men were escorted through a picket line by police. There was no trouble.

The 70 employees, members of the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL), walked out last May 14 in demands for an eight-cent-an-hour wage increase, and union security.

R. C. Bauer, general manager, said production is to begin again in one line of skates. He said he couldn't use the 70 men if they wanted to return, because the company has lost most of its contracts to foreign markets.

Working Wives Come Under Fire Of Church Leader

TORONTO (CP) —The growing practice of newly-married Canadian women to continue working was criticized Monday by a spokesman of the United Church of Canada.

Dr. J. R. Mutchmor, secretary of the United Church's board of evangelism and social service, said an increasing number of men and women "find it to their advantage, generally selfish advantage, to team up, (with) both partners working." He added:

"This joint arrangement scarcely to be dignified by the name marriage, makes it easier to pay the rent, purchase stylish fur garments, buy the TV, operate the car, pay for the cocktail parties and generally to 'go modern.'"

Dr. Mutchmore listed increasing "marriages of convenience" as one of five "bad signs" in Canadian home life in a report prepared for delivery to his board's annual meeting here.

The other four: A high divorce rate; more than four per cent of all live births are illegitimate; the size of families is falling; the "father-mother-son-daughter" family is on the way out.

Company Back Into Production After Cave-in

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Canadian Salt Company went back into full production Monday and all employees of the Canadian Industries Limited chemical plant returned to work. Officials said the sudden cave-in which claimed four buildings at the CIL plant production was halted Friday when buildings began to sink along with a railroad spur. Water spurted from the ground to form a 22-foot-deep lake as a warehouse almost disappeared and other buildings sank to ceiling level.

Officials estimated damage in the warehouse and plant pumphouse at more than $500,000 and said lost production may jump the total before the chemical plant goes back to work. The salt plant supplies brine to the chemical plant which turns it into chlorine, caustic and other products.

Rugged Tests Being Made With Skimobile

ARNTFIELD, Que. (CP)—An invention of Ben Laporte of Arntfield, about 40 miles east of Kirkland Lake, may give this north western Quebec mining area a new industry.

Laporte is the inventor of the skimobile, a vehicle that automatically adjusts itself to different snow conditions. The department of national defence is conducting rugged tests with the skimobile in Ste. Johnson and if it meets army specifications and standards it could probably mean a contract for more than the six that Laporte has already built.

Constructed from aluminium, the skimobile is powered by a 25-horsepower motor of German make and can attain a speed of 30-35 miles an hour. The revolutionary design of the vehicle is in its caterpillar tread which forces its way into soft snow to gain traction while the supporting skis steer.

Laporte said, he built his first skimobile in 1948 and it is still being used by an Arntfield prospector. It is reported that this first model now has travelled 150,000 miles.

The skimobile weighs 1,300 pounds and is light enough to be carried aboard transport planes and parachuted to earth. The open platform on it can hold 10 or 12 men and can take a 1,500-pound load. It is driven in the same manner as a car.

Sues For $30,000

TORONTO (CP)—William Glandfield, 20, is suing for $30,000 for injuries he claims he suffered more than two years ago when a motor car struck his legs while he was on a bayride.

Defendants are Donald Shropshire of Glenwood Beach, about 40 miles north of here, driver of a hay wagon tractor and Robert E. Degrey, a Cornwall milkman whom Glandfield says was driving the car which struck him.

The case is continuing.

Mother of Slain Girl Breaks Down On Witness Stand

Toronto Lawyer Critical Of Liberal Leader

TORONTO (CP)—A young Toronto lawyer strongly criticized Liberal house leader Wyndham Oliver Tuesday in defence of the Ontario government's stand on alleged highways irregularities.

Robert MacAulay, Progressive Conservative member for Toronto Riverdale, termed it "despicable" that Mr. Oliver should demand a royal commission to investigate the alleged irregularities when the Dominion government, in probing the Petawawa army camp issue, appointed a private file to review the investigation and referred the question to the Commons' defence expenditures committee.

The provincial government commissioned a similar private firm to probe the highways question and the matter was referred to the public accounts committee over opposition protests.

"Why wasn't my honorable friend try to stop sucking and whistling at him some time ago," Mr. MacAulay said in the legislature. "The issue is moreover a hiccup on the breath of progress."

DEFENDS SURPLUS

Defending Ontario's surplus during the last fiscal year, Mr. MacAulay said if the surplus was overlassies in Ontario, he would be by Mr. Oliver, "then it should be expansion in Ottawa."

He criticized the proposed federal housing plan and called for lower interest rates, down payments and a longer amortization period.

"The only thing that will be any higher in the federal plan that will meet with any success will be the smell that surrounds it."

In his first major address of the current session, W. J. Grummett, Liberal house leader, called for the setting up of a public utility commission to handle the distribution of natural gas from the Trans-Canada pipeline from Alberta, and urged the immediate start by Canada on the St. Lawrence seaway. He also asked for increased salaries for civil servants, particularly provincial police, and the rehabilitation of wasted farm lands.

W. E. Brandon (PC—York West) asked for a revision of the assessment act and a greater consideration towards children's aid costs.

The throne speech debate will continue today.

USSR 'Wild East' Being Opened Up

By SHERWOOD DICKERMAN

LONDON (Reuters)—Russia has sent a wave of pioneers marching toward the Far East to establish prairies with the ringing words—its effect—to east, young men of the trunk up the centre of the body to the chest, following a line generally used by medical men starting an autopsy.

Mystery of 'Self-Shattering' Windshields Spreads to Heavens

By IAN McKWAN

LONDON (Reuters) — A plane company spilled out unaccountably 1,000 feet above Missile Mile Tuesday and spread into the heavens the mystery of the "self-shattering" windshields.

Nobody has yet come up with a theory to explain why every plane's windshield.

Tuesday flighter pilot Douglas Gilbert, Air Crew over the suscep- tible area and "the pilot of my compass splintered as if it had been hit by something dead in the centre."

First Gilbert thought the incident had been caused by a nearby plane diving through the sound barrier.

"But the only plane near was a transport plane," he said. "When I landed I examined the plane carefully for signs of a puncture. There was nothing."

Gilbert and civil aviation ministry official promptly dragged out their old files—the mystery. In the first eight months of operations on Missile Mile, near London, in 1951, at least 100 materials have had the shattering experience since.

Here are the theories brought forward earlier:

1. That small stones on the road got thrown up by the cars. (So had the windshields every day, and the windshields went on splintering.)

2. That small boys with air pistols were to blame. (But police never found any mischief-makers.)

3. That expert marksmen did it, from the Surrey hills. (Police cars and police dogs scanned the area, in vain. One police car's windshield was "victimized.")

One Briton even suggested bringing in a first-sight to exercise the "evil spirit" of missile mile.

HOUSE DEFEATS CCF DEMAND ON UNEMPLOYMENT

Opposition Speakers Say Situation is Serious

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons has defeated a CCF demand for immediate government steps to meet unemployment problems. The vote was 128 to 89.

The CCF motion, technically want of confidence in the government, called for action to "prevent further economic distress." It drew support from all opposition parties and Liberal backbenchers in the the vote Tuesday closing the fifth day of Commons debate on unemployment.

Still before members is a Progressive Conservative motion asking establishment of a parliamentary committee to study unemployment conditions and recommend a remedy. Debate will be resumed later, probably next week.

Acting Prime Minister Howe, speaking earlier in the debate, said the situation is caused by a temporary slowdown in business which is expected to end in Jan. 21, a post-war high mark and 186,000 more than at Dec. 16. The bureau of statistics estimated 280,000 jobless at Jan. 23, 90,000 more than in early December.

Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) said payments from the $600,000,000 unemployment insurance fund should be boosted during this period so benefits are paid lengthened.

Mr. Howe had no come for this present generation of workers to get the benefit of the huge fund built up by "you and me," he said. The fund was not intended for the next generation.

J. W. Murphy (PC — Lambton West) urged the government to increase the efforts of former United States tourists to Canada. Tourist bookings are off, he said, for every business.

Murphy urged the government to take the initiative in the development of long-term projects which would give employment. Such projects include the South Saskatchewan river power and dam project, and development which would increase productive capacity. An immediate public works program is "not only a temporary solution to the unemployment problem.

Spell That Mau Mau Cast On Kenya in 1952 Is Growing

LONDON (AP) — A spell that anti-white Mau Mau terrorists cast on Kenya in 1952 with knife, torch and witch-doctor's charm is growing despite a bomber-backed campaign to crush the rebellion, a British parliamentary delegation reports.

A drastic shake-up of the east African crown colony's police was proposed Tuesday by the six-man, all-party delegation to help cope with the bloody uprising that some experts say may last a generation.

Fresh from a 14-day review of the fertile land where British security forces have been battling for oft about 300 of the terrorists and captured 130, the delegation said there is danger the movement to drive out the whites and kill "loyal" Africans may spread beyond the Kikuyu area where it was born.

The 1,250,000 Kikuyus number almost one-quarter of Kenya's African population. The terrorist are tribesmen, who fill the fields around Nairobi, the capital, and work as laborers and servants for the whites. Most of the killing has been done its recruiting by a combination of persuasion and violence.

The delegation of the Mau Mau in the Kikuyu area, except in certain districts, has not declined," the parliamentary delegation said.

MANY CRITICAL

Colonial Secretary Oliver Lyttleton arranged to fly to Kenya Saturday for another review of the situation and military strategy.

Lyttelton's methods of handling the campaign have been widely criticized both in Kenya and in Britain. Many among the colony's 43,000 whites contend the campaign is too slow and soft. But many in the British Labor party insist that stronger, methods already in use have hindered, not helped, the British cause.

While the whites who run the government dominate trade and farm the best of Kenya's land are the prime objects of the Mau Mau hatred, the terrorists also want to get rid of the 124,000 Asians in the colony.

BOMBER ATTACK

Of about 700 civilians slain by the Mau Mau, however, most were Africans. The toll includes 18 whites and 13 Asians.

The terrorists have lost far more under the hammering of the army which Gen. Sir George Erskine is directing. The army totals 34,000 men—10 battalions of British troops and 24 battalions of King's African Rifles, 4,000 regular police and 20,000 part-time police.

Twelve RAF bombers, pursuing an aerial campaign instituted last May, 1,100 miles from the Suez Canal out of the bamboo, cedar and camphor forest of the highlands of Kikuyuland men can get a crack at them.

Authorities estimate that 3,400 of the Mau Mau have been killed since the outbreak of the rebellion. Of perhaps 1,000 captured, 100 have been hanged for murder. Jails are crowded with 30,000 Mau Mau suspected of having taken the Mau Mau's "blood" oath.

800,000 Line Nine-Mile Route To Welcome Queen and Duke

MELBOURNE (CP) — Church bells pealed forth a welcome and three guns boomed a salute Tuesday upon Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh on their triumphant arrival in Australia.

Some $60,000 cheering, showing spectators lined the nine-mile route from the airport following the royal couple's official arrival from Tasmania in continuation of their Commonwealth tour.

The excitement crowds pushed aside steel and wood barriers for other police and soldiers and strollers linked arms to push the crowds back from the royal limousine.

The open car, driving at little more than walking pace, was escorted by detachments of mounted police. The Queen, wearing a brown coat with a black velvet collar, had a special wave for doctors and nurses of the staff of the Royal Melbourne Hospital. Many of them turned to the royal still wearing their white surgical gowns.

QUEEN'S REQUEST

The white - painted royal plane completed its flight across Bass strait ahead of schedule. At the Queen's request, the pilot circled to give her a full view of Australia's "queen city of the south."

Minutes before the royal couple landed in Melbourne, the premier of state of Victoria the sun/broke through threatening clouds. Thousands had massed there at the early night drizzle.

Before reaching the centre of the city, the royal route followed twists and turns of what were once old bullock tracks. Many of the streets brought wool and gold—and prosperity to early—Melbourne.

At Parliament House the Queen took members of the state Legislative Assembly and their wives. "I look forward to meeting you all tomorrow when I shall have the pleasure of opening the second session of your Parliament, and I can assure you that we shall both enjoy to the full our visit to your state."

Thinks Accused Intoxicated

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—A pathologist testified Tuesday at the murder trial of Mrs. Evelyn Dick, 32, that from the amount of alcohol in her blood Christmas Eve, "one would expect him to be showing evidence of intoxication."

The pathologist, Dr. Lorne Whitaker of St. Catharines, was one of the first crown witnesses called.

Jacobs is charged in the Christmas Day killing of Dorothy Lorraine Hendres, 7, of nearby Weller Park.

Dr. Whitaker said that in his opinion a severe blow on the side of the head caused Hindres's death.

Crown Attorney Lloyd Goodwin showed him a crowbar and asked if the injury could have been inflicted with such an instrument.

"Yes, it could have," Dr. Whitaker answered.

The trial is continuing.

BRITISH ARMY MAY SOON GET ATOM MISSILES

Britain Nears Decision On Offensive Weapons

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain announced today that her army may soon be equipped with atomic guided missiles for "purposes of offence."

War Minister Antony Head said the army is "nearing a decision" on the introduction of the atomic weapons. Two days ago, Sir Winston Churchill's government announced it is equipping the RAF with atomic bombs from secret stores.

Britain exploded her first atomic weapon off the Australian coast in May, 1, 1952, and further atomic tests were held on the Woomera rocket range in central Australia last October.

TRAINING DEFENDERS

Head, in a statement to Parliament on army estimates for the 1954-55 year, said:

"We have given a great deal of thought to the defensive and offensive aspect of the introduction of atomic weapons. Defensively, training has gone ahead in various methods of protection and detection. Instruments for detection are being developed after an atomic explosion are now in production, and training versions are being put in the hands of troops.

"We are nearing a decision on the introduction of the guided missile army weapon of offence. This will probably take the form of a ground to ground guided missile guided missile. . . .

"At present steps are being taken to insure that the introduction of atomic weapons will find the army well prepared in the defensive use and in methods of defence."

He revealed that a three-day informal exercise held near London last August and attended by representatives of all Commonwealth countries was "a close study of the problems of supply, communications and the present slower atomic attack and also of the tactical and strategic use of atomic weapons."

Bevanites Plan Campaign Against Arming Germany

LONDON (Reuters) — Aneurin Bevan, left-wing Socialist leader, today told Labor Party members to create leaders that their decision to back German rearmament could be nullified by a 113-104 party caucus vote on the issue Tuesday night.

Bevan's speech to party associates made their blunt statement on the parliamentary party's governing committee, the national executive, before Parliament began debate this afternoon on the merits of the four-power foreign ministers' decision to arm Germany.

The caught the Labor MPs split the Socialist executive's decision told the national executive's moderate leaders that they could claim the Labor Party backed rearming Germany on the basis of the majority vote of supports in the party's inghouse.

The protest concerns the company's plan to transfer the radio and electronics division of the company to Brantford.

Kenora Member To Seek Liberal Leadership

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Albert Wren, Liberal-Labor member of the Ontario legislature for Kenora, Thunder Bay district, said Tuesday he is a candidate for the leadership of the Liberal party in Ontario. Speaking at the meeting of the St. Catharines Young Liberals Association, Mr. Wren said there is no ridiculous reports that he had turned down all thoughts of entering the leadership race.

"I have never said or indicated that I was not a candidate for the Liberal leadership," said Mr. Wren.

Mr. Wren said he wouldn't deny that the Liberal position in Ontario is serious.

About 1,000 Ontario Liberals will meet in Toronto April 8-9 to choose a provincial leader. The party has been without a leader since the resignation of Walter C. Thomson Feb. 1, 1951, provincial party secretion, Farquhar Oliver leads the party in the legislature in the legislature, including Mr. Wren who supports the Liberal-Labor.

CRITICIZES METHOD

Mr. Wren criticized the leadership convention which is touring Ontario in search of a man to become leader of the party.

"I think it is all things wrong with the Liberal party in Ontario," he said.

He charged that the selection committee had violated its power by not consulting the rank and file of the party.

"Whoever is chosen, the only foundation of authority and success he will have is the spontaneous eruption of confidence from the grass roots," the party convention," said Mr. Wren.

"If that doesn't happen, we might as well forget about everything and turn over the party to the CCF. We must not allow the selection committee to pick out who is in and who is not in."

Quakes Damage Hundreds of Homes In Mine-Honeycombed Pennsylvania

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—The second series of earth tremors in three days damaged hundreds of homes and broke up streets Tuesday night in an area where anthracite was mined from underground workings.

The shock sent hundreds of persons, many of them in nightclothes, fleeing to the streets shortly before midnight in this hemlock-coal section city. Police reported no one was injured.

Several residents of the area reported hearing underground explosions at the time of the first disturbance. The Woodward colony of the Glen Alden Coal Co. has workings 400 feet under the surface of the area. The mines were closed after similar tremors Sunday.

The upheaval of the ground cracked foundations, walls and windows of homes and raised some sections of pavements as high as a foot.

There was no estimate of the total damage.

W. J. Clements, state mines secretary, blamed Sunday's tremors, which damaged 300 homes in a two-block area, on cave-ins in the underground workings. However, Francis O. Case, president of the Pennsylvania Coal Mining Institute, due to mining activities under that area.

The state, city and coal company have launched separate investigations of the tremors, but little is expected to be learned until the water has drained out of gas caused by the earth movements.

Many persons were injured in this northeastern Pennsylvania coal mining area are built over active or abandoned coal mines.

Sunday afternoon's tremors were the first of their kind ever experienced in this city of 86,000. They were several blocks from Tuesday night's shocks.

Similar earth movements rocked a residential area of Edwardsville, 7½ miles to the south, several hours after Tuesday night's shocks.

St. Laurent Backs Cease-Fire Plan In Indo-China

No Doubt Canada to Endorse Nehru's Armistice Appeal

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today that "without any doubt" Canada would endorse the appeal for a cease-fire in Indo-China issued by Prime Minister Nehru of India.

The Canadian leader, visiting India on his round-the-world goodwill tour, made the statement at a press conference.

He was commenting on the plea issued by Nehru in parliament two days ago for a cease-fire between the Communists and French Union forces in Indo-China pending the April conference in Geneva.

The Geneva meeting, agreed upon at the recent Berlin Big Four talks, will discuss the Indo-China war as well as Korea.

Nehru said it would be a shame if bloodshed continued in Indo-China while discussion of a possible end to the war was pending.

U. S. NOT HAPPY

The Nehru proposal was not so well-received in the United States. Diplomatic officials in Washington said they regard any Indian peacemaking role as impractical on the eve of the Geneva parley.

The White House spokesman said he thinks a cease-fire in Indo-China would be practical.

"In making the appeal India has done something that will have considerable influence in the world.

"Any public appeal by Mr. Nehru must be listened to with attention throughout the world."

Nehru's proposal was taken seriously by the French National Assembly which, decided Tuesday to hold a debate March 5 on the plan.

Police and Pickets Scuffle at Kitchener

About 30 pickets formed a circle in front of the gate to the plant's building. Police ordered the pickets to keep to the circle and scuffling followed.

Two strikers were picked up and placed in a car. No charges have been laid. The crown attorney said he couldn't say what charges, police said. One picket received a minor injury.

The strike, longest in Kitchener's history, started last May 14. It was called by the Canada Stove Mount Auto Workers union (CIO-CCL) which had replaced an independent union.

The first indication of a break in the strike came Monday when three men returned to work.

Arrest Indians Who Tried to See Eisenhower

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Two men who tried to visit President Eisenhower Tuesday at his desert vacation headquarters face arraignment on disturbance charges.

They meant no harm," police chief John S. Davis said of Carl E. Kinsey, 25, quarter-breed Indian of San Bernardino, Calif., and John T. Ortega, 48, Mission Indian from a Palm Springs reservation.

The two were arrested at the entrance to the Smoke Tree ranch the president is using as a summer shower stayed for six days before their return today to Washington.

Davis said they were found in the back of their car.

INNOCENT SIGHTSEERS

Secret service agents turned the men over to the Palm Springs police. They learned that Ortega and Kinsey were driving from Indio to Palm Springs. As they passed the White House, Kinsey said to the other:

"That's where the president is staying."

"Let's go see him," suggested the other.

They turned into the ranch property and the secret service agents were right on top of them.

The president's secretary, James C. Hagerty, told reporters there was "no indication at all" that the men had plotted an attempt on Eisenhower's life.

Steel Companies Have Big Orders

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel companies in the United States have more business on their books now than they had at any time in the last two or three months. The trade journal metal-working weekly, said today.

"The steel market gives no hint that the nation's economy is going to fall flat on its face," said the publication. "Quite the contrary, it lends solid support to the 'rolling adjustment' theory of the Eisenhower administration."

However, steel makers are not counting on any great increase in business this spring from their No. 1 customer, the automotive industry, Iron Age added, as "they feel that some of the recent upturn in auto [retail] buying is a trade hedge; and not geared to production."

ICY ROADS CAUSE OF HEAVY DAMAGE

Icy streets and an icy windshield combined this morning to cause an auto accident on Dundas street which saw close to $400 damage to two vehicles.

Charles Bailey, Roslin, Finds Pearl in Oyster

It is not necessary to take a long cruise to the far-off shores of Africa in order to do a bit of pearl hunting.

Just ask Charles Bailey of Roslin who has evidence to offer that pearls can be found at the dining room table of your home.

Mr. Bailey proved it last week as he was enjoying an oyster supper at his home. In his bite an oyster and his teeth struck something hard. He fished out a small pellet a bit smaller than buckshot and a visit to a Belleville jeweller confirmed the fact the object was a pearl. No value was placed on the pearl, however, the jeweller noting it would have to be sent away to be polished before its value could be determined.

But Mr. Bailey is not interested in determining the value of his pearl. He says he will keep it merely as a keepsake.

Retired Engineers and Those With 40 Years' Membership Honored by Union at Banquet

Canadian National Railways engineers retired during 1953 and members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers with over 40 years membership in the organization were honored Tuesday evening at a banquet and dance held at the Army and Navy hall on Front street.

Engineers who retired last year with their wives were the guests of honor at the banquet.

Special awards for the outstanding efforts from the organization. Members of the Brotherhood with more than 40 years were presented with appropriate pins.

Presiding officials of the B. of L.E. and its sister organization the C.I.A., were on hand for the occasion with Grand Chief Kerr acting as the genial master of ceremonies.

FIVE PRESENT

Engineers on the 1953 retirement list present for the function were Charles Doran, Ed. Gurney, Henry Drury, J. Beaton and Art Frankish. David McKee and E. Townsend were absent, while Morley Buck, another engineer who retired during the year, was deceased.

One of the highlights of the evening program was the presentation of 40-year pins to members of the B. of L. E. who have 40 or more years membership. They were Chester, Jesse Barlow, 94, and James Reid, 91, are eligible for 50-year pins. Receiving pins beside the 40 above mentioned men were J. Cooper, S. Cherrie, H. Dix, J. Brenner, Chas. Doran, Dave Fisher and John Hall. Two members eligible for pins, Jack Hamilton and McLean, were absent.

TOAST TO GRAND LODGE.

The toast to the Grand Lodge officers was responded to by J. Ward, assisted by master Gladney cer. He said that the annual engineers' banquet was one of the "nicer" things of the organization as it was one occasion on which no grievances were heard.

He called for more pride in the vocation by engineers who, he said, were specialists in their field. Out of 100 men becoming firemen, only a few become engineers, and of these only seven hundred were also officers.

Mr. Ward said the B. of L.E. had come a long way since its organization nearly 75 years ago. At that time engineers were being fired for joining the union. The union had been born out of necessity to protect the interests of engineers.

WON'T FIGHT SEAWAY.

Commenting on the opposition of the B. of L.E. to the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway, Mr. Ward said it was more beneficial to have the seaway would go through. Although the organization would never endorse the seaway it was withdrawing its opposition and would not fight the project now being it.

The toast to the Grand International Auxiliary was proposed by Dave Fisher and responded to by Mrs. Richard Winsor, Canadian representative of the G.I.A.

Lyle A. Latanhgue proposed the toast to the Motive Power Division with Mr. L. Galloway, superintendent of motive power making the response. The toast to the retiring engineers was proposed by U. W. Carpenter, assistant grand chief engineer.

RETIRED WELCOMED.

Albert Clarke as chief engineer welcomed the retired engineers to the banquet and also members who received 50-year pins. A. R. Wilson, superintendent of the Belleville division expressed regret at seeing the retiring members leave the service. "I wish for you many years of happy retirement," he said.

On behalf of those of thanks was asked by master of ceremonies for Allen VanSlone, entertainment committee chairman and members of his committee.

During the evening Mrs. Morley Davidson sang several much appreciated solos while vocal numbers were also offered by Earl Brown. Mrs. Earl Wilson acted as piano accompanist. Mrs. Clarke gave two humorous readings.

Turkey Subject Of Next Kiwanis Travel Series

Karl Robinson's "Adventure in Turkey," fifth in the Kiwanis Club's World Travel and Adventure series is to be presented to the school at the Collegiate auditorium on Thursday evening at 8.15.

The film is unique in the manner it is filmed, coming of age in the modern world with modern leadership, is a land of contrasts that comes to thrilling life in Mr. Robinson's technicolor masterpiece.

Turkey lies both in Europe and in Asia and shares the cultures of both. Strategically situated between the Communist world and the West and straddling the Dardenelles, Turkey occupies one of the most critical positions in the western alliance.

Mr. Robinson, who has a flair for human interest sequences, captures the excitement and the mystery of a fascinating people.

He brings to the screen pictures of Ankara, the fascinating new capital of the Turkish republic, Istanbul, perhaps the richest city; Adana, centre of the citrus and cotton section; the Bosphorus, the link between the Black Sea and the Dardenelles.

Mrs. A. C. Locke Now Chairman Library Board

Mrs. A. C. Locke was named chairman of the Corby Public Library Board at the annual meeting held recently. Vice chairman is R. E. Barrett and secretary treasurer is Miss Olive Delaney.

Other officers include L. A. Keith as chairman of finance; J. D. Read, chairman of property and Dr. J. W. Kinnear, A. J. Black, A. A. Dean and J. R. Bateman with Miss Delaney as members of the book committee.

Members of the board appointed by city council include Dr. J. W. Kinnear, J. E. Balcomb and D. D. Read; from the public school board, Mrs. A. C. Locke, L. J. Keith, and K. A. Gech; separate school board, A. J. Black and R. E. Barrett.

Miss Delaney in her librarian's report indicated that within the past three years the effectiveness of the library had increased. In this period the city grant had been raised from 50c per capita to 85c. Improvements in the library building had been made and a branch library was opened in Queen Elizabeth school. Circulation of books had increased by 46,579 in that period.

ACCEPTED WORK.

Through the generosity of the local Soroptimist Club there was now a library unit for the blind and the film council had built up a film library. These two units were said to be now an accepted part of library work in Ontario. At 40,963 the number of books for books during 1953 was the greatest in the history of the library. Three years ago the book budget was approximately $3,200.

Book circulation during the year was 119,164 or an increase of 23,497 over the previous year. It was noted that reading trends in the library had changed slightly but little with biography continuing to be the most popular non fiction book.

Travel is next in popularity with the useful section making the greatest gain. This section covered a wide range of interest from astronomy, aeronautics, radio, television, boat building, gardening and home topics.

Circulation for boys' and girls' books for 1953 was 29,736, the total circulation in this department at 42,163, being the highest recorded. Non-registered use of library membership was started in November. During the year 1,200 new members were added to the borrowers' register but it is still not known how many have moved or have withdrawn as outdated.

Circulation of boys' and girls' books at the branch library at Queen Elizabeth school was reported splendid although the number of adult books circulated was disappointing.

Another Season Of Curling At Arena Planned

Preparations for another season of curling at the Belleville Arena in the near future were made at an enthusiastic meeting of both men and women devotees at the Kiwanis Centre last evening. William Gault, the genial president of the club, presided. At the election of officers for the coming season, Mr. Gault was again the unanimous choice of the meeting for the president's chair, with Don McKinnon, the efficient secretary treasurer, returned to office. A games chairman and other officers will be elected later.

The president outlined the activities of the club during the past year and reviewed the season of curling. "Although," he said, "there were not as many curlers last year as the year previous, the members had an energetic line. He thought the drop in membership was due to the fact that curling did not start early enough but believed that condition would be remedied this year by getting into the arena at an earlier time.

He spoke of the bonspiel that was held and expected that probably two could be held this winter. He extended a warm welcome to the women, who were present and stated that arrangements would be made for the women to curl the night and that a mixed bonspiel could be held. Before closing he thanked the Arena arena authorities for the splendid ice that was provided. for the curlers last year. He was a good if not better than any ice I curled on last year," stated the president.

The secretary treasurer reported that a communication had been sent to the Arena Commission respecting ice time and asserted that the club was all set to start activity. The financial condition of the club was given showing no balance on hand but the club was free of debt. After some discussion it was decided to leave the fee of $3 the same as last year with the hope that more time would be available.

Through the kindness of the L. R. Green Company of Montreal, a picture of the 1953 Brier competition at Sudbury was shown and the boys and girls revelled at the many fine shots that were made. Appreciation was expressed by J. McArthur.

Charlie Now Charlotte, Thanks to Danes

By EIGIL ANDERSON

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Danish doctors have again had their share in helping hand, and a young American who came here last winter as Charlie McLeod is almost ready to return to Louisiana as Charlotte McLeod.

After a series of hormone injections and operations in Copenhagen hospitals through the last year Miss McLeod has reached her goal after overcoming troubles that she called "just one year of hell."

The reason for all this trouble, 26-year-old Charlotte said, was "the bad publicity of a recent similar case."

Leaning heavily on a walking stick because her feet still are somewhat numb after the last operation, Charlotte said she wants to go back to the United States but she lacks the money.

Students, Sisters, Enjoy Tour Of Coca Cola Plant

As another evidence of the company's interest in community welfare along educational lines, the Coca Cola Company's branch here entertained some 275 students of St. Michael's High School and Academy on a tour of their spacious Sidney Street plant on Tuesday afternoon.

At staggered intervals seven groups, each escorted, were taken to the plant and returned to school under the direct supervision of Sister Mary Andrew of the Academy and Sister Mary Lenore of St. Michael's School, who were assisted by six other sisters, and Jack Ryan.

The sisters and students were accorded a warm welcome by Ryan, branch manager, Aubrey Coe. Starting the tours was a showing of a film outlining the life and growth of the carbonated beverage industry and its allied products.

The students were taken on a guided tour of the plant. They inspected gleaming stainless steel syrup tanks and the plant's own water-treating system where city water is given further treatment. Of particular interest, the students the complete bottling operations from the time the bottles are filled, capped and cased without being touched by human hands.

Fork-lift trucks, each carrying pallets of fifty-case capacity ,to and from the stacking rows were viewed with interest. These trucks telescope and stack the pallets as high as fifteen feet.

Each student and sister were given souvenirs mementoes of the tour.

Mr. Coe, commenting on the inspection, said the tours are available to all schools in the city and district. The Coca Cola Company has generously offered to pay all transportation charges in connection with the tours.

Wellington Bows To Stirling Juveniles 9-3

WELLINGTON (Special)—Before a large crowd in the Wellington arena last evening the Stirling entry in the Juvenile "C" OMHA playoffs handed the Wellington juvenile "Dukes" a decisive 9-3 setback.

Stirling built up a 5-0 lead before the Dukes scored in the first period and each team scored pair during the middle stanza to make the score read 5-3 after two periods of hockey.

The Stirling sharpshooters took over in the final twenty minutes to fire four unanswered goals past O'Halloran in the Wellington cage, making the count nine discs that went by him played well.

Palmer and Hermiston were the two point getters of the night with Palmer netting two and assisting on three counters. Hermiston twice scored once and drew a trio of helpers. Parks and G. McGee each tallied after John Scott and Montgomery notched the others. James, Claxton and VanDusen were the Wellington marksmen.

Don Brady was little less than terrific in the winners nets as he turned back close in rushes a number of times while the three that did get by were well earned.

The second game of the series will be played in the Belleville Memorial Arena at 8.30 this evening.

Obituary

BOBBY BARRETT
(Consecon)

A whole community mourns the death of Bobby Barrett, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Berkley Barrett, of Consecon, who drowned in the mill pond during Ted Baldwin's grist mill on Monday after he fell into flood-swollen Consecon Creek from a bridge near his home on Mill Street.

The funeral with funeral services for little Bobby were held at Consecon United Church with the Rev. E. V. Cook officiating.

Bobby Barrett's youngest son was born in Newfoundland. He came to Consecon, with his parents, two and a half years ago and was a favorite among his playmates in the village.

He is survived by his parents, three sisters, Donna, Phyllis and Louise and two brothers, Max and Frank.

Says 'Confession' Obtained by Use Of Rubber Hose

TORONTO (CP) — Robert Mackinlay (PC — Toronto Riverdale) said Tuesday Paul Chachis, recently cleared of a new trial on a previous conviction of armed robbery, had a confession "beaten out of him by a rubber hose."

He charged the youth was jailed because the crown "desired somebody to have a conviction than to have justice done."

Mr. MacAulay said in the Ontario legislature that Cachis had been convicted largely on the confession, although it was never introduced in court. He claimed the crown had shown the trial judge the confession during a recess called after the judge indicated there did not appear to be enough evidence to convict Cachis.

TWO LESSONS DRAWN

The member said the case taught two lessons:

1. It was improper that anyone should be tried on evidence that was not produced in court but was "sneaked out the back door in some way."

2. Innocent men like Cachis should be recompensed for their imprisonment.

He said the state hadn't even apologized to Cachis, let alone paid recompense.

Marrying Family

ENSCHOT, The Netherlands (Reuters) — Farmer Henricus Kort married off five daughters and one son here Tuesday—one after the other. Nearly all of the village's 2,315 inhabitants turned out for the all-day festivities. Four of the brides are going to emigrate to Canada next month with their husbands.

Paper Circulation Sets New Record In United States

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Daily newspaper circulation in the United States set an all-time record in 1953, an authoritative periodical says.

The 36th annual edition of N. W. Ayer and Son's Directory of Newspapers and Periodicals and combined circulation of English-language dailies by the end of 1953 was 54,046,811, marking the first time that circulation has topped 54,000,000.

"The increase proves the continuing healthy growth of newspapers in spite of greater competition from other news media, including television," the directory said. It added:

"The nation's evening newspapers had a daily circulation of 32,402,000. This was down a few thousand from the preceding year, but only because two newspapers formerly published in the evening field switched to all-day (morning and evening) operation.

"Except for this change, evening newspapers would have kept up their record of increasing their circulation in every year since World War II ended.

"Morning newspapers had the largest increase in several years, jumping to 20,622,000 circulation. The nation's six all-day dailies soared the millionaire line, with 3,000 circulation. Sunday newspapers had a combined total of 43,642,000. All types of papers have shown steady increases since the end of World War II."

The directory said that 1953 showed a slight drop in number of morning and evening daily newspapers published in the United States, reversed by a net increase in the number of Sunday papers.

Trapped When Truck Drops To River Ice

KAKABEKA FALLS, Ont. (CP) Irene Anderson, 20, of Toronto and Ken Williams, 23, of Regina were trapped in an overturned gasoline trailer on ice just above the crest of Kakabeka falls for 1½ hours Tuesday.

Another man, Gordon Eyre, 20, of Regina was thrown clear before the vehicle crashed to the ice after a 15-foot drop.

The accident occurred when the vehicle missed a curve leading to a bridge over Kakabeka falls, about 10 miles west of Fort William, and crashed upside down to ice on the Kaministiquia river.

Miss Anderson and Williams were admitted to hospital but it was reported they suffered no serious injuries. All three have various degrees of shock.
